CIO PRESIDENT Walter Reuther has reported that President Eisenhower's plan to persuade the states to boost unemployment pay levels is failing. COMMERCE between the free world and the Communist bloc as a whole declined in 1953, reports Foreign Aid Director Harold E. Stassen, although the Red China trade at least temporarily crept upward. Trade with Red China increased from 634 million dollars to 705 million. All exports by United States nationals to Communist China or North Korea are prohibited.

THE UNITED STATES Supreme Court ruled unanimously this week that segregation of negro and white children in public schools is unconstitutional. The court's decision requires no immediate changes in the segregated school systems prescribed by law in 17 southern states and District of Columbia, and it may be a year or more before the court rules finally on the methods of ending segregation.

THE STATE Department said this week that a shipment of arms has been sent from "Soviet-controlled territory" to Guatemala in Central America. This action is considered a "development of gravity" because of "the origin of these arms, the point of their embarkation, their destination and the quantity of arms involved."

PRESIDENT Eisenhower this week issued a directive forbidding Army witnesses to testify about the role of White House and other high officials in the televised controversy between Sen. McCarthy and civilian Pentagon chiefs.

DEMAND for elementary and high school teachers in Michigan is the highest in history, T. Luther Purdom, director of the University of Michigan's Bureau of Appointments and Occupational Information reports. A survey of 47-school superintendents revealed that there will be a demand this year for some 6,000 teachers.

THE MICHIGAN State Health Department reported Monday that pox cases this year in Michigan are fewer than the same period last year.

THE STATE Board of Equalization got a boost this week of a billion dollars in the State as assessed valuation from the State Tax Commission. The State Board will hold a hearing June 14 to allow county officials to make any objections they have to the State figures.

Annual Spring Concert To Be Given Tonight

Sue Beaudoin, drum major and Donna Ikens and Carolyn VanderWall, majorettes of the Charlevoix high school band will model their new uniforms for the first time at the annual Spring Concert to be presented at the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. tonight (Thursday) by the Charlevoix high school music department, C. A. Odmark, director of the music department has announced.

White fur shakos with gold plumes complete the uniforms which are worn with white boots. Funds raised by the Northland Minstrel show sponsored by the Band Parents association financed the purchase of the uniforms, which are replacing the white uniforms that have been in use since 1947.

The 66-piece Charlevoix high school band will also receive first division medals which they won in Class C competition in the Michigan Band and Orchestra festival in Ann Arbor last month. Mr. Odmark will present the medals to the band members and the accompanying plaque to Larry Burns, president of the band, who will accept it in behalf of the organization. The medals were also purchased by the Band Parents Association.

The high school band, which is making its first home appearance since winning top honors in state competition, will feature several popular band numbers including a chorale solo by James Burgess and a selection directed by the student director, Robert Miles.

Four other musical organizations will participate in the 90-minute program. The 33-voice girls' chorus singing a program of popular and light classical numbers will be featured along with the eighth grade chorus, the Junior band and the seventh grade beginners band.

No admission will be charged for the concert, however, a free will offering will be accepted. Children attending the concert must be accompanied by an adult.

Other officers of the band are Elaine Poole secretary and James Burgess, treasurer.

Mrs. John Stobe is president of the Band Parents Association which financed the uniforms, medals and plaque.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

WE'VE HEARD of dogs 'adopting' a lot of strange things but the oddest combination we've seen to date is Ken Forbes' dog, 'Daisy,' a 'flying 57' poodle, which has 'adopted' two postings that the Forbes received for Easter. 'Seems the foster mother protects them from any enemy that might come around ... including the family cat ...

SPEAKING of dogs, things just won't be the same again on East Hurlbut ave. now that Butch, Mrs. Marie McCall's dog is gone. He was just a little white toy collie but everyone on the street loved him. And he was a smart one too. Every noon and night he would meet Garlyn Bice at the corner of Bridge and Hurlbut and escort her home. And if Garlyn stopped enroute to play at the Coleman house, he'd sit on the sidewalk and wait for her. As we said, he was a smart dog, 'cause he was always paid for his thoughtfulness by Garlyn, who gave him a handout.

Once when she first started to school, the Bices went without the anticipated pork chops because Garlyn had handed 'em out to Butch but that was soon stopped. The Bices would save him a bag of bones, too, and he'd always carry the bag home in his mouth before he'd open it in his own yard. He wasn't sharing his rations with the neighborhood animals. Seems he entertained the whole street and now his gone ... certainly to a dog heaven for he's earned his 'reward'.

WE DON'T know who's responsible for it, but the 'planter' at the intersection of Michigan and Petoskey avenues sure's gonna look nice this summer. We noticed the other day that there's all sorts of small shrubs and probably flowers planted in it. And given a little time, it's going to add a lot to that corner.

AS YOU'VE probably noticed

there's quite a project afoot (or should we say afloat) in the channel these days with the Corps of Army Engineers replacing 200 ft. of the south revetment by the bridge with sheet piling. Incidentally, if you're a sidewalk engineer, you can stand on the street level and look down on the work and if you don't like the way it's being done, consult with the grandest guy, Col. A. P. Christophel, who'll listen quietly and then go back to the way he was doing it before.

But that isn't what we started to tell you. One day last week Mrs. Jeanette Novotny took her third grade down to watch the work. Before the 'field' trip, the class had discussed what was being done. One youngster piped up and wanted to know if it was the Army which was doing the job. Before anyone had a chance to explain, another well-informed member of the class answered. No, Sears and Roebuck is. We're sure that Franklin Sears whose company has been doing some work in here will be happy to know that he's being confused with the big company.

WE DIDN'T see any of the catfish for proof but we're sure that all those perch fishermen wouldn't have been spending their time on and around Round Lake Saturday if their efforts weren't paying off. There have been few times when we've seen as many fishermen as there were early Saturday evening.

HOW ABOUT that big old moon that was so big and bright Monday night. Maybe it will bring some warm weather and we'll get the idea that it's spring before summer arrives. What with trilliums, Johnny-jump-ups, adder tongues and what have you in full bloom and the woods giving a promise of leaves, maybe it's arriving after all. A little late but appreciated all the more.

Oh yes, and don't forget the leeks with their bright green stalks. Remember when you were a kid in school and would be sent home for the day if you ate any of those smelling things. But that was before the days of Chlorophyll. Kids today don't have to worry about little things like that.

ONE OF our oldest subscribers M. K. Chew, was in the office the other day. We didn't get to see him but he was telling the office staff that he's been a regular subscriber to the weekly newspaper for better than 50 years. Wonder if there's anyone else around who can better that record. If there is we'd like to hear about it.

MRS. ART Weststaff called me one day last week to tell me about the antics of her TV set. Seems there were beautiful pictures coming in on the screen but sound was nothing but storm signals and orders on what to do during an anticipated tornado in Houston, Tex. We've heard of these freaks but this is the first time anyone we knew had experienced one. It sounded mighty eerie to us.

HE MAY be 85 years old and he may be nursing a fractured arm which has slowed him down a bit, but he's still an Irishman who loves a good scrap and right now he's in the middle of a good one at St. Joe. We mean our good friend, Capt. Owen J. McCauley who's lived there for some years. Seems there's an old abandoned lighthouse whose history goes back to 1832. The city fathers have acquired the property and are thinking about razing the old building which hasn't been used in years. And there are those who want to convert it into a city museum and Capt. McCauley is with this group. We'll bet our money on the Irishman. Friends of Capt. McCauley's and he has a million or so. It will be glad to know that he's getting a long time after fracturing his upper arm in a fall shortly after he returned to his home in St. Joe after spending the winter in Detroit with his daughter, Clementine McCauley who teaches in the Detroit school system. And come summer, he'll be making his annual pilgrimage to Beaver Island for a visit with his old friends and a tour of his old haunts.

THE RALPH Hamiltons were in Holland last weekend for the Tulip Festival. They were touring one of the exhibition buildings where flower arrangements using tulips were on display. Imagine their surprise to find a lovely arrangement which included an heirloom lace shawl, an old ship's lantern and a clever arrangement of tulips entered by Mrs. L. E. (Eldon) Towse. The exhibit was one of the features of the Tulip Festival and was sponsored by the Federation of Garden clubs.

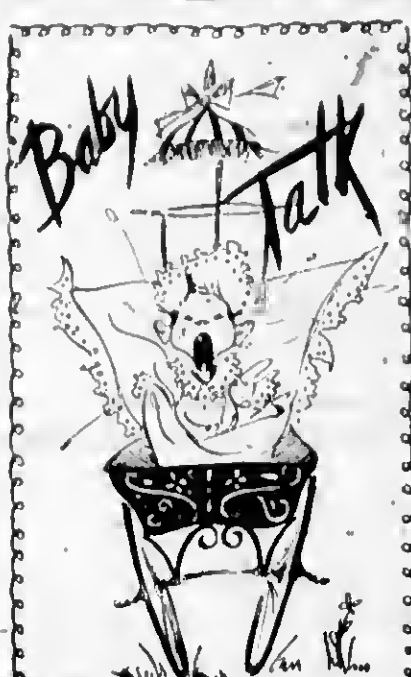

WE MADE the acquaintance of our first chinchilla Sunday when we were invited to attend the annual meeting of the northern Michigan Chinchilla Breeders. They are a small closely-knit group who have one thing in common. They're raising chinchillas. Most of them started with a pair or two (who could afford more they start at $500 apiece) and are raising herds which grow slowly, we're told. One of the highlights was the discussion of the very first chinchilla auction ever held. It's to be held in New York June 21 and all are looking forward with great excitement to the event. None of this group is marketing pelts (they haven't reached that stage yet) but they're anxious to know what it will reveal in the way of prices, acceptance, etc.

IF YOU haven't met up with a chinchilla you're in for a surprise. In pictures we'd seen, we thought they resembled a little bunny rabbit. They're a very small boned animal that is a good natured character, easy to care for, inexpensive to feed and when you hold it, nothing but a handful of fluff. You wouldn't believe that anything could be so light. The fur itself is so soft that when you rub your hand over it you can't feel it. It's shaven from deep steel blue to a white band topped by a dark veiling. Once you've seen and handled one and learned a little of its illustrious history, you can understand why the fur is so sought-after.

They derive their name from a tribe of Indians in South America known as the Chinchas who lived near the chinchilla territory in the high Andes Mountains of the southern continent. The Indians used the fur for protection against the cold at the high altitude. That was as long ago as 900 A.D. Later the Chinchas were conquered by the Incas who also acquired possession of the valuable chinchilla territory.

THEN IN 1542, came the Spaniards who in turn conquered the Incas. And with them the luxurious blue-gray fur. The first collection of the pelts returned to Europe won approval of Spanish Royalty and, as usually happens, the animals were trapped almost to a point of extinction. It was believed that they were extinct when a mining engineer, Mathias F. Chapman, purchased one from an Indian. The search was on and over a period of several years he captured 11 animals which were eventually brought to this country. All chinchillas today are descendants of the 11 animals, once owned by Chapman.

them so now that it sounds like a wonderful adventure. So wonderful that when we find a 1,000 pieces of legal tender that we haven't any use for, we're going into the business. All kidding aside, tho', it's a grand thing. Raising chinchillas and quite an experience as any of the breeders will tell you. Most of them are business or professional people who continue to work, they will tell you, to support the chinchillas. But meeting them and learning about the little animals was truly a privilege.

Local Police To Help With State Safety Campaign

Police Chief Clarence Heise today announced that the city of Charlevoix is cooperating with the State Safety Commission on the statewide program aimed at reducing traffic accidents due to dangerous passing.

According to Chief Heise, passing is one of the most difficult and dangerous maneuvers a motorist can make in traffic. This is because in most instances it requires crossing the center line and facing oncoming traffic head on, prior to getting by the car ahead and pulling back into the right hand lane.

In an all-out effort to help motorists to do their passing more safely an intensive public education program is planned over the two months of June and July. The Michigan Trucking Association, one of the co-sponsors of the program, has made possible the distribution of 200,000 leaflets containing twenty safety tips on passing and 10,000 posters carrying the message "Share The Road-Keep In Lane."

The Chief pointed out that motorists should be particularly careful in trying to pass a car on city streets where parking on both sides leaves only one lane open in each direction for moving traffic. "Trying to pass a car between one intersection and the next with short block lengths of 300 feet is hazardous—especially if the end of the passing maneuver takes place almost at the intersection," he said.

Chief Heise called upon all motorists to cooperate on this safety campaign and improve their passing habits so that we may reduce traffic accidents without his department having to arrest more motorists for illegal passing.

Mustering-Out Pay Deadline Set For Korean Vets

July 16, 1954, is the deadline date before application must be received from Korean veterans who have not yet applied for mustering-out pay, Kenneth B. Forbes, local American Legion service officer, warned this week.

This applies to those veterans who received honorable discharge between June 27, 1950 and mid-July 1952. Those separated since the latter date, received their mustering-out pay on discharge.

The rate fixed under the Korean G. I. bill is $100 if the serviceman has less than 60 days active duty between June 27, 1950 and mid-July 1952; $200 if he had more than 60 days service and no foreign duty; $300 if he had more than 60 days service and served outside the United States. Benefits must be applied for before July 17, 1954.

Success!

This fortunate angler had just reeled in this 3 1/2-pound trout on opening day of the extended spring rainbow season when one of Michigan's outdoor writers happened on the scene to snap his picture. The special season opens the second Saturday in April each year and gives anglers chance to wet their lines before the general trout and game fish opening later in the month. This fish was taken on the East Branch of the Au Gres River in Iosco county.

LIKE TWO FIGHTERS in the opening rounds of a "slugging match," Democrat and Republican brass are probing and sparring in a search of each others defense. Both are anxious to discover any weakness of the opponent; each is striving to cover his most vulnerable points.

Campaign machinery has been readied for action and already has started to function. Most people expect campaigning to be rugged. Michigan is considered one of the crucial and key states. What happens here is of national political importance. Neither side will lose the election for lack of aggressive effort.

Certain similarities exist in the hopes and fears of both Republicans and Democrats. Each hopes for dissension within the other party. Each claims that it will be campaigning on a shoe string; that the other has huge financial supports from "vested interests." Both the Republican spokesmen and Gov. G. Mennen Williams claim credit for all good recent legislation; each claims the other was prodded into constructive action by pressures of the moment.

AN ELEMENT of truth, as is usually the case in politics, is present in all these claims. But it is hard to separate from fabrication. John Peikens, chairman of the Republican State Chairman Committee, says the CIO will "try to buy an election in Michigan with a million and a half dollar war chest." John Murray, publicity director for the Democratic State Central Committee, puffs this, saying, "We are always hearing about gigantic sums of money unions are pouring into our campaigns, but we never see any of it. I wish someone would tell me where we can get our hands on it."

The five GOP candidates for governor is considered the most potential source of trouble for Republicans. It is agreed by political observers that bitterness within the party after previous political campaigns cost the Republicans many, many votes; probably the governor's chair last election.

Republicans are hopeful that the "second" man in the Democrat primary might cause party disunity for their opponents. Blair Moody was no surprise as a senatorial candidate. Patrick C. McNamara, who also wants the job, has been more than a little pointed about charging Williams with "boss rule." He provides a warm issue that could turn into a hot one.

Extreme care is being taken by both parties to reduce chance of a split within their own ranks. Republican leaders have secured tacit agreement from candidates that they will campaign against Democrats and not each other. All candidates will be treated the same at the GOP convention in Grand Rapids Aug. 20-21, no matter who won the primary Aug. 3. All will be accorded equal time June 15 at a gigantic political rally.

SWEET WORDS have been forthcoming from Gov. Williams regarding McNamara. He referred to him as "an honorable gentleman who has every right to be a candidate in the senator's race."

The governor has said he will not campaign for either McNamara or Moody in the primary. But he also takes the stand that he appointed Moody to the Senate and cannot do anything that could be interpreted as a withdrawal of support. "The governor and the party will bend over backwards trying to be neutral," said a Democratic official.

"A DECISION may be made within 30 days about the location of America's West Point of the Air," said R. B. Miller, chairman of the Battle Creek Air Academy Committee and publisher of the Battle Creek Enquirer and News. Civic leaders in this area have conducted a rigorous campaign for location of the U. S. Air Academy at Fort Custer, a former army camp now standing idle. Michigan's bid in behalf of Fort Custer was presented to the Site Selection Commission which visited the fort on April 28.

Miller welcomes all support from anyone for the location of the Air Academy at Fort Custer. Sources in touch with the Site Selection Commission state that while any "pressure tactics" would be sharply resented, its members are interested in public reaction to the location of the site.

After all, stated the Battle Creek publisher, "Anybody feels happier about coming to a place where he's appreciated and wanted." Miller said that any material sent to him would be immediately forwarded to the Academy Site Selection Commission as further evidence of Michigan's unity in inviting the Academy to come to this state.

WARNING TO careless drivers, State Police officers have been directed to maintain a more rigid enforcement of traffic laws on Michigan's highways. Commissioner Joseph A. Chidulis, alarmed by the 14% increase in accidents, mostly rural, wants lawbreakers arrested whenever possible. "Violations are the cause of most accidents, so we are going to redouble our efforts to discourage drivers from violating," said the Commissioner.

The accident increase noted was for the first three months of 1954.

as compared with the previous year. Part of the increase is attributed to improved reporting systems and more travel. Fatalities are down slightly but injuries are higher, said the Commissioner, "but we want to reduce accidents themselves as much as possible."

Mrs. Keith Wagner (Wag's Cafe)

And right here, I'll tell you about a few of the who's and what's that prove our city has just about the smartest clothes available and the purtiest models available per square half-inch than any place else on the face of Michigan or in the whole United States, or in the wide, wide world.

That also goes for the good-looking fellows and the small fry who appeared as if they had stepped out from the photos in famous fashion mags to strut before a wide-conscious Charlevoix.

It was strictly resort wear that was shown in last week's Spring Festival of Fashions style show... high-styled for resorting at home, which most of us are looking forward to doing this summer.

Little sister outfits were the applause-catchers in the pre-teen group. The three blond Novak sisters were adorably in alike full-skirted, pink summer party cottons... as was the darling look-alike Schofield all girl trio in red denim shorts, red jeans and red peddle pushers. Colleen Smith and Angie Trochue wore sister sun suits of heart-shaped printed ehintz... ruffled and ruffled.

And stealing the show at the very beginning were little Mary Gallagher and Dougy Greenway in blue denim shorts and T-shirts, matching caps and canvas sail shoes.

Marlene Kaunitz and Don Smith were a natty looking couple... Marlene in red sail slacks and shirt, matching cap and navy box jacket. Don wore a skipper T-shirt and navy club linen slacks.

Darlene Mason was cute wearing little boy shorts of navy blue sail-cloth.

Another sister act was the lovely blond and auburn haired Davenport teen-agers... Margo in black linen Bermuda shorts and matching flight jacket... Mona in beige Bermuda length shorts with a fitted brown linen jacket.

Smooth figured Marga Trochue and Karen Smith modeled a ruffled orange swim suit and a slim jade green swim suit, respectively.

Another girl and boy-some was Eunice Flowers and Joel Arvilla wearing matching Pendleton grey plaid jackets combined with a slim grey wool skirt and grey wool slacks.

Blue-eyed and doll-like Susie Du rr appeared in a "separates" resort outfit of pink denim tendoras tied just below the knee and combined with a sleeveless white cotton shirt and a pink denim snap-brim.

Mother and daughter sports outfits were modeled by Phyl Wolfe and her dimpled daughter, Vicki McClure... they were matching and inter-changeable derim sets... skirts, blouse, jackets, caps... halter and shorts.

Lenore Erber and Mary Jean Campbell looked cute as little lady bugs in red calico swim and play bloomer suits. And Sandy Trochue was a story book doll in a blue shuntz party dress with rummy trim.

Don't Ball in a red sleeveless collar... and Jerry Albright in beige and brown knitted sport shirt and brown slacks made another smart looking couple.

A grey, pink and white shorts outfit, complete with matching raso made per Doris Foster avon portier... and lovely gal Karen again, modeling navy blue Jamaica shorts, red knee-length socks and a white sleeveless with red dots.

This is about the point when the boss starts cutting off my copy for this column... so I'll do it before he does this time and

The rest is yet to come! F.T.D.

Planning a luncheon? How about a nutritious vegetable plate, peas served in turnip cups, cucumbers in sour-cream-and-buttered asparagus, suggests Roberta Hershey, foods and nutrition extension specialist at Michigan State college.

NW Michigan To Start A Summer Session June 21

Northwestern Michigan college officials announced today that plans have been completed for its summer session beginning June 21. Classes will meet for a period of six weeks, from June 21 to August 1. With the brief summer session, the college will be offering this summer a total of 12 credit hours of instruction over last summer's session.

A part of the program this summer is being offered by Michigan State college in cooperation with Northwestern Michigan college. Of special interest to area teachers will be the two education courses in Remedial Reading and Counseling Techniques to be pre-ented by Professor Carl Farwell from Michigan State college. A political science course in State and Local Government by political science instructor Nick Rajkovich and a business education course in Office Management by Ernest Gaunt will complete the offerings from Michigan State college. All of the four courses will meet graduate or undergraduate credit from Michigan State college and may be applied toward either a Bachelor's or Master's degree.

Recent high school graduates or first and second year college students may elect social studies courses in economic geography and social science granting Northwestern Michigan college credit. In addition, the college will also offer courses in beginning and advanced typing and the operation of office machines. While all classes grant full college credit, students will be accepted on a non-credit basis if preferred.

A complete bulletin, with course description and other information is available for prospective students at the Northwestern Michigan college office.

Growth and Decline

One of the worst natural enemies of baby ducklings is the jackpike, otherwise known as the Northern Pike. Moving noiselessly in the shallow, sluggish waters of the northland marshes, lakes and rivers, the jackpike spies a mother ruddy duck with her several downy little tagalongs feeding on wildly dancing water beetles. Swiftly and silently the jackpike rises to the surface. There follows a noisy splash, the snap of dagger-lined jaws, a greedy gulp, and a duckling slides down the gullet of this pirate of the North to appease his hunger for but a few hours.

It has been estimated that eight out of every hundred wild ducklings hatched on North American lakes and rivers are devoured by jackpike. In one year these death-dealing denizens of our northern waters consumed 8,700,000 little ducks — almost the same number as were killed that year by human hunters. What a difference it would make in our duck population if all jackpike would go on a year's duckling-free diet.

Throughout the natural world two antithetical processes are constantly taking place — growth and decline. A duck egg is laid, develops, hatches, and the duckling feeds and grows. Then suddenly it is snatched from the surface of its pond home by a voracious jackpike. There is an instant decline in the duck population — a reduction of one duckling. But as a result of its rapaciousness the jackpike grows.

Soon he is caught by an excited wide-eyed fisherman, and immediately there is a reduction in the jackpike population. But the fisherman dresses the pike, bakes him, and he is eagerly eaten by the fisherman's family. Absorbed into their bodies, the jackpike makes muscle and bone.

So the process goes on, with decline being as important as growth. Tumbling leaves and falling timbers are as much a part of a forest as are sprouting pine seeds and growing hardwood saplings. Without the nourishing humus made of rotting leaves and twigs and old tree trunks the forest could not grow.

In the realm of the spirit decline and growth are of equal consequence. Some aspects of personality must decline if worthy traits of character are to grow. Childhood must recede if maturity is to be reached. Selfishness must die if serviceability is to live. The mediocre in us must give way to the better and the better to the best. Thus we live by dying!

Often our low moods drift in upon us in the wake of thoughts about death. But if death is such a normal part of our total experience on earth, can it be evil? The same good God that made possible birth and growth planned for decline and death. When the mystery of our departure is at last cleared up for us, shall we not find the answer somewhere in the goodness of God?

Selection Committee Announces 1954-55 Concert Season Program

The Artist Selection committee of the Northern Michigan Community Concert Association last week announced the program for the 1954-55 concert season which will open in late October.

In making the announcement, C. A. Odmark, local member of the committee, said that he felt surprised any that has been presented in the eight years of the Association's history. He added that only the work of the membership committee in the various communities made it possible to bring such a fine group of entertainers to northern Michigan.

The four outstanding selections made by the committee include the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Paul Paray, conducting; Musical Americana, a production written especially for Community Concerts showing the development of American music from earliest days to World War I and featuring within the show a ballet, folk dancers and choral attractions. Morley and Gearhart, famed du-piano team featured with Fred Waring's radio program and Carol Brice, negro contralto, heralded by many critics as the successor to Marian Anderson.

Serving with Mr. Odmark on the Artist Selection Committee were Mrs. Theodore Malpass of East Jordan; Walter Noa of Gaylord, Dr. R. E. Todd, Mrs. Edward Fenlon, Mrs. Katherine Inglis and Mrs. H. W. Douma of Petoskey. The selections were made after meeting with Mrs. Marion Ross of Battle Creek, Community Concert representative.

The Charlevoix membership committee was presented with a gift, an autographed record album of "Variations on a Theme of Paganini" by Brahms as played by Gorodnitzki, from the New York office for increasing their membership by the largest percentage. Charlevoix now has 173 members. Members of the committee are Mr. and Mrs. Odmark, Mrs. Ada Golden, Mrs. Leonard Burns, Mrs. Walker Miles, Mrs. E. J. Edwards and Mrs. Charles Bellinger.

ONLY ONE GRADE—AMERICA'S GREATEST GASOLINE VALUE

THE NEW BLUE SUNOCO WINS AGAINST 'PREMIUMS'

Delivers as much as 14.9% more miles per dollar than 16 premium-priced gasolines tested at Indianapolis Track

The Test: Each day of test, 16 cars (including cars with highest compression engines) were fueled with $3 worth of gas, driven around track 'til tanks ran dry. Miles each car went were accurately recorded by impartial observers. The fleet of cars was run on New High-Test Blue Sunoco and all 16 premium-priced gasolines. All cars were driven at same pace.

Results: New Blue Sunoco—at regular gas price—beat them all! It gave up to 14.9% more miles (average: 10.4%) than premium-priced brands tested. Ask your Sunoco dealer for names of these brands.

WILBUR SHAW, Pres. of Indianapolis Motor Speedway Corp., and 3-time winner of the 500-mile race, supervised this gasoline test.

INDIANAPOLIS TRACK—New High-Test Blue Sunoco was tested here against 16 well-known premium-priced gasolines. Wilbur Shaw says: "With all cars using $3 worth of gasoline, I saw how much farther those using New High-Test Blue Sunoco went than those fueled with the 16 premium-priced brands tested."

All the claims of other gasolines can't change results of this test

How Sun's one-grade policy gives you high-test performance at regular gas price

Sun Oil Company produces only one grade of gasoline—New High-Test Blue Sunoco. This single-grade policy results in savings on storage tanks, trucks and pumps. These savings are invested in research and new, improved refining processes to give you New High-Test Blue Sunoco—premium quality still at regular gasoline price.

Over Production Of Turkeys May Cause Price Drop

Michigan families will be eating much cheaper turkey during the 1954 holiday season than last year if turkey raisers don't cut their production. That's the word from J. M. (Mac) Moore, extension poultryman at Michigan State college.

Moore cites figures compiled by the U. S. Department of Agriculture which show about 10 per cent more heavy breed turkeys than in 1953. This indicated crop, Moore points out, will be larger than the market can take at prices profitable to growers.

If feed prices stay where they are now, the USDA industry committee says, production costs will be up at least 3 cents a pound over last year. . . .

Good Care Of Hens Helps To Control Quality Of Eggs

The best way to prevent taking a cut in your egg check because of undesirable yolk color or off flavor is to keep your hens in the laying house.

That's the word from Ed Reiman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent. When eggs have a dark color, he explains, it's usually due to the hens eating green alfalfa, clover or grass. Yellow corn or carrots will give the same effect. The dark color of yolks comes from the pigment in these foods.

J. M. (Mac) Moore, extension poultryman at Michigan State college however, points out that yolk color may vary even when hens are confined. That's because the birds are not alike in their capacity to transmute pigments from the feed to the egg yolk.

But confinement and controlling the amount of pigment-carrying feeds, he says, give the best control.

Moore also contends that layers should not be allowed in a wet, boggy barnyard. There's a danger of producing off-colored yolks . . . and a bad flavor.

Eggs with dark yolks, Moore admits, are often placed in a lower grade than necessary.

Patients Helped By Horticulture Therapy Method

Some patients need more than medicine to get well. That's one reason horticulturists at Michigan State college are urged to grow more people to become interested in growing and caring for plants.

M.S.C. Extension Folder F-181, "Horticultural Therapy," has some suggestions on how to "offer a tonic to any patient." The folder is available at the county extension office. Here are some suggestions it offers as a supplement to other treatment for patients:

For bed patients, give them some narcissus, hyacinth or crocus bulbs that will grow rapidly in a container with small stones and water. Seeing roots and flowers develop gives them a lift and they can also become amateur plant breeders.

Give a patient some labeled house plants, identifying them by both the common and scientific names. Wild plants that grow in the woods are good material, too.

Learning to identify the plants will give the patient hours of pleasure and it makes good use of his time.

A blind person will get much enjoyment from an outdoor herb garden. Plants should be on a sloping area so they're about waist high. A hand rail can guide the blind person and he can learn to identify the plants from labels in Braille.

If the patient is artistic, he can spend a lot of time learning a useful hobby. Give the patient a few flower containers, some chicken wire or other device for holding flowers. If he is in a hospital, he will be able to find plenty of flowers to dismantle and rearrange.

A REPORT this week said that lenders have filed claims for more than 150 million dollars from the Federal Housing Administration on defaulted Government-insured home repair loans. The FHA has "insured everyone involved against loss, except the borrower, in 17 million repair or improvement loans totaling $7,600,000,000 without any prior appraisal."

THE NATIONAL Congress of Parents and Teachers supported the Supreme Court's anti-segregation ruling at its annual convention held this week.

BRITAIN has given Red China warning that it will stand with the United States and other free nations in any political-military showdown in Indochina and Southeast Asia. This action reduced one of the most serious points of dissension between the United States and Britain since the two nations entered into their World War II partnership.

GOV. HERMAN Talmadge of Georgia said this week that Negroes and whites will not attend the same schools in that state even if troops are sent in to enforce the Supreme Court's ban of segregation.

WAR BETWEEN Honduras and Guatemala appeared imminent this week. President Juan Manuel Galvez has asked the United States to invoke the mutual-assistance pact signed last week in a move to forestall the spread of Communism in Latin America.

THE VIKING XII, largest rocket known to United States scientists, shot to an altitude record for single-stage rockets of 158 miles this week, at a top speed of 4,300 miles an hour. This exceeded the old single-stage record by 22 miles.

THE Government has "reluctantly" abandoned the idea of selling its huge butter surpluses to American housewives at bargain prices. It is believed that a disposal program large enough to eliminate the Government's holdings probably would cost "about 500 million dollars and in large degrees fail" to accomplish its aim.

THE HOUSE Ways and Means Committee has given approval to a revised social security program which would give higher benefits to millions more persons and eventually raise their tax payments.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

POPPIES will be blooming up and down main street this week-end . . . and make sure that there's at least one attached to your lapel for that red flower, reminiscent of World War I, that has come to mean war veterans to us, was made by a wounded veteran of one of our three major wars . . . He will receive a part of the sum you donate for the privilege of wearing that flower . . . and the remainder will go to some pretty worthwhile cause too . . . So when a V.F.W. or American Legion representative offers you a flower, just be grateful in your own heart that you or someone dear to you didn't make it and be generous with your contribution.

I WAS invited to a birthday party the other day . . . a very special one for a little boy who is in a body cast as a result of what doctors say is quite a common children's disease of the legs, left-paralysis . . . The little boy was Dougie Johnson and the other guests were Miss Miller's second grade class where Doug was a student until he became ill in January . . .

On hearing about the party, Chuck Pontius arrived ahead of time and had Doug comfortably situated on an ambulance stretcher in the sun when the class arrived via school bus . . . After greeting the kids, they sang several birthday songs for him, chatted like magpies, presented him with cards and little gifts and then Judy Walker, who was also observing a birthday, presented him with a gift from the class . . . a big model airplane . . . After a treat of dixie cups brought by Miss Miller and pretty cup cakes made by Doug's mother, plus some plain foolin' around as only second graders can do, everyone went back to school . . . I'm sure Doug, who's scheduled to be slowed down for about a year, will long remember his ninth birthday and all those friends who gathered for the occasion . . . PS . . . One second-grader who didn't make it was Johnny Ochs who was house-bound with measles . . .

AND speaking of the mumps, measles and chicken-pox that have been making the rounds . . . Little Christie Hamilton missed the recent style show because of 'em . . . And Rod Creede of the dancing school is holding his breath and hoping that none of his students will come down with something before Friday night . . .

HOW DID you like the music concert Thursday night . . . Did you ever see anything any lovelier than the girls' choir, gowned in formal of every shade? . . . And did you notice how well even the beginners hand sounded? . . . and weren't you just a little surprised that the junior band is doing so very well? . . . And how about that eighth grade chorus . . . And that senior band with its dramatic entrance in double time behind those cute and clever majorettes . . . You just won't ever find a better looking bunch of kids anywhere in this world . . . And we'll bet there were quite a few lumps in as many throats as the band played the good old Star Spangled Banner . . .

The thing that struck us was the fact that 190 kids in the seventh through the twelfth grades were participating in the program . . . We dare say that the majority of those kids would never have had a chance to make a name for themselves in high school activities if it weren't for the music program . . . And here was a good part of the junior and senior high school taking part in a super program . . . A big bouquet to Mr. Odenmark for his tireless work with them and a bigger one to a school which provides for such programs . . . Add those 190 to those participating in the various athletic programs offered during the year plus other extra-curricular activities in school and you've got just about everyone interested in some outside activity . . . That's why Charlevoix doesn't have a juvenile delinquency problem, we think . . . Sure, there's a lot to be done yet but we're on our way . . . And it's another one of the things that makes Charlevoix a good town to live in . . .

WE RECENTLY observed Rural Mailbox Improvement week but there's one rural patron who didn't have to worry about getting their box in shape . . . It's the Clyde Smiths near Barnard, who found their mailbox missing from its post one morning . . . Later it was returned bright and shiny from a new coat of paint and a name plate . . . If you live near John L. Boss maybe he'll fix yours too . . . And speaking of the Smiths they've been enjoying, of all things, morning glories in full bloom . . . No, it hasn't been outside but they've had a plant that has been bloomin' like mad . . .

FOR THE first time in heaven knows how many years, the Boy Scouts had pretty fair weather for their annual Camporee . . . Of course, it was a bit chilly at night but it didn't rain and that was something to be grateful for . . . From what we hear it was a huge success and everyone's already planning for next year . . .

OUR FRIENDS, the Webbs . . . Jonsky, Marie and Tommy . . . are on the move again . . . according to word received by Mrs. W's mother, Mrs. Charles Novak . . . This time they've taken off from French Morocco to tour Italy and Switzerland before packing for the trip home . . . They've been gone for two years and everyone is looking forward to seeing them again . . .

IF YOU'VE been at Michigan State recently maybe you've noticed something that should make you mighty proud of our school and our kids . . . Among the 200 persons listed on the Honor Roll at State are two from our little old high school . . . Doris Nielsen and Amy Kipke . . . That's a pretty good average for our school, don't you think? . . .

MEMORIAL DAY 1954 . . . It won't be much different from all the other Memorial Days . . . we've known . . . We'll all stand on the corner and watch the parade march by . . . the colors, the firing squad . . . the band . . . the veterans, fewer and fewer wearing uniforms, not because there are fewer veterans but because those uniforms of World War II and the Korean conflict no longer fit around the middle and those of World War I are long since gone . . . There'll be Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and the school children . . .

And when taps are sounded, our thoughts will turn to those no longer with us . . . And because the thoughts of war are still so new to our memories, we'll pray that there'll be no more war . . . even as we hear its rumbling out of the corner of our ears . . . But there's always tomorrow and maybe there'll come a day . . . And as the parade marches by we're left with our memories . . .

A PARTRIDGE made an unexpected call the other day and as a result just about scared the life out of Miss F. L. Edson and her sister, Mrs. Knowlton of Minneapolis who's been visiting here . . . Seems the pair were spending some time at Wil's End, Miss Edson's cabin at Pine Point when crash . . . bang . . . something hit Mrs. K. in the back of the head . . . After recovering from the initial shock they found a bird had crashed through the window into the cabin . . . At first glance it seemed as tho' the bird was done for but in seconds it was fluttering about trying to find its way outside and created some more confusion before it was finally captured and released through the door . . . The pair are still cleaning up glass and wondering what next will move in on them . . .

Carolyn M. Smith, Blake D. Kreple Exchange Vows In Grand Rapids

Bouquets of lavender and white lilies and lighted tapers in candleholders decorated the altar of the Smith Memorial Congregational church in Grand Rapids recently for the wedding of Carolyn M. Smith and Blake D. Kreple.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Inga Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kreple of Grand Rapids and the parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Harry P. Rogers officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. Clare Yenon, vocalist, was accompanied by Ruth Dickinson, organist.

The bride chose a white strapless tulle gown styled with a long-sleeved face jacket and a ballerina overskirt of nylon and tulle. Her cloche held a shoulder length veil and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Mrs. LaVern Cole of Petoskey was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a ballerina length dress of dove gray tulle with a bouffant skirt. Her nose veil was attached to a matching half-hat and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

Shirley Brooks and Bette Messer, both of Grand Rapids, as bridesmaids wore gowns identical to the honor attendants and carried similar bouquets.

Sgt. Richard Rose of Newaygo, stationed at the Lapeere Air Force base, III, assisted the bridegroom.

as best man and ushers were Frank Breen and Morton Zylstra of Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Smith selected a navy dress, white accessories and a corsage of white carnations for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Kreple, mother of the bridegroom, wore a light blue dress, white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Kreple presided as master and mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Kreple wore a black and white print gown, matching hat, white accessories and a corsage of red carnations.

After a reception at the church community room the couple left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada. For traveling the bride selected a navy dress, matching hat, white accessories and a corsage of red carnations.

They will make their home at 507 Burton st. in Grand Rapids.

Among those from Charlevoix who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Cunningham and daughters, B. J. Joyce and Judy, Mrs. Martin Elzinga, and Mrs. Carl Russell. Other guests were present from Grandville, Detroit and San Diego, Calif.

Darlene Houck Is Honored With Birthday Party

Darlene Houck celebrated her eighteenth birthday anniversary last Tuesday at a dinner party given by her mother, Mrs. Eunice Houck.

Spring flowers and lighted birthday cake centered the dinner table where places were laid for Gail Krahne, Marlene Kaunz, Patsy Ratigan, Marian Warner, Elaine Poole, Karen Smith, Sue Beaudoin, Cynthia Smith and Eunice Houck.

Later the honoree and her guests attended the movie.

High School Music Department Presents Annual Spring Concert

Nearly 200 junior and senior high school students appeared in the annual Spring Concert presented by the Charlevoix high school music department at the high school auditorium Thursday night. The entire program was under the direction of C. A. Odmark.

A crowd estimated to be more than 700 parents and friends heard the eighth grade mixed chorus, a newly-organized group, singing several numbers; the beginners band of seventh grade musicians play several selections and the Junior band composed of eighth grade and freshmen students a group of more difficult marches and an overture.

One of the highlights of the concert was the 33-voice girls' glee club, wearing formal gowns in a rainbow of colors, singing a program of familiar numbers and concluding with the favorite, the "Whiffenpoof Song."

The Charlevoix high school band of 66-pieces, making its first appearance since winning a first division rating in Class C state competition, thrilled the crowd with its dramatic entrance.

The drum major's sharp whistle was the signal for the drum section to begin playing as the band entered the auditorium behind a trio of majorettes wearing their snappy new uniforms of maroon and white trimmed in gold and white shakos topped with gold plumes.

Remaining on the floor level, the band then played the National Anthem under the direction of Mr. Odmark as the majorettes, Sue Beaudoin, Carolyn Venderwall and Donna Ikens, stood at attention. The group then marched to the stage for the program.

During the program, which included several numbers that featured various sections of the band and a clarinet solo by James Bearss, a plaque awarded to the band for winning the top rating in the Michigan Band and Orchestra festival was presented to Larry Burns, band president. Mr. Odmark made the presentation in behalf of Mrs. John Stebe, president of the Band Parents Association, which financed the purchase of the plaque and the medals which were awarded to the entire band.

The senior members of the band, Larry Burns, Bob Miles, student director who directed one number on the program, Elaine Poole, James Bearss, Henry Pontions, Warren Buchfinck, Jerry Paul, Carol Paul and Sue Beaudoin, were presented medals during the program. The others received their medals the following day.

Mrs. Leonard Burns was the accompanist.

In his talk he said that it was important to give children loving care and a close family life during the early years. With children who have no homes, he said, arrangements should be raised to rear them in foster homes rather than institutions.

He went on to say that he felt too much pressure was placed on children in the three to 10 year age groups by adults who are anxious for them to mature too rapidly. He said that love, security and control were the three important things during these years.

He also blamed the adults for their treatment of adolescent children and said again that they were at fault because they wanted the teen-ager to mature too rapidly. Again he emphasized love, security and control during the formative years.

Kathleen Lawless Is Honored With A Bridal Shower

Mrs. John Cross entertained at a bridal shower Saturday evening honoring Kathleen Lawless of Portland, bride-elect of A2-c Gerald D. Left.

Guests gathered at the Cross home for games with prizes going to Mrs. Ralph S. Hamilton, Mrs. Walker Miles and Mrs. Florence Krahne. A social hour followed.

The refreshment table was cleverly decorated with a miniature bride under a bridal arch flanked by miniature bridesmaids in pink and green. White flowers and lighted white tapers completed the arrangement.

The bride-elect was presented with a variety of lovely gifts.

Among the 32 guests were her mother, Mrs. Francis Lawless and son, Michael, and her grandmother, Mrs. Anna Selback of Portland.

Here goes with the second installment of last week's column about the style show.

A glazed cotton flower print with a mustard colored shorty jacket was worn by attractive Phyl Wolf.

Mona and Margo Davenport paired up in another sister act wearing a dark cotton with a black finer-weave jacket and a butterfly print with a charcoal grey jacket.

Proving once more that the new contrast jacket-dress affairs are top fashion news.

Marge Trochchio's cotton ensemble was a print dress worn beneath a black overcoat, which when worn buttoned and by itself made a smart looking one piece black outfit that could be dressed up or down with accessories.

Lovely Veronica Mellon modeled one of the dress and sweater favorites, a black printed cotton combined with a soft yellow cashmere.

Pauline Hamlin drew enthusiastic applause when she appeared so perfectly suited in pale chalk blue with a matching fringed stole. And we all oh-ed and ah-ed when Mildred Terr modeled so elegantly a yellow sheath dress with a matching mere suggestion of a cape studded with rhinestones.

Mildred also modeled another show favorite, an off the shoulder dark cotton kitten print which sported huge pockets and three-quarter sleeves.

A pale summer pink portrait dress was worn by Phyl... and a pair of flower earrings completed the picture for some important garden party. The dress was one of those wonderful new fabrics with permanent pleats that is hand washable.

Another wonder, linen-cotton fabric with the look of wool was styled into a plaid sheath with a scoop neckline, worn by Marge Trochchio.

The knit dress is also enjoying favoritism this season for resort wear, because of its wearability, packability and exquisite textured shades. Gail Krahne and Carrie Duerr modeled the very latest for 'slims', with washable white resort shorty coats.

All-weather and all-purpose coats and matching hats were shown by Pauline Hamlin in grey... Vickie McClure in plaid and Mona Davenport in the ever-lovin' belted trench coat style.

Ultra afternoon and evening smartness was achieved by Marge Coleman again, modeling a country print chintz skirt below a black sleeveless very-fitted top.

I hesitate to even murmur that it is getting warm enuf to get a thrill out of thinking along beach lines... but today the sun is bright and hot and I remember the swim suits modeled by Mona, Vickie and Suzie. One striped, one yellow and jeweled, one chalk white... all very stunning and topped with short terry beach robes.

Invite Little Tots To Visit Local School Next Week

Pre-school children who will be eligible to enroll in kindergarten in September are invited to visit school next week. Mrs. Dorothy Meltae, kindergarten teacher, said this week.

Children must be five years old by December 1 to be eligible to enter school.

By extending the invitation to the youngsters to visit school between June 1 and 4, Mrs. Meltae asked that as many as possible visit class during the afternoon.

However, the children who must ride to school on the bus will be welcomed in the morning.

School begins at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. daily.

Prescription ONLY

Among the thousands of items stocked in our modern pharmacy, there are certain types of drugs classified as "prescription only." If used without the benefit of medical supervision, these drugs could be harmful—even dangerous. They cannot be dispensed unless a prescription calling for them is presented to us. We will never violate the law—or jeopardize anyone's health—by selling "prescription only" drugs over the counter.

Scout Camporee Held At Park Over Weekend

Twenty-nine Charlevoix Scouts including 22 members of Boy Scout troop 11 and seven members of Explorer post 211, were among the 930 Scouts from 18 northern Michigan counties which comprise the Scenic Trails Council who participated in the 1954 Conserve-O-Ree at Magnus Park at Petoskey over the weekend.

Accompanied by Scoutmaster Frank Case, assistant Scoutmaster, Larry Burns and Post Advisor, Ted Miller, the group left here late Friday for the camp site. They pitched their tents and prepared supper before attending the get-acquainted campfire Friday night.

On Saturday they participated in patrol activities, marched in a parade which was led by the Charlevoix high school band under the direction of C. A. Odmark, and returned to camp for the Conservation pageant campfire Saturday evening. On Sunday they attended church and participated in a variety of contests before packing for the trip home. During the entire camp-out, the boys cooked their own meals and cared for their camp sites.

Scout leaders and Scouts alike said the Conserve-O-Ree was the most successful Camporee ever staged in the area.

In the parade will be the color bearers, color guard, firing squad, the U. S. Coast Guard, the Charlevoix high school band, members of the two veterans organizations, their auxiliaries, other veterans, members of the 310th Ordnance Depot, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, children on decorated bicycles, school children in school buses and decorated cars.

In the event of rain, the program will be held in the high school auditorium.

Members of the band, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and all children participating in the parade are asked to assemble at the school at 9:15 a.m. and march to Park ave. where they will join the parade.

Work Resumed On Highway 31 Construction

Work has been resumed on the 49 miles of highway on US 31 south of Charlevoix under construction after adverse weather conditions halted the operation for a month, William P. Collon of the Michigan Highway Department office here has announced.

The grading operations were resumed last week, more than 75 per cent of the dirt on the job has been moved and the construction of four culverts is nearing completion, Mr. Collon said.

The Slagter Company of Grand Rapids is building four culverts, the largest of which will require more than 10,000 pounds of steel, along the roadway. They are located along the road, near the Lyons farm 2 1/2 miles from town, near the Beattie road midway in the project and 200 ft. south of the intersection of US 31 and the Norwood road.

Approximately 50 per cent of the stone to be used on the project or 13,000 tons, has been brought here by lake freighter and stockpiled near Ironton. The remainder will be made here. Tests are now underway to find suitable stone deposits for use on the road.

If the work progresses as anticipated, the Sargent company of Saginaw which has the contract for the job, will begin pouring cement about June 15, Mr. Collon said.

Recover Body Of Richard Bettis From Lake Erie

The body of Richard Bettis, 31, a former resident who was drowned in Lake Erie April 27, was recovered Friday near Monroe by the crew of a sand barge of Toledo, relatives and friends here have been informed.

The body of his father, Floyd Bettis, 68, who was drowned at the same time while the pair were fishing on Lake Erie in a metal rowboat equipped with an outboard motor, was recovered shortly after the accident.

Funeral services for Richard Bettis, who had resided at Trenton, were held Tuesday with burial in a Trenton cemetery. Earlier services for his father were held at Wyandotte where the family had resided since leaving Charlevoix.

He is survived by his wife, Olive, two small children; his mother, Mrs. Floyd Bettis, and a brother of Wyandotte and a sister, Mrs. Frances McMillan of St. Ignace.

Women's Group Gives Gift To Hospital room, which at that time would have cost an estimated $500.00.

But as time went on and prices went up, the Farm Bureau Women's Committee, composed of representatives of 16 community groups, sought the advice of hospital authorities in the selection of a piece of equipment for the new hospital, since available funds would not permit the purchase of furnishings.

Miss Baumgartner appeared at a recent meeting of the group and proposed the purchase of the Dermatomy. It met with their approval and was ordered.

Last week when it was delivered, Mrs. Nason presented a check for $224.00 toward the purchase price and pledged another $70 in behalf of the group.

In accepting the check, Miss Baumgartner said that it was projects such as this that makes the Charlevoix hospital truly a community hospital.

Speaking for the hospital staff, Dr. L. E. Grate said that the Dermatomy is by far the finest machine devised yet for use in cutting skin grafts.

He went on to say that with the Dermatomy, the graft is cut by firmly pressing the cutting blade down on the skin and sliding it forward much in the same manner as using an electric clipper. The cutting blade has a speed of 8,000 cutting strokes a minute. The high velocity gives the blade a tremendous cutting action. As a result, the graft is not only uniform but very smooth.

The thickness of the graft is also easily determined by the use of two micro adjustment knobs thus allowing accurate grafts. The width of the grafts are also adjusted by the use of various width blades.

Plan the work and reconstruction as in the case of serious burns can be accomplished much more satisfactorily and the convalescent and hospitalization periods shortened by the use of the new machine which is equipped with its own motor.

When to Make A Move

When fishing roiled, muddy waters, place your lure near a submerged stump, fallen tree or a large boulder. The current, forced to slow down, tends to drop its load of silt near obstructions and will be found to be most clear in such places. There the fish are most apt to be lurking because they can avoid the mud that irritates and chokes their sensitive gills. Search out these likely looking places, for old lunkers are apt to go there and stay. Whether they are plump small-mouthed bass or lithe and sinewy brook trout, they won't move much when the water is agitated or unclear. Nor are they apt to feed upon what they cannot clearly see. Must game fish know better than to make a move or a decision when the water is muddy.

We human beings would do well to learn a lesson from our finny brethren. We ought not make important decisions when life's waters are muddied. Many a driver has been brought to a disastrous halt by tree or ditch because his mind, muddled by alcohol or sleepiness, could not judge distances and speed. Marginal decisions on the basis of turbid infatuation end in heartache and then in court. In fits of confusion, when leaden moods hang heavily overhead, people take their own lives. Many of life's stark tragedies are wrought by making a move when we cannot clearly see where we are going.

When can we then make our best decisions? What are our clearest moments? When we are most alone, free of a world of crowds, when we are inwardly "right" with God and our fellowmen (so that decisions are unclouded by guilt or ill-will), when we are most unhurried and can aim at correctness of decision rather than speed, when we have strong and good general principles and policies for living into which all decisions must fit — these conditions make for safe choices.

There is another clear circumstance necessary for right decisions: having our purposes in distinct focus. The young Mayo boys, later the founders of the famed Mayo Clinic, kept their goal always before them. They wanted to be top-notch physicians and surgeons. Whenever they had decisions to make, even if they were no more consequential than attendance at a social tea, they asked themselves, "Will this make us better medical men?"

Before making a move or precipitating a choice, anyone might well ask, "Will this make me a better person?" In the bright light of such worthy purposes we will seldom make an unwise judgement.

Poppy Day Saturday

The little crepe paper poppy you will wear on Memorial Day may be ill-fashioned and unskillfully made, but treasure it more, as it represents the work of a disabled serviceman. In many cases, this man has a family and the money he earns from making the poppies enables him to contribute some money to help support his family.

This coming weekend, the women from the American Legion Auxiliary will again ask you, the American public, to buy a poppy. Let us not be so engrossed in the problems of today that we forget the past. When you are asked, please give generously and wear the little red flower of remembrance to show you have not forgotten.

"High-Priced" Mistake

Maybe you noticed the big "ad" Red Smith's Furniture Store ran in The Clarion last week.

One item caused some embarrassment around here. It read: "4-piece Bedroom Suite, regular price $119.50, bargain price $149.50." Guess I didn't "proof-read" too well, and when our pressman asked for the go-ahead, I yelled, "Let 'er go."

All kinds of jokes about the mistake. One fellow asked if Smith's was holding the price line so tight it just snapped. Turned out fine in the end—Red sold that suite for the real sale price, of course.

From where I sit, it's lucky my carelessness didn't cost Red any business. I'm the one who's always "expecting" on being careful—careful of our responsibilities, careful of our neighbors' rights. Even careful to respect the other fellow's preference for a glass of beer. Let's all make a bargain to be more careful in the future.

County 4-H Clubs Are Organized For Summer Work

Summer 4-H clubs are now organized according to District 4-H Club Agent, K. C. Festerling. Most summer 4-H clubs are getting underway during this month. Members enrolled in 4-H garden work are busy planting their garden plots. Some of them will have their own garden while others will be earning for the family garden. Poultry club members are brooding the baby chicks. Some have as few as 25 while others are caring for a hundred or more. Most new dairy club members have their calves selected and have already begun their project work while older club members are caring for a heifer or now have a calf in production. Other projects that members will be enrolling in or have already started are crops, foods, canning and freezing. The latter is proving very popular as more and more farm homes are equipped with deep freeze units.

Community clubs already have their program underway which is Star, South Arm, Peninsula and Barnard. The agent urges that other groups begin right away. The most recent interest in a 4-H club comes from Norwood where Mrs. William Parsons will lead a 4-H garden club.

The 4-H club agent will assist with the organization of a 4-H club anywhere in the county. He urges interested parents or members to contact him at the County Agents office in Boyne City.

Nests of the birds released last year have been found by farmers in the area, indicating some of the birds survived the winter. Wagner urges farmers to be on the lookout for nests and young birds when working their fields.

Funds for the purchase of birds is derived from membership dues of property owners in the area who make up the association.

Mrs. Robert Reed Tells Girl Scouts About Yugoslavia

Mrs. Robert Reed, a native of Sisak, Yugoslavia, before her marriage to former Army Corporal Reed, spoke to Girl Scout troop 5 and their guests, Troop 10, last week.

Mrs. Reed told of the customs of her land and also related her experiences in a Displaced Persons Camp after she and her parents (she is an only child) had fled their country at the approach of the Russians.

She said that the D. P. Camp physician where they were located was very interested in youth work, especially scouting. Through his efforts, Boy and Girl Scout troops were organized in this camp.

The doctor drew pictures of scout emblems and the mothers of the new scouts embroidered the designs on any scraps of material that were available. All insignia were made this way.

The Boy Scouts were divided into animal patrols, lion, bear, etc. and the Girl Scouts into bird patrols, swallow, robin, etc. The patrol flag was embroidered by the mother considered the best needleworker. In her troop, Mrs. Reed said she was a "coronet", a rank comparable to a patrol leader.

Their uniforms were made from army discards dyed green.

She said that both Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts went on several weekend camps. The highlight of the program was a four-week trip to the Tyrolean Alps where they camped in tents. The boys and girls were separated but were close enough so that they enjoyed joint activities.

After the first two weeks the Girl Scouts decided to take up quarters in an abandoned ski lodge. They filled a long bed with straw and about 20 girls slept in it. It was a sad experience, however, for upon their return to the D. P. Camp they were sent to the camp hospital where they had to be treated for poison ivy and for "bugs" that were found in their hair.

Mrs. Reed also played two recordings for the Scouts, one a modern German jazz number and the other a Yugoslavian folk song.

She told about the schools of her country and said that all children had four years of elementary school and eight of high school where they had only one elective subject, French or Latin. All others were required.

Children in Europe do not have as many clothes as youngsters here, she related. There a girl would have two or three dresses for every day and one for good and only one pair of shoes.

The Christmas customs, the Scouts found most interesting. On Dec. 6, the children place their shoes outside the door to await a visit from St. Nicholas. If they have been good they find candy in their shoes; if not, a big switch.

On Christmas Eve the tree is decorated by the family. The children are then excused for a time and when they return the tree is lighted and loaded with gifts, given by the Christ Child. The entire family then spends the night on a bed of thick straw placed about the Christmas tree.

Mrs. Reed said that she and her family moved several times because of the Russians. The last time they had to pack and flee with only five minutes notice. They caught the last boat leaving the district where they had been living and as they sailed away the Russians shot at the departing ship.

Mrs. Reed came to this country with her husband in 1952 and now resides in Charlevoix.

Holiday Travel Will Be Heavy, Danger Greater

With Memorial weekend travel expected to reach an all time high for that holiday, State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs has issued a warning that the increase in highway accidents since the first of the year indicates what drivers may expect unless they observe every safety precaution.

He also reminded that pass days of all State Police officers, including detectives and others on special assignment, have been canceled from Friday to Monday, inclusive, to use the full strength of the department on traffic law enforcement. It will be the equivalent of a 20 per cent addition in officers assigned to patrol activity.

"Accidents during the first three months of this year increased 14 per cent over the same period in 1953," Childs said. "There has also been an increase in travel which, given good weather, indicates that Memorial holiday traffic will be the heaviest on record for that weekend. This means a much greater exposure to accidents."

"We are going to do everything possible to assure the safety of careful drivers by canceling pass days and using every available man on traffic law enforcement to apprehend those who are or may endanger others by their recklessness. And we are following a policy of strict and rigid enforcement. But police can't do it all. The primary responsibility is the driver's to use common sense and avoid bloodshed and tragedy. We hope that they do."

'Soo Canal' By W. Ratigan To Appear June 15

The publication of William Ratigan's colorful historical novel, "Soo Canal," based on the construction of the early Soo locks in 1853-55 has been set for June 15.

The publication coincides with the celebration of the canal's one hundredth year.

The book, most of which was written in Charlevoix where Mr. Ratigan has resided since World War II, covers a period from the time Congress gave to Michigan 750,000 acres of public lands and the right-of-way for the construction of a ship canal around the falls of St. Mary's river and the arrival of a young traveling salesman, Charles T. Harvey, who engineered the canals to the opening of locks in 1855.

With a foreword by General Douglas MacArthur, in whose honor the latest and mightiest of the Soo locks is named, the fabulous story of the Soo Canal is a love story and a definitive book about the construction of the canal which uncovers one of the most thrilling and adventurous tales of American free enterprise.

Rupert Hughes, historian novelist, says of the book "It is a thrilling contribution to the lore of the Great Lakes and an important addition to Americana."

H. V. Kaltenborn, news commentator, has written "My wartime colleague, Bill Ratigan, has done an important piece of work in recording the history of the Soo Canal. As a Wisconsin boy, I know the importance of that great waterway and I am glad this book will make that importance clear to our fellow Americans."

Published by the William B. Eerdmans Publishing Co. of Grand Rapids, the book will appear in book shops June 15.

Sermonette

By Rev. George L. Majors, Pastor
Community Church of God

An ancient sage once said, "Go to the ant — consider her ways and be wise."

It has been said that the ant is the busiest creature in all the world, yet has time to go to every picnic. How true! The other day our family went down to the beach for our evening meal. As we stood around the fire holding our food in one hand and shooting the insects with the other, our little girl looked up and said, "say, why did God make ants and mosquitos and things like that anyway?" to which her brother answered, "to feed the birds, and frogs, and fish and things." "Yes, but why do they have to bother us?" "That's so God can test us and see if we can hold our tempers", he replied.

There is often wisdom to be found in the simple words of a child, and the words of Solomon are true — there is much can be learned by observing the lowly ant as she diligently labors laying in store for a future day. The Scriptures plainly teach that this life on earth is a place of preparation, and not an end in itself. It's true, our tempers are being tested, and God is seeking to mold and fashion us for a far greater existence.

Jesus said, "Lay up for yourselves treasure in heaven". He also said, "For what is a man profited, if he gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?"

Let us consider the ant and diligently and patiently prepare ourselves spiritually for the future.

"AT YOUR STORE OR AT YOUR DOOR"

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

WITH THE weather we've had up 'til now, it's hard to believe that the summer season is almost upon us. But we sure got a look at what's before us around town over the weekend. More people, summer residents, looking over their cottages and boats and what have you in preparation for the summer season. Just lots of people going through and stopping off briefly for a look-see at our shops and lakes. Now if we'll only get a break in the weather during the next few months.

DOES IT seem possible that Sunday, June 6, will mark the tenth anniversary of D-Day, the invasion of Normandy that claimed so many lives and yet was the only way to the end of World War II. To those who were there or who had some one there the date will never be forgotten. The people back home usually didn't know about the major battles of the war 'til they were over but this like the Battle of the Bulge, was one of the few that the folks back home sweated and prayed through.

There's not much left on those beaches today to distinguish them from many other beaches. But like all other battlefields the world over, they'll be remembered always. When the price is paid in human lives, you can't forget. And on Sunday, when Memorial services are held, just pray a little harder that peace will become a permanent thing.

AND THE rains came, and how they came. For the first time in many years the Memorial Day parade and program at the cemetery were rained out. However, it was like old home week on Sunday with so many people around over the long weekend. With another one coming up in slightly more than four weeks, we should be seeing a lot of old friends.

BUT RAIN or no, the memorials at the bridge and in Memorial Park were not forgotten and wreaths were placed at the plaques as in other years. But we'll agree with many others that 1954 just won't be the same because there was no parade. For some reason or other, parades, the kind we have here, are just a part of a small town. Everyone from the smallest kid to the oldest of the community turn out in force and reminisce about past parades. And this year there wasn't one. But graves were visited and decorated despite the weather, and that's what Memorial Day is for.

WE NEVER knew 'til Monday that there's a Potter's Field in our own little cemetery here. Mrs. Robert Howe called us to ask if we knew anyone buried there. That was the first we'd heard about it. She said that all the graves have numbers rather than names on them and she thought perhaps if someone was there that she knew she might place some flowers on the grave. Since we were no help to the kindly soul, she said she planned to take wild trilliums and place them on all the graves. A kind and generous gesture. And before another year rolls around, how about checking on those graves in Potter's field. Certainly those people must have meant something to someone sometime or other.

JUNE IS hustin' out all over. Just like in the song. What with the cold weather nothing's dared stick its head out but now the leaves are poppin', the flowers are coming up all over the place, the lilacs, lilies of the valley, tulips. And the birds wake up at the crack of dawn and join in a spring symphony the likes of which you'll hear no place else. And if by chance, you should be awake at daybreak just listen and you'll know what we mean.

And speaking of birds, there's an apple tree outside our window that's in bloom and it's been more fun watching the birds, orioles, goldfinches, wrens and a half dozen kinds we don't know. Oh yes, and even a little humming bird.

HAVE YOU seen the June Country Gentleman. If you haven't borrow a copy some place and read Bill Ratigan's cute story, "Substitute for the Bride." The locale is the U.P. and in it you'll find many familiar names plus a real entertaining little story.

But Bill's 'big one' will hit the book stores later this month. "Soa Canal". It's the story which appeared earlier as a serial in the Country Gentleman. If you remember, it's the story of the Soa locks and how they came to be built. We're looking forward to owning an autographed copy. After all, it isn't everybody who lives on the same street with a real live author.

AND IN the May issue of House Beautiful is a picture story entitled "How to Get Traditional Grace and Modern Ease" by Frances Heard. It's about the new home the John Lord Kings have built in California. He's an architect and he's designed this beautiful new home which you'll agree has just everything. He is the son of the J. H. Kings on the Chicago Club.

WAS INVITED to a meeting of the Coin Collectors' club last week. And if you want to meet people who are really wrapped up in a hobby, you should meet that gang. Never realized that coins could be so interesting. Just about everyone from the lowly penny to the gold pieces has something in its background that a real collector knows about. If I were a collector of any kind (which I'm not) I'd certainly be interested in collecting that stuff we call legal tender.

THE CHARLEVOIX Rod and Gun club is looking for shooting runs. The old obsolete kind that you're thinking of discarding, but they want them for a very peaceful purpose. New lighting fixtures for the clubhouse. We know it sounds silly but that's what the man said. The man being the club president, Glenn Rose. Someone came up with a novel idea of re-fitting old guns and wiring them. (don't ask us how). To be used as lighting fixtures. The only trouble was, they ran out of guns (they have two completed). So if you have such a gun and would like to place it in a good home call Prexy Rose and he'll be happy to pick it up. The same applies to all R & G club members.

THERE'S going to be a meeting tonight (Thursday) to organize a hospital auxiliary. We think it's a good idea or we wouldn't be having any part of it. There's a lot to be done by an auxiliary, right now. If we have our way about this new organization, it's going to be a working organization, not a social group. There's work to be done, everything from mending to raising funds for new equipment for the new hospital. It's a job that isn't going to have a lot of glory connected with it. Just a lot of hard work and the satisfaction of having helped someone. The program is almost limitless. We hope that a lot of people will feel as we do that there's a job to be done and we want to help. We hope to that you'll be present tonight to give your support to what we feel is mighty important project. So won't you put in appearance tonight at the high school band room and help organize a hospital auxiliary.

MRS. ROBERT Bergmann and Mrs. Ted Bergmann, enroute home from Traverse City one day last week via one of the many side roads around the section of US 31 now under construction witnessed something rarely seen by humans. The birth of a fawn. They'd noticed this doe acting strangely in this old cornfield but not until they'd missed a turn and had to return over the same route did they notice that she was giving birth to a fawn. Right in the middle of the field. Immediately after it was born the mother picked it up by the scruff of the neck and stood it on its little toothpick legs, and supported it with her shoulder when it became wobbly. While they watched she coaxed her newborn, and on occasion gave it a motherly nudge, to the tall grass on the edge of the field. And tho' they didn't watch, they assumed she took it to a nearby clump of trees. Quite an experience, to say the least. And not a camera in the car to record the event.

THE NEXT week is going to be an important one to 46 of our young people. In case you hadn't realized, they're graduating from high school. They don't know it yet but they're leaving behind them the happiest and most carefree days of their lives. But to them the important thing is that school is over and a death and everyone is beginning on a whole new life. It's going to be wonderful (if you can remember when you were 18). They've got the world by the tail and the future is bright with ideals and dreams and wonderful new experiences. Already they're making plans for future reprieves. They're going to be different and see each other real often. But when the 46 stand and sing Alma Mater next Wednesday night, we hope they'll look closely at their classmates for it will probably be the last time they'll be together as a group. From now on there'll be only memories to bring them together again. We hope for this class that all those memories will be happy ones. And we

Maher - Haggard Marriage Vows Exchanged In Double Ring Service

George O. Haggard Jr. and his bride, the former Shirley Ann Maher of Highland Falls, N. Y., were guests at a reception given Sunday afternoon by Miss Katherine Fitch and Mrs. Charles Maher at the Fitch home on Auld ave.

The new Mrs. Haggard greeted the guests in a coral linen dress trimmed with pearls and rhinestones, white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

More than 75 guests attended the reception. The refreshment table was covered with a green linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of Spring flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Haggard were married at Sacred Heart church in Highland Falls, N. Y., May 22. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Maher of Highland Falls, Mr. Haggard is the son of Mrs. George O. Haggard of Charlevoix and the late Mr. Haggard.

The Rev. Fr. Healy officiated at the double ring service in the presence of 150 guests. Bouquets of white Spring flowers and lighted tapers decorated the altar for the nuptial Mass.

Sgt. Bart Cacardi, soloist, sang "Mother at Thy Feet I Am Kneeling" and "Ave Verum". Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white tulle styled with a square neckline outlined with lace and rhinestones, long sleeves and a full skirt ruffled from the bodice to the hemline. A rhinestone crown secured her fingertip veil and she carried a heart-shaped bouquet of white roses.

Mary Petrillo of Newburgh, N. Y., as maid of honor, wore a ballerina length gown of accordion pleated aqua tulle and a floral headpiece and carried a heart shaped bouquet of yellow carnations.

Peggy Moran of Highland Falls and Tommy Sealzo of Newburgh, as bridesmaids, wore gowns identical to the honor attendant's in orchid tulle, matching head-dresses and carried similar bouquets.

William J. Haggard of Charlevoix assisted his brother as best man and Albert Maher Jr., brother of the bride, and Fred Hilmes of St. Louis, Mo., seated the guests.

Mrs. Maher selected a gray silk dress, white accessories and a pink orchid corsage for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Haggard, mother of the bridegroom, wore an aqua print dress, pink and white accessories and a corsage of

Girligigs

Frontwards and backwards . . . inside and outside . . . all around and maybe even upside down, Jack and Hazel Reed's new ultra-modern ranch style home is a dream. Custom built from its modern beamed studio ceiling to its duo-level floor arrangement and studded with unique features everywhere you look, you feel as if you'd walked into something right out of a modern living magazine . . . except that its like something you've never seen before.

Nosy neyboys always go to the back door first . . . and it wasn't long after they were moved in and settled that I found myself pussy footing across their new lawn one morning and into one of the darlings kitchens I have ever snooped.

So let's begin with the kitchen . . . where one whole wall over the sink and pale green tile counters is windowed, with a natural stone planter running the full length filled with green things and rosey red geraniums. Across from the windows is an angular stone wall with a dramatic high opening through to the living room which is either a fireplace or an open oven. Jutting out from the side of the opening is a natural stone slab for snack dining, appointed with cute rosy red-cushioned bamboo chairs.

The cupboards are natural knotty cedar with black wrought iron hinges and beneath a hammered copper hood is the table top stove . . . with the copper oven built into the wall. Around on scalloped copper shelves are perky porcelain roosters and priceless copper objects that have been collected from various trips around the country.

If you choose to go in the front way, you enter through an unusually attractive sparkling white Dutch door which boasts a huge round brass knob in the very center . . . onto a flagstone reception platform which circles around toward the kitchen. Off the platform level and to the left is the dining area which also has a wall of windows and a long

Those appearing in the Tuesday recital will be Dee Ann Abbott, Kathy Boss, Esther Boss, Marilyn Bice, Marylee Baker, Marguerite Colburn, Gail Ann Curtis, Joyce Cunningham, Martha Coleman, Peter Coleman, Geoffrey Coleman, Janet Clarke, Mona Davenport, Lenore Erber, John Elzinga, Ann Hawley, Virginia Hamlin, Sally Harrington, Judy Ingalls, Ellen Miller, Donna Ikens, Judy Ikens, Donna Ann Durance and Connie Saltstall.

Participating in the event on Thursday evening will be Martin Johnson, Nancy Juilleret, Robert Marshall, George Majors, Sylvia Lee Miles, David Miles, Ellen Miller, Dulcie McClure, Vickie McClure, Karen Neff, Marilyn Novak, Jeanette Novak, Marilyn Neff, Connie Paul, Cora Paul, Carol Paul, Barbara Smith, Janice Stutzman, Margaret Schuchard, Betty Steel, Ruth Schofield, Laurie Terr, Kay Richardson, Sandra Ulrich, Carolyn Vanderwall, Phyllis Williams, Dawn Warner and Marylou VerWys. Parents and friends are invited to attend the recital.

Local Boys Enjoy Camping Trip On The Black River

The boys, in the sixth through ninth grade age groups and the adults left late Friday; camped out along the Black river and returned early Monday.

In the group were Bruce, Charles and Douglas Bergmann, David Schuchard, Sam and Scott Superneau, Lawrence Bergmann, Joe Healdon, Dick Vanlanphorst, Peter and Geoffrey Coleman, Douglas Smith, James Ladd, Don Heise and Charles (Butch) Coleman.

Pythian Sisters To Meet This Friday

The Pythian Sisters will hold a special meeting at the K. P. Hall Friday evening honoring the Michigan grand chief, Mrs. Joan Miller of Oxford, who will visit the organization Friday evening. A potluck supper at 6:30 p.m. will be followed by a regular business meeting at 8 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

Separated from the dining area by a planter with bamboo rounds to the ceiling is the stunning living room, which you step down into from the reception and dining level. This is a small room that is a masterpiece in giving the illusion of space, with the entire front wall of windows above another of the lovely, long planters . . . and the low, white-beamed studio ceiling, charcoal stained paneled walls . . . all contrasting magnificently with the angular stone fireplace wall. Beneath a black iron pot hanging in the huge high level opening of the wall preside two black 'horse' andirons with golden brass earrings.

Darling 'decorator' lamps with crispy white petticoat shades soften the trim lines of the modern furnishings which are grey greens, rosey reds and browns.

Outstanding features of one of the guest bedrooms are charcoal paneled walls with white woodwork and louvered closet doors, grey seersucker spread and pillow shams, trimmed with white eyelet organdy. Another guest room has one wall decorated with a colorful lum print combined with the other natural wood paneled walls. White candlewick spread, white eyelet curtains and white rugs complete the room.

The guest bath is Persian tan tile with a brown, pink and green patterned paper and a built-in tile dressing table.

You step down to go into the master bedroom and bath which has paneled walls that have been stained and lacquered to a dark brown shade . . . grey Wunda-weave carpeting, brown quilted chiniz spreads on beds with charreux leather headboards . . . And built-in shelves lined with a lovely rosy shade to match the one paneled wall pattern.

Throughout this charming home with its rosy red geraniums, stained hewn beams and golden copper fixtures, its sparkling Dutch doors and inside gardens, is an atmosphere of modern coziness combined with a definite feeling of comfortable sophistication. F. T. D.

without drying meats, will allow a larger selection of choice meats at all times.

All storage space is now on the basement level which permitted the installation of gray steel shelves, which gives more display and storage space within the store proper and provides wider aisles for easier shopping in the store.

New dry vegetable storage space has also been added to the equipment.

The former freezing unit storage has been moved to a more convenient location in the store.

Two other units, a 10x12 vegetable cooler and an 8x12 ft. freezer for storing frozen products have been installed in the basement of the new addition which will house other coolers, freezer and compressors for all units.

A new conveyor to bring stock from the storage area to the first floor has replaced an old-fashioned elevator for faster and more efficient handling of stock.

Checking out of orders will be speeded up by the use of two new National check-out machines and one automatic No-wait machine made by the Kaunitz company of Charlevoix.

The store office has been raised to a mezzanine level overlooking the main floor.

Ed Klooster, assisted by James Kruik, will be in charge of the meat department. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Neff and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Neff, co-owners of the business, will continue to operate the store. They will be assisted by others who will be named at a later date.

On Reading Signs

Along the lake shore roads and posted by forest trails in this resort country the tourist sees roadside signs declaring where one can find the Johnson Cottage, or Clark's Cabin, or some hiddenway whimsically christened "Bide-awhile" or "Robinson's Retreat." We want friends to know where they can find us.

Yet these wayside witnesses to our location depend for their effectiveness not only on how well they are located or on what they say, but on how the reader interprets them. It isn't sufficient to see a sign. The one who sees must know what the sign means and interpret it correctly. A visitor from Germany, totally unacquainted with the English language, may be looking for his friends, the Hans Schmidts. He comes upon a roadside notice saying "Hans Schmidt's Hideout." Take the next turn to the left and go two miles. The visitor will recognize the name of his friends but still will be unable to find them without further guidance. "Turn," "left," "miles," key words, are all strange to him. An Englishman and a German may see the same symbols but not have the same understanding. A Spaniard, a Swede and an American may all listen to a presidential address coming over the radio. The same sounds at an identical frequency will reach their ears. The difference in response will be due to a difference in understanding. Indeed, a Democrat and Republican will hear the same words, and their contrasting reactions will be due to different interpretations.

Throughout our entire experience we shall find on the one hand facts presented to us, and on the other hand our interpretation of the meaning of those facts. And life's real meaning rests not on the facts alone, but the interpretation we place upon them.

Surrounding us is an infinitely beautiful universe of unimaginable magnitude, of unfathomable complexity, yet so ordered and organized that it is in some degree intelligible. The atheist thinks of it as a comic accident without purpose, and some of the greatest of our scientists believe it to be designed by a Creator. Both see the same facts. But they interpret them so differently.

We see in history the rise and fall of nations, each weakened first by inner decay and corruption, and then finished off by some outward assault. We behold the toughness of goodness, cruel Herod dying and almost forgotten and the Infant he tried to murder breaking all history into "Before Christ" and "After Christ." Some see in history a meaningless scattering of unrelated events. Others discern in it an unbroken chain of cause and effect that binds this world to God. All are familiar with the same facts. But what a difference in interpretation!

Two people suffer reverses — losing health, savings, reputation, or loved ones. One blames it on an unkind fate, becomes embittered, sours on life, grows miserable and spreads his misery, like a loathsome disease to all who are in vital touch with him. The other comes "smiling through" — not with a superficial and sickening grin that is a cheap facade hiding a wretched interior, but with an outer glow that bespeaks an inner abundance of spiritual reserves and a healthy interpretation of trouble. He knows that trouble can be as harmful or as helpful as a knife. Grab trouble by the blade and it cuts and wounds. Clasp it by the handle and something good and lovely can be whittled with it. Two people experience misfortune. What they do with it depends upon how they interpret it.

How do you interpret what you

Offer New Weapons In Age Long Fight Against Common Fly

The age-old battle against one of man's greatest enemies... the fly... will continue unabated this summer. The fight this time will put many of the newer weapons to the acid test.

Michigan State college scientists are almost sure that none of the weapons scheduled for trial will be as effective as DDT... at one time the hydrogen bomb of the fly world. Flies became toughened against the chemical in their many generations since DDT's development.

Malathion, however, the nearest approach to DDT's former power, will be on the market in plentiful supply this spring and summer. This chemical won its spurs in tests at M.S.C. and other agricultural experiment stations across the country last summer.

It's used both as a bait and a spray. Dr. Herman L. King and Gordon Guyer the entomologists who tested it at Michigan State, call malathion the best insecticide for general use against flies today. Dairy farmers can use it with safety with the right care.

Another recent development, diazinon... also tested at M.S.C. has been cleared by the Federal Food and Drug Administration for use around sheep, horses and hogs but it hasn't been okayed for use in dairy barns.

In addition to malathion and diazinon, four or five new chemicals will be tested at the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station this summer. They are chemicals that have undergone rigid tests in laboratories of their manufacturers. But the companies want the okay of investigators like Researchers King and Guyer before they market the material. The new products will get the acid test in 10 dairy barns.

Michigan Dairy Production Is 200 Million Dollar Business

Just how important is the dairy business to Michigan? Will dairy-men have something to be proud of during June, Dairy Month?

The 846,000 dairy cows on 101,000 Michigan farms produce nearly six billion pounds of milk a year. The value is nearly 150 million dollars. The sale of veal and beef from dairy herds totals another 50 million dollars.

That brings the total cash dairy income to approximately 200 million dollars, the largest source of farm income in Michigan. And it helps maintain business in every Michigan city.

There are more than 600 dairy plants in Michigan which process the state's milk supply into various dairy products... bottled milk, butter, evaporated and condensed milk, ice cream, cheese and others.

The dairy business also involves much labor in getting the milk from the dairy cow into a product in the family's refrigerator... hauling from the farm to the dairy plant, the dairy plant processing and delivery to the stores and homes. That doesn't include the labor to manufacture equipment for the dairy farm and plants.

Michigan ranks high among states in the dairy business. The Wolverine state is eighth in total milk production, seventh in the amount of milk bottled, fourth in the processing of non-fat dry milk solids, ninth in cheese production, fifth in cottage cheese making, sixth in butter, sixth in ice cream and second in sherbet production.

USDA Tables Give Milk High Rating As Low Cost Food

Michigan homemakers can include milk among their penny-wise purchases.

For according to tables released early this year by the U. S. Department of Agriculture research service, milk and cheddar cheese are way out in front of all other foods as plentiful and economical sources of calcium, reports Roberta Hershey, extension foods specialist at Michigan State College.

Everybody needs calcium every day. Besides building strong bones and teeth, calcium is needed for efficient heart and muscle action, as well as the proper functioning of the nerves.

Young, growing children need more calcium than adults, but meals much too low in calcium are often selected by all members of the family. And studies show that homemakers are the lowest consumers of all, says Miss Hershey.

A calcium comparison on foods shows that one quart of milk gives as much calcium as 50 oranges, as two large heads of cabbage or as 27 pounds of meat.

Milk is an excellent and economical source of animal protein, too, Miss Hershey points out. For example, three cups of milk contains as much protein as one-fourth pound of all-lean meat.

And besides providing high amounts of protein and calcium, whole milk supplies vitamin A and several B vitamins. Skim milk supplies these same important nutrients... with the exception of vitamin A.

Miss Hershey suggests these two recipes which homemakers can use to provide both milk and vegetable nutrients:

Garden Chowder
1/2 cup diced onion
2 tablespoons butter or other fat
1 pint (two cups) canned tomatoes
1 pint canned corn
1 pint canned green beans
1 pint milk
Salt to taste.

Cook the onion in the fat until tender but not brown. Add the corn and green beans and simmer until slightly thickened. Add the tomatoes, stir well and heat through. Add the milk just before serving.

Five-Minute Cabbage
2 cups milk
1 1/2 quarts (6 cups) shredded cabbage
1 cup cream or rich milk
3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons melted butter, salt and pepper

Heat the milk and cook the cabbage in it for 2 minutes. Add the cup of cream or rich milk, the blended flour and fat and the seasonings, cook rapidly for 3 or 4 minutes, stirring constantly. The cabbage retains its crispness and is delicate in flavor and color.

Frosty Days May Still Nip Crops Says Weatherman

Sprinkler irrigation systems and garden hoses with spray nozzles may still come in handy to fight frosts on garden crops after Memorial Day, point out Michigan State college specialists.

Figures from the U. S. Weather Bureau at East Lansing also give some clues on possible cool Memorial Day weekends if you're interested.

For instance, Munising in the Upper Peninsula has a 97 per cent chance of having 32-degree weather yet this spring. The chances are 94 per cent at Onaway, 78 at West Branch, 60 at Ishpeming, 43 at East Tawas, 34 at Hart, 21 at Mt. Pleasant and 11 at Mackinaw City.

Alpena, Harbor Beach, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Ludington and Pontiac each still have 4 per cent chances of 32-degree weather.

Feed makes up more than 50 per cent of the cost of raising broilers, points out poultrymen at Michigan State college. Don't use it for litter.

Serve cheese fingers with salads for a special treat to the family or guests, suggest foods specialists at Michigan State College.

To make them, cut bread in finger shapes. Brush with a mixture of 2 tablespoons of melted butter, cooled, and one beaten egg. Roll fingers in grated American cheese and brown lightly under the broiler.

Lace dresses are headliners in the season's fashion picture. If you decide to make your own, remember that the beauty of a lace dress lies in the design of the lace itself... not in the design of the dress. For this reason, you'll be wise to choose a pattern that is designed especially for lace, or else select one that has few seams, advise clothing specialists at Michigan State College.

Mrs. Trimble To Retire

After 25 years in the classrooms of various schools in Antrim, Roscommon, Kalkaska and Charlevoix counties, Mrs. Elizabeth Trimble will retire from the teaching profession with the close of the Charlevoix public schools this week.

Retirement, however, will not mean slowing the pace but a change in activities. An avid fisherman and hunter, she plans to spend as much time as possible along the trout streams this summer and in the woods when hunting season opens next fall. In fact she's a bit concerned about where she's going to find time to do all the things she has planned.

A native of Alba, the former Elisabeth Brens graduated from the Alba high school in 1911 and attended the Antrim county Normal School in preparation for entrance into the teaching profession. During the next 10 years she taught in rural schools in Roscommon, Kalkaska and Antrim counties, coming to Charlevoix in 1922 to teach at the former ward school, the Lincoln school, the present home of the American Legion. On Jan. 1, 1923, she was married to Harrison Trimble and continued to teach until 1925 when she took time out to raise a family.

She has two daughters, Mrs. Leroy (Audie Jean) Bartels of Belvidere, Ill., and Phyllis, a pharmacist at Blodgett hospital in Grand Rapids. She also has two grandchildren.

In 1942 when a critical teacher shortage developed, Mrs. Trimble answered the plea for teachers and returned to the classroom after an absence of 17 years. This, however, necessitated her return to class as a student to do additional work on her teaching certificate. During the school year she attended extension courses offered by Central Michigan College of Education at Mt. Pleasant and attended summer school at Northern Michigan college at Marquette.

She taught at Ironton the first two years and in 1944 transferred to the Charlevoix elementary school where she has taught the first grade.

One of the most interesting things about returning to teaching has been meeting the children of former students. Mrs. Trimble said. She added that with at least 50 lively youngsters to teach, there's never a dull moment in the classroom and every day brings new and

Floyd Ikens To Retire As Sheriff After This Term

Floyd W. Ikens who has served as Charlevoix county sheriff since Jan. 1, 1933, will not seek re-election to the office in the forthcoming August 3 primary election, he announced Wednesday, less than a week before the deadline for filing petitions for the primary election.

In making the announcement, he said that he and Mrs. Ikens, who has served as matron of the county jail, have no plans past the first of the year when his present term expires.

Sheriff Ikens' decision not to seek re-election has left the race for sheriff wide open to the four candidates who have already filed petitions for nomination to the post on the Republican ballot. They are Glenn E. Rose, Peter A. Kanoff, Peter J. Winnick and Glen C. Ikens, all of Charlevoix.

Hayes Township To Vote Tuesday On Two Issues

Voters in Hayes township will visit the polls on Tuesday to vote on two issues, Frank Burnett, township clerk has announced.

The store which will open at 9 a.m. Saturday will feature well-known lines of men's, women's and children's clothing and shoes as well as blankets, linens, accessories, yard goods, notions and gift items.

Visitors at the store on the opening day will be eligible for door prizes being offered by Mr. and Mrs. Lieberman.

In announcing the plans for the new store, Mr. Lieberman said that it was his aim to stock the items that the people of the Charlevoix shopping area wanted. He went on to say that since the opening of the new business was planned in such a short time, the stock is not as complete as it will be later on and urged that buyers make their needs known to him so that he may be able to fill them. He concluded by saying that the purpose of the store is to serve the community but that this can be accomplished only through the cooperation of the shoppers.

Among the popular lines to be found in the store will be Rand shoes for men plus a good line of work shoes of all types; Trim-Tred shoes for women and misses and a sport and casual line by Scamparoo and Poll-Parrot and other shoes for children.

There will also be work clothes, Arrow Shirts, Hickok belts, Allen-A hosiery, Jaymor slacks to name a few items for the men.

In children's clothes there will be E-Z underclothing, Revelry socks for both boys and girls, Chick 'n' Chuck play clothes for the younger set and Paddle and Saddle sport shirts for the teenage group plus other casual and sport as well as dress clothes for the later age group.

The store will also stock Pencil bed linens and blankets and Cannon towels and wash cloths. In listing the above name brands, Mr. Lieberman emphasized that these are only a few of the many brands that would be stocked by the store.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

DON'T KNOW whether you noticed when you attended graduation last night but the whole thing was kind of a family affair. Al Smith, representing the Board of Education, had the privilege of presenting his son, Dick, with his diploma but the Smiths (there were five in the class) didn't stop there, for Cynthia and Karen are first cousins. In addition there were two brother and sister combinations, Leston and Virginia Brown and Carol and Jerry Paul plus twin sisters, Lucy and Lucile Himebauch. And don't forget the Drost cousins, Naomi and Wayne. And if we're not mistaken, Charles Hilton is a cousin of the Browns. And right there we quit 'cause we're confused.

IF THE Humane Society is looking for a sub-station, we can tell them where there's one already established. The Tower Hotel. In the past they've taken in motherless baby squirrels and injured birds and what have you. The latest, we hear, is a scarlet tanager with a broken wing which Mrs. Eva Smith, the owner, and her handy-man Clarence, are nursing back to health. Never having seen one we're going to stop by and see the "patient" and maybe by then they'll have something else.

AND Speaking of birds... we think they're mighty smart and here's one reason why. We've had a pretty cold and wet spring so what do a pair of swallows do but find themselves a regular "house" in the Beach Hotel sign on the Gilbert property at the corner of Dixon and Michigan aves. Don't know how the pair got in and out but they reared a family on the end toward the street. And no one knew anything about it till one day the youngsters were making such a racket that you could hear them halfway down the block. Must have been nice and cozy for the family which has now left home. And then there was the family of robins at the boss' house. The little ones hatched out and before they knew it were trying their little wings. All but one who just couldn't get up the courage to take off on his own. But after some specific instructions from Pop and Mom and some teasing from his brothers and sisters he finally made it.

IS IT possible the summer is about here. We didn't believe it either until we did a story this week on the Beach Hotel opening for the season. Some of our summer residents, we understand, are due this week with many scheduled to arrive by July 1. Everyone keep their fingers crossed for good weather. huh?

'MEMBER a couple weeks ago we told you about Ken Forbes' dog, Daisy who had "adopted" a couple goslings. Last week the family acquired 25 baby chicks and who has taken over the "nursery" duties? None other than Daisy who even washes the chickens' little faces. And now that her other charges are a little bigger she protects the new arrivals from them.

AND SPEAKING of pets... we haven't met him yet, but have you? Buttermilk, we mean... the little lamb which has taken up residence at Butters' Sunset lodge on Michigan ave. You'll read about his antics in Mrs. Boss' Girlie's.

YOU KNOW, you'd think when people were so lucky to live in Charlevoix they'd put forth every effort to keep it beautiful. But no. Along the road to South Point, for instance, there's so much trash that the Boy Scouts are talking of cleaning it up as a community service. That drive is one of the loveliest you'll ever find... but litterbugs are ruining it by throwing not just an occasional tin can but accumulations of them. As tho' we didn't have a city dump. Wonder how they'd like it if people took to dumping trash in

Charlevoix IN UNIFORM

Robert H. Klooster recently was promoted to sergeant while serving with the Seventh Infantry Division in Korea.

Men of the 'Bayonet' division are undergoing intensive training to maintain the peak combat efficiency displayed by the unit from Pusan to the Yalu river.

Sgt. Klooster is an aidman in the 31st Regiment's medical company. He entered the army in December 1952 and arrived overseas last June. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Klooster of this city. His wife, Elaine, lives in Muskegon.

Second Lt. William R. Carey, now in Korea, in a recent letter to his father, Leo Carey, wrote of his new assignment with the 23rd Infantry Regiment.

The letter follows in part: "Can't hold off telling you the big news any longer... the climax of my return to Korea (after five weeks at Sesabo) it is far more than I had expected and I'm really on my own now, to sink or swim."

"Yesterday I was pulled out of the company and given the job of Regimental A & R officer. So now I'm the Special Services officer for the whole regiment... quite a jump from company level, I must say. It's going to be a big job and a great challenge. There's so much to the job I don't see when I will ever catch on to it all. "Thus far all I've done is talk with some of the NCO's attempting to grasp the general situation... it's a big order. But it should prove very interesting and highly satisfactory should I make good. "I'll have a full schedule from here on. My headquarters is at the Regimental recreation area. We're back six to eight miles from the line. In the area we have volleyball and basketball courts, a big library, a "rec" room with ping pong and pool, baseball diamond and a bowl for USO shows, etc."

"Men from the various companies in the Regiment come back here for two days of rest and play. "Little R & R" it's called. I have about 25 enlisted men under me and I'm responsible for the whole special services program as well as the R & R set-up. It's a particularly large set-up and I'll more than have my hands full... being directly under the Regimental Commander's nose and responsible to him. First, we want a good intramural athletic program working 'inter-company' and next he wants a number one baseball team (and I'm his man).

Girligigs

"Baa-a, baa-a, Buttercup, Buttercup Butters, Tinted from his bottom up, Yellow, like the shutters!"

Cuter than a little pink poodle is a little yellow lamb called Buttercup Wickersham Butters. He saw the light of his first bright day only two weeks or so ago, but already he is beginning to exhibit a peaches and creamy complexion, with a spicy and sugar personality that makes out of him a perfect lamb of a pet.

He came by his dandilion shade after being twice dipped in a bucket of Rit by his enterprising foster mama, Cleo Butters of Sunset Lodge.

His ears seem to have been taken off and dipped into a solution of starch, then pinned back on a kimbo... and it's a mystery how this little bundle of poodle-cloth gets around on his crispy longlegs without crackling and splintering.

Maybe you know... but I didn't... that little lamb don't have feet! They have hoofs (sp?)... that sound off in a bit of tippy-toed staccato that makes you feel clumsy and awkward on a pair of squashed down arches and legs that bend!

In between his formula feedings and nap-times, Buttercup cickities along behind his 'mama' as if she were attached to the little yellow ribbon he wears around his neck.

He just naturally commands smiliness wherever he goes... he's a happiness lamb right out of a storybook who makes even us weathered grown-ups feel like kids again... and...

I'll never see a yellow lamb, Or even feel forlorn, If it isn't Buttercup, and Cleo 'round the corner. F.T.D.

Rural Teaching Staff Completed For Coming Year

Teaching positions in all rural schools in Charlevoix county with the exception of St. James school district on Beaver Island have been filled for the 1954-55 school year. County superintendent Charles A. Robinson reported at the regular meeting of the Charlevoix county Board of Education held at his office Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Amundus Evers presided at the meeting at which routine business was discussed and the rates for child accounting and financial audits required of all school districts were established.

The County Superintendent of schools is responsible for child accounting and financial audits in all school districts having a budget of less than $100,000. Districts with higher budgets must have their accounts audited by a certified public accountant and present a certified copy to the County Superintendent who in turn will submit it to the state office.

The county board of education also decided that the rural schools in the county should cooperate in the educational program sponsored by the Charlevoix county Humane Society.

lighted tapers in candelabra decorated the altar for the double ring ceremony which was read by the Rev. Harold E. Kohn in the presence of 175 guests.

Mrs. Stewart Henner sang "Here", Cochran-Grant; "Tenderly" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by the organist, Mrs. A. J. Stetter, who also played a program of traditional music and the wedding marches.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a waltz length gown of white nylon net over taffeta for her wedding. It was styled with a fitted bodice of embroidered nylon net, a Peter Pan collar, long pointed sleeves and an overskirt of embroidered nylon net. Her finger tip veil fell from a Juliet cap embroidered with seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a cascade bouquet of lilies of the valley and pink sweetheart roses centered with white baby orchids.

Alice Maynard of Port Huron, as maid of honor, wore a waltz length gown of white nylon net over pale blue taffeta styled with a pleated strapless bodice and worn with a nylon net shrug jacket and a matching blue straw headband and short veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink sweetheart roses and white shatter carnations.

James Hammond of Dearborn assisted his brother as best man. Robert S. Hamilton, brother of the bride, and Nicholas Hamilton, cousin of the bride, seated the guests.

Mrs. Hamilton selected a Dior blue sheer crepe dress with chalk-white beaded detail and a matching jacket, a Dior blue straw hat with velvet trim, navy accessories and a corsage of gardenias for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Walter Gusben of Saginaw, sister of the bridegroom, wore a navy sheer dress, matching picture hat, navy and white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

A reception at Friendship Hall in the church followed the ceremony. A square tiered wedding cake topped with a silver ornament graced the lace-covered bride's table which was decorated with low arrangements of white lilies, carnations and narcissus and lighted tapers in silver candelabra. Mrs. Robert Hamilton and Mrs. Ralph S. Hamilton presided at the punch bowls. Mrs. Duncan Reid of Saginaw and Mrs. James Hammond of Dearborn served the wedding cake and Mrs. Albert Cook the coffee. Mrs. Carl Hartmann of Lansing was in charge of the guest book. The Mary Burns circle of the church was in charge of arrangements.

For traveling on their brief wedding trip to northern Michigan, the bride wore a navy linen dress topped with a navy tweed jacket, navy accessories and a corsage of white baby orchids. The couple has gone to Dearborn where they will reside at 14230 Schadin ave.

The bride was graduated from the Charlevoix high school in 1949 and Albion college in February, 1954. She is now teaching at the Haigh public school in Dearborn. Mr. Hammond was graduated from Arthur Hill high school in Saginaw in 1946 and Albion college in February of this year after serving three years with the U. S. Air Force. While at college he was affiliated with the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity and is now employed as a draftsman at the F. B. Stevens Co. in Detroit.

McMullen-Gill Vows Exchanged In Ceremony Here

In a quiet ceremony solemnized at the First Congregational church May 28, Lois Marie McMullen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay McMullen of Petoskey, became the bride of Don R. Gill, son of Mrs. Alfred Gill Sr. and the late Mr. Gill.

The Rev. Harold E. Kohn officiated at the ceremony in the presence of their immediate families.

Preceding the service, Mrs. Charles Bellinger played an interlude of organ music.

The bride chose a light blue suit, white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations for her wedding.

Mrs. Robert L. Gill, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She wore a navy suit, matching accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. Gill assisted his brother as best man.

The Great Patience at the Heart of Nature

That greyed old log lying at the stream's edge has a story to tell. It is a parable of patience. Nature's long-suffering willingness to wait to see her aims realized is told by the history of that toppled tree trunk. Once, long ago, it was a white pine seedling, eagerly stretching above the grasses toward the light. Through its childhood and adolescence it grew slantingly, leaning away from the dark forest behind it and toward the dash of sunlight that hung in the opening above the river. Over the years it came to know a tree's joys and troubles. It gaily waltzed with the winds, it murmured softly in its sleep when rocked by the gentler zephyrs. It protectively tucked snowshoe rabbits into the soft dark shadows of its long sweeping skirts, safe from the menacing stare of the great horned owl and the roving eyes of the prowling red fox. Chilled by the cold tolling of the woodsman's axe ringing against the heart-wood of its tall neighbors, threatened by forest fires that drew near and then mercifully died of rain or fire-fighters' toil and sweat, irritated and hurt by the cutting mandibles of beetles, the white pine matured, passed middle age, reaching ever farther over the stream's bank.

Then at last, after more than two hundred years of doing its work, giving aid and shelter to red squirrel and blue jay, nervous rabbit and untroubled fisherman, playing its part in the forest community, then standing as a lonely reminder of the glory of forests past, the white pine fell. Weakened by insect assault within, then one day hit by a mighty storm from without, the old tree trembled and with a creaking farewell salute to its leafy, furred and feathered neighbors fell into the stream. Soon the scattered, terrified trout returned to the site of the resounding splash and took shelter beneath the fallen pine. Turtles found rest upon its weathered back and sunbathed there. Grasses and shrubs inclined charitably over the ancient bole, dappling it here and there with cool shadows. Time and white pine are inseparable allies. How quickly man grows his radishes, his carrots and his squash! How swiftly they pass

Mental Health Group To Present Play At Petoskey

The play, "My Name Is Legion", based on Clifford Whittingham Beers' autobiography, "A Mind That Found Itself", will be presented in Petoskey June 19 under the sponsorship of the Tri-County Chapter, Michigan Society for Mental Health, Norman Sanders of Petoskey, chapter chairman, has announced.

The unusual and intensely dramatic hour-long piece of theatre will be presented at the Petoskey high school auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Saturday, June 19.

Mrs. H. V. Lilla of Petoskey is ticket chairman and in Charlevoix will be assisted by Mrs. Charles Blaha, Rev. Harold E. Kohn and Rev. R. J. Lintner.

The drama is produced by the Wayne University Theatre for the Michigan Society for Mental Health, a member agency of the United Health and Welfare Fund of Michigan. It will be presented in 20 key areas with Petoskey listed as the only small city in Michigan privileged to see the play.

The play tells the story of Beers, who was hospitalized in 1900 because of a serious mental illness and recovered despite the inhuman and neglectful treatment he and his fellow patients received. He devoted the remainder of his life to mental hospital reform, founding the mental health movement in America.

When making cream of tomato soup, be sure that the tomato is added slowly to the milk, NOT the milk to the tomato. And it helps to use tomatoes that have been thickened, advises Roberta Hensley, extension foods specialist at M.S.C.

Dr. Harold C. Hunt Delivers Address At C.M.C. Graduation

Dr. Harold C. Hunt, Elliot professor of education at Harvard University, delivered the commencement address entitled "Security or Adventure" at the fifty-ninth annual graduation exercises at Central Michigan college Saturday at which a total of 456 degrees and certificates were awarded.

Mary Roberts of Charlevoix, Edwin D. Renkie of Boyne Falls and Charles A. Robinson of Boyne City, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools, were among the graduates.

Miss Roberts, daughter of Mrs. Bertha Roberts, was awarded a bachelor of science secondary degree in physical education. Mr. Renkie a similar degree in industrial arts and Mr. Robinson a state secondary permanent certificate.

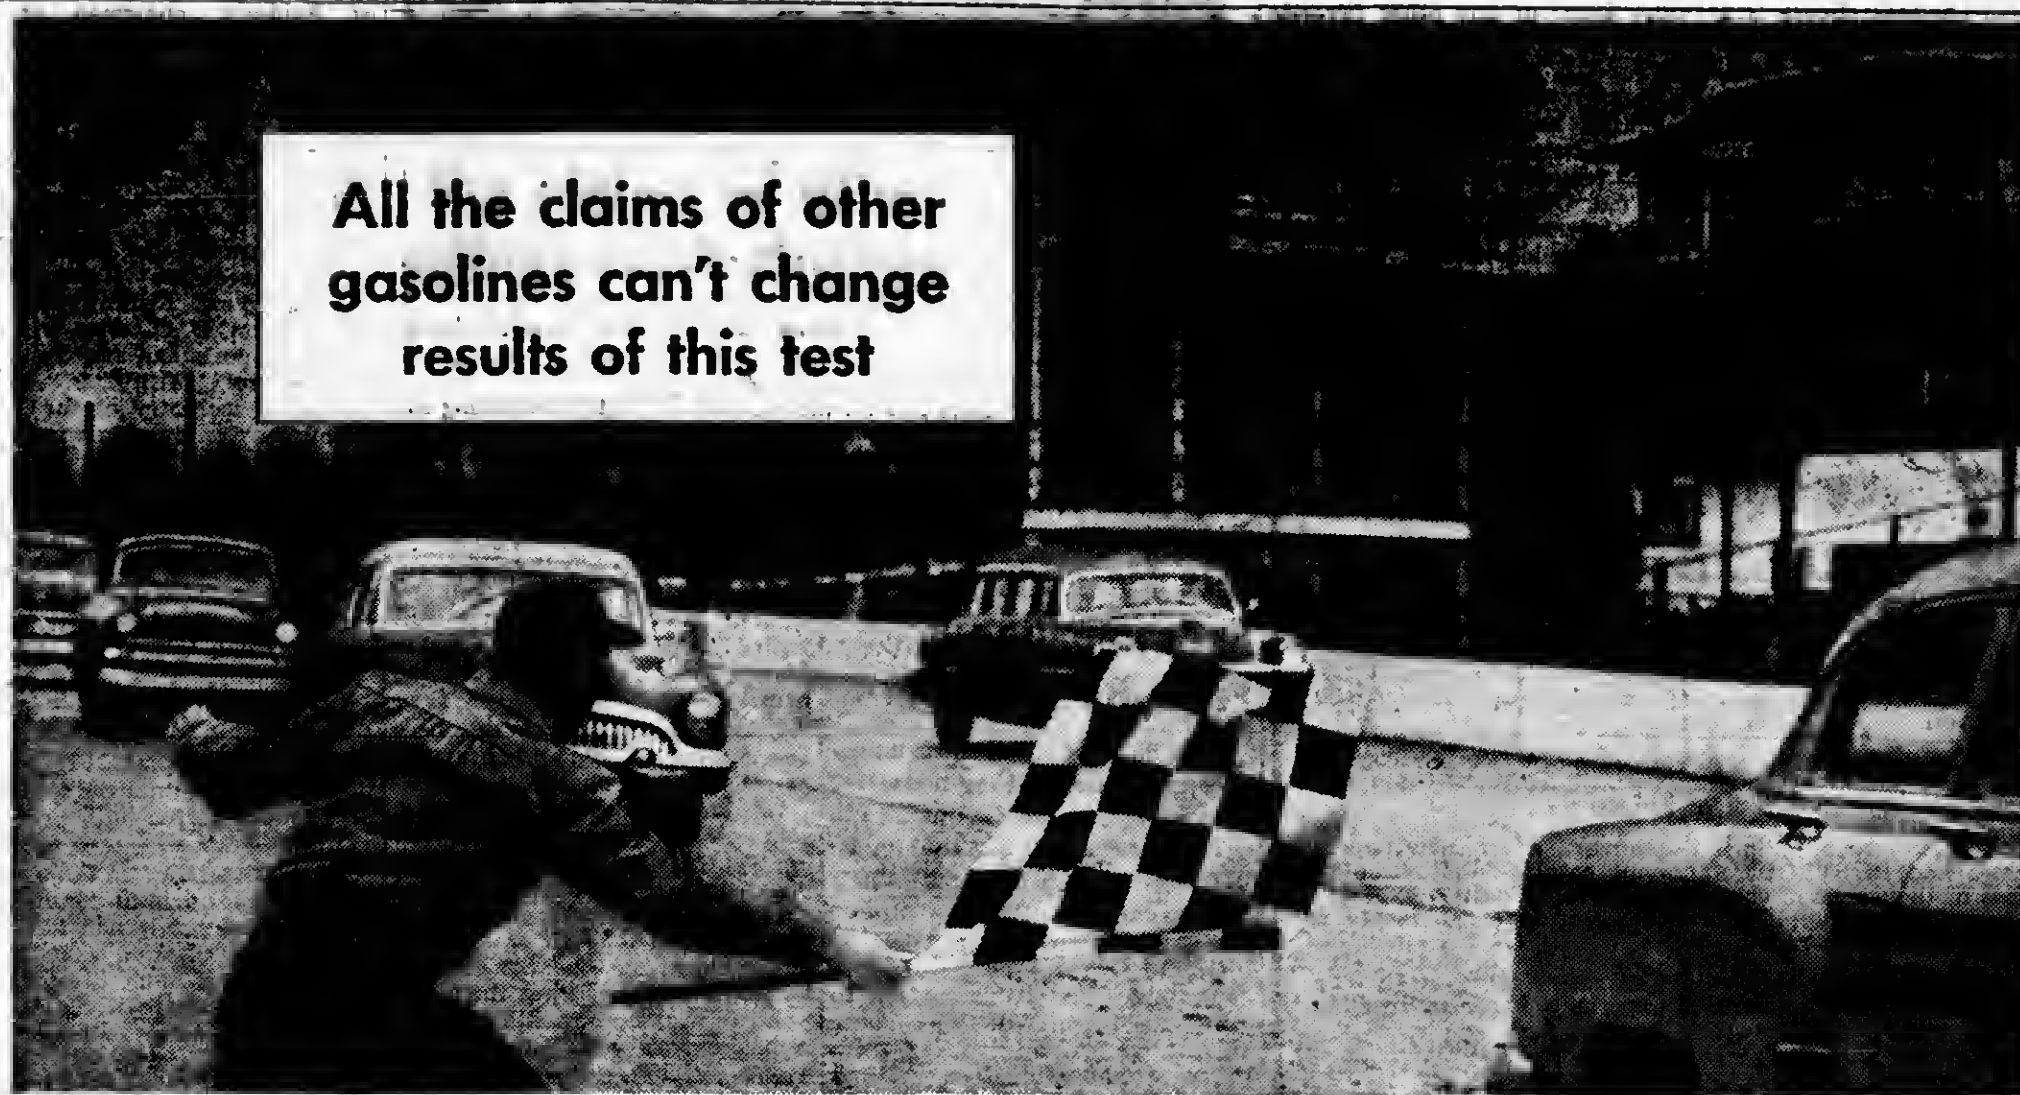

Students from 168 Michigan communities, Iran, and the states of Missouri, New York, Wisconsin and Ohio were among the 276 students who received degrees. In addition 380 certificates were awarded, many of them to degree candidates.

Cheese Ranks High In American Diet Say Nutritionists

"Choose cheese" for a concentrated form of nature's best food—milk, nutritionists advise. And a good many people heed that advice. . . . Americans ate seven pounds of cheese per person in 1953.

Many good things come in a small package of cheese, says Roberta Hershey, extension foods specialist at Michigan State college.

Cheese contributes generous amounts of the calcium, riboflavin and protein needed in our diets. For example, three ounces of American cheese furnishes as much protein as four ounces of lean meat . . . and is usually cheaper.

American cheddar cheese is available milk or nippy, to suit your family's tastes.

Processed cheese is fine for cheese sauces because it melts readily without becoming stringy. And processed cheese won't ripen or change flavor after being manufactured.

You can make an easy cheese sauce by melting one-half pound processed cheese (cut into small pieces) over hot water in a double boiler. When it is melted, add one-third cup milk and stir.

Serve over cooked fresh or frozen asparagus, broccoli, or green beans. Or perhaps you'd like baked fish fillets served with this sauce and a garnish of lemon and green pepper strips.

Remember that cheese must always be cooked at low temperatures or it will become hard and rubbery, cautions the M.S.C. foods specialist.

Budget-conscious homemakers may want to make their own cheese sandwiches or canapes spread this way:

Cut one pound of ordinary American cheese (not processed) into small pieces. Melt cheese over water in double boiler. Add a tall can of evaporated milk and whip with an egg beater.

This makes 3½ cups of a smooth cheese spread which will keep for some time in a jar in the refrigerator. Vary the flavor as you use it by adding pineapple, onion, horse-radish, Worcestershire sauce or any other favorite ingredient, suggests Miss Hershey.

Plastic bags, large and small, will be helpful during your vacation travel and handy for home use, too. One yard of plastic will make any number of small bags, says Florence Rann, extension clothing specialist at Michigan State college. Simply cut plastic in sizes you want and fuse edges together with an iron . . . no stitching necessary.

Understand The Bear Facts

This little guy didn't weigh much more than a pound when born last winter, but already, now that it's spring, he is getting husky. He and all his brothers and all the mothers are out and ambling in northern Michigan woods these days and the best policy is to leave them alone. The mothers are most dangerous, game men warn, when the cubs are "cute little fellows" and for safety's sake, all should be avoided as much as possible.

Cite Methods Of Exterminating Bees From House Walls

How do I get rid of those honey bees in the walls of my house?

Entomologists at Michigan State college are answering that question every day. They suggest getting an exterminator or a professional bee man to do the job.

One of the reasons it's hard to get at the bees with a poison to eliminate them: The wax comb or nest is usually too far from the hole where the bees entered the wall. E. C. (Bert) Martin, M.S.C. entomologist, explains that poisons have to be sprayed or dusted directly onto the nest to get results.

If you want to do the job yourself, Martin suggests this: You can locate the nest in the wall by tapping the outside or inside wall with a hammer. Then you listen for an answering buzz from the bees.

Once you've located the bees you can bore a hole and spray the poison directly on the nest.

As for poisons recommended, some are dangerous to use. Cyanogas is used only by experienced beekeepers or exterminators, and the house has to be vacated when this chemical is used.

The local county agricultural agent can tell you what chemicals you can use and how to use them. A beekeeper's veil, a smoker and a pair of leather gloves will help prevent stings.

Martin says that it's also important to remove the nest if possible because it is liable to attract other bees and you'll have the same problem over again.

Average Cow Will Likely Show Drop In 1954 Earnings

The average cow will not rate very high in 1954 . . . it will take four of them to turn out as much profit as one 12,000-pound producer, reports Don H. Stark, Michigan State college farm economist. Last year, it only took 2½ average cows to equal one 12,000-pounder.

Farmers need some 10,000 to 12,000 pound producers to get more than a dollar an hour for their labor . . . and even then will get 50 cents less than last year.

This is the time of year when hamburger, hot dogs and sausage are in demand and this is the place where "boarder" cows produce best.

the most successful idea ever devised to protect your family against hospital and medical bills!

Chances are one in three that someone in your family will have to go to the hospital this year.

When that happens, you'll need hospital services such as bed, board, operating room, laboratory tests and others. But you can't tell now how many services you'll need . . . or how much they'll cost!

And that's the beauty of Blue Cross. Because Blue Cross covers you with hospital services themselves . . . not limited cash payments that may not cover half the services you need!

This hospital service feature is what makes Blue Cross the most successful idea ever devised to protect against hospital bills.

Hospital service protection . . . the Blue Cross way

When you become a member of a Blue Cross Group it is like becoming the "owner" of a wide range of hospital services in advance of need.

Then, when you need hospital services—such as bed and board, essentials like oxygen, drugs and medicines, operating room and others—these services are automatically yours at any Blue Cross participating hospital. There are more than 200 such hospitals in Michigan alone—with 99% of the general hospital beds in the state. And every enrolled member in your family is protected equally.

Over 3,000,000 Michigan people have Blue Cross. Chances are, your neighbor has it. Talk it over with him—and see if he doesn't agree that there is no finer protection at any price.

Doctor bill protection . . . the Blue Shield way

If you have a hospital bill, you are almost sure to have a doctor bill, too . . . aren't you? Ask your doctor in advance what his charge will be. Almost always he can tell you. Even then, protection against doctor bills is important . . . and here is where Blue Shield comes in, with two basic plans.

One plan pays a generous specific amount directly to your doctor for surgical treatment in the hospital. Benefits cover thousands of surgical procedures, including maternity care. The second plan adds to this surgical coverage . . . by paying liberal amounts for your doctor's visits to you in the hospital for non-surgical treatment. Often, under both of these plans, the doctor's whole bill is covered.

The cost is low

For only pennies a day, Blue Cross-Blue Shield provide the finest protection against hospital and medical bills obtainable in Michigan. To keep cost low, Blue Cross-Blue Shield do not pay for purely diagnostic procedures, including physical exams . . . or for procedures which can be handled properly in a doctor's office. You can help keep cost low by using Blue Cross-Blue Shield only when necessary.

There is no red tape

You don't need a health statement to join Blue Cross-Blue Shield. And, when you use your protection, there are no claims to file . . . no long waits for payment. Blue Cross-Blue Shield pay your hospital and doctor directly.

How to get Blue Cross-Blue Shield

Ask your employer or union representative how you can get low-cost Group Enrollment. A company with as few as 5 employees may qualify as a group. Check your Farm Bureau or Grange. Write or phone your nearest Blue Cross-Blue Shield office.

Rev. Doten Urges Seniors To Accept Places In "Relay Team" Of Life

Ellsworth — "Life is very like a relay team" since no one person runs on his own but depends on those ahead of him who provided the background and on those who came after him who

Esther Oosterbaan Becomes Bride Of Melvin Witteveen

A wedding of interest to local friends and relatives was solemnized in the Harderwyk Christian Reformed church near Holland Friday evening, June 4, at 7 p.m., when Esther Oosterbaan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Oosterbaan of Ellsworth was united in marriage to Melvin Witteveen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Witteveen of Holland.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. Henry Baker. A white archway trimmed with ferns flanked by potted palms and bouquets of iris and spirea provided a beautiful background for the service.

Miss Carol Reimink, organist, played the traditional wedding music and also served as accompanist for the soloist, Janice Smith of Vicksburg, who sang "Because" before the ceremony was performed.

Esther chose a white suit with white accessories for her wedding. She also wore a pink carnation corsage.

Miss Sue Kaley, of Vicksburg, was the brides only attendant and she wore a blue suit with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Sidney Vandevusse, a friend of the groom acted as best man and Roger Witteveen, the groom's brother and a friend, Bernie Waterway acted as the ring bearer.

Mrs. Oosterbaan wore a street length green print dress for her daughter's wedding and Mrs. Witteveen wore a navy blue street length dress. Both wore white carnation corsages.

Fred Witteveen of Grand Rapids, uncle of the groom, served as master of ceremonies for the reception in the church parlors.

The four tiered wedding cake, iced in white and pink and topped with a wedding bell arrangement, was a feature of the lunch served to the guests.

After a short trip north including visits in Ellsworth and a brief trip to Drummond Island, the couple are at home in Holland where the groom is employed.

Among the guests at the wedding were the John Oosterbaan family and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Oosterbaan of Ellsworth, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Straten, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Oosterbaan, Mrs. Bernard Lyzenga and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ter Haar all of Grand Rapids and friends and relatives from Holland and Harderwyk.

carry on. This was the basis for the Commencement address "Linked Lives" which Rev. Doun Doten gave to the 1954 Seniors of Banks Township Unit School and to the families and friends, who attended the program.

Rev. Doten, pastor of Central Methodist church, Traverse City, is a graduate of Albion college and Northwestern University and was privileged to be a member of a group sent by the U. S. Department of State into Germany, last April, May, June and July, in the interest of the Exchange Program.

To continue Rev. Doten's thoughts, he stressed these thoughts: First, Life will humble you with your sense of indebtedness to those who have run the course before you; Second, Life will challenge and sober you with the sense of your responsibility in carrying on and Third, Life will strengthen and sustain you with a sense of its continuity. To these students, he challenged them that it is their turn to take their place and run in this "Relay of Life".

Honor awards were given to Charles Arnold, valedictorian and Noreen Essenberg and Albertha Fielstra, co-salutatorians. Also Charles received the Readers Digest subscription given by that magazine to all valedictorians.

Michigan State scholarship was presented to Stanley Ruis and Bob DeYoung received a scholarship to Alma college.

Dick Lather, school principal and also sponsor of the 1954 Senior class presented the members and Hans DeYoung, president of the school board presented the diplomas. Rex Wood, school superintendent presented diplomas to members of the eighth grade class.

Mrs. Hans DeYoung, organist, played the Processional and Recessional and for the entrance of the classes. Musical selections were presented by the high school chorus with Charles Banner, directing.

Rev. Fiske gave the Invocation and Rev. Doten the Benediction.

Diller's Honored

Rev. Herbert Diller and Mrs. Diller, whose birthday anniversaries occurred during the weekend, were honored at a party held in the community hall last Friday evening. Guests included members of Mrs. Diller's Sunday school class and their husbands. Games led by Mrs. Herbert Peckles were enjoyed before the birthday cake was cut and served as part of the lunch. Mrs. Marvin Elzinga, Mrs. Walter Hartly and Mrs. Jack McPherson served on the committee for the evening.

A gift to each of the honored guests was presented from the group.

It was decided to have a get-together each quarter of the year.

Missionary Sends Letter Of Thanks For Choir's Gift

Ellsworth — In a letter written May 14 to Mrs. John Bos of Atwood, Mrs. Anna Petter Grundy expressed her appreciation for the gift of the offering taken at the Community Choir Concert Easter night in the Community Hall. The choir voted to send it to her to be used in her mission work.

From her letter are a few comments "How lovely to think of a group of singers would think of me away in India, when it came to giving their offering to someone who might have special needs. I do so much appreciate their unanimous vote and desire to give. Please do convey my thanks to the group when they meet again. It was lovely to be remembered by them."

I may possibly use the money toward the next year school expenses of James." (James finished his second year college training, receiving a stipend for working in the school library but might not be able to have this again, so that he can continue his schooling as this stipend cut his expenses in half).

Hayes Voters Defeat Two Special Issues

In a special election held Tuesday, the voters of Hayes township went to the polls to reject two issues regarding fire protection in the area.

The first proposal, which called for a tax levy of one mill on the assessed valuation of the township for the purpose of financing fire protection by the Charlevoix fire department, was vetoed by a vote of 55 to 29.

A second proposal to raise the 15 mill tax limitation so the one mill could be levied if proposal No. 1 was adopted was vetoed down by a 60-28 ballot.

The decision of the people of the community does not leave the area without any protection, however. Those residents of the eastern section of the township which borders on Emmet county will receive protection from the Resort township department and those in the southeastern section will get protection from the Boyne City fire department on a "pay as you go" basis; that is, so much per call depending on the number of volunteer firemen who answer the call. This will be paid from township funds. A spokesman for the township said this would average about $70.00 per call.

The residents in the area near Charlevoix will continue to make their own arrangements with the Charlevoix fire department at the rate of one mill on the assessed valuation of their property for fire protection. Many of the property owners in the area have already done this.

With the special election Tuesday, all townships in the area have made provisions for fire protection. Earlier Norwood, Charlevoix and Marion townships voted to accept the offer made by the Charlevoix fire department. Eveline township which is divided by the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix has adopted somewhat the same type of arrangement as Hayes township did this week. The residents of Ironton, closest to Charlevoix, may make their own arrangements with the Charlevoix fire department and elsewhere in the township protection will be received from East Jordan and Boyne City departments at a set rate.

Until last December, the Charlevoix fire department offered protection to the township at the rate of a set amount for each call.

Dr. William Schrier Gives Three Guide Posts To 1954 Graduates

Dr. William Schrier, professor of speech at Hope College, offered three important guide posts to the 1954 graduating class of the Charlevoix high school in his Commencement address entitled "Is Life Worth Living?" Wednesday night.

He said that with concern for others, courage despite the fact that the future may seem filled with gloom and consecration to the job to be done and to God, life is definitely worth living.

His address was well received by the graduates and the large crowd of relatives and friends who peeped the high school auditorium for the exercises. H. E. Bingham, high school principal, presented the class of 46 seniors, the smallest to graduate in recent years, as Albert H. Smith of the board of education presented the diplomas in the sixty-sixth annual commencement.

Cynthia Smith, salutatorian, and Patricia Ratigan, valedictorian, drew praise from Dr. Schrier for their fine speeches as the honor students of the class.

Mr. Bingham also presented the students of the class who had been awarded scholarships to various schools. They included Cynthia Smith, University of Michigan; Sarah Lawrence College; Gail Krahmke, Central Michigan College; Sue Beaudoin and Larry Burns, Michigan State College; Tom Fessenden, Soo branch, Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

Other members of the class are also planning to continue their education. Two members have enlisted in the U. S. Navy. Supt. R. G. Bennett introduced Dr. Schrier. The Rev. Harold E. Kohn and the Rev. Lloyd Schlopp gave the invocation and benediction. Special music was by the high school band and the girls' glee club directed by C. A. Odmark. Mrs. Leonard Burns was the accompanist.

Following the exercises the members of the class received their family and friends at an informal reception in the high school cafeteria.

A large Menagerie of animals including a herd of elephants, lions, leopards, baboons, camels, apes, guinea pigs, chimpanzees, kangaroos, hyenas and many others will be exhibited during the one-day visit of the circus. The public is invited to witness the feeding of the animals free at 10 a.m. on circus day.

Greatly reduced prices of admission are stressed by the circus this season, Jack Turner, advance representative of the Cole Wild Animal circus, said.

Set Date For Hearing On New Zone Proposal

The city council, meeting Monday evening, set July 12 as the date for a hearing on the proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance which would re-zone property at various points throughout the city.

A committee appointed earlier and composed of city superintendent Roy E. Robinson, city attorney Norman D. Ance, first ward alderman James Hillier and Charles Bellinger and Ralph V. Hess will present a plan for the proposed change in the ordinance at that time.

After a discussion of fire engines, the council voted to advertise for bids for a new fire truck chassis and pumping equipment. Bids will be accepted until 7:30 p.m. July 12 when they will be opened at a regular meeting of the council. Bids for a new police car, postponed because the necessary notices was not published, will be accepted at the next regular meeting of the council.

Wide Interest Seen In Sheriff's Race As Eight Men File

The office of Charlevoix county sheriff became the most sought after position in the county Tuesday as eight candidates filed petitions for nomination to the post as the deadline for filing for the August 3 primary election passed Tuesday.

The candidates, one Democrat and seven Republicans, are seeking nomination to the office now held by Floyd W. Ikens, who last week announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election to the office he has held for 22 years.

No contests developed for other county offices for which only incumbents filed petitions for re-election.

Latest Republican candidates for sheriff are Russell (Jack) C. Harper of Boyne City, Lester P. Umlor of Hayes township and Frank W. Smith of Charlevoix. Lone Democratic candidate is a Hayes township farmer, Gerald Norman Johnson.

Harper, a native of Boyne City, is a veteran of five years service with the Boyne City police department. He is married to the former Marion Liskum and has four children.

Lester P. Umlor was born and reared in East Jordan and has resided in Hayes township for the past seven years. He is employed at the East Jordan Iron Works. A veteran of four years service with the U. S. Navy during World War II including 38 months aboard the USS Albatross, he has had police training and experience with both military and civilian police. He is married to the former Ellen Jones of Boyne City.

Frank W. Smith, a lifelong resident of this community, has been associated with the grocery and other retail businesses for many years. At present he operates a wholesale and retail fish business. The son of the late Otto Smith, he is married to the former Velma Miller and has five children.

Gerald Norman Johnson, Democratic candidate, is a native of Hayes township and resides on the farm where he was born and reared. He attended both Charlevoix and Boyne City schools and during World War II served in the army for three years including 22 months in Europe. He is married to the former Edith Wille of Lansing and has five children.

Other candidates for the office are Glenn E. Rose, Glenroy C. Ikens, Peter J. Winnick and Peter A. Kanoff, all of Charlevoix.

Incumbent county officers who have filed for nomination to their respective offices are: Grover C. Genett, register of deeds; Lilius M. Flanders, treasurer; Mary C. Fiendt, surveyor; C. M. Bice, prosecutor; Fenton R. Bulow, clerk; James D. Stackus of Boyne City and Dr. L. E. Grate, coroners.

Three candidates for the nomination for state representative from the Charlevoix district filed petitions in Lansing. They are C. B. Meggison of Charlevoix, Forrest G. Brown, Hayes township, and Leonard L. Case of Benzie county. They will seek nomination to the office now held by Louis Anderson of Northport who will not be a candidate for re-election.

All will appear on the ballot in the August 3 primary election. Residents are reminded that they must register before July 4 to be eligible to vote in the forthcoming election.

Two Local Men Graduate At U.M.

Two Charlevoix residents, Bradford S. Foster and Versal L. Shearer, were among the 2,640 June graduates from the University of Michigan who were awarded degrees at the 110th Commencement in Ann Arbor Saturday.

Bradford, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Foster, was awarded a bachelor of science degree and Versal, the husband of the former Elaine Edwards and son of Raymond Shearer, was awarded a bachelor of business administration degree.

The Commencement exercises, publicized as the briefest in the school's history, were disrupted by a sudden rain storm only five minutes after they started.

Among those on hand to see the pair receive their degrees were Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Foster, Raymond Shearer and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Edwards.

Dockside Press Is Opened By Bill Ratigan

The Dockside Press, owned and operated by author William Ratigan opened this week in an old shanty along Shipyard Row on Belvedere ave.

A retreat for visiting artists and for all those, young and old, who like to browse among old books and curiosities, the Dockside Press, so aptly named by John Cook, talented local artist, will display everything from a five-cent Russian tea caddy to a unique gold-coin scale valued at $5,000, according to Mr. Ratigan.

An outstanding feature of the shop is the old-fashioned hand-press brought to this region from a Colorado mining camp. Joint owner of the press and former Denver and Hollywood radio writer, Mrs. Ratigan, thinks it particularly appropriate because her grandfather was an across-the-plains pioneer to the Rocky Mountain gold fields who founded Denver's famous Elephant Corral and because her great-uncle owned the equally famous Antlers Hotel in Colorado Springs, which world-renowned actor and probable site of the West Point of the Air he was instrumental in founding.

The Dockside Press also is supposed to be the office of the author of "Soo Canal", but it is doubtful if he will accomplish much in his new surroundings for he has already found several exciting books among the hundreds displayed which he did not know he had. He has also spent a great deal of time since the opening earlier this week in displaying the wall pictures of regional fishing catches and old-time fishing scenes.

The owner of the Dockside Press, Mr. Ratigan, has also announced that books and other reading material will be given to deserving cases. This week the first youngster who will give Fran Martin of the Courier staff a good reason for wanting the books will be presented with a ten-volume set of the World's literature.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

Up until this weekend we were a bit skeptical . . . about summer ever arriving, that is . . . but with the beautiful days one can't help but be hopeful despite the fact that they're punctuated regularly by showers . . . But everyone has his fingers crossed for good warm weather . . . 'cause if you don't have that the resort business just isn't . . . So with July nearing at a fast pace, maybe summer will arrive next week as scheduled . . .

REMEMBER not long ago we mentioned that M. K. Chew in Hayes township was among our oldest subscribers to the Courier and wondered if there were any around that has been receiving the paper even longer? . . . We forgot to mention it earlier but there's one that we should have known about at the time . . . Will Bellinger, who said he'd been reading the Charlevoix Journal which was then published by Charles Strang . . . That was back in the mid-1880's . . .

ON THE way to graduation the other night we met Earnest Pease who has been attending such events for a good many years . . . We stopped to pass the time of day and he mentioned that he's seen quite a few commencements since he'd graduated in 1894 . . . Since this was the sixty-sixth annual commencement, we don't imagine there are too many of the earlier graduates still around . . .

AND speaking of graduates, didn't this year's class do themselves proud the other night? Patsy and Cynthia with their valentines and salutatory did so very well and said so very much . . .

And when those receiving scholarships were announced everyone just busted with pride . . . Then there were those others who are going on to college . . . about 50 per cent of the entire class of 46 who will continue their schooling along some special line . . . That's a pretty fine record for a small school . . . And don't forget too those boys who are entering the service . . . two left Monday for the Navy, Dave Glassford and Don Smith, with others planning to leave after the summer . . . And did you notice that just about everyone in that class did something . . . either belonging to the band, glee club, had participated in athletics, the school paper, the pep club, 4-H . . . There was one especially who, tho' he hadn't won a dozen letters in sports or top class honors, had the admiration of the entire community . . . Of course you know we mean Tom Fessenden who's come a mighty long way since that accident in November 1952 and with the spirit he has in well on his way to bigger things . . . We repeat . . . the class of '54 is one to be proud of . . .

THERE ARE graduates from college too . . . Did you notice that Charlevoix has seven this year . . . plus two others who are in medical school . . . We think we have a right to be proud of our kids . . .

LITTLE GIRLS (and some big girls, too, we might add), are often dreamy-eyed about brides and weddings . . . One night last week a little eight year old was heard

He dug a ditch it became the most important mile in America and the greatest canal on earth SOO CANAL!

A reckless adventure —

An incredible achievement

The daring exploits of "ditch-digger" Harvey and the exciting events of the canal-building episode have been dramatically recreated in the new historical novel

Two Local Men Graduate At U.M.

Two members of the 1954 graduating class of the Charlevoix high school have enlisted in the U.S. Navy and left Monday for boot training at the U.S.N.T.C., Great Lakes, Ill.

They are David Glassford, son of Mrs. Frank Glassford and Donald Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Smith.

David enlisted for three years and Donald for four years.

to say in a far-away voice: When I grow up I'm not going to be a nurse or go to college . . . I'm just going to be a barber . . . And then there was the little boy who went to Buttercup's party the other afternoon and asked Mrs. Butters the little lamb's owner if the lamb was all wool . . .

IF YOU'RE not registered to vote you'd better hie your little self right down to the city or township clerk and put your little A1 or Sal So and so on the line . . . 'cause with the contests developing right here in our own county, you don't want to be left holding a blue pencil and nothing to sign come August 3 . . . It looks like a hot race, especially in the sheriff's department, no step right up folks and get in on the 'biggest, the best election we've had in years . . . PS We don't care who you vote for as long as you're registered and can vote . . .

AND AFTER trying to make like a carnival barker, that reminds us . . . there's a circus coming to town next Thursday . . . Now if you're like we are you're really excited about it . . . We just finished reading "The Clown" written by Emmett Kelly, the greatest clown of them all so we're right in the spirit . . . We know that this isn't going to be the greatest show on earth but it's going to be a lot of fun . . . Oh yes, and it's under the sponsorship of the local American Legion post so plan now to see the circus . . . a week from today . . .

THIS should be in headlines but because we wanted to tell you about it we saved it for this column . . . Frank Poole is back in town . . . After better than eight months in the Veterans Hospital at Dearborn where he was pretty sick at times, he's home . . . and it wouldn't be summer in Charlevoix without him around . . . Of course Marva's with him too and tho' he can't see too many people right now he'll be around and that's the important thing . . .

WHEN YOU'RE on the north side, take a look-see at the Hawthorn tree on the corner of Michigan ave. and Alnslee at . . . It will be in full bloom by the time you read this and it's lovely . . .

SAW LITTLE Dougie Johnson Saturday . . . He's the little guy in the body cast . . . He's acquired a beautiful tan since we last saw him and he was sporting the brightest of shirts in a Hawaiian print and the insignia of the submarine men, a dolphin, both of which had been sent to him by Des Milligan who's serving aboard a submarine out Hawaii-way . . . He'd read about Dougie in the Courier and tho' he doesn't know him they're struck up quite a letter friendship . . . And when Doug celebrated his birthday recently he received, among other things, a cake that would delight the heart of any child . . . It was sent via express by friends in Muskegon and was complete with cowboy, lariat and all sorts of western regalia . . . It was too pretty to eat so he has it at home in the deep freeze . . .

JUST SO you can't say we didn't remind you, Sunday, June 20, is Father's Day . . . And why don't you give Pop a break this year . . . He pays the bills all year long so why don't you limit his gift this year to something he can afford . . .

THEY'RE gone . . . the beautiful golden red curls . . . and from now on no one's going to say "My, isn't she sweet?" when they're speaking of Spooky Coleman . . . The Irish Coleman's youngest . . . With such lovely looks we couldn't blame his folks for not wanting them ahead but now that they are we must add that Spook (who was given that name by his illustrious uncles, Bill and Bob Carey 'cause his birthday's near Halloween) is pretty cute . . . even if he does look like a boy . . .

REMEMBER when you were a kid and used to play at the rustic bridge on the Belvedere? . . . Every kid's been on a picnic there at some time or other . . . And now it's being torn down and the spot just won't ever be the same again . . . We understand that it wasn't quite safe and that's understandable for it's been there a long time but gee, another landmark is being razed . . . and it makes us a bit sad . . . But maybe it will be rebuilt, (we haven't inquired) . . . but still it won't (Continued on Page 10)

AN ENEMY invasion, which threatens to spread all over Michigan, is being combated in the central part of the state.

If present tactics are successful, the threat will be eliminated. If not, more extensive means must be employed. Already $150,000 of Michigan money has been appropriated in this battle. Future activities will be even more costly. The alternative . . . doing nothing . . . is infinitely more expensive.

The foe in this case is the gypsy moth. Insignificant sounding perhaps, but known to be one of the most destructive of insects. In its larva, or caterpillar stage the gypsy moth satisfies its prodigious appetite on the green leaves of trees, shrubs and other leafy plants. The larvae appear in such astonishing numbers that they can totally destroy all foliage in an area.

State officials were faced with the urgent problem of what to do: The choice was to immediately adopt a program involving spraying and other precautions in co-operation with federal authorities, or face a federal quarantine under which every material that stands out-of-doors would be inspected and certified before it could leave the area. They chose to take action.

"NEVER in the 30 years that I have worked in this field did I see such splendid cooperation between various branches of the government and the community," stated C. A. Boyer, chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry for the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Boyer told the story of how the gypsy moth came to be found for the first time west of Pennsylvania. "A peculiar bug is raising havoc with my plants," reported a Lansing housewife to the city forestry office. "Will you tell me what to do to get rid of it?"

Samples of the insect picked by these men showed it to be foreign to the area. They called upon Boyer of the Agriculture department; Dr. Gordon E. Guyer and Prof. Ray Hutson of Michigan State college's entomology department. These men identified the insect as the destructive gypsy moth.

Specialists of the Conservation and Highway departments were quickly called into consultation and the United States Department of Agriculture was notified. USDA sent 10 top experts, headed by Fern Odell, a leading gypsy moth fighter of 30 years experience in New England. Together they studied the situation.

QUICK ACTION was taken by the Governor. He called the "Little Legislature" into emergency session and $150,000 was set aside for a mammoth "de-moth-ing program."

The "Little Legislature" consists of members from the House Ways and Means and the Senate Finance Committees. About $500,000 is budgeted each year for emergencies. It was from this Pictured are Buttercup, the little lamb who has taken up residence at Sunset Lodge, and some of the more than 200 guests who attended a party given by his mistress, Mrs. W. T. Butters, Friday afternoon.

The children enjoyed watching Buttercup play and gambol and when two of the guests, Terry and Patty Lou Ross, brought a gift of two quarts of milk, the children helped feed the three-week-old lamb, which acquired his name from his wool which has been dyed yellow.

Before leaving for home each youngster enjoyed an ice cream cone.

Clara Miles, William E. Barker Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

In a marriage solemnized at the First Methodist church Tuesday evening, Clara M. Miles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walker A. Miles, became the bride of William E. Barker, Airman second class U. S. Air Force, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Barker of Charlevoix and Petoskey.

Baskets of white and purple lilies decorated the altar for the double ring service read by the Rev. Lloyd M. Schlopp in the presence of 150 guests.

Mrs. Charles Pontius sang "I Love You Truly", "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer", accompanied at the organ by Mrs. A. C. Belding, who also played a program of traditional music and the wedding marches.

It will be conducted by Mr. Odmark who is scheduling the enrollees into classes of two and three with one meeting per week during the summer.

Royce D. Welch, S.N., U. S. Coast Guard, assisted the bridegroom as best man.

Mrs. Dudley chose a dress of black lace and nylon over pink taffeta and pink and black accessories. Mrs. Foster, mother of the bridegroom, wore a pink linen dress styled with a matching pink lace jacket and black accessories. Both had corsages of pink and white carnations.

A wedding dinner at the Beaver Lodge for the bridal party and 25 guests was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents. Loyola Malloy, Claire Cull and Mrs. Archie LaFreniere assisted by John Pendrick and Chief Somers Wright of the U. S. Coast Guard presided at the reception.

After a southern wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Charlevoix after June 14.

Among those from away who attended the wedding were Mrs. Ciel Kinney and daughter, Patricia, Eleanor Czar, Mr. and Mrs. Amos of Detroit; Gene Burke of Three Rivers; Gene Gray and sons, Larry and Jerry of Hamtramck and Eddie Smith of Petoskey.

Tip from home economists at Michigan State college: Milk will not scorch so easily if you wipe the bottom of the pan with a bit of butter before scalding.

Jeans of durable denim make an ideal gift for the handy-man-about-the-house.

Advise Waging War On Mosquitos Now

Don't be afraid of "picking on babies" when it comes to mosquito control, advise Michigan State college entomologists.

A little time spent on inspection and wiggler killing now will save a lot of time and trouble... and itching... later, explain Ray L. James and Walter Morofsky. It's not too early, they note, to start poking around ponds, swamps, broken cesspools, ditches, barrels, catch basins, eaves, watering troughs and even slow-running streams.

Spot the mosquito wigglers by their "periscopes" and get busy. You will save wear and tear on sprayers, screens and people later.

If there are no fish to worry about... and they warn that DDT will kill fish... you can put a tablespoonful of 5 per cent DDT in kerosene on water surfaces for each 5 square feet of water. If you use kerosene alone, for areas where fish life might be treatments will be needed. Pyrethrum and kerosene larvacide also can be used for water containing fish.

In no case, the M.S.C. entomologists warn, should DDT be used on water to be used for cooking or drinking... by men or animals.

After draining wet spots and spreading water treatment, then it's time to cut grass and treat shrubbery. Use 2 pounds of 50 per cent wettable DDT powder to 50 gallons of water for an acre of shrubbery.

Spider Mites Now Having 'Heyday' In Spruces And Cedars

Red spider mites are having their heyday now... probably in your spruce and cedar trees.

Ed Rehman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent, suggests that it's a good idea to start checking for those mites right away. If they hit in large enough numbers, the pests can kill branches or the entire tree... by sucking sap. How do you know when you have a red spider mite infestation?

Walter F. Morofsky, a Michigan State college entomologist, suggests this:

Just tap one of the branches over a sheet or white paper. You'll see red, yellow, green or black dots moving on the paper if your tree is infested.

As for control, Morofsky, says get miticides from a seed supply store or nursery if you want to spray to eliminate the mites. If you have just a few trees, use a garden hose with high water pressure to wash the pests from the branches.

A small boy had been told that we were here to help others. "Then," he asked, "what are the others here for?"

Emergency Forage Fills Need When Short On Pasture

Emergency forages can help a farmer over the "hump" when he's running short on rotation crop pasture... but they need fertilizer to do the job, stresses Edward D. Longnecker, Michigan State college soil scientist.

Sudangrass, recommended for the south two-thirds of the Lower Peninsula, and oat-pea silage in the northern areas both should have a high nitrogen fertilizer. Use from 300 to 500 pounds per acre of 10-10-10 or 12-12-12, he advises, or spread 8 to 12 tons of manure plus 250 to 300 pounds of 3-9-18 or 4-24-12.

Balbo eye can be seeded late in August with 300 pounds of complete fertilizer like 3-18-9 or 4-18-18 and topdressed in the early spring. It provides a lot of late fall and early spring pasture.

Benson To Speak At M.S.C. Meeting

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson will speak at Michigan State college Aug. 5, it was announced, this week.

Secretary Benson will present the main address at a meeting commemorating the 10th anniversary of the Michigan Artificial Breeders Cooperative. Extension Dairymen A. C. Baltzer, who is secretary-manager of the organization, is making the arrangements. Frank Heim of Jackson is president of the MABC.

Baltzer said he is inviting all farm organizations to be represented at the session which will be held at the MABC headquarters south of the M.S.C. campus. Families attending were urged to bring their own sandwiches. The dairy organization will furnish milk and ice cream.

"Meat and milk production from rotation grazing proved no better in two Michigan State college tests than continuous grazing."

A Vast Impartiality

Only a casual glance around you will reveal how impartial Nature is, and how much alike the children of earth are treated. While boating you can look out upon the water and see other creatures trusting their lives to the waves just as you do. A mallard mother paddles past with her ducklings tight behind. Man and mallard alike are sustained by the self-same waters. Both must breathe the same air, eat to stay alive, grow from infancy to awkward adolescence and on to maturity and continue their race by having young. And at last both will quietly slip away and make room for a forthcoming generation.

Among the children of men there are notable disparities — the poverty-ridden and the rich, some born into a land of freedom and others arriving in a place of bondage. And often we get to feeling low because others are "getting the breaks" and we are not. But essentially, concerning those things that matter most, there is a vast impartiality. All at sometime suffer, are visited by pain and bereavement, hunger of the spirit, discouragement, and low moods. Upon all some blessings fall — sunshine and rain, undeserved love, unexpected help. The Master, observing the strange impartiality at the heart of Nature, spoke of how God "maketh his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sendeth rain on the just and the unjust." Again, in a parable he described two houses on which in like measure "the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew." One house stood for wise living, and the other for foolish living, but upon them both the same natural forces vented their power. One house stood and the other fell, because the former had a firm foundation while the latter was built upon sand.

It is always so. Underneath our superficial differences of fortune there is a mighty impartiality in the way we are treated. But what a difference in our reactions to fate and fortune! Some fall under buffetings. Others rise. Some react into self-pity. Others send out their sympathy upon errands of mercy. Here is one way of emerging from a foul self-pampering mood. Think of the amazing unity of human need that knows no geographical or political boundaries, that recognizes no color of skin, that professes no denominational ties. I know it works. I tried it one day and jotted down the following lines (since published in Builders magazine):

"O God of all, the hungry and the fed,
Hear thou the prayer of those who cry for bread.
Increase the fair earth's yield.
Increase, too, God,
The will to share in those who till the sod,
And those who have of this world's goods enough.

O God of all, the ignorant and the wise,
Hear thou the prayer of those who seek to rise
From darkness of the mind toward the light.
Grant each one escape from blackest night
Into the day of fearlessness and truth.

O God of all, the sinner and the saint,
Hear thou the prayer of those whose souls are faint,
Whose lifeblood swims with poisoning guilt and shame,
Who feebly creep along — sore, halt and lame.
Grant healing, God. Restore these sick to health.
Wherever there is need on this wide earth,

O thou who countest souls of greater worth
Than all the spacious firmament on high,
Come quickly, God, thy children's needs supply.
Give us this day our daily bread — thy care."

A consciousness of others, like the sun's strong, warm light chased my leaden moody clouds away, and life was bright again.

Doesn't it always make you feel better to think and pray for others?

Eleanor Vander Ark Is Attending Girls State At Michigan

Ellsworth — Eleanor Vander Ark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Vander Ark, and a Senior next year in Banks Township Unit school is in Ann Arbor this week where she is attending Wolverine Girls' State held on the campus of the University of Michigan, and sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

The local American Legion Auxiliary sponsored this trip for Eleanor, with Mrs. William Patterson, Girls' State chairman, making the arrangements.

Girls' State is a National program of the American Legion Auxiliary and the Wolverine Girls State will draw about 300 girls from all over Michigan. It is limited to girls in the third year or junior in high school. It brings to these girls a knowledge of the fundamental principles of American government through actual practice, with the sincere desire that these girls will, in the future, accept active citizenship in our nation and feel keenly the relationship of home, church, school and government.

After spending eight days in governmental instruction and governing themselves by democratic procedure, two girls will be chosen to attend "Girls' Nation" representing Michigan at Washington, D. C., where they will learn how a free nation is governed.

Vanilla, chocolate and strawberry are America's favorite ice cream flavors. About 51 per cent of all ice cream sold is vanilla, 18 per cent chocolate, and almost 10 per cent strawberry.

IT WAS good to see our good friend, Capt. Allie Moore, cruising around again . . . Of course, his activities are limited but given time he'll be back on the waterfront . . . good as new . . .

WE DON'T think we have any fish among our subscribers so it's permissible to mention that Sol Marcus arrived in town Monday from the east . . . He will be joined today by Bill Jenkins of Bedford, Ind. . . Both have made extensive plans for the opening of the bass season come Saturday . . . It will be interesting to see what extravagant plans will be placed in operation and how successful they'll be . . . We don't know about M. J. but we know that Mr. M. had a very good system last season . . . he caught fish . . . And isn't that the point of going fishing? . . . And how about it, you bass fishermen, if you get a real good catch we'd like to hear about it . . . and if you're overstocked, we'll be glad to share your catch . . .

WE CAN think of a lot easier mode of travel than the one selected last week by Mary Carlson, Nancy Bodley and her room-mate, Loretta Hanson of Saginaw . . . All are students at the U. of M. so instead of coming home via the usual ways, this threesome decided to make the nearly 300 mile trip from Ann Arbor by bicycle . . . The first day out they cut their load to a minimum (sending out an SOS for Helena Isaksen to pick up the excess at Whittemore Lake north of A.A.) and started home . . . This was Tuesday and after being caught in only one brief shower they arrived at the Carlson farm Saturday morning . . . After a handout there they continued to the Bodley farm north of town to complete the trip . . . Other than being a little "saddle" weary and a bit sunburned they had a grand time . . . Of course, it's going to take a good part of their vacation to rest up but that doesn't mean a thing when you're young . . . they tell us . . .

Mental Health Group To Give Play Saturday

The production, "My Name Is Legion", coming to the Petoskey high school auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Saturday under the sponsorship of the Tri-County Mental Health chapter employs some unusual staging devices in presenting the drama based on Clifford Beers' autobiography, "A Mind That Found Itself".

The technique used can be credited directly to a proviso in Beers' will that he never be portrayed in person. While this looked like a limitation at first, playwrights Nora Sterling and Nina Rudenour hit upon a Ruth Draper technique with multiple actors which developed into an extremely effective method.

The 13 roles are played by seven actors without makeup. There is no scenery, no costumes, no properties and the leading character, Clifford Beers, never appears. He is indicated by an empty chair or the actions of characters surrounding him. A narrator tells what he says and an actor called the Internal Voice tells what he thinks.

In this way the star of the play becomes a mind.

The Wayne University Theatre was chosen to produce the play for the Michigan Society of Mental Health, a member agency of the United Health and Welfare Fund, of Michigan. Leonard Leone directs the production.

The slate of officers were presented by a nominating committee composed of Mrs. E. D. Hawley, Mrs. Charles Bleha, Mrs. C. M. Bice, Mrs. Isaac Teri and Mrs. Homer Nasson and were approved unanimously.

Miss Anne Baumgartner, superintendent of the Charlevoix hospital, outlined a series of projects in which the Guild could participate. This included the altering and placing of drapes and the polishing and placing of furniture in the new hospital, sewing projects for the present hospital, and the purchase of mirrors, thermo pitchers, bedside trays and coffee servers to be used in the new hospital.

The work of several committees was discussed and the following chairmen named to head the groups: membership, Mrs. L. E. Grate and Mrs. George Wolf with each member assisting; fund raising, Mrs. James Coleman, Mrs. W. T. Butters, Mrs. Karl Schultz and Mrs. William VanRaaphorst; sewing, Frances Milner, Mrs. Hawley, Mrs. Don Gilbert and Mrs. Kit Carson; furniture, Miss Baumgartner, Mrs. Fred Willis and Mrs. G. B. Saltonstall; telephone, Mrs. James Gallagher and Mrs. Hawley.

The dues were set at $1.00 per year with membership open to all residents of the area served by the Charlevoix hospital. It was also voted to organize as a Guild rather than an Auxiliary. All projects are to meet with the approval of the hospital board.

Tentative plans for a moving day program and the opening of the new hospital were discussed. Mrs. Julius Berns and Mrs. Willis were asked to serve on a menu committee for moving day and Mrs. Grate to head a committee named by her to plan the latter issue. Both will be discussed at a later meeting.

The second Tuesday of every month was selected as the regular meeting date for the Guild. The next meeting will be held July 13. At that time all members are asked to pay their dues.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

GEE, THE things you don't see around these days... Couldn't believe my eyes the other day when I saw a car driving through town with all of things, a cute little monkey, sitting in the open window watching all the people gaping at him and probably looking like, well, people... Anyway, we had a witness to it so don't say we had one too many at the nearest pub...

AND Probably visitors are just as amazed at seeing Buttercup on the street... In case you haven't seen the little lamb who lives at Sunset Lodge, he's got a cute black face and ears, four black stockings, feet and ears (you) ... Anyway, as you know he gets himself dyed regularly to keep that pretty yellow coat... There are splashes of the white around his ears that have to be dabbed with the dye and don't always take the dye as readily as they should... Anyway, one day last week when Mrs. B., who is asked a million questions when she takes him out, had someone ask her about the white spots around his ears that didn't look too yellow... She quickly explained to the interested party that the cotton didn't take the dye as well as he wool and the lady answered with a surprised "Oh"... Wonder what her reaction was when she'd given the answer some thought...

ANYWAY, Buttercup made an "grand entrance" at, of all places, the Michigan Veterinary Medical Society show... We'd have been afraid one of D.V.'s would have decided to use him for a guinea pig but nothing happened and all the ladies oohed and ached and Buttercup just looked cute as he rode around in the 150 year old baby buggy in which he was presented... Oh for the life of a lamb...

Understand we might have some more livestock around when and if Judge Supp carries out his plans to become a rancher...

ABOUT THE rustic bridge... Remember we mentioned last week that it looked as tho' it were being razed... A call from E. J. Edwards of the club told us that it was vandals who had damaged both ends of the bridge by literally tearing the familiar old structure apart... The club is having it re-enforced and re-built so we won't be without one of the favorite old spots... Our apologies to Mr. Edwards for not checking with him before using the story...

WE KNOW it doesn't seem possible but the summer band concerts in the park will begin next Wednesday night... These concerts are a big attraction here... Charlevoix is one of the few cities in the states that has a city band which presents weekly concerts for free... The band has been rehearsing all winter and has an extensive repertoire for your entertainment this summer so come Wednesday night... how about dropping around and giving the boys and girls a hand... They give their services for your entertainment so show up at the concerts as a way of saying "thank you" to the band and its director, C. A. Odmark...

HOW ABOUT that storm last week... Out at Hayes it developed into a miniature tornado and did a lot of damage... And the rain... how it rained... We understand that just seeds of fields were flooded and the seeds washed out... The Sneathens have had their bean field washed out twice this spring we're told and there are others who also suffered equally as much... As someone said the other day about the rain... It's getting to be just like the tropics... it rains every afternoon and then turns hot... For our money, we could do without the electric storms too

... We don't mind saying we don't like 'em... but like weather in general, it's something you can't do much about...

SWABIES... dozens of 'em... Did you see them around over the weekend?... If you didn't you just weren't in town for they were everywhere... A Naval Reserve training ship with 50 enlistees and an equal number of trainees plus officers spent the weekend here... As their ship laid off the piers because, for some reason, the skipper decided he couldn't bring her in... Didn't he know we'd had PCEs in here before?... Anyway, the sailors were here... ship or no... with the liberty launch working overtime running a passenger service every half hour or so...

IF YOU'VE never seen an orchid cactus, you're in for a treat as we were the other day when we stopped by to see the one owned by the Floyd Supps in full bloom... that is, one of some 25 buds was in bloom and it's beautiful... Having a flat leaf that also forms the stem, the buds appear on the ends of these stems... a triple layer of petals shaped like a trumpet and centered with a soft green and a speck of orchid from which it derives its names... the petals are a red and are just out of this world... And believe us, it's much lovelier than our description 'cause we don't know too much about flowers except we love 'em and they're pretty... But if you're making a slide collection of beautiful blossoms, don't miss these...

THIS IS a story of three skunks... It is not our story but we will tell you about it as it was told to us... Seems there were two boys who live on the north side, Joel and Erik Arvilla, who were enroute home from the movie the other night when they saw a big old skunk making its way across the street to the Weather-vane... Joel said he thought it was just another skunk 'til he distinctly heard a tiny voice call "Mama"... He looked again and here were two baby skunks calling their mother who by this time had gone up the small step to the front of the building... The small fry were having trouble making the step so the mother came back down, picked up each by a paw and hoisted the pair up the step... Skunks are known to make sounds but as we said, this is the story as it was told to us... PS Erik doesn't verify the story to a point where he agrees the skunks called "Mama"...

THE GIRL Scout Council concluded two successful programs last week... Troop and Day camp... We think a big vote of gratitude is due those people who work all year with the Girl Scouts to make the program such a success... They give their time and talents so the girls of the community can enjoy an outstanding program... Incidentally, a nurse is required to be on hand at all times in the event of an accident... Only casualty this year was a fractured foot injury... The victim?... the troop camp nurse... Mrs. Robert Bergmann...

WE DON'T know how he does it but our harbormaster, Capt. Joe Howard is sure a favorite with the gals around town... And if you don't believe us, we have witnesses that a group of pretty cute tricks were serenading him on Bridge st. one day last week... Soon all the yachtsmen will be back and Capt. Howard will be busy rolling out the red carpet as only he can do it...

FROM NOW on we're going to have a healthy respect for every strawberry we eat... They happen to be our favorite berry and in a year we consume quite a few... After doing a story on strawberry growers this week we'll appreciate them a little more for now we have an idea of all the work that goes into the raising and marketing of the scrumptious red berries...

IF YOU'RE one of those people who likes to do your Christmas shopping early, here's a reminder that the big day is rolling around and will arrive just six months from Friday... Don't say we didn't tell you...

AND IF people try to tell you

Joyce Fiedler, Herbert Hamlin Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

Joyce Ann Fiedler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Fiedler, became the bride of Herbert H. Hamlin, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hamlin, Saturday evening at the Community Church of God.

Bouquets of garden flowers and lighted tapers decorated the altar for the double ring ceremony read by the Rev. George L. Majors in the presence of 150 guests.

Mrs. John L. Boss as organist played a program of traditional music and the wedding marches. She also accompanied the soloists, Mrs. Earl Henshaw of Bainbridge, Ga., sister of the bridegroom, who sang "I Love You Truly," Robert Fiedler of Flint and Dean Fiedler of Ellsworth, brothers of the bride, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" respectively.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of white lace, nylon net and taffeta for her wedding. I DON'T PASS ON A HILL

Passing on a hill is like driving on a dark night without headlights. You can't see what's ahead. You can't tell when a car will pop over the hill. If it does you're in for a head-on collision — the death of somebody else may be an your hands.

"Blind" hills on all state highways — and on some county highways — have a yellow line telling you where you cannot pass. Less important hills may not have this protection. Don't take a chance. When in doubt, don't do it.

Remember the higher the speed in both cars the longer it takes to pass — so at high speed do your passing a long way before you reach that hill you can see ahead.

It Pays To Eat A Good Breakfast

PRETTY as a picture with its gay and colorful provincial ware, here is the quickest, easiest, and one of the least expensive of all good breakfasts—a menu enjoyed by young people and older alike.

To whet the appetite, there's cool tangy orange juice. Crisp, crunchy corn flakes and milk make up a main course that is rich in body-building protein, minerals and vitamins. What with the more than twenty varieties of breakfast cereals to be found on your grocer's shelves—hot, ready-to-eat, pre-sweetened, with variations in flavor and form such as rolled, flaked, puffed, blisquit shapes, kernal and shreds—there's never a problem in planning with this basic breakfast pattern as a guide. Add two slices of bread and butter, and you have a breakfast that pleasantly provides a good morning for everyone.

Nutrition authorities say "Breakfast should give one-fourth to one-third of all the nutrients you should have in a day." One-third is right for growing boys and girls and one-fourth for most adults.

Doctors discovered in a series of scientific tests on college girls and boys at a big midwestern medical school that after a good cereal breakfast you're able to work better, you're more alert and keen, and your muscles don't get so tired, especially during the late morning hours.

Without the basic cereal breakfast of fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter, work output goes down; reactions are slower; fatigue increases. Yes, indeed, it pays to eat a good breakfast!

Charlevoix IN UNIFORM

When Mary Roberts, 1954 graduate of Central Michigan college in Mt. Pleasant, was presented with a diploma at commencement exercises recently, she added another name to the already outstanding record made by her family by becoming the fifth member to graduate from college.

The quintet which has college degrees are the children of Mrs. Bertha Roberts who has three others including one, Carlyle (Junior), who has completed his freshman year at Central Michigan college, Joan, a Charlevoix high school junior, and Jack who returned recently from Korea where he spent a year while serving two years in the army.

Of the five who are graduates, four have contracts as teachers and the fifth, Phyllis, plans to return to a civil service position this fall.

Mrs. Joseph (Marjorie) Himmell of Detroit is the oldest of the family. She was graduated from Lake City high school and attended Central Michigan college for two years before starting her teaching career. She was later married and continued to teach in Detroit where she attended classes and was graduated from Wayne University in 1949. She has two children.

Phyllis, who returned last month from five years in Japan where she was attached to the Department of Army as a civilian employee, was graduated from Reed City high school and attended Michigan State college on a scholarship. After time out to earn funds for her education, she was graduated in 1947. After taking a special clerical course in Detroit she went to Japan in 1949. She plans to return to a civil service job this fall after spending the summer with her family.

Ariyle, who has taught school at Portland, Ore., for the past two years, was graduated from the Charlevoix high school in 1943 and Central Michigan college in 1950 after working in war plants during World War II. She taught in Petoskey for two years before going west and will join the faculty of the Charlevoix public school in the fall.

James, now serving as a corporal with the U. S. Army in Germany, was also graduated from the local high school and Central Michigan College. He went on to Wayne University in Detroit where he was graduated with a master's degree in education in 1952. Immediately after graduation he was drafted into the army and this summer will conclude two years in the army. He will teach in Battle Creek this fall where his wife, the former Ila Sterns of Alpena, taught last year.

Mary, who was graduated in June, will teach physical education in Petoskey this fall. She was also graduated from the

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Right in front of Granny White's beautiful old house on Maple Avenue there's a brand-new sign: "Antiques. Inquire Within."

Now—don't get excited. Granny explained it all the other night—after we settled down in her parlor, me with my temperate beer, Granny with her tea.

I asked her if she was really going in the antique business. "Oh, no," says Granny, "I wouldn't sell anything. I put that sign up so folks would come in and talk—and look around. If they insist on a price, I tell them some out-

Rainy Weather May Encourage New Hay Curing

Rains that discourage northern Michigan farmers in field curing of hay could be blessings in disguise, suggests Ed Reiman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent. They may encourage more use of two better ways of preserving hay, grass silage and barn curing.

Both grass silage and barn-cured hay save more of the dry matter and protein than field curing does, agrees Dennis L. Clannahan, Michigan State College farm cropsman for northern Michigan. He also cites a three-year study of the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Beltsville, Md., to support his view.

The dry matter loss from field to feed amounts to 15 per cent for silage, 16 per cent for barn curing and 26 per cent for field curing, the survey showed. The protein loss is 16 per cent for silage, 23 per cent for barn-cured hay and 36 per cent in field curing.

Barn curing involves forced air; if field-chopped hay goes into the barn with leaves intact and high feed value, it must be mow-dried for safe storage; hay that is chopped must be drier than long hay. Hay dried in the field loses leaves and feed value.

Grass silage making and barn curing both go hand-in-hand with use of a field chopper, advises Clannahan; the other costs are barn-drying equipment in the barn in one case, a vertical or horizontal silo in the other.

Each farm set up is different, the M.S.C. farm crops extension specialist realizes, but farmers seeking to cut loss of forage feed value will use grass silage or barn curing. They will avoid field curing if possible. The saving in protein is a big item when it is compared with costs of buying supplemental protein feeds.

A medium-sized hardwood tree may lose 50 gallons of water through its foliage in a day, reports William B. Love, M.S.C. specialist in municipal forestry. Trees in lawn areas need more watering.

In Blooms--Strawberries Soon

White blossoms, pictured above on the farm of William Potter in Marion township, are being transformed this week into luscious, red strawberries which are expected to reach their peak in both quality and quantity early in July.

Largest grower of the most popular of all berries, Mr. Potter has three acres of plants which will bear fruit this year and an additional five acres planted this year which will not reach maturity until 1955.

If the weather conditions remained favorable, Mr. Potter said he expects to harvest approximately 200 cases per acre over a three week period. Pickers, averaging about ten to the acre, will enter the field about July 1 and for the next three weeks will harvest the entire crop with each plant being picked every other day. The peak of the crop will be the second week.

Mr. Potter has been in the berry business for the last nine seasons and now has the largest field in the immediate area. He makes a practice of setting out a new plot each year so that he is always assured of a crop. In the beginning he purchased the plants from a nursery but now uses runners from his own plants unless he decides to change the type of berry. He then orders new plants from the nursery.

The plants are set out in the spring with a mechanical planter. The first year they are fed commercial fertilizer and cultivated although they do not bear fruit. In the fall they are covered with mulch, more to keep them from starting to blossom early in the spring rather than to protect them from frost.

The second and third years they are in the ground they bear fruit. In most cases they are destroyed after three years because it becomes difficult to keep them free of weeds and grass. A new plot is then started.

Mr. Potter said he markets the most of his crop in the area but does send some to the upper peninsula where there is a good market for few fruits and berries are raised there due to the short growing season.

Mr. Potter may be the largest grower at present in the Charlevoix area but Albin Durance and his sister, Miss Frances Durance of Charlevoix township are the oldest growers. Their parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. George Durance, raised their first berries on their 20 acre farm more than 60 years ago. Since their death Mr. Durance and Miss Durance have continued to grow the berries in soil that is particularly suited for the crop. They have only 1 1/2 acres which will bear this year and carry on the business more as a family tradition than anything else, according to Miss Durance. They harvest only one year from each plot before plowing it under and planting another set of plants. Their berries are a later variety than most and will not reach their prime until mid-July.

A third grower who entered the field for the first time last year is Arthur Stool of Marion township, who will harvest a half acre of berries this year. He also has an equally large field ready for harvest next season.

There are many other smaller growers who raise berries for their own use and market a few but these are the growers in the immediate area who have come to the attention of the Courier.

Farm Bureau Women Planning Project To Pay For Dermatone

The Charlevoix Farm Bureau Women's Committee met recently at the home of Mrs. Frank Kenny on Six Miles lake near East Jordan.

Fund raising projects were discussed with the idea of adopting one to raise funds for final payments on the new Dermatone the Farm Bureau women of the county presented to the Charlevoix Hospital.

Mrs. L. E. McGhan, chairman of the legislative committee, reported on the bills now before the state House of Representatives for consideration; Mrs. John Wieland reported on the work of the safety committee; Mrs. Howard Donaldson and Mrs. Jean Nachazel of East Jordan, who attended the recent Farm Bureau Women's camp at Twin Lakes near Traverse City, reported on the week long program which was attended by several hundred members from 18 to 76 years.

Mrs. Aaron Brock, program chairman, then presented Mrs. John L. Boss who showed slides taken in Germany, Holland and France by her son, Herbert, while he was in Europe with the U. S. Army.

The group voted to discontinue meetings until September.

Marketing Card Needed To Sell 1954 Wheat Crop

Charlevoix County wheat farmers will be issued wheat marketing cards during the latter part of June according to LeRoy Hardy, chairman of the Charlevoix County ASC Committee.

The official wheat marketing card, MQ-76, pictured here, will be needed by every wheat farmer when marketing his 1954 crop. A marketing card will be issued to every wheat producer who shares in the wheat crop on any farm where the wheat acreage is not more than 15 acres, and also to producers on farms where the wheat acreage is more than 15 acres and where the acreage allotment has not been exceeded.

Final measurement work on 1954 wheat acreages has now been completed and each wheat farmer who has exceeded his wheat allotment has been notified of the acreage that he would have to dispose of as green manure, cover crop, hay or pasture in order to avoid marketing quota penalties. Mr. Hardy, advises any wheat farmer who is not sure of where he stands as far as marketing quotas are concerned on his farm to get in touch with the Charlevoix County ASC Office located in the Bank building, Boyne City, Michigan.

Farmers who share in the wheat crop on any farm where the wheat acreage is more than 15 acres and is in excess of the farm allotment will not receive a marketing card until the penalty on the wheat produced on the excess acres has been satisfied. Mr. Hardy stated that the penalty for excess wheat is $1.12 per bushel and can be satisfied in one of the following three ways: (1) Payment of the penalty in cash at the ASC Office, (2) Storage of the excess wheat either in a warehouse or on the farm, (3) Delivery of the excess wheat to the Secretary of Agriculture through the ASC Office.

Storage or delivery of excess wheat must be accomplished within 60 days after the harvest period ends, otherwise the penalty can be satisfied only through cash payment.

Farmers who store excess wheat will be permitted to underplant their 1955 wheat allotment and will then be authorized to remove all or part of their 1954 excess wheat from storage and sell it on the open market.

All elevators, feed dealers, milling companies and other wheat buyers are cooperating in the control of wheat marketing, beginning July 1. Commercial wheat buyers are required to maintain certain records and account for all wheat purchased during the marketing year July 1, 1954 through June 30, 1955. Instruction meetings for wheat buyers will be held to review the marketing quota regulations and the forms to be used.

Mr. Hardy cautions individual farmers who may buy wheat for feed or seed from other farmers that the farmer who is selling the wheat must show a marketing card showing that the wheat is free of any penalty, otherwise the farmer who is buying the wheat is subject to payment of the penalty.

Any farmer advertising... even by roadside sign... that he sells his products at retail needs a Michigan sales tax license. This applies even though his volume is below the tax figure, cautions Everett Elwood, Michigan State college farm economist.

Hugging the Shore

While walking through our town I often delight in the kind of place it is. Spogged by moist breezes, gently washed by the surrounding clean waters, and snuggled down comfortably among motherly hills — Charlevoix is a most wonderfully fortunate town.

Then my thoughts saunter back across the years to the long ago when only red men climbed these hills and dipped paddles in these waters. The sound of fog horn or curfew whistle had never shouted above the whisper of pines and the cries of jays and herring gulls.

Then came the white man to Lake Michigan. Nicolet, Father Jacques, Marquette, LaSalle and others slipped along the shore, their birch-bark vessels paddled by Indian braves.

One can imagine Father Charlevoix, the French Jesuit, on his way down the lake from Mackinac to the fort at St. Joseph in his Indian-guided canoe. Like the slender, sensitive finger of a blind man, his frail craft felt along the shore, touched each bay, probed every tributary (possible investigating our town's Pine River), gathering impressions of this new land.

How was it that the Americas, so rich in beauty and natural wealth, lay here so long before discovery? For one reason primarily. From time immemorial sailors had hugged their shores, fearful of venturing into the open sea. As long as they cherished the comfortable security of seeing nearby land great discoveries were impossible. Then the Norsemen became more daring than the rest and set sail far out upon the high seas. And, following the invention of the compass, the sailors of West Central Europe launched westward into the unknown. Beyond the mysterious sea and the imagined terrors of the rim of their world, there lay America the beautiful.

How often we hug the shore and shrink from new discovery! Then time, or fate, or the rush of events (or whatever else we care to call our partial views of God) presses us into ship-board service, and we sail out from our beloved harbors of the familiar upon the dark waters of the unknown. And beyond our limited little horizons we find a new world.

We are anxious and filled with foreboding about the tomorrow. But then the hours move out from the snug haven of today and we are aboard. The strand of the unfamiliar future is reached, and we land. And looking back, how glad we are that we left the opposite shore! Although exploring and settling a new land is no easy chore, how seldom we would go back to the old world if we could!

In prospect we fear responsibilities. Taking a new position, having another child, caring for someone who cannot help himself, incurring indebtedness in order to start up a business — how we would rather hug the shore of our present irresponsibility! Then we launch out upon the new adventure and a different world spreads out before us, still better than the old.

An operation faces us. We dread it. At least our present aches and pains have a familiarity about them. But what lies beyond the anesthetic and the deep sleep? Then we awaken, and before the old pains are left far behind and a new world of relief, free of dread, encompasses us.

Just as the Europeans of a few hundred years ago imagined the Atlantic ended in a distant abyss filled with monsters that would gobble up ship and crew, so we fill our minds with images of possible disasters befalling us out there in the future. But as we sail from yesterday through today and visit at last the tomorrow, like Columbus we find our imaginations had played dirty tricks upon us. What lies beyond are not ugly monsters to devour us, but unexplored continents to challenge and thrill us.

God has filled the future with exciting discovery for those who refuse to hug the shore.

Freak Windstorm Does Extensive Damage In Area

Extensive damage by a sudden windstorm which hit the area late Wednesday afternoon has been reported by Charles A. Hamilton, local insurance adjuster, and others.

The freak windstorm which was accompanied by heavy rains swooped down and completely demolished a barn on the farm of Frank Pouquette in Hayes township north and east of here at 6 p.m. Wednesday and carried the pieces for several hundred feet. A number of fruit trees on the farm were also uprooted and carried away by the wind.

Mr. Pouquette, who was watching the storm by an open window in the family's cement block house, was thrown across the room by the force of the wind. The house was undamaged. Cattle in the cement basement of the barn were also uninjured.

Elsewhere in Hayes township, a barn on the Amandus Evers farm was damaged by the wind. Lesser damage to buildings and trees was reported in the area which was hardest hit by the wind.

In the city most damage resulted from the heavy rains which flooded the city hall basement as well as those of several business places and a number of residences when drains failed to carry away the heavy rainfall which accompanied the wind and electric storm.

Fruit Sprays For Home Orchards

What's the best "all-purpose" spray mixture to use on just a few fruit trees in the back yard? That's a question homeowners are asking Michigan State college horticulturists these days.

Horticulturist Arthur E. Mitchell has this advice for people who want to mix their own all-purpose spray: Use one and a half level teaspoons of 74 to 76 per cent ferbam, three teaspoons of 50 per cent wettable methoxychlor and two tablespoons of 25 per cent wettable malathion. Those amounts are mixed together per gallon of water. You can substitute three level tablespoons of 50 per cent wettable captan for the ferbam.

But, says Mitchell, many people may find it more convenient to buy a commercial "all-purpose" spray. It's available at most hardware stores.

He suggests that the spray . . . either the commercial preparation or your own mixture . . . should be applied at intervals of a week to two weeks during the season. How often you should apply the spray depends on how favorable the weather is for disease and insect development. The spray can be applied up to two weeks before harvest.

It's good for grapes and raspberry bushes as well as fruit trees.

MICHIGAN is a key state this year in the nation's political picture.

Campaigns for the fall election will be watched with considerable interest by the country's political dopesters in hope they can predict national trends from what happens in the Wolverine state.

Much is at stake. If Michigan stays in the Republican camp or goes Democratic it will have great national significance. Huge sums of money will be spent by both parties. More delicate maneuvering will be planned; harder fighting can be expected.

Big danger for both sides is a possible split in party ranks.

Republicans are sure that controversy between GOP candidates in previous primaries produced wounds too deep to heal by general election time. They attribute William's victories in past campaigns to such intra-party fights.

They are taking great pains this year that candidates campaign against the Democrats in the primary . . . not each other.

While GOP leaders hold their breaths hoping that their candidates will stick to what they call "an understanding" not to fight among themselves, Democrat leaders are holding their heads in fear that James Hoffa will lead a rebellion against the Williams leadership.

Hoffa, Detroit AFL labor leader who described as being unhappy with what he considers CIO domination of the Democratic party, has taken some positive steps that worry the Williams administration more than a little.

THE CHALLENGE to leadership of the Williams faction leaves the governor's group wondering what manner of "enemy" they have within their ranks . . . and how far he will go to have his way. Williams is reported to feel that the appearance of George S. Fitzgerald, former national committeeman and affiliate of Hoffa, is an attempt by the teamster leader to "establish a crown prince of his own" in what might be a Democratic year. Fitzgerald filed petitions as Democratic candidate for Lt. Governor.

Republicans will make what happy use they can out of this discord. They can be expected to remind voters of the "AFL-CIO" fight for control of the Democratic party.

John Feikens, GOP State Central Committee chairman, has already announced that he recalls Fitzgerald's remarks after a Democratic county convention . . . he had "just seen socialism, using Communism's methods, take over Michigan Democratic party". This refers to an old intra-party fight. It also shows that hard feeling has existed for a long time.

"FOURTH TERMITES" is an expression that's apt to pop up in the campaign. It will be used, in the words of Feikens, "to stress the fact that Williams is seeking the same position too often for the interests of good government."

Other Republican campaign arguments will favor a "tremendous highway program, intelligently planned and financed", improved aid for schools, general tax revision.

"Michigan taxpayers spend one billion dollars a year for state and local taxes," says Feikens. "We want to see that taxes are collected on a fair basis and that the money is spent with maximum efficiency."

Democrats have a few weapons of their own. They hope to hit hard with several points.

The present economic condition will be described as an "overall loss of prosperity" . . . and it will be blamed on Republican policies.

They will refer to their highway building program as "Tomorrow's Road Today" and are expected to make hay over recent scandals involving Highway Department funds.

Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler will become a target of marked importance. Democratic spokesmen have often charged that Ziegler runs the Highway Department "like a kingdom unto itself". They point to Route 43, "a road supposed to extend from Lansing to Grand Rapids, which dies in a cornfield." "This road is being built so slowly," they claim, "that the Lansing end will be worn out before the Grand Rapids end is paved."

"Is this," they intend to ask, "an example of Republican intelligent road programming?"

BOTH PARTIES will claim credit for popular legislation; blame the rest upon the opposition. There is always some justification for this since, in the final analysis, both Legislature and Governor must agree if bills become law with the chief executive's signature.

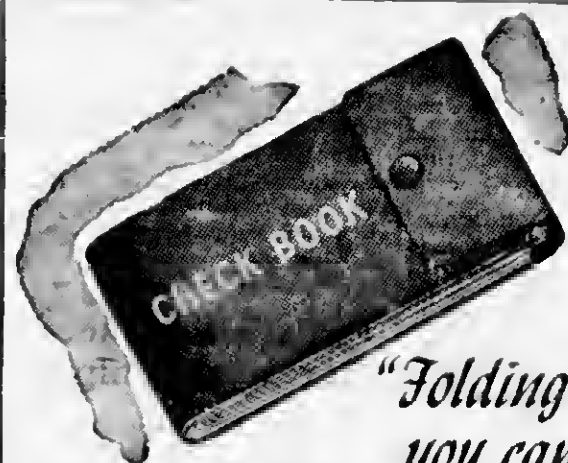

When the significance of the Aug. 3 primary is studied by party officials, and the state conventions, held soon after, are adjoined, the chips will be down for the big battle of the general election in November.

Regards of the outcome, it will be a fascinating contest to anyone who wants to watch it develop.

Curious one: "How long have you been working for this company?"

Truthful one: "Ever since the boss threatened to fire me".

"Folding Money" you can't lose!

Carrying wads of currency is passé. A neat, slim checkbook meets every need, including cash, yet protects you against loss.

You save valuable hours paying bills by mail . . . each check becomes a receipt when canceled . . . the stubs show who received what, leaving how much.

THE UNITED STATES and other American republics have called for a hemisphere foreign ministers' conference July 7 to deal with the "intervention of the international Communist movement" in Guatemala.

A CALL for immediate recruiting of a civilian reserve of 5,000 executives, trained and willing to fill top jobs in war agencies in an emergency, has been issued by the National Planning Association (NPA).

GEN. JAMES A. Van Fleet, surveying Far East military needs, opened conferences this week with President Chiang Kai-shek of Nationalist China.

PRIME MINISTER Churchill called Monday for the Western powers to have a try at living peacefully with Russia lest they fall into a war that would "leave us victorious in a heap of ruins."

GUATEMALA'S new military power outlawed Communism Monday and simultaneously prepared to continue the fight against the anti-Communist invaders of the country.

HISTORY'S greatest flood on the Rio Grande river sent thousands fleeing to the hills this week as rain swollen tributaries to the north claimed a mounting toll of dead and missing.

SECRETARY of the Army Robert T. Stevens said Monday he will serve as Secretary as long as President Eisenhower feels he is doing his job right.

VICE-PRESIDENT Nixon and Secretary of Agriculture Benson called this week for public support of the Eisenhower Administration's farm proposals. The present "wartime" program, they claim, is undermining agriculture and piling financial burdens on taxpayers.

THE GUATEMALAN fighting stopped Tuesday with a new military regime seeking peace with the anti-Communist field forces led by Col. Carlos Castillo Armas.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill jointly appealed this week for "general and drastic reduction" of weapons everywhere and offered "the hand of friendship" to the Communist world.

The Dawn patrol with an estimated 150 planes participating will begin arriving at the Boyne City airport at 6 a.m. Sunday. In case of poor flying weather the patrol will arrive Monday morning at the same hour.

Festivities will open Monday with a parade at 10 a.m. with several area bands, plus a number of floats by beverage companies as well as local business places participating. A highlight of the event will be a parade of decorated bicycles for girls with the

Advance Post Office To First Class Rank

The Charlevoix post office was advanced to a first class status, effective July 1, Peter H. Timmer, local postmaster announced today.

An increase in postal receipts during the calendar year of 1953 brought the total receipts to $42,000, well over the $40,000 mark required to place the office in the first class bracket.

The receipts jumped $8,000 during 1953, Mr. Timmer said.

Resort Hotels Now Open For Summer Season

Charlevoix, the resort city of the north, greeted the official opening of the 1954 summer season today, July 1, after weeks of preparation.

Summer hotels, restaurants, cabins, motels and rooming houses are poised for the season which officially opens this week and closes Labor Day.

Resort operators are hoping for a break in the weather with warm sunny days and cool nights which will bring the visitors north to escape the heat of the cities.

Charlevoix's Beach Hotel opened in mid-June to fill convention obligations.

The Belvedere Hotel opened today under the management of E. J. Edwards.

Among the other hotels to open this week was the Chicago Club which opened Tuesday under the management of Edward Wrapp of the University of Chicago who has returned for his third season.

Mrs. Lillian Bailey of Chicago, former manager of the Men's Grill at Marshall Field and Co., assisted by a staff of 20 women including a number of local residents, will be in charge of the dining room and

Maus-Hoffman To Open Shop Soon in Weathervane

Announcement was made this week of the opening of a new branch of Maus and Hoffman's famous resort shops, which will be located in the new Weathervane Building here.

Well known to this community, Bill Maus and Frank Hoffmann at one time owned and operated the Charlevoix Sport Shop, then situated next to Campbell's Boot Shop on Bridge st.

In their new ultra modern quarters at the Weathervane, they will continue to feature classic Hickey-Freeman and Oxford clothes for men, including suits, topcoats, sport jackets and slacks of imported wools.

A popular shopping center for the fastidious yachtsman, Maus and Hoffmann operate out of Fort Lauderdale during the winter months. Other present summer headquarters are on Mitchell Street in Petoskey.

Only major changes brought about by the advancement are the restrictions on the size and weight of parcel post packages which may be mailed to other first class post offices; the change in hours that the money order window can be opened and the increase in box rental rates.

Henceforth, the money order window will be open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. It was formerly open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

There will be no change in the hours in which the lobby or stamp windows will be open.

The change in class will not effect the office personnel. During the past years, as the business increased additional clerical hours were added to take care of the additional business.

New Gift Shop Will Open Soon In Weathervane

Another resort shop which hopes to be open for the coming holiday weekend is the new gift shop so appropriately named "The Shop of the Gulls," located in the new Weathervane Building.

This charming shop will be managed by Mrs. Virginia Y. Dubas, who has chosen a unique variety of gifts and accessories that range from camel saddles imported from Egypt to imported pewter and hand made linens.

Unusual gift and greeting cards by Vasari, Inc. and Fravessi-Lamont and an excellent selection of originally patterned gift wrappings will be carried.

Groupings of Woodward wrought iron furniture will be featured in the shop and on the outside terrace.

A huge grain wheel from the original mill that was built on this Pine River Lane site will be one of the attractive means of displaying imported crystal, sterling jewelry and lovely leather accessories.

The interior motif of the shop is done in black, grey and white to match the natural color of the gulls. The walls are scored and stained wood paneling contrasting with a grey stone wall. The attractive white hangings of the windows are patterned with large hand painted gulls in flight, designed and executed by Mrs. Dubas' artistic mother, Mrs. Earl A. Young.

These are just a few of the many interesting things to be found at "The Shop of the Gulls" and Virginia Dubas invites you to feel free to drop in and become acquainted.

Urge Voters To Register For Primary

Are you a qualified voter?

When the Primary election rolls around next month will you be able to walk into the polls and be sure that your name is on the list of qualified voters or that your vote will not be challenged because you have not voted for the past four years or because of a change of address?

If you are in doubt on any of these counts or are not registered to vote, you had better pay a call at the office of the city clerk or township clerk and register before Tuesday night, July 6.

Or if there is any doubt in your mind regarding your status as a voter, phone, write or visit the office of the city clerk in the city hall or the home of the township clerk where you live and find out how you stand as a voter. "Take no one's word for it if you are in doubt of your voting status," is the advice offered by county clerk, Fenton R. Bulow, who is in charge of elections in the county. Contact the proper officials who can tell you at once if you are a properly qualified voter, he advised in urging that all eligible residents register by Tuesday in order to vote in the August 3 primary election.

For your convenience, the names of the city clerk and the township clerks in the immediate area are listed so you may register before Tuesday night.

In Charlevoix where residents of all wards vote at the city hall, prospective voters may register at the office of the city clerk in the city hall.

If you are a resident of any of the following townships you may register with the following township clerks: Charlevoix township, Mrs. Kathryn Smith; Hayes, Frank Burnett; Norwood, William Parsons; Marion, Charles Maseho; Eveline, Ralph Price; Bay, Ralph Ford; St. James, Elvora Pischner; Peaine, Mrs. Delores Gallagher.

To become a qualified voter you must be 21 years of age by the date of the election; a citizen of the United States; a resident of the state for six months and of the city or township for 30 days prior to the election. It is not necessary to be a taxpayer to vote in the forthcoming elections.

Select Gail Krahnke To Reign Over 1954 National Cherry Event

For the second time in the 29-year-old history of the National Cherry Festival, a Charlevoix girl has been selected to rule as queen of the gala celebration at Traverse City July 7, 8 and 9.

She is Gail Marie Krahnke, 18, 5 foot 5 inch, blue-eyed brunet. A 1954 graduate of the Charlevoix high school, she is the daughter of Mrs. Florine Krahnke and H. O. Krahnke.

Morella Oldham was Charlevoix's last successful candidate and served as queen of the festival in 1933.

Council Adopts Resolution To Honor Queen

In a special resolution adopted at its regular meeting Monday night, the Charlevoix city council offered its congratulations to Gail Krahnke who was named National Cherry Queen at the twenty-eighth annual Queen's contest at Traverse City last week.

The commendation went on to say that the winning of the contest reflects the beauty and grace of the contestant and also brings honor and publicity to Charlevoix.

In other action taken at the same meeting, the first parking space on the south of Mason st. west of Bridge st. was designated as a taxi stand to be occupied by Robert Matchett.

The council also approved the applications for taxi licenses submitted by Mr. Matchett, Oscar W. and Dorothy Ward and Lacy W. Oldham.

Mayor Dean Davenport's appointment of Robert Dickie as a special police officer on the Belvedere club without pay was approved.

Parking of automobiles on Dixon ave. between Michigan ave. and Burns st. was again limited to the south side of the street.

An application by Henry P. Supernaw to have the name of Herbert Campbell dropped from the SDM license now listed as Campbell and Supernaw at 802 Bridge st. was approved and the clerk ordered to send a copy of the approval to the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

Bills totaling $22,127.32 were approved and ordered paid. The amount included a payment of $7,250 on the cost of the new section of US 31 on the north side.

The four bids for a new police car submitted by four dealers were referred to City Superintendent Roy R. Robinson for tabulation and were discussed again at a special meeting called Tuesday night.

Effective at once, the Charlevoix City Council will meet at 8 p.m. instead of 7:30 p.m. as it has been for the past two months.

Queen Gail will receive her crown and begin her reign over the National Cherry Festival at a coronation ceremony scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 7. Charles Figy, assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture, will officiate at the ceremony at Thirby Field in Traverse City.

The Queen, wearing an original white gown designed especially for her, will be surrounded by her court, gowned in pastel shades for the occasion.

On Thursday, Queen Gail and her court will arrive aboard the U. S. Coast Guard cutter, Mackinaw at 11:30 a.m. to begin the round of Queen's duties.

A coronation show at 8:30 p.m. at Thirby Field will be followed by the Queen's ball at the Traverse City Country Club at 10:30 Thursday evening.

The highlight of the National Cherry Festival, the Grand Floral Parade, will be staged at 2 p.m. Friday. Charlevoix's high school band, directed by C. A. Odmark will make the trip to Traverse City to participate in this event.

A breakfast honoring Gov. G. Mennen Williams with Fran Allison, popular radio and television actress as mistress of ceremony, will open the day's festivities.

Later Queen Gail is expected to make a goodwill tour in behalf of the cherry growers of the area. The plans for the trip have not been announced at this time.

Queen Gail will succeed Everil Meloch of Suttons Bay in the role of Cherry Queen. Miss Meloch will attend the coronation ceremony Wednesday to relinquish her crown to her successor.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

STARTING this week, life guards will be stationed on three of our beaches . . . And on the Ferry ave. beach swimming lessons are going to be offered free to all comers . . . All kids in the area eventually learn to swim but why not have them learn right now under the direction of a qualified teacher . . . It's so much better for them and such a grand opportunity . . . Jerry Albright is going to be the instructor and will begin this week signing up youngsters for the classes, so see him before Monday when classes will start . . .

CHARLEVOIX county has had more than its share of tragic deaths in the past two months . . . two in auto accidents, one in a fire and just last week two children were drowned . . . With a holiday weekend coming up, keep those accidents in mind and be a little more careful than usual . . . No one wants to see them happen and yet they do . . . in the flick of an eyelash . . . We don't mind telling you that we dread holiday weekends . . . Every time the phone rings it's always that thought in the back of our mind . . . Is it a friendly call or one bringing the news of another accident . . . So, for your own enjoyment (and ours too), won't you think twice and perhaps avoid heartbreak and tragedy and help give the county a safe and safe Fourth . . .

WE DON'T think it was done on purpose, but have you noticed the miniature 'garden' growing out of the roof of the Parkside . . . Percy Edwards called it to our attention . . . There's grass, little trees and what looks like flowers on the north edge of the roof . . .

IF A Four-leaf clover is good luck, what about a seven-leaf clover for that was the number of leaves on several found recently by Mrs. R. J. Nowland Sr. . . . We've never seen such a clover but we'd say it was that much luckier than a four-leafer . . . How about it?

AND IF you should be driving down our street . . . Nichols st. . . and think you are seeing the longest dog in the world with two heads yet, don't head for the nearest psychiatrist and change your brand of distilled spirits . . . It's just two dachshunds sunning themselves . . . tail to tail and this giving the illusion of an elongated pooch with twin noggin's . . . Incidentally the animals named Adolph and Zeta belong to the Bill Ratigans . . .

WE DON'T know how you feel about our song birds but we think they're pretty important . . . How else would we know it was spring if it weren't for the robin . . . and when he sings we look about us and think what a beautiful day and like him, feel lucky to be alive . . . But there are those, we hear, who seemingly don't feel that way . . . Or perhaps they haven't learned yet to appreciate the birds . . . For we have heard of several instances where youngsters around town are destroying the birds with their bows and arrows . . . Now these latter are fine to play with but certainly not for the birds, as the saying goes . . . So when you see a youngster out trying his skill as an archer, explain that it isn't the thing to do . . . And you parents might make sure they're not destroying the birds, for as we said, we'd sure miss the song birds if they weren't around . . .

A COUPLE youngsters, Mary Jean Glassford, and Pleasant Finucan of Muskegon, who was visiting here, came tearing in the other day all out of breath with news that they'd found something on the beach . . . The 'something' when we finally saw it, turned out to be what looked like a canvas section of a fish shanty with the name of its one-time owner painted on in big black letters . . . It had evidently drifted down from Escanaba, for the owner's name was C. F. L. Johnson, 204 No. 10th st., Escanaba . . . Still fastened to the wooden frame, the old fish shanty had made quite a trip all by itself . . .

SOME 178 years ago our forefathers signed a pretty important piece of parchment . . . on which was written, in words that anyone could understand, just exactly how the representatives of the 13 colonies felt about their treatment by the Mother Country . . . We hadn't read it in years so over the weekend we dug out a copy of the Declaration of Independence and more than ever appreciated not only the wording and the composition but its meaning . . . Thomas Jefferson is credited with composing it with a few assists from the others and he sure had a way with words . . . for the entire thing is beautifully written and certainly left no doubt of their intentions . . .

WE SOMETIMES think that Independence Day, as such, has lost some of its significance for too many people it's just another holiday . . . But when you give a little thought to history and to the brave men, for courageous they were to stand up and declare themselves when they knew what it would mean, you can't help but be grateful for their courage and their foresight . . . In a land across the sea with only the crudest of everything these men held a dream and though they realized the hardships they might have to undergo, they declared the authority of the king and always that thought in the back of our mind . . . Is it a friendly call or one bringing the news of another accident . . . So, for your own enjoyment (and ours too), won't you think twice and perhaps avoid heartbreak and tragedy and help give the county a safe and safe Fourth . . .

AS THIS is being written early in the week, we can't help but wonder if we'll see any of the eclipse of the sun . . . With the weather as 'un-sunny' as it's been, we doubt that we'll have a chance . . . And anyway, who wants to get up at day-break . . .

EARL Miller is getting so he can call himself an old timer in Charlevoix . . . He was telling me the other night that he came to Charlevoix 25 years ago this week . . . And he's still trying to dope out why he's still here . . .

ANOTHER real old-timer, M. K. Chew, was telling us about coming to Charlevoix 75 years ago on June 22 . . . He'd made the trip with his parents from southern Indiana via covered wagon . . . a trip that had taken 16 days . . . He told us about Bridge st. and the harbor . . . and about their first home in Hayes township . . . Another thing he told us that we found interesting was the fact that his late wife, the former Mary Hulme and all six of their children had graduated from the Charlevoix high school . . . Mrs. Chew in 1893 and the others between 1915 and 1930 . . . He also has two grandsons who graduated from the local high school, Dean and Dale Boss . . . Oh yes, and four of his six children were graduated from the Charlevoix county Normal . . . Two are still in the teaching profession . . .

A BIG Welcome Home to our summer residents . . . They're arriving every day from the homes throughout the south and the midwest to spend at least two months in our midst . . . It's great seeing them all again for most of them we count as old friends . . . after all, many of them have been coming around for a long time . . . So we of Charlevoix hope you will have an enjoyable summer in your adopted home . . .

MRS. Harrison Trimble, who retired as a teacher last month after 25 years in the profession, is a woman of her word . . . She said she was going to spend as much time as possible along her favorite trout stream . . . She is and we have proof of it for she Births recorded at the Charlevoix Hospital recently include: A daughter, Kristeen Renee, born to Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Rose of Boyne City, June 26. A daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Williams of Iron- ton June 25.

Mr. and Mrs. William Clark of Lansing announce the birth of a daughter, Carol Sue, at Sparrow Hospital in Lansing June 25. Mrs. Clark is the former Janet Bulow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fenton R. Bulow.

Staff Sgt. and Mrs. Dale Mathews announce the birth of a son, Dale Leroy, at the U. S. A. F. Hospital at Raney Airforce Base, Puerto Rico. Mrs. Mathews is the former Kay Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cunningham and Sgt. Mathews is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Mathews.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Skeel of Mt. Morris are the parents of a son, Gordon Lee, born June 3. Mrs. Skeel is the former Barbara Allard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Allard.

Local-Young Man: "I've come to ask for your daughter's hand." Her Father: "All right . . . but take the one that's always in my pocket."

brought a mess of beautiful, beautiful trout . . . Resting on a branch of maple leaves, they looked almost too good to eat . . . But we did eat them and they tasted even better than they looked . . .

THE CIRCUS came to town last week and all the kids had a good time . . . And so did some of the grown-ups . . . And we found that this little circus was no exception . . . that it had with it some of the nicest people you'd ever hope to meet . . . We talked with the wife of the manager, Mrs. Herbert Walters, who was on the stage at one time, as was her husband . . . She was not only lovely but gracious as well and told us a lot about the performers . . . Seems most of them came from circus families . . . Her own daughter was cradled in the top of an old theatrical trunk and now she's a performer with the circus . . . Her husband, just back from a two-year hitch in the army, is also with the same outfit . . . We found out another thing . . . everybody doubles in brass, so to speak . . . Everyone has not only one but several jobs and no one is a temperamental prima donna . . . There's too much to be done and no time to do it in . . .

WE STILL think that the circus life would be the life for us . . . Don't know what we could do, but we're sure there'd be something . . . And with a boss like Mrs. Walters we couldn't help but learn but fast . . . If you ever get a chance, meet some of the circus and carnival people . . . We still say they're the friendliest, most generous people in the world and we're happy to count them among our friends . . .

Boat Owners Who Neglect To Buy License This Month Face Penalty

Do you have a license for your boat? . . . If not you had better make tracks for the nearest branch office of the secretary of state or marine supply dealers and purchase one if your boat is 18 ft. or more in length, unless it is a commercial fishing boat which is licensed by the Conservation Department, a passenger or freight vessel which pays the state tonnage tax or a vessel less than 46 ft. and propelled solely by muscular power or outboard motor.

All other boats must have a license which ranges in cost from $5.00 for boats 16 to 20 ft. in length up to $1.00 per foot plus $1.00 for each registered gross ton for vessels more than 65 ft. in length.

With nearly 80 per cent of the owners of boats failing to pay the annual state license tax, an all-out enforcement drive will be expanded during the month of July. The violation is a misdemeanor calling for the appearance of the boat owner in court. Violators can be fined up to $100.00. The revenue goes to the State Waterways Commission to be used solely for the building and improvement of docks, harbors and other navigational facilities. Money received from last year's col- lections are now being expended on new construction in Grand Haven, Pentwater, Frankfort, Harbor Springs, Cheboygan, East Tawas, Fort Austin, Detroit and at Black River Harbor in Lake Superior.

Up to June 20, only 3,000 licenses had been issued, whereas it was estimated there may be as many as 20,000 boats subject to the tax.

The peak boat license was last year when 7,686 were sold. Marine License income for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1953, amounted to $80,460 while the minimum revenue should be $200,000. The boat license, made necessary by a law sponsored by boatmen, applies to watercraft having an overall length of 16 ft. or more and owned by a resident of Michigan or hailing from any port within the state. Until the present legislation was adopted in 1947, the boats were subject to personal property tax.

Cunningham-Steffens Vows Are Spoken In Double Ring Service

The First Methodist church was the scene of the wedding Saturday evening of Bonnie Jean Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin D. Cunningham, and William R. Steffens of Flint, son of Mrs. Margaret Steffens of Grand Rapids.

Baskets of blue daisies, yellow gladioli, white peonies and fern and lighted tapers in candelabra formed the setting for the double ring service read by the Rev. Lloyd M. Schlopp in the presence of 150 guests.

Mrs. Charles Pontius sang "Because," "Wedding Day" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied at the organ by Mrs. John L. Boss, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected a waltz-length gown of Aleucon lace and tulle over taffeta for her wedding. A bolero jacket of lace styled with bracelet length sleeves and julienne collar was worn over the strapless lace bodice and the full skirt was a tiered tulle over taffeta. Her fingertip veil of illusion net edged with lace fell from a pearl tiara and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink sweetheart roses.

Joyce Cunningham, as her sister's maid of honor, wore a waltz-length gown of aqua shadow-checked nylon over taffeta fashioned with a scooped out neckline, cap sleeves of shirred nylon and a full skirt. Her matching headpiece was aqua shirred net and blue and yellow daisies and she carried a colonial bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Another sister, Judy Cunningham, as bridesmaid, wore a gown of yellow shadow-checked nylon over taffeta styled identical to the honor attendant's, a matching yellow headpiece and carried a colonial bouquet of sweetheart roses.

David Gladstone of Grand Rapids assisted the bridegroom as best man and Dean Davenport was groomsmen. Don Bambach, cousin of the bride, and Don Czachorski of Grand Rapids, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, were ushers.

Mrs. Cunningham chose a light blue print nylon jersey, white accessories and a corsage of red roses for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Steffens, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy and white nylon dress, navy and white accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in Harmony Hall. Bouquets of summer flowers and lighted tapers decorated the bride's table which was centered by a tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Joseph R. Williams was in charge of the arrangements and was assisted by Mrs. Schlopp, Mrs. Gordon Bartlett, Ann Cunningham and Mrs. David Gladstone of Grand Rapids.

After a brief northern Michigan wedding trip the couple has come to Flint where they will make their home at 505 1/2 West Court. For traveling the bride wore a light blue and white suit and white accessories.

Wedding guests were present from Flint, Grand Rapids, Gaylord, Boyne City and East Jordan.

Seminary Four To Participate In Service Sunday

The Seminary Four, a vocal quartet from Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, Mo., will be in Charlevoix Sunday to take part in the 8:45 a.m. worship service at Bethany Lutheran church. The Rev. R. A. Essig, pastor of the church, has announced.

The quartet, composed of students who are preparing for the holy ministry of the Lutheran Church-Missouri, is on a 12-weeks tour during which they will make appearances in 24 eastern and midwestern states and the District of Columbia.

The public is cordially invited to attend this service.

Benjamin Yettaws To Observe 56th Date Of Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Yettaw, pioneer residents of the community, will observe their fifty-sixth wedding anniversary Sunday, July 4. No formal observance of the occasion has been planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Yettaw were married at Atwood when the village was a thriving community in the heart of the rich lumbering territory. At that time the community boasted a Catholic church where the couple was married. The church building has since been moved to Bellaire where it continues to serve that village as a parish church.

For a number of years the couple divided their time between a farm in Norwood township and in Charlevoix where Mr. Yettaw was engaged in several small businesses. In 1921 they made Charlevoix their permanent home and Mr. Yettaw became associated with the Charlevoix Coal and Ice Co. He retired from the business 12 years ago.

Mr. Yettaw was born in Antrim county Dec. 31, 1878. Mrs. Yettaw, the former Mary Supernaw, was born in Ellensburg, N. Y. July 28, 1877, and came to northern Michigan as a child.

They have two children, a daughter, Mrs. Ada Golden of this city and a son, Benjamin Jr. of Petoskey. They also have five grandchildren.

Demonstration Council Meets To Adopt Rules

The Charlevoix county Home Demonstration Council met Monday at the home of Mrs. Ralph S. Hamilton to adopt a constitution and by-laws for the newly-organized group and to make plans for the coming year.

The Council decided to meet four times a year, the first Monday of August, October, February and April for the purpose of planning the county program and to help in the development and expansion of the extension program in homemaking and community projects.

Mrs. Sydney Reinhold, district home demonstration agent, met with the Council whose officers are: Mrs. Henry Erber of Boyne City, chairman; Mrs. James McLaughlin of East Jordan, vice-chairman; Mrs. Sims Baker, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. T. F. French, recreational director and Mrs. Hamilton, publicity.

Tentative plans for an apron and cake booth at the annual Charlevoix county picnic on Labor Day were also discussed and will be completed at the August meeting.

LAST chance to register is July 6 for the Aug. 3rd. Primary. Rose for Sheriff.

Girltigs

"I have fallen completely in love with Charlevoix!"... she sincerely exclaimed... probably because it brings back nostalgic memories of a girlhood spent at Cape Cod... where the sands are also golden and where, too, cotton clouds hang low, to pillow the flight of sea gulls as they soar in and out of whitecapped waves.

I quote the closing remark of an interview with Mrs. Siswick Reilly, owner of the exclusive shop so intriguingly named "Carriage Trade, Inc.", which is soon to open in Charlevoix in the new Weatherlane Building on Pine River Lane.

Charming Mrs. Reilly comes to the "city beautiful" from winter headquarters at Fort Lauderdale, Florida where she opened a similar "Carriage Trade" shop last December.

Originally from Boston, she has served as advertising manager for Slattery's and is a charter member of the Fashion Group of America which was entertained so royally in Paris a year or so ago with many other top-notch notables at the villa of designer Seiaparelli. The famed party began at midnight... and there couldn't have been a single yawn over a witchery wardrobe created by designer Seiaparelli.

During the same European junket, Mrs. Reilly also attended a fashion showing at the chateau of the fabulous Jacques Fath.

She is particularly enthusiastic about her exclusive collection of Honolulu designs by the original Hawaiian designer Tiana Petelle, who displays charming ingenuity in originality of design and fabric.

Other famous designers whose couture fashions are so proudly displayed at "Carriage Trade" are Oleg Cassini, Maria Krum, Philip Hulitar and Jane Derby.

The shop's collection of fashion clothes for women range from frothy short formal to high styled playclothes... designed especially for "Carriage Trade" from fashion houses in California and New York. At the present time, McMullen is cutting cotton fashions to be used exclusively by Mrs. Reilly in her resort shops.

A little bit of the old always comes with the new. The original carriage used for window display belonged to the seventeenth century Jewett sisters of New Hampshire. Thus each mannequin that graces the fashionable bazaar in the shop's window is automatically a Jewett... in the Carriage at Charlevoix sits Julia Jewett... and she's a beauty.

The carriage used for local display is an antique import from New England. Mrs. R. admits that she didn't believe she would be able to find one here.

Assisting Mrs. Reilly is Mrs. Munger McCuiston from St. Louis, Mo., who also has a broad background of fashion experience.

From the originally fashionable shop at Cape Cod called "The Sea Chest"... to "Carriage Trade" of Fort Lauderdale... to "Carriage Trade" of Charlevoix... may we say that we are happy you have chosen Charlevoix to be the summer link on your bracelet of charms.

F. T. D.

"Son," said a local man to his offspring, "I just heard you asking that man if he were from out of town. Now, my boy, I want you to always remember this: If a man lives in Charlevoix, he'll tell you; and if he doesn't live in Charlevoix, there's no need to embarrass him."

Total Eclipse Is Viewed By Many Here Wednesday

Early risers Wednesday were rewarded by a glimpse of one of nature's greatest rarities, a total eclipse of the sun.

About 20 minutes after sunrise at 5:15, the sun changed to a glowing red. At about 5:30 the moon started to move over the sun from the north and when only a small section (less than a fourth) was covered, clouds moved over the sun and obscured it until after the eclipse.

At what was the climatic point about 6:03 a.m. the sky was dark. As the eclipse passed, the clouds moved away and at 7 a.m. the sun was again shining.

In the upper peninsula, the entire eclipse was seen without interference from clouds, it was reported.

Despite the fact that they saw only a part of the 'big show,' those who rose early to see it said that the colors in the sky and the rapid change in the coloring of the sun, rewarded them for their efforts.

He was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Towsley.

Besides his parents and grandparents he is survived by his wife and three small children.

He was the driver of a truck hauling commercial fertilizer. It is believed that lightning might have struck the truck during an electric storm causing it to explode. He died in the fire which followed.

Gail Krahnke To Be Cherry Queen

Judges at the contest in which Queen Gail was selected over 17 other candidates from northern Michigan communities were Mark Beltrami, former Detroit manager for the Michigan Tourist Council and Mary Rose Noel of Chicago, public relations representative for American Airlines.

The National Cherry Festival which opens with the Coronation ceremony Wednesday evening will offer two full days of entertainment for visitors to the area. The largest event of its kind in the state, it offers a variety of events for the enjoyment of young and old alike.

Queen Gail made her first official appearance as National Cherry Queen Tuesday night when she appeared on Cadillac Station WWTW.

A committee has been named by Mayor Dean Davenport to plan a special Venetian Night weekend event to honor Queen Gail.

will remain the same as in the past. Closing time for outgoing mail follows: 11:30 a.m. letter mail south; 12:45 p.m. all north-bound mail and airmail; 3 p.m. all southbound mail.

Mr. Timmer went on to explain that all post offices are divided into four classes. Offices with receipts up to $1,500 are classified as fourth class; up to $8,000, third class; up to $40,000, second class and over $40,000, first class.

As if in celebration of its new classification, the Charlevoix post office has taken on a modernistic look as the job of remodeling the front of the Krahnke building at 413 Bridge st. nears completion.

The new Onaway stone and glass front has been constructed to correspond with the section of the building occupied by Mailhot's Outdoor Outfitters.

A bright yellow door marking the entrance to the post office lobby and a covered entry to the north of the lobby are features of the remodeling project. A new and enlarged drop box will also be placed near the new entrance at an early date.

The front of the building has been painted a soft gray and a new gold leaf sign, U. S. Post Office, has been painted on the glass. Planters also have been built in the lobby and will be filled with plants as soon as the work is completed.

A new flagstaff will also be placed on the building and the flag will be displayed daily, Mr. Timmer said.

The remodeling project has enlarged the lobby area and at the present time Mr. Timmer is open to suggestions on how to utilize the additional space in an attractive manner. Anyone with an idea for an attractive display is asked to contact Mr. Timmer.

MICHIGAN citizens will see engineers and businessmen do what chemists have tried to accomplish for many years: make gold out of seawater.

Perhaps the comparison is a trifle figurative. The feat will be achieved with dredges, barges and construction equipment; not elaborate chemical apparatus.

Approval of the St. Lawrence waterway by Congress this year ended a 40 year battle with interests which argued that such a project would mean financial ruin for them. Waterway supporters by no means agreed that these predictions would come to pass for opponents. But they are sure that the channel will do much to develop this part of the nation.

How much will Michigan benefit from the seaway? Several people have made predictions on this subject. One of the best qualified is John Beukema, chairman of the Transportation Advisory Committee of the Michigan Economic Development Commission. Beukema was for years the secretary of the Muskegon Chamber of Commerce. He knows the seaway subject extremely well, since Muskegon, as a port city, has an intense natural interest in seeing the channel become a reality.

"THE SEAWAY will have as great an effect on Michigan's economy as the invention of the automobile, but it will take time," Beukema told Economic Development Commission members at a recent meeting. "What we must look for is an evolution rather than a revolution."

Beukema dwelled on the time factor. He pointed out that it will take about six years before the seaway is finished. Industries now using railroads and trucks will not change overnight to using ships, he remarked. "It takes time to build up a commerce . . . and the shipper has to be sold on the benefits of water travel."

Major benefits were divided into two groups by Beukema: commercial and industrial. He predicted that Chicago and Milwaukee will gain most because they are natural supply points for foreign trade to the entire area from water's edge to the Rockies.

Detroit, Saginaw and Muskegon, he predicted, will be "sharply competitive" to supply Michigan.

Michigan people, Beukema thinks, have a limited appreciation of foreign trade, even though it means much to the state even now.

A Detroit Board of Commerce survey shows more than 900 leading industries and establishments in Michigan engaged in import or export trade. Most of this, according to Beukema, moves by rail to New York or some eastern seaport. "Shippers are often surprised," he stated, "to find that the rail rate to New York is as high or higher than the ocean rate to north European ports. They don't realize that much of this cost is due to expense of rail-ship transfer at the harbor."

IMPORTANCE of commerce to a city can be well illustrated by the late Mayor LaGuardia, who once stated that New York's greatness depended on three things: its port and waterborne commerce, its 300,000 visitors and the trade they produced, its manufacturers. He listed them in that order. And he further said that without the port, New York would be a second class city.

Intercoastal shipping is even more important than foreign, says Beukema. "What is it going to mean to the Michigan manufacturer when he can save a third of this freight cost by shipping direct waterhoul through the Panama canal to warehouses in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle?"

Prices on bananas, pineapple and other tropical products should also drop sharply for Michigan consumers when these things can be shipped in by water.

Michigan's industrial supremacy has faced a threat for some time, according to Beukema's views. The trend has been, he says, for steel producing factories to move east . . . where they can take advantage of low priced Labrador, African and South American ores.

The seaway reduces this factor and will permit diversification of industry. Many products that are made near seacoasts because of their dependence on raw materials can be attracted to this part of the country. The chemical industry, in particular, is expected to grow even more rapidly than it has.

THIS Development may take as long as a generation, says John Beukema, though his rosy predictions make the wait seem worth while.

In the meantime improvement of port facilities by cities is a must for any area hoping to reap benefits of shipping.

"It takes money to make money," the old saying goes.

Faced with the need for expenditures, municipalities are done, looking into what needs to be

A port of Detroit Commission was formed some time ago. Almost immediately it locked horns with Wayne County supervisors over finances, charging such "penny-pinching" that proper operations were impossible. The salary ceiling set by supervisors for a port director was so low, said commissioners, that competitive offers were expected to lure best men to other cities.

Other Michigan cities face similar problems.

Although they are smaller in dollars and cents, they are just as big proportionally. The Alpena News, for instance, felt it necessary to point out editorially that more foresight should be shown when planning in suburban areas. It urged that city fathers do some serious thinking at this time and to set up zoning areas that will make for maximum efficiency in developing city property and adjoining areas.

Improved docks are needed almost everywhere.

Beukema predicted year-round lake traffic between Detroit and ports of Lakes Erie, Huron and Michigan. The St. Lawrence, he thinks, will be open only about 7 1/2 months each year.

If conclusions of this man who has studied for years the significance of the seaway turn out to be accurate, Michigan will develop into an even more prosperous state.

Fly Control Is Essential For Good Dairy Management

Fly control should be a first concern of good dairy herd managers, stresses Ed Rebmman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent, and the first step is to clean barns and premises to eliminate breeding spots.

Donald L. Murray, Michigan State college extension dairyman, notes that fly control is another good dairy herd management item contributing to economical milk production. He passes along some tips from Ray L. Janes and Herman King, MSC entomologists:

Fly control sprays for barn walls and ceilings can be mixed with 32 pounds of 25 per cent wettable Malathion powder . . . or with 2 gallons of 50 per cent Malathion emulsion . . . in each case in 100 gallons of water.

For smaller amounts, use 1 pound of the powder or a half a pint of the emulsion in 3 gallons of water.

This material should be sprayed on until it drips, but Malathion should not be sprayed directly on cattle or used in milk houses or homes. For a herd spray, use 8 pounds of 40 per cent wettable Methoxychlor in 100 gallons of water . . . or 8 level tablespoons to one gallon.

Baits for flies can be prepared by using a cup of 50 per cent Malathion emulsion, a cup of molasses and 3 gallons of water. This is sprinkled on clean cement floors and 3 gallons will treat a 20 or 30-cow dairy barn floor. A dry bait can be made of 5 level tablespoons of 25 per cent wettable Malathion powder and a pound and a half of sugar; this can be dusted on dry floors out of a jar with a lid perforated with nail holes.

Spray or bait, or both, fly control will pay off in helping cows settle down to their eating, milk production and milking, sum up Dairyman Murray and Agent Rebmman.

Michigan produces 92 per cent of the nation's white pea beans.

Busy Time for State Parks

Already, thousands of visitors are using state parks, but the busy days are yet to come. Last year, more than 13 million persons visited the state's parks and recreation areas; this year, parks workers expect to exceed that total. Two workers here set out tables from winter storage in one of the parks for distribution throughout the park.

Wheat Growers Warned About Insect Damage

Wheat harvest time is insect trouble-starting time for Michigan growers unless they plan ahead and do something about it, cautions Ed Rebmman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

Plans should be made now to store wheat in cool, clean bins at 12 to 14 per cent moisture and to head off the sawtooth grain beetles, bran bugs and meal worms with pre-storage sprays.

Ray Janes, Michigan State college entomologist, notes that these insects do not come from the fields . . . unless they are in dirty combines going out. Most of them linger in old grain.

Sweep the grain bin walls and floors, clean the ceilings and spray the inside of bins about three weeks before putting in grain. If you want a handy mixture, put a pound of DDT or methoxychlor . . . the 50 per cent wettable powder in each case . . . in each 2 1/2 gallons of water for spraying.

Feed bins in the storage area also should be cleaned and treated, reminds Janes, and new wheat should never be stored on top of old.

'All-purpose' Sprays Are Practicable For Small Garden Job

Backyard gardeners have a couple of friends to help battle plant diseases and insects. They are "all-purpose" dust and "all-purpose" spray, reports Ed Rebmman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

Extension specialists in horticulture, plant pathology and entomology at Michigan State college point out that the new mixtures contain insecticide, miticide and fungicide in varying combinations. Methoxychlor, malathion, ferbam and rotenone are some of the chemicals used.

Although operators of large acreages may find it more to their advantage to treat individually for certain troubles, the "all-purpose" sprays or dusts solve the problems of the small garden.

Spraying, perhaps for fruits, or dusting, in some cases handier for gardens, should be repeated every week or two up until two weeks before harvesting, the specialists suggest. Rotenone is a good insect killer for use on beans and leafy greens where a poisonous residue might be bad for humans eating the vegetables.

Sell sows that farrowed in late spring, advise M.S.C. agricultural economists, and breed gilts for fall farrowing.

Farm Crops And Soils Field Day At MSC July 7

Farmers from Charlevoix county who want the latest information on varieties, culture and fertilizing of forage and field crops can get it on Wednesday, July 7 at Michigan State.

The joint Farm Crops and Soil Science Field Day will be a busy place, notes Ed Rebmman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent, with hundreds of farmers expected to pay a visit to the college farms.

It will be the first chance for many farmers to hear Dr. Thomas K. Cowden speak after becoming dean of agriculture on July 1. He will be on the noon program. Lunch will be served on the grounds.

Tours will start at 9:30 a.m. and last all day. The new seed storage warehouse, Mt. Hope and Beaumont roads, will be the headquarters. It is a mile south of the M.S.C. campus.

Use of phosphates, new studies on turfs, rotations, nitrogen-use on corn and wheat, minimum tillage and fertilizer placement will be some highlights. Anhydrous ammonia and nitrogen solutions will be shown.

New wheat, oat, barley, alfalfa, clover, and other crop varieties will be seen along the wagon tours and emphasis will be placed also on corn . . . hybrids, heavy populations, chemical weeding, and nitrogen sidedressing. Pasture improvement, seed production, disease control and other practices will be demonstrated and explained by research and extension specialists in the various fields.

Using an approved electric fence on the farm is urged by David G. Steinicke, Michigan State college safety specialist, in place of unsafe home-made shockers and added life insurance.

Michigan has 71 soil conservation districts. Russell G. Hill, M.S.C. conservationist, points out that more than 90 per cent of the state's agricultural land is in soil districts.

Sunflowers Provide Good Turkey Shelter

Did you know that sunflowers are good for turkeys?

They're good for shade from the hot summer sun and they'll give the birds some protection from the rain.

Don Miller, extension poultryman at Michigan State college, says that many turkey growers in Michigan use the sunflowers to a good advantage.

They plant about 12 rows in a field, doing the job with a corn planter, then thin the plants to one every two feet. Nitrogen fertilizer is used liberally to make the sunflowers grow fast. The plants must be about four feet high when the birds are turned into the patch.

Miller adds that many growers use a couple of rows of sunflowers along the fence. That keeps the birds from flying over.

Charlevoix's Boys', Girls' Camps Open For A Busy Summer Season

Charlevoix's summer population will be hiked this week as 291 campers and 85 adult advisors and counselors invade the area to spend the next two months at the three major summer camps.

Largest and oldest of the group is Camp Charlevoix, which opened Saturday for its twenty-eighth season. Mr. and Mrs. Ken Smith of Grosse Pointe operate the camp for boys in the seven to 15 year age group.

Camp O-Gull is operated under the personal direction of Edith Cugell of Detroit for boys from five to 10 years and girls from five through 14 years. It opened Monday for its eleventh season.

The youngest camp of the three is Camp Ta-Wa-Ma-Na, whose Indian name is most fitting for it means "Maiden in the Sun". This camp will open Friday for its seventh season under the direction of Wilbur Gunnerson, athletic director at Western high school in Detroit for the past 25 years.

All three camps have been built along the north shore of Lake Charlevoix on sites well fitted for their activities. Camp Ta-Wa-Ma-Na occupies the former Olds property on Pine Point; Camp Charlevoix is located on the east side of Oyster Bay southeast of Pine Point and Camp O-Gull is located about nine miles from Charlevoix toward Hortons' Bay.

Ken Smith, who is returning to Camp Charlevoix for his nineteenth season said that he is anticipating his most successful season to date. The enrollment has been increased to 176 boys from eight states under the guidance of 55 staff members headed by Mr. and Mrs. Smith. Mrs. Smith is returning as "camp mother" for the eleventh year. Harry Bingham has returned as business manager for the eighteenth year and Barney Englehart is camp superintendent for the eighth season.

Three new cabins have been constructed to care for the increased enrollment and a new steel recreation building, a gift to the camp, is nearing completion.

tion and will offer additional space for recreational facilities. Eighteen different colleges are represented on the adult staff which will assist in the operation of the camp. Included are 14 University of Michigan medical students.

Jake Whiteerow, an Oklahoma A & M graduate who was at the camp in 1950, has returned as head cowboy after serving three years in the army and will be assisted by Dick Hesse of the University of Missouri, Tom Corbett of Williams College, Mass., Jim Mueller of New Haven, Conn., and Chuck Kearney of Flossmore, Ill.

Jerry Planutis, fullback on the Michigan State Rose Bowl team last season, will assist with the recreation program; Wally Jeffries, captain of the 1953 Michigan swimming team, will be in charge of the waterfront; Maurice Pello, Michigan graduate and former member of the Michigan tennis team and Bill Wilkinson, Michigan medical student will head up the tennis program; Don Huldin of Carlton college, Minn., will be in charge of archery.

Ten horses have been added to the riding stable, bringing the total to 32; the sailing fleet has been increased to six boats and the remainder of the versatile program has been stepped up this season.

Camp O-Gull, whose enrollment is limited to 50 children, also has an intensive program featuring riding, swimming, sailing, archery, handicraft, dramatics and music. Mrs. Cugell is assisted by an excellent staff of counselors well qualified to work with the younger age group.

Camp Ta-Wa-Ma-Na, which will open tomorrow, has an enrollment of 45 girls in the six to 15 year age group, most of whom come from southern Michigan cities, according to Mr. Gunnerson.

The camp is operated on an objective basis with each girl entering the council circle every Saturday evening to receive her awards. The camp carries out the Indian theme and tradition as much as possible, with even the camp greeting in Ojibway. It is Anamikone Nishinee meaning "Welcome, Little Sister".

Miss Grace Bushart has returned for her seventh season as dietitian-cook and will be assisted by her sister, Mrs. Lila Francisco, also of Bernardino, Calif. Barbara Ankeny of Wyandotte is camp nurse; Fay Dimes, veteran head counselor, has returned for her seventh season and Jim Strohmmer, graduate student at Michigan State college, is returning as Indian specialist and trip man.

Six other counselors and two lifeguards complete the staff which works under the direction of Mr. Gunnerson.

Camp Ta-Wa-Ma-Na boasts an outstanding rifle team which has finished highest in the state in national ratings.

Swimming, boating, archery and handicraft are also included in the camp program.

In the new Weathervane Building hangs a still-life oil painting, worth up to hundreds of dollars, that used to grace the lobby of the once fabulous Inn, which has since been destroyed.

Bringing the Outside Inside

Something is going on amidst the tall ferns near that northland hillside that is happening all over the natural world. A little creature is nursing so that it might grow, and another is resting, breathing deeply of the clean, sweet air, that it might stay alive.

Neither is self-sufficient. Neither can ever be independent of the elements surrounding it. From the time of their birth to the moment of their passing beyond the gates of life, those graceful white-tail fawns will live by eating, drinking, and breathing — absorbing a part of their surroundings, bringing the outside inside.

All fawns must do the same. Grown deer, too. The cattle on a thousand hills are taking the outside inside, as are insects, earthworms, birds and fish, and all of human kind. This process of assimilating the good in one's surroundings is what keeps all living things alive.

The mind, like the body, is kept nourished, healthy, and growing by inviting the good inside. The eye is an instrument of welcome. It opens to bid the image of sunsets and sunrises, distant stars, familiar faces, and all manner of beauty to enter, impress, and feed the mind. The senses of hearing, of taste and smell and touch are all ways by which outside effects are inwardly felt.

News Round-up At Camp Charlevoix

"Once Again We Come Together" is a song that has been ringing out at Camp Charlevoix since last Saturday when 147 boys from eight different states came by car, plane, boat, and train to start off the twenty-eighth season for the camp, which is owned and directed by Mr. and Mrs. Ken Smith of Grosse Pointe. With a staff of 55, representing 18 different colleges or universities, there are over 200 in the camp family this year. This is Ken Smith's nineteenth year at the camp. Mrs. Smith is celebrating her eleventh year at Camp Charlevoix.

Among the first new things that campers saw upon their arrival were three new cabins for boys. These were built to accommodate 21 of the boys on the long waiting list, also, there were many oohs and aaahs at the sight of the new recreation building which is nearing completion.

John McBride, Lapeer, and Chris Lietwiler, Bethesda, Maryland.

The Assistant Counsellors are: Larry Reisinger, Corunna, who is back for his eighth year at Charlevoix; Gene Lamb, Hamilton, Ohio; John Hudson, Dayton, Ohio; Bill Fors, here for his fifth year, Dearborn; Dick Smith, Dayton, Ohio; Douglas McBride, Grosse Pointe.

Saturday was a most pleasant day at camp with parents and boys arriving all day, and counsellors anxious to meet boys, and boys anxious to see the camp. The bus pulled in at five o'clock, and fifty excited boys all made a mad rush for the door to be the first ones out. Excitement was high as they stood by to see whom their counsellor was to be, and it was great to see old campers renew friendships started last summer.

After a big meal, and a chance for the boys to get located in the cabins, the bell rang, and everyone gathered in the clubhouse for the traditional opening night pillow-fights. The winners were Mike Frederick, Grosse Pointe; Mike Browning, Grosse Pointe; Bill McMullin, Flint; Joe Whinery, Grand Rapids; Andy Carriek, Zanesville, Ohio; Stewart Crompton, Grosse Pointe; David Mattheus, Saginaw; John Love, Flint; Chuck Hinch, Cincinnati; Jim Boyke, DuKalb, Ill.; Peck Kunkel, Cincinnati; Larry Garrett, Grosse Pointe; and Bobbie Helwig, Youngstown, Ohio. It was a lot of fun, and the highlight of the evening came when Waterfront Head Wally Jefferies and Tennis Head Morrey Pello battled to a draw.

Sunday morning the regular Sunday morning chapel service was held with Ken Smith talking on "Building a Reputation". Sunday afternoon was given over to swim tests, and medical tests. In the evening verses were held in all three Sections, with Jim Land, and counsellor here for six seasons, giving a talk on "Care and Feeding of Counsellors". It was a splendid talk to boys and why they are at camp, what they should get out of camp, and on how to get the very most out of this experience by cooperating with their counsellors, and anticipating their wants and desires.

Here we are in the first week of camp, everyone going strong, and here in the third day, no bad cases of homesickness as yet, so please keep your fingers crossed. More next week.

Murdick's Candy Kitchen Is Open For 1954 Season

Murdick's Candy Kitchen located at 224 Bridge st. has opened for its second season in Charlevoix. Gerald Murdick, owner of the kitchen, has announced.

The shop, which will be managed this summer by Jean Swanson and Barbara Smith, features a variety of home-made candies including the famous family fudge.

The Murdick family has operated a candy kitchen since 1887 when N. J. Murdick, father of Gerald Murdick who operates the local shop, first made and sold candy in a bakery at Mackinac Island, using a recipe used by his mother.

His son, Francis, is associated with him in the operation of the local shop.

The present police car was included in the transaction.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newman, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Gilbert, Mrs. Isaac Gilbert, Mrs. Harry Newman, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Zemon of Detroit, Mrs. Albert Wachenheim of New Orleans, James Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Westheimer, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Weston, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Strauss Jr. of Cincinnati.

Many others were to arrive Wednesday from Cincinnati and later in the week others were expected from Chicago, St. Louis and other points south.

Name Accidentally Omitted

The name of the Central Drug Store was accidentally omitted from the list of local stores which furnished ice cream for the Girl Scouts at troop camp recently.

The Top Of The Summer To You!

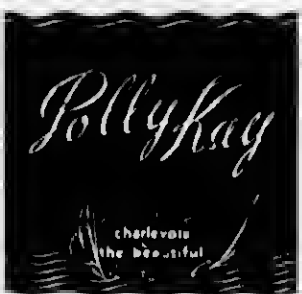

And the rest of the time to yourself.

Sure and if you're onto our lingo by now you'll know what we mean. Just come into the Polly Kay Shop and buy yourself a "pretty" or two and you can go merrily on your way looking your best and having fun.

You'll want at least one of the new summer print dresses. Whatever your taste in design there is a print you will adore. You can be demure in pastel flower garden effects or dashing in bold modernistic designs. Honest truth! You can wear cherries, strawberries, carrots, roses, violets or carnations. You can even wear golf clubs and racing cars these days. But you'll love them and gladden the eyes that behold you.

It's a hundred in the shade in the cities, but in Charlevoix shade it can be a bit chilly, and aren't you glad? You need a few sweaters here and a "loss-on" jacket or two. A cashmere to put over your shoulders, a shrug to warm up a low cut dress, or a casual jacket to wear with just about anything. At Polly Kay we have all of these and more besides. So come in and choose your own.

We are happy — delighted even — to see so many of our old friends back in town. This isn't "blarney" either. All of us at Polly Kay are waiting to bid you "a million welcomes."

The first fund-raising project sponsored by the newly-organized Charlevoix hospital Guild netted the group $157.50 Mrs. James Coleman of the Ways and Means committee has reported.

More than 100 persons in the area served by the local hospital contributed baked goods, fresh strawberries, eggs, jams and other items to the sale which was held at Mont's ice cream stand, which was offered to the group by Mrs. Withers when weather made it impossible to use the stand erected for the event.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

TO QUEEN Gail who was to have been crowned queen of the National Cherry Festival at Traverse City last night, our sincerest wishes for a successful and happy reign . . . Charlevoix is very proud of you . . . as the town hadn't noticed all the buttons missing from the vests around town . . . This is the first time in 21 years that Charlevoix's come up with a winner . . . We think the judges made a grand choice and we know that you will be a queen that we can rightfully be proud of . . . In your new position you represent, to our way of thinking, not only Charlevoix, northern Michigan and the cherry industry but the youth of this area . . . We feel that we are lucky to have such a fine representative . . . There will, no doubt be times during the next year that the crown which represents your responsibilities will rest heavily on your head . . . If and when that time comes, just remember that we are betting on you to come through with flying colors so, just be your own sweet, gracious self and you'll remain the person we're proud to call Queen Gail . . . All this from your humble subjects . . . the people of Charlevoix . . .

WE HAD the nicest experience the other day . . . we're still having trouble believing it . . . What was it? The new Charlevoix hospital . . . When we last saw it late last fall the walls were just being constructed, the floors weren't in . . . in fact, at that time we wondered if it would ever be completed . . . Many people have urged us to cruise out and see it but we've stayed away on purpose . . . so that when we did see it, it would be worth looking at . . . And we weren't disappointed . . . As we said before, we're still having trouble believing it's Charlevoix's . . . The layout, the facilities it offers, the rooms, the special departments, the colors, the view, the whole thing leaves us quite speechless and those of you who know me realize that's quite a feat . . . 'Mac' McGlynn, the genial project superintendent, showed us through the new building and we know that he must have gotten a bit weary of our remarks . . . We kinda got in a rut, for they added up to wonderful and beautiful . . . We understand it's to be ready about mid-August so plan right now to tour the hospital during the "open house" that's being planned prior to opening it for patients . . . You'll be in for a lot of surprises and you won't be sorry . . . We'd advise that you wait 'til then for visitors upset the workmen's progress . . . And anyway, Mac's black dog, Blackie, who stands guard over his master's domain is apt to object to interruptions . . .

Announce Betrothal

Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Schwartz of Boon announce the engagement of their daughter, Rae Ann, to Vernon E. Lewis, A.E.A., U. S. Navy, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence L. Lewis, also of Boon.

The bride-elect is a graduate of the Mesick high school. The prospective bridegroom graduated from the Oscoda high school and enlisted in the U. S. Navy in December, 1950.

IF YOU'RE sorting out winter clothing and preparing to discard snow suits, or any wearable clothing of any description, and haven't anyone to give it to, give the community nurse, Mrs. Keith Miles, a ring . . . The supply of clothing donated during the winter has dwindled to nothing and Mrs. Miles is trying to rebuild it by taking east-offs off your hands at this time . . . or any time this summer . . .

ROSES, ROSES, everywhere and each more beautiful than the other if that's possible . . . the lovely, lovely ones in the Norman Acre yard, the Flynns' pride and joy at the Lakeview Inn, those in the Floyd Bartholomew yard as well as the William Flynn garden are certainly a joy to see . . . Doubtless there are others but these we saw or heard about so if you're out, take a look, you won't be sorry . . .

OUR LITTLE old harbor is really filling up these days . . . with the most beautiful boats . . . Capt. Joe Howard, harbor master, tells us that many arrived over the weekend and equally as many more are expected within the next week or so . . . From now on the docks should be filled with these beautiful pleasure craft that just everyone loves to see . . .

AND Speaking of boats and the water, have you noticed that the water level's gone up again . . . Must have been all that rain we've been having . . . Despite all that rain there're sure a lot of summer guests around . . . many old friends and some that we hope will become new ones . . . But isn't it wonderful to see all the houses around town lighted again . . . a sure sign that our part-time residents are back . . .

HAVE YOU seen the Ashdons since they've been back for a visit . . . We mean Bob, who's been gone from the local Coast Guard station for nearly two years and who's now at Charleston, S. C. after 18 months in Puerto Rico . . . Of course Shirley and their two youngsters, Tony and Andrea are here too . . . And don't forget the dog . . . The black cocker travels with them and hasn't thought too much of strange places and smells but when they let him out of the car here he immediately recognized his old haunts and has had a grand time . . . Incidentally, the two cats who went to Puerto Rico with them, didn't survive the climate . . .

Girligigs

Painfully . . . and without portfolio, I hereby proclaim that the day following moving day is one to justly enjoy the screaming me-me's, aloud even.

So hereafter, that particular pair-provoking day, if we deem it fit to enjoy mentioning our flat foos, our housemaids knees or our sacroiliacs . . . so be it.

Little fractures and smashes, bruises and hangnails that by their single selves didn't seem so bad when they may have happened many years ago, start barking altogether gleefully on 'me-me's day' . . .

An ankle that was probably wrenched on a cobblestone drive in Boston . . . a fabulous flea ble that resulted from sitting in a lousy theater balcony . . . a sprained shoulder . . . and a once-squashed toe that sw-shl-ed up like a purple balloon.

The nervous wracking of moving day even causes a nose that was frizzed long ago to choose to blossom like a prolific Petunia on that particular day-after.

Round and red and itchy, all-ergies prick on and off like neon dots . . . and left handed arms are as stiff as the croquet mallet that smashed them, wunst.

Walking pigeon-toed, knock-kneed and bow-legged all at once on callousy corns and callouses, we might still find strength left to say . . . Gesundheit!

Ups And Downs

"Sometimes I'm up, Sometimes I'm down, O, yes, Lord, Sometimes I'm almost to de ground, O, yes, Lord."

So goes the Negro spiritual, "Nobody Knows De Trouble I See." This moving song bespeaks the experience of most people. We are not always up, plumed and exultant. Nor are we constantly down, depressed and moody. Our feelings alternate. Moments of joy visit us, making all of life seem radiant. Then in hours or days to come there drift over us clouds of depression. Happiness is obscured like the sun on a rainy day.

The normal person has his "ups and downs" and as long as these feelings do not become exaggerated, violent, the change is a wholesome one, preventing life from becoming monotonous. In the realm of the spirit "all sunshine makes a desert."

Alternation is the rhythm of life. It is what makes existence possible. A bird in flight is a changeable thing. Often when walking up a woodland trail I have been startled by the sudden explosion of ruffed grouse feathers as a dark denizen of birch copse and forested hill burst from cover and, with thundering wings, struck out for a nearby hiding place. What propelled him through the spruce-scented air? His wings, first lifted above his back and then brought down with a strong thrust, pushed him toward his destination. The ruffed grouse, like all other flying creatures, speeds through the air by having its up and downs!

We walk by putting one foot forward and then the other. We breathe by inhaling, then exhaling. We work and we rest. We come and we go. We have day and night. The tide ebbs and it flows. Go to any classroom in Nature's School and you will find this lesson written large upon the blackboard, "We live by change." We must have our ups and downs.

We have here no excuse for self-imposed foul moods — those of guilt for wrong we have done, or the good we have neglected, nor for letting our moods dictate our behavior so that we do only what we feel like doing. What nature does make clear is that "ups and downs" are to be expected. They are certain to come, as surely as the tide will ebb and flow, and night will follow day. A kindly God has made us like that. Without ups and downs life would lose its variety, and without variety it could hardly be worth living.

Mrs. Earl Young Installed As D.A.R. Chapter Regent

Mrs. Earl A. Young was installed as regent of the Pe-to-se-ga chapter of the D.A.R. at the June meeting of the organization held recently at the summer home of Mrs. Christine Cpl on Crooked lake.

Other officers who assumed their duties at the same time were Mrs. W. C. Naylor of Boyne City, first vice-regent; Mrs. C. E. Williams of Boyne City, second vice-regent; Mrs. A. L. Fochtman, recording secretary; Mrs. Ernest Smith of Petoskey, corresponding secretary; Miss Jessie Fairfield of Petoskey, treasurer; Mrs. O. A. Porter of Petoskey, registrar-genologist; Mrs. H. A. Webster of Boyne City, chaplain; Mrs. Elizabeth Mellon of Petoskey, historian.

At the program which followed, Mrs. Ralph Engle of Petoskey read an interesting article on one of the most neglected patriots in American history, Francis Bellamy, a Rome, N. Y., minister, who wrote the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mrs. Guy C. Conkle Sr. of Boyne City presented an interesting and inspirational paper on the history and meaning of the American flag. According to the article, the Continental Congress defined the significance of the colors as red for hardiness and valor, white for purity and innocence and blue for vigilance, justice and perseverance. The first flag to be raised over a school building was in Massachusetts in 1812. It is now a legal requirement in Michigan.

Nineteen members and guests were present for the one o'clock luncheon served by Mrs. Cori, assisted by Mrs. Engle.

Tentative plans for a summer party for residents and summer guests were announced by Mrs. Young, who also named her committees for the ensuing year.

News Round-up At Camp Charlevoix

The first week of regular activities at Camp Charlevoix got off to a flying start on Monday morning with all 147 campers making the "circuit" of camp facilities, including the riding stables, tennis courts, orchery and rifle ranges, soiling area, canoe area, and dock to see all the activities available to them before choosing the ones they liked. There were so many activity areas to visit, in fact, that this orientation period continued through part of the afternoon, with further trips to the handicraft shop, campcraft site, and fishing area. Then everyone who wished joined in a general swim before supper, and the evening was devoted to activities by cabin groups in the Junior and Intermediate sections and a "Commando Soccer" game for the entire Senior section. Many cabins took hikes along the shore, ending up with marshmallow roasts around the campfires and some old-fashioned singing.

Firm friendships within cabin groups are important to the boys in a summer of camping, and certainly many of them made new friends, with other boys and with their counselors too, that night. When Jim Dreyer, member of the University of Michigan Marching Band and camp bugler, blew the plaintive notes of "Taps" at the water's edge, lights went out one by one in 21 cabins along the shore, and many hearts were full of the rich good cheer and fellowship that is the most important part of camp life.

Tuesday morning everyone went to his scheduled activity, where activity heads and assistants began the instruction in such skills as tennis, riding, and campcraft, showing campers how to serve the ball properly, how to mount a horse, sitting a trot, cooking and putting up a pup tent out of doors, and many other valuable and enjoyable skills. In the afternoon, each boy switched to a different activity, so as to acquire proficiency in more than one sport. As the season progresses, the boys will choose other activities, each for a week at a time, so that during the summer every camper will have had the opportunity to investigate every skill and become expert in at least one or two.

Green and Grey captains were elected in the three sections early in the week. These boys will lead their sections in the traditional Green and Grey competition which continues throughout the summer and concludes in the last week of camp with a festive "Green and Grey Banquet." Senior captains are: Kent Gibbs and Tex Huntington; Intermediates: Robbie Helwig and Steve McClave; and Juniors: Joe Whinery and Tom Wright. Wednesday evening was an all-camp night, with all the Greens lined up against all the Greys in the North pasture for "Capture the Flag." After a series of charges and counter-charges, with a little spying and some commando-raids on the side, the Greys emerged triumphant in the first big competition of the year.

Activities were really humming by Thursday, with boys already passing the qualifying marks in many activities to earn awards and stars. First boys to win rifle stars, for example, were: Mike Frederick, Fred Billings, Jan Gibboney, Phil Holliday, Jim Smith, Jeff Mack, and Dan Ross. Thursday night was a project night in the Junior section, with each cabin working on some constructive project designed to help the boys learn to work in a group. That night the Juniors all worked on a beautiful flagstone walk—leading to the shower room, and this is a touch which really helps to beautify the camp.

Saturday night was the big night, initiation and the opening Council Fire, a traditional ceremony in which new campers were led blindfolded by old campers to the Council Ring in the woods, where blindfolds were removed on a colorful sight; a big council fire in the center of the circle; "Chief" Ken Smith in colorful Indian regalia on a high throne at the top of the circle; six braves in breech cloths and feathers posed about the fire, and Jake White-crow, in war paint and feathers, moccasins and genuine PawPaw Indian dress, doing a fast war dance to the beat of the drum. Jim Land, representing the new campers, pleaded with the "Chief" to admit these boys to the Tribe of Charlevoix, and all were admitted conditionally, with the final installation to occur at the last Council Fire, to which parents and friends are invited, on August

Sunday morning services were held in the camp clubhouse, with Jim Macdonnel giving a beautiful, illustrated talk on "Teamwork" and the order of loyalty: God is first, others second, and I am third.

Sunday afternoon was a waterfront afternoon, with many competitive Green and Grey events, including Canoe Races, 25-Yard Free Style Races, Relays, and a Watermelon Scramble in shallow water for the beginning swimmers. Winners in the various events included: Robbie Helwig, Bob Wood, Jim Baird, Hanny Carpenier, Jim Smith, Mac Gibboney, Tex Huntington; the points for the day went to the Greens after a spirited scramble for the greased watermelon by the younger swimmers.

Activities and competition will continue next week, and soon the overnight trips will begin going out by sailboat, horseback, and canoe. More news next week.

What could be more unique and appropriate than the name of Jinny Young's new gift shop in the Weathervane Building... "The Shop of the Gulls."

No Compromise This Time!

It was over twenty years ago that he took title to his first motor car—and, since that time, he has owned and driven almost a dozen different automobiles.

And yet, every time he accepted the keys to a new car, he knew in his heart that it was a compromise. For—like so many millions of his fellow men—he had his heart set on a Cadillac!

Well, there's no compromise this time! The magic moment has arrived. The papers are all in order... the keys are in his hand... and the car of his dreams is waiting for him to take the wheel. It's his!

And, if you could but ride with him on that first journey, you'd understand what it means to have a motoring dream come true.

You'd see excitement in his eyes as he rolls majestically through the city's traffic—and puts his Cadillac through its thrilling paces on the open road.

You'd see honest pride in his face as he sits, calmly and serenely in the driver's seat, and catches the admiring glances of his fellow motorists.

And you'd sense the joy in his heart as he turns down that familiar street and heads for the happiest homecoming of the year!

In short, you'd witness a motorist in his finest hour—living out an experience that has no counterpart in the world of transportation. It is a thrill and an inspiration and an education—all rolled into one.

A friend of ours put it this way. "There are two kinds of automobiles," he told us, "There are Cadillacs—and there are all the others."

Whether or not you've driven "all the others," we can't say. But of one thing we are certain: Until you've spent an hour in the driver's seat of a 1954 Cadillac, your motoring education is not complete.

Why not come in soon and do so?

Moss-Shanahan Vows Spoken In Church Ceremony

In a wedding solemnized at St. Joseph's church in Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, on June 26, Mary Lou Moss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hugh Moss, became the bride of Robert Edward Shanahan, son of Cmdr. and Mrs. Edward K. Shanahan of this city.

The Rev. Fr. McIntyre officiated at the ceremony during the Nuptial Mass which was said before an altar decorated with roses and ferns.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, selected a gown of Chantilly lace, satin and tulle for her wedding. It was fashioned with a fitted lace bodice which had a portrait neckline and long sleeves which came to points over the wrists. The ballerina length skirt of tiered tulle had pointed inserts of Chantilly lace. A modified Juliet cap of lace bordered with seed pearls secured her fingertip veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Mrs. Kenneth C. Peterson of St. Paul, Minn., sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Mrs. Glenn Sampson of Columbus, and Emily Hine of Cleveland, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids.

They wore identical gowns of satin styled with strapless bodices worn with bolero jackets and full ballerina length skirts. Their headresses of net featured short veils and matched their gowns. Mrs. Peterson and Miss Hine were gowned in green and carried bouquets of pink roses and Mrs. Sampson's gown was yellow and she carried deep yellow roses.

Mary Moss of Elmont, L. I., N. Y., and Karen Peterson of St. Paul, nieces of the bride, were flower girls.

Bruce Shanahan of Baltimore, Md., assisted his brother as best man and ushers were William J. Moss and Hugh M. Moss, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Moss chose a light blue lace gown, a deep blue velvet hat and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Shanahan, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy dress, a light blue hat and navy and white accessories. Each wore an orchid corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was held at the University Club in Akron. The bride's table was decorated with roses and was centered with a tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Shanahan have returned here and will reside at the Birchwood Ranch until September when they will live in Ann Arbor where he is enrolled in the University of Michigan School of Medicine.

Among the guests were Cmdr. and Mrs. Shanahan and Mrs. Lysle Shanahan of Charlevoix, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Redfield of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shanahan of Edwardsburg.

Highways Are Happy Ways

When they lead to Polly Kay's.

Come from any direction, north, south, east or west, whatever your wardrobe needs are we have it.

Did you forget to pack that extra blouse? A warm sweater, or slacks? We have them and wonderful flannel Bermuda shorts too.

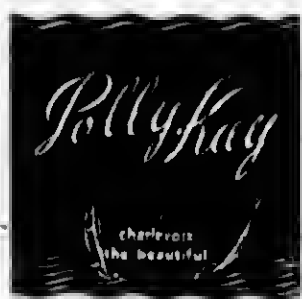

Of course as this is being written it is chilly and we are thinking of warm clothes — tomorrow when the paper comes out it may be 90 degree in the shade — that's the exciting thing about Charlevoix weather.

If it does turn hot you may need a sun dress or a swim suit, or some cool shorts. If you do, we have them.

If you are wearing full skirt, as who isn't? You really need a stiff petti-skirt under it, and you should see ours. It's a pity to hide them, they could be worn for an evening skirt they are so beautiful.

Little girls love to look pretty too, and we have just the dress to help your little one look her best. Bring her in and let her make her own selection. She'd feel so important!

We are so happy to see all of our old friends back and eager to meet new ones, so from all the girls at Polly Kay's "Come in and see us."

New Building Is A Dream Come True

Casualty and beautifully, two gulls reign from the pink louvered dome of the new Weathervane Inn. Just as casually, each pink geranium that borders the length-long walk of the Inn and Shops is beautiful.

The Inn kneels long and low over the north bank of the channel which forms the port entrance into Charlevoix. Its sturdy stone and roughly hewn timbers have been combined to create a delicate atmosphere of sophistication that is left to be equaled.

The modern furnishings of the main dining room are smooth, black satiny wrought iron, contrasting with stunning effect to the warm, woody background paneling. Muted shades of grey, gold, rose and green were chosen for the coverings. The predominant color throughout being a soft rosy shade that is carried inside from the woodwork trim on the exterior.

Immense picture windows... overlook one of the most beautiful waterway views in the world... Lake Michigan, the inland sea, flowing through the channel into Round Lake... and on into lovely Lake Charlevoix. All three bodies of water are in view from this particular site.

At the head of the circular, stone-paneled stairway that leads to the lower level which is to be the Steak Room, is an immense reproduction of a colored photograph of a dock scene taken in Charlevoix many, many years ago. Built-out in front of the typical natural wooden framing is a wide, natural wharf complete with an old piling circled by gnarled rope.

This scene is reflected across the broad entrance into a huge rose tinted mirror. Opening out over the channel is a furnished balcony-patio to be used also for dining and sight seeing.

The newest of the famous Maus and Hoffman shops, featuring imported woolen clothes and leather accessories, is located on the Lane level... as is the exclusive Carriage Trade shop. These smart shops both have softly-toned paneled walls and displays. Carriage Trade boasts picturesque black wrought iron street lamps and furniture, padded with a white tufted fabric.

The unique Shop of the Gulls features artistic displays of imported pewter and crystal, hand-woven linens and fabrics... and other choice and exquisitely chosen gifts, made all the more lovely against a background of textured paneling and natural stone.

Still to reach completion is the steak room and the new headquarters for Earl A. Young, realtor.

All adjectives are inadequate in describing The Weathervane... all I can feel manage are... stunning and terrific!

During World War II she taught cooking and baking at Camp Oglethorpe for the U. S. Army. City Council Amends North Side Zoning

The Charlevoix city council, at a regular meeting Monday night, opened bids for a new fire truck, discussed zoning ordinances, extended fire protection to two areas, offered a city-owned house for sale and leased space in the city hall to the draft board.

Six bids for a new fire truck and fire-fighting equipment were received and referred to the city superintendent for tabulation.

Two amendments to the zoning ordinance were discussed and the first adopted and the second rejected.

The first would zone the entire north side as residential district 1 and would allow only one family dwellings to be constructed. It would also empower the city superintendent to enforce the ordinance. The second proposal which would rezone a section of the north side, was rejected.

The action of the council taken June 28 to allow parking on the south side of Dixon ave. only was rescinded at the request of several residents on the street.

Fire protection was extended to a part of Hayes township and the Sequonota Club in Eveline township until 8 p.m. July 26.

The city-owned house located at 211 Park ave. was offered for sale by bid. The house is to be removed or razed within 60 days after its purchase. A check for the bid price must be submitted with the bids which will be accepted until 5 p.m. August 5.

The council also leased a room in the city hall to the draft board. Bills amounting to $14,915.24 were approved and ordered paid.

Born at Ironton in Eveline township Oct. 11, 1894, he had resided at his present home for the past 60 years. In 1912 he was married to the former Jessie E. Hunter.

For the past 18 years he had been associated with the Charlevoix Pickle Co. and the H. J. Heinz Co. At the time of his death he represented the latter company's interests in this area.

He also had been active in township affairs and had served as township treasurer and justice of the peace at various times.

He was a member of the Congregational church of Ironton and the Rock Elm Grange.

Besides his wife he is survived by two sons, Douglas, of East Jordan and Karl of Milwaukee; four daughters, Mrs. Carl (Edna) Anderson and Mrs. Leroy (Marjorie) Plum of Charlevoix; Mrs. Joseph (Mildred) Shores of Cedarburg, Wis.; and Mrs. Calvin (Rena) Plum of Milwaukee, Wis.; 12 grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Claude Bowen of Detroit and two brothers, Robert of Chilis, Wash., and Harry of Solana Beach, Calif.

Famous Kiltie Band Will Participate In Venetian Activities

Northern Michigan's first real summer weather with hot, sunny days and balmy nights has done much to put Charlevoix in a festive mood as it prepares for the annual Venetian Night program and boat parade scheduled for July 24 and 25.

Headlining the event this year will be the famous Plymouth Kiltie Band accompanied by Plymouth's Dancing Lassies, who will appear in several performances here during the weekend and participate in the Queen's parade Sunday afternoon.

Vernon Mathews Is Re-elected To School Post

In an uneventful school election held here Monday, Vernon L. Mathews, incumbent director, was re-elected to the Board of Education of the Charlevoix school district.

Only 29 votes were cast in the election including 27 for Mr. Mathews and one each for Mrs. Kit Carson and Mrs. John L. Boss. The latter were write-in votes.

At the annual meeting which followed, the purchase of 10 acres of land located east of May street and adjacent to property now owned by the school district for a possible future building site was discussed. A committee composed of H. E. Paddock, Peter H. Timmer, John L. Boss, Mrs. Kit Carson and Edward K. Shanahan was named by the board of education to study the proposal and means of financing such a purchase. The committee is to report to the board of education at its regular meeting on Aug. 2.

The land has been offered to the board of education by T. R. Miller for $6,000.

The financial situation of the school district was discussed. Supt. R. G. Bennett reported that total revenue receipts for the year was $227,710 including $198,814 for the general fund, $7,693 for non-revenue receipts plus $15,207 on hand when the year started. Expenditures were $215,031 leaving $7,679 on hand.

In the debt retirement fund, $32,653 was derived from taxes and $11,696 was on hand. A total of $19,250 was spent this leaving a total of $25,089.

All funds in the building and site fund are exhausted. At the start of the year $969 was on hand and $15,092 was transferred from the general fund surplus. A total of $16,062 was spent. The building improvements were completed and payments were made on all but $550.00. Included in the receipts for the year was a $20,000.00 advance on 1954-55 state aid.

A report of the current census was also made. It revealed a jump from 906 in the five to 19 year age group inclusive in 1953 to 996 in 1954. The pre-

Totem Pole Will Dominate Indian Pageant Setting

HARBOR SPRINGS — Forest green setting of the annual Ottawa Indian Pageant here this year July 23, 24 will be dominated by a colorful 30-foot hand-carved totem pole.

The pole, which is usually located in front of the Michigan Indian Foundation's Chief Blackbird Museum, will be featured in an episode of the pageant, as its history is enacted by the Ottawas. More than 100 are included in the cast of this year's pageant. From Arizona, native Hopi Indians will conduct traditional tribal rites as their songs and dances unfold the story of northern Michigan's Ottawa Indians based on Chief Blackbird's historical record.

Musical numbers featuring songs from "Rose Marie" will be sung by a Community Chorus, accompanied by the Harbor Springs high school band.

Performances are scheduled for Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30 p.m. in the 7000-seat Ottawa Indian Stadium at Harbor Springs.

The Plymouth Kiltie Band, sponsored by the Plymouth Motor Corporation and brought to northern Michigan through the efforts of Brown Motors of Petoskey and Charlevoix, is a distinctive group in many respects. It is one of the few authentic bagpipe bands and one of the best in North America as proved by its record of prizes at Highland Festivals. The dancing lassies, six in all who accompany the band, have also been frequent prize winners.

Both the lads and lassies are employees of the Chrysler Corporation and all the band members are Scottish born or Canadian of Scottish descent. Most are veterans of World War I and II. They play and dance for fun on weekends and when they can be spared from the jobs are set out to provide fun for others.

Among the recent trips was one to New York City to appear at the annual national convention of Lions Club.

This year the band has a new dress. When they appear here they are expected to wear the Bonnie Prince Charley Royal Stuart tartan although the band members represent many famous clans and regiments.

The Kiltie Band will arrive in Charlevoix by plane or Saturday and make their first appearance in East Park at 8 p.m. The evening's entertainment will be concluded with authentic Hawaiian hula dances by Mrs. B. B. Patti, who is spending the summer in Charlevoix. This week special Hawaiian recordings arrived from the islands and will be heard on the program.

On Sunday the Kiltie band will lead the Queen's parade at 2 p.m. from the Grey Gables Inn where Queen Gail Krahneke, Charlevoix Venetian Night Queen and National Cherry Queen will be honored at a 12:30 p.m. luncheon. Members of her Cherry Festival court and queens from other neighboring communities and their escorts will be guests along with city officials and others.

The parade will proceed through the city with Queen Gail and her guests riding in open cars. It will end at East Park where the Queen and her guests will be presented. Following the presentation, the Kiltie Band will appear in concert.

A water festival featuring canoe and portage races, canoe tilts, log rolling, water skiing and other water events will be presented in Round lake following the presentation.

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

HAD THE best time one night recently . . . It all came about when we received an invitation from the class of '29 to attend their 25th reunion . . . We weren't a member of the class but knew them all well and thoroughly enjoyed it all . . . Most fun was watching people as they entered the room, glancing about looking, almost begging for a familiar face . . . You could almost see the old cogs going around as each tried to identify former classmates, many of whom they hadn't seen since graduation . . . It was amazing how much some had changed and how little different others looked . . . A good part of the class, 23 of 35 turned out, and it was surprising to find how well they had all done . . . Each was successful in his own little way . . . none boasted that he'd made his first million but each was doing OK and looked it . . . Tex Buchen, a former coach came from Clearwater, Fla. and seemed to enjoy every minute of it all . . . Ed Mallitt, who was instrumental in getting the party started, came from Washington, tho' he took a razor from just about everyone, he had more fun than anyone . . . Lloyd Swartout, a real sharp looking guy, drove from Detroit just for the reunion (incidentally, we'd never have recognized him in a million years) . . . Most of the people there came from away and everyone reported it was worth every bit of effort they'd put into it . . .

ALL IN ALL it was a howling success and it was a pleasure to be a part of it . . . The changes brought by the past 25 years were good . . . for all are fine citizens and a credit to their respective communities . . . We might add that Charlevoix's schools don't do too badly by their students . . . and we've seen quite a few of its graduates in the last too-many-years . . .

QUEEN Gail Krahnke reported that Charlevoix's band was the snappiest one in the National Cherry Festival parade at Traverse City last week . . . And she should know for she viewed the parade and saw all participants before riding in it herself . . . along with her court . . .

And when the band marched down the street it was easy to identify them by the beautiful new flag . . . a white rayon tuffeta flag which carries "Charlevoix the Beautiful" written across in maroon letters . . . Just a sharp flag for a sharper band, say we . . .

DID YOU notice the clever piece of drift wood . . . or is it just a piece of knarled wood in the yard of the Harold Pearls near the top of the North side hill.

THOSE roses we mentioned last week were even prettier than we thought . . . We cruised around to take a look and found them lovelier than we had dreamed possible . . . This must be the year for roses 'cause just the wild variety are prettier than ever . . .

IF YOU'RE looking for something new and different in the way of entertainment, visit the Petoskey Playhouse . . . We met some of the group and found them a nice group of people who are working in the summer theatre . . . the straw-hat circuit . . . just for the love of working in the theatre . . . We haven't seen them in action but those who have tell us they're doing a real good job in their little old converted garages . . . There's a new production every week so you're bound to find something you like . . . Give it a try . . .

WHAT ARE you good citizens of Michigan going to be doing on August 3? . . . If you don't know we'd like to have you make a date with us . . . to visit the polls in the state's primary election . . . We know you're going to be busy but plan your work now so you can make it to your voting place and have your say-so in this election . . . One good way to eventually lose that privilege is to neglect to take advantage of it come election day . . . We're not on a soap-box for any special candidate . . . we just want you to vote for your own favorites . . . but vote . . . Remember that date, Tuesday, August 3 . . .

AND another date to remember is July 24 and 25 . . . Venetian Night weekend in Charlevoix . . . There're all sorts of special things being planned and it promises to be great fun . . . So plan now to visit our fair city and enjoy the festivities . . . all climaxed by the Venetian Night boat parade Sunday night and the fireworks over Round Lake . . .

GOOD THINGS have a habit of getting around . . . We have in mind a copy of the Rev. Harold E. Kohm's sermonettes, "Feeling Low", that is circulated regularly . . . Mrs. L. E. Grate flew east recently and imagine her surprise when she reached into the pocket on the back of the seat in front of her to find something to read . . . She came up with a copy of the sermonette . . . left there along with magazines and other reading material . . .

WEATHER . . . and whether or not we have any will decide the fate of the summer season in our fair city . . . It was pretty nice over the weekend and we're sure everyone appreciated it . . . We were doing a bit of thinking out loud the other night and said we wished it would warm up a little while passing the time of day with our good friend, Fred Cartier . . . We didn't get much sympathy 'cause he just said "Well, it isn't raining, is it?" . . . So despite the fact that the weather isn't ideal, it could be worse . . . Or could it?

REMEMBER . . . a couple weeks ago we told you the story about the talking skunks at the Weather-vane . . . When we met Earl Young, he told us we knew only part of the story and we didn't know what he was talking about 'til he said there were not two but four baby skunks . . . He said he was coming out of his office one night when he saw Mama and the four little ones, their little pennant tails held high, marching single file from their home under the bridge up to the street light at the foot of the hill for a feast of bugs and what have you . . . Evidently quite a treat in the skunk world . . . If you've ever seen little skunks you know they're just about the cutest things imaginable, always walk in single file when following their mother and have not 'acquired' the smelly little habit that makes them such obnoxious adult skunks . . .

HAD QUITE a chat with Mrs. George Meggison the other day and she told us some things about Charlevoix that we found mighty interesting . . . For instance when she moved into town from Norwood 73 years ago this month, her family had built a home in the hardwoods midway in the block past the school on Mason st. . . . They cut across through the woods to the only street in the area, Clinton street, about where the Usher house now stands . . . She said that at that time the school building which burned better than 50 years ago and which was located near the site of the present high school was on the edge of town and to the southwest of it was all woods . . . It's hard to think of Charlevoix as having been a wilderness once . . . We've often tried to imagine what it must have looked like when the first settlers came . . . With trees down to the water's edge along Pine river and Round lake . . . and logs in the shallow river bed which then wended its way in back of what is now the Coast Guard station to Lake Michigan . . . It must have been a beautiful sight . . . Round lake must have looked like a jewel in this setting . . .

SHE ALSO told us about the tragedy which accompanied the construction of the old Inn overlooking Round Lake on the north side which was razed in the early 1940's . . . Seemed that as it neared completion, the building was blown in and several lives were lost and several others including her father suffered permanent injuries as a result of the accident . . . All this happened in the mid-1890's . . . We'd never heard about it so found it most interesting for the Inn, to those who knew it as many local residents did, is a fabulous legend of another era . . . an era remembered with nostalgia, and if you don't think so, get some of the old timers associated with it to talk about it and you'll see what we mean . . .

WE OWE a long-overdue apology to a swell bunch of guys . . . In a recent story about the child

Mr. and Mrs. Angus V. Smith of Oscoda announce the marriage of their daughter, Ellen Jane, to Tech. Sgt. Stanley A. Evers, U.S. A.F., Harmon Air Force Base, Stephentown, Newfoundland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anandus Evers of this city.

The wedding was an event of July 3, at LaGrange, Ind. The couple visited briefly here and in Oscoda before going to Windsor, Ont., from where Sgt. Evers left last week to return to Harmon Airforce Base following a 30-day furlough here.

The new Mrs. Evers will remain at Mt. Clemens where she is management officer with the Tenth Airforce Base with headquarters at Selfridge Air Force Base.

Schooner 'Sartar' Leaves For Island Summer Quarters

The 60-ft. schooner, Sartar, left the local harbor recently for its summer headquarters at Mackinac Island where its owner, N. H. Noyes of Indianapolis, Ind., maintains a summer home.

Skipper of the boat is Capt. John Johnson who was accompanied to the island by Thomas Hamlin who will spend several weeks aboard the boat. Alvin Ranger will replace him later in the season.

who was drowned at Ironton, we mentioned that Coastguardsmen (also super Joes) had worked for over an hour with the child before giving up . . . We neglected to mention that the fellows from our own fire department as well as the police assisted in the futile task . . . And if you think all those fellows don't try, you're off the beam . . . We've talked with them after such an experience, and even tho' they've never seen these people before they work as hard as tho' they were their very own . . . They always want to try just a little longer 'altho' in their hearts they're sure it's a lost cause . . . And when they're unsuccessful they feel pretty low-down about it . . . What's New with Cows?

Catching up on my reading, I noticed three news items you might like to know about.

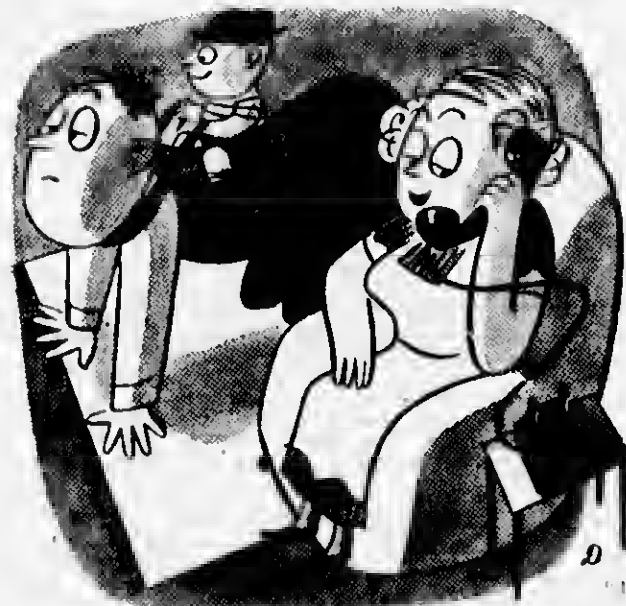

First, a farmer whose milk had a trace of garlic flavor is feeding his cows chlorophyll to sweeten their breaths.

Next, a college agricultural station has trained a herd to get milked when they are called by number. Seems 75 out of 80 cows learned their numbers in a few days. Guess the "dumb" five couldn't count that high. Final item—cows are getting "nose-printed" for identification.

From where I sit, I hope there is as much progress being made with humans . . . especially in regard to tolerance. Whether it's a choice of a political party, a basketball team, or a favorite beverage, let's learn to live and let live more. You may ask for a soft drink after a hard day's work—I'll choose a refreshing glass of beer. But let's not try to "cow" the other fellow into our way of thinking!

Poole-Bushor Marriage Vows Are Spoken In Single Ring Service

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bushor have returned to Detroit to make their home at 12202 Cloverlawn ave. after an eastern wedding trip following their marriage at the Westlawn Methodist church in Detroit June 26.

The bride is the former Margaret Kay Poole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer M. Poole Sr. of Charlevoix. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Pearl Bushor and Frank Bushor of Manistee.

The Rev. Mr. Kelly, pastor of the church, officiated at the single ring service in the presence of 100 guests. Baskets of white gladioli and lighted tapers in candelabra decorated the church for the candlelight ceremony. Mrs. Howe, church organist, played a program of traditional music and the wedding marches.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride selected a gown of white lace and marquisette for her wedding. It was styled with a fitted lace bodice, illusion neckline and long lace sleeves. The halter-length skirt of tiered marquisette had insets of lace. A seed pearl tiara secured her fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Elaine Poole served her sister as maid of honor and Jewel Browning of Detroit and Marian Warner were bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns of taffeta fashioned with strapless bodices and ballerina length full skirts. White lace bolero jackets were worn with the dresses which were yellow, blue and pink respectively.

ly. They carried bouquets of pink carnations.

John Morand of Manistee assisted the bridegroom as best man and Monroe Nash of Detroit, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Douglas McGregor of Manistee were ushers.

Mrs. Poole chose a powder blue and white sheer print dress and navy and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Bushor, mother of the bridegroom, wore a royal blue and white sheer print and white accessories. Both had corsages of red roses.

A reception followed at the American Legion Hall in Plymouth. A four-tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the bride's table which was decorated with bouquets of summer flowers.

The bride wore a powder blue summer suit, white accessories and a corsage of white carnations on the 10-day wedding trip to Niagara and through the east.

Among those who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Poole, son, Lewis and daughter, Elaine, and Marian Warner of this city. Other guests were present from Erie, Pa., Manistee, Detroit, Petoskey, Grand Rapids and Southfield.

school age group (under five years) increased from 324 to 336 during the year.
The membership in the school also increased during the past year, the report showed. During the 1952-53 school year the membership was 775 as compared to 899 during 1953-54. Several new families with children of school age and annexation of one rural school in the area accounted for the increase, Mr. Bennett said.
The board also reported that it would be necessary to purchase two new school buses this year, thus giving the school district a fleet of eight buses.

Twenty-two members of the school district were present at the annual meeting at which Bonnie Nickerson, president of the board of education, presided. Other members of the board are E. D. Hawley, Fred W. Willis, Albert H. Smith and Mr. Mathews.

Second Annual Teaching Course Is Open For '54

The second annual Directed Teaching course at the Lincoln school in Petoskey has opened with 13 northern Michigan teachers enrolled for the six-week session which is sponsored by Central Michigan college. The course is counted as resident credit.

Mrs. Zella Davis of Indian River is critic teacher and David Nickerson of Corpus Christi, Tex., who at present is residing here, is director.

Among the teachers enrolled are the following from the Charlevoix area: Mrs. Constance Snider and Mrs. Lulla Brock of Charlevoix; Mrs. Dessie Farrell and Mrs. Carrie Stool of Ellsworth; Mrs. Louis Steele of Norwood; Betty Brooks of East Jordan and Mrs. Mary Ann Gengle of Detroit, a former local resident.

Twenty-two school pupils are enrolled at the Lincoln school for the summer term and will attend classes taught by those enrolled in the Directed Teaching course.

Emphasis will be placed on project work with a circus theme this year and it is expected that many interesting and educational features will develop. Field trips and visits by many resource persons are expected to add much to the curriculum.

Puppet Show To Start Thursday

The Petoskey Playhouse is happy to announce that beginning this Thursday, July 15th, Bill Weiss and Bob Gray will be doing a matinee performance of their puppet plays for children. The price of admission is 50 cents. Both young and old are urged to attend.

Kiltie Band For Venetian Night

lowing the concert. The evening program will open at 7 p.m. with a concert by the Plymouth Kiltie Band and Dancing Lassies. Immediately following the concert the group will return by plane to southern Michigan.

Following the Kiltie band on the program will be dancers from the Crede Dance studio. Thad Hagerberg of Boyne City, pianist, the Swan City Cygnet Trio of East Jordan, the Camp Charlevoix chorus singing sea chanties and several other specialties. The Marine Band directed by C. A. Odomark will conclude the program.

The entire program will be climaxed by the annual Venetian Night boat parade on Round Lake with gaily decorated and lighted boats parading on the lake under a colorful fireworks display.

At a meeting of Marine Club members Tuesday evening, it was decided that a cash award of $10 would be given to every entry in the Venetian Boat parade. This is in addition to the cash prizes for the best decorated boats which will be announced later.

Lyle Miles was named to head a committee supplying lanterns and other equipment to boat owners who are encouraged to enter their boats in the parade. Bob Hamilton will be in charge of lining up boats for the parade. Invitations have been extended by the Board of Commerce to all boat owners to enter the parade. Anyone wishing to enter or obtain more information on the parade may call Mr. Hamilton or the Board of Commerce.

A Queen's banquet honoring Queen Gail and all former Charlevoix queens will be held at the Argonne at 5:30 p.m. Saturday evening to open the weekend festivities. Invitations have been extended to ten former queens to attend.

Tickets for the event are now on sale and may be purchased at the Board of Commerce office.

A Curtsy To Queen Gail

All Charlevoix is proud of our queen.

As she left Polly Kay to go to Traverse City to begin her reign she was wearing one of our ballerina length embroidered cottons and over her shoulders she wore a sapphire blue cashmere. A caroline petti — slip gave the skirt just the right flare. She was every inch a queen.

Now this is a guess! But it's the weatherman's guess too. When you read this the temperature is going to be HIGH. Is it? Did we guess right? Come to Polly Kay for something new for the summer weather. We have a wonderful line of shorts. Short shorts—Jamaica shorts—Bermuda shorts... Just the right shorts for you! And such wonderful blouses and shirts to match them. You will be needing more so get them while the selection is good.

A few new cool dresses will be needed too. Pick up a crisp cotton or a dressy silk for "fancy functions"—now—while Polly Kay still has the right dress for you!

The little girls will need a few fill-ins too... perhaps a new cotton or two or some of our seer sucker playsuits to help her look her best at the beach or park!

Whatever you'll be wanting for these last two summer months Polly Kay has for you... so come in soon, we'll be looking for you!

Here's the Most Successful Idea Ever Devised for protection against hospital-medical bills!

BLUE CROSS-BLUE SHIELD

non-profit plans provide

Michigan's best, low-cost protection against hospital-medical bills. That's why over 3,000,000

Michigan people have it!

WITH ONE IN EVERY THREE families facing a hospital bill each year, it isn't surprising that almost half the people in Michigan should protect themselves with Blue Cross.

Because people with Blue Cross are free of this big worry: wondering whether their protection will cover them on the really big hospital bills! (And, unfortunately, you can't tell ahead of time just how big the bill will be!)

But size of the hospital bill makes no difference if you have Blue Cross. Because with Blue Cross, you get not limited cash to buy hospital services . . . you get the services themselves! The bed and board, drugs and medicines, operating room, and all other basic hospital services!

Hospital Service Protection . . .

the Blue Cross Way

All you do, when you have to go to a hospital, is present your Blue Cross - Blue Shield identification card . . . and all the basic hospital services you need are yours automatically! Furthermore, you and every enrolled member in your family enjoy equal protection . . . at over 200 Blue Cross participating hospitals in Michigan alone (with 99% of the general hospital beds in the state!).

Doctor Bill Protection . . .

the Blue Shield Way

Seldom can you have a hospital bill without having a doctor bill, too. Be on the safe side by asking your doctor ahead of time how much he will charge you. Be safer yet with protection against doctor bills . . . and here is where Blue Shield comes in.

Blue Shield offers two basic plans—one, a straight surgical plan, the other, a medical-surgical plan. Under either plan, Blue Shield pays generous, specific amounts directly to your doctor for thousands of surgical procedures, including maternity care. And in non-surgical cases, under the medical-surgical plan, Blue Shield also pays liberal amounts for your doctor's visits to you in the hospital. Often the doctor's full bill is covered.

The Cost Is Low

For only pennies per day, Blue Cross - Blue Shield provide you with Michigan's finest protection against hospital and medical bills. To keep cost low, Blue Cross - Blue Shield do not pay for purely diagnostic procedures, including physical examinations—or for procedures which can be done properly in a doctor's office.

How to Get Blue Cross - Blue Shield

Ask your employer or your union representative how you can get low-cost Group Enrollment. Check your Farm Bureau or Grange. Write or phone your nearest Blue Cross - Blue Shield office.

News Round-up At Camp Charlevoix

The weekend of the Fourth was a typical holiday weekend at camp, with several of the boys on Sunday going to Boyne City to ride in the horse show. Both Tom Manley of Detroit, and Ricki Wilson of Fort Wayne, Ind., getting third place ribbons in two events. On Monday, the Fourth our four cowboys rode in the show and we garnered fourteen ribbons, mostly blues and reds. The big event of the day was the Western Pleasure event in which over thirty horses were entered. When the final three were selected, we had won both first and second place, Jim Mueller riding Patches (who had won the same event two years ago), and Tom Corbett riding Squaw. We received a beautiful trophy for winning this event. As was reported last week, the evening was given over to the fireworks display.

On Wednesday evening, the entire camp took part in a manhunt. Campers scoured the woods looking for counselors who were roaming at large, and all had high ransoms placed upon their capture. It was a great event and both campers and counselors had a lot of fun.

Boys are working hard on their chosen activities, and many boys are receiving stars for their accomplishments. Tom McGranahan reports that the following boys have received stars in dramatics: Mike Browning, Ricky Gibboney, Joe Whinery, Jim Alford, Zeke Gardner, Larry Cummings, Jim Brodie, and Steve McClure. Our Head Tennis man, Morrie Pello reports that these boys are getting stars in tennis: Jim Baird, Bill Prosser, Peck Kunkel, Bruce Birgauer, John Basher, Joe Ehinger, Larry Cummings, Dave Smallwood, Tom Barrett and John Parr. The sailors report that these boys have received stars in that activity: Tex Huntington, Dallas Dort, Bob Wood, John Jacobs, Gary Murfin, Jim Smith, Mike Dardas, Doug Graham, Loyal Eldridge, Jonathan Schmidt, and Jim Cotton. Our cowboys report that riding stars have been given to Rick Wilson, Bob Tutag, Jerry Garrett, Bob Massman, Matt Budger, Dave Keller, and Kent Gibbs. This is only about one tenth of the stars report thus far, which shows that the boys have really started off very well towards making this a summer of real accomplishment.

On Wednesday evening, Jack Huldin, took his cabin of our smallest boys on a picnic over to Mt. Misawba, a sand dune on Lake Michigan. These boys had a great time, and those in that group were: Larry Drummy, Dick Daley, Zeke Gardner, Tom Zigler, Jimmy Alford, Teddy Jordan, and Mike

Police Chiefs Hold

Meeting At Traverse

The annual convention of the Michigan Association of Police Chiefs was held at Traverse City recently.

Charlevoix police chief, Clarence Heise, accompanied by Mrs. Heise, attended the convention at the Park Place Hotel.

Frederick

On Saturday we had several parents visit their sons on the first visiting day. It was very nice to see these parents, and I'm sure that their sons were just as pleased and anxious to tell them about the camp and to show the camp to them. Here it might be a good place to stress once more that parents are NOT to bring candy, cookies, food of any kind, gun, or comic books into camp. Please tell aunts, uncles, grandparents, cousins, this, too. It just isn't fair for one boy to receive gifts such as these, and another boy's parents following the rule of the camp. So I ask you all to please cooperate.

Saturday evening we had our first skit night and three fine performances were given. Jerry Wallevand's cabin group was first on the program, and these boys were Rick Gibboney, Jim Plummer, Andy Brodie, John Brooks, Andy Carrick, Bob Andreae, and Carl Schwenzfeier. The "production" of the evening was "The Unicorn", a James Thurber creation, and it was very ably acted out by Mike Browning, Rick Gibboney, Joe Whinery, Zeke Gardner, Larry Cummings, Jim Brodie, Steve McClure with Jimmy Alford as "The Unicorn". Cabin number 7, Dick Roth's group, gave a very funny skit. These boys were Dave Matthews, Bob Ballenger, Jim Davison, George Davis, Joe Mapes, Jib Bailey, Tom Barrett.

Sunday morning, Jim Macdonnell gave the talk at the chapel service and likened a boy's life to a watch. It was a very splendid talk, and a fine lesson for boys to remember.

On Sunday afternoon, a waterfront activity was held in which all sections of the camp took part. The events were many and varied, and a great time was had by all. Some of the events and the winners were: Junior Rowboat: Jim Baird, Dave Hirsch, Joe Whinery. Winners in the Intermediate Rowboat were Larry Cummings, Durfee Day, Bob Hicks. In Canoe tilting, Tex Huntington and Kent Gibbs won for the Seniors, while Ricky Wilson and John Bahl won for the Inter-mediates. In the Underwater Swim event, Dave Keller won in the Senior Section, while Dave Matthews won in his section. Canoe Swamp was won by Mike Browning, Bobby Devine, Leeds Davis, and Tom Drummip. The Canoe-free-for-all was won by Johnny O'Mara and Gibby Rose. The final event of the afternoon, the sailing race was won by Bob Massman and Hanny Carpenter.

Vesper services were held in all sections, and this week, the third week we start our trips, with two cabins today leaving for a horse pack trip. The week is full of trips, excitement is high, and boys are already asking for trips of all kinds.

And get this - That's the local delivered price of the New Buick Special V8

2-DOOR, 6-PASSENGER SEDAN Model 480 (Illustration)

*Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice. Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as: heater & defroster... only $81.70.

HAVE you been thinking you can't afford a new Buick? Listen:

If you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick - and we boldly show our price here to prove it.

Look again, and you'll see that this is the local delivered price of the new Buick SPECIAL 2-door, 6-passenger Sedan. Compare, and you'll learn that this price is just a few dollars away from those of the so-called "low-price three."

But - dig a little deeper if you want the real clincher. That's when you find that those few dollars more you pay for a Buick buy you a lot more automobile.

They buy a whale of a lot more power - Buick V8 power - plus the new economy of Power-Head combustion.

They buy a lot more luxury and comfort and solidity - more room, more glass area, more frame strength, more tread width, more ride steadiness - including the million dollar "feel" of all-coil springing and torque-tube stability.

They buy, too, the most advanced styling of the times, and the great panoramic windshield, and the surety that such fresh-looking beauty will stay in the style parade for seasons to come. (That means a better deal for you come resale time.)

Is it any wonder, then, that Buick now outsells all other cars in America except two of the so-called "low-price three"?

Come in for a demonstration - this week, for sure. And learn, in the doing, what a big trade-in allowance our volume sales can bring you.

We're Ready For Tomorrow

Yesterday's railroads made today's America possible.

Without today's railroads tomorrow's America hardly would be possible.

Yesterday's railroads enabled America to become a single nation spanning a continent - our amazing America of today.

Tomorrow's America will be as dependent upon railroads as it was yesterday. A greater America is in the making without railroads capable of coping for its vast, vital, growing traffic needs.

Now those railroads are preparing for tomorrow's task. They have poured billions into their plant - in reliable mechanical, technical or scientific detail that can make them adequate for the nation they must serve has been left out.

America and its railroads are marching hand-in-hand to meet tomorrow.

Michigan needs roads! Every county, city, township and village needs an improved highway system. With the proper administration, these needs can be met now! Tomorrow's road requirements must be met today!

With the continued growth of our population, Michigan schools face added burdens of supplying facilities and personnel. The state must cooperate with local officials in solving urgent school problems.

Encourage state, county and township officials to modernize tax procedures by giving local officials strong delegated powers.

- Build child guidance clinics to make useful citizens out of mentally disturbed children before they become mental patients.
- Offer state-sponsored driver training in every high school to help reduce the annual death toll on our highways.
- Administration of state government to provide efficiency and economy of operation.
- Restoration of an efficient and orderly prison administration.
- A state program of participation with the federal government and Michigan communities in the development of St. Lawrence Seaway projects.
- Maximum encouragement of agricultural enterprise. Support of conservation projects which will develop and reestablish our vast natural resources.
- Encourage the development of industrial and tourist facilities.
- Recognition of individual human rights and fair administration of Michigan labor laws.

On the Move

Are you discontented? Be grateful for it if you are. When nobly used, dissatisfaction can be a tremendous power for good.

It was dissatisfaction with the Old World that drove the early explorers to the New World. Fretting under their ignorance of what might lie inland, De Soto, Coronado, Father Marquette and many others pushed beyond America's shores into the interior and established tiny outposts of civilization there. Intelligent, well-directed dissatisfaction has always made for progress. It keeps us on the move.

This tendency to keep on the move is one that distinguishes animals from plants. For all their "loveliness," plants are "beautiful, but dumb." They lack intelligence of a high order, possibly because they do not need brains. For the most part they are rooted creatures, unable to move by their own volition. Pictures of contentment and utter satisfaction, they stay put. Their food is at their feet and in the surrounding air. They have no use for a brain, the chief function of which, from the lowest animals to the highest, is food seeking. Their brainlessness and their immobility are linked.

But being uneasy, of course, is not enough. The real value of dissatisfaction depends where it is aimed. If it is on aimless, ill-defined restlessness, it is a poisonous irritant to the soul, allowing no comfort or peace of mind in any job, in any human relationship, or with any amount of life's good things. Bennett Cerf, the book publisher, has told of the midwestern book magnate who finally got a seat in a railroad dining car after a long wait. "Do you like split-pea soup?" asked the waiter. "No," answered the prominent book dealer. "Chicken croquettes?" "No!" "Prune pie?" "No!" The waiter snatched the napkin off the table and said, "Good-day!" You see, dissatisfaction with everything always leaves us empty.

But if discontent is purposeful, it makes for fulfillment. Explorers, unsatisfied with what they knew about world geography, came to these shores of ours and found America. Puritan Fathers, uneasy in the spiritual climate of seventeenth century Europe, voyaged to a new land where the air of freedom was fresh and clean. Inventors, vexed with man's inadequate devices for doing his work, have improved his tools. Multitudes reading the Bible have found it breeds unrest. It shows us as we are in contrast to what we ought to be. It pictures for us distant shores of spiritual adventure which we have yet to visit. Just when we think we have arrived at the Port of Perfection the Bible points inland as if to say, "But you have only touched the shore!" A devout and intelligent reading of the Bible keeps us discontented and on the move.

Before we can be dedicated to the Highest we must be disappointed with lesser things.

Dissatisfied? Be thankful that you are. Now, what worthwhile thing are you doing with your discontent? Is it keeping you on the move toward a more abundant life?

Guild Benefit Luncheon, Colorful Style Show Prove Definite Success

With the stunning setting of the new Weatherlane Inn as a background, more than 150 women enjoyed a fashion showing Tuesday of fabulous creations from the local Carriage Trade shop at a one o'clock luncheon and style show sponsored by the Charlevoix Hospital Women's Guild.

Rabbi Kaplan Kiwanis Ladies Night Speaker

O. C. White, assistant customer relations manager for the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., will be the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the V.F.W. post home Monday night.

He will speak on "This Is My Home," a review of his life in Scotland and his impressions of American democracy and the free enterprise system.

On Monday evening, Rabbi Harry Kaplan of Columbus, Ohio, where he is associated with the Ohio State University and who summers at Boulder Park, was the guest speaker at a special Ladies Night program.

He selected as his subject the three hundredth anniversary of the founding of the first Jewish community in America in 1654.

The community was founded by a group of Jewish exiles who came to New Amsterdam from Brazil where they had fled the Spanish Inquisition which had penetrated to South America.

Luncheon was served in the picturesque stone and timbered main dining room of the Inn, followed by a review of a breathtaking collection of original fashions by such famous designers as Tiana Pittelle, Oleg Cassini, Philip Hulitar, Maria Krumi, Jane Derby and Jacques Fath.

Between and between... the models made the fashions lovelier, and the fashions made the models lovelier. And not the least, by far, was charming Mrs. Muir McOulston who modeled a softly-toned and metallic Roman striped original by Hawaiian designer Tiana Pittelle.

Almost waiting to the tune of her guitar like a cunning piper, Carriage Trade's own model, Karen Smith started the parade of fashions. From then on until the climax of the hour and a half long show, each lovely model appeared in a more stunning creation than the one shown just before.

First, the golden pioneer-printed cotton Apache dress... then the fashionable dress dresses worn with silver linked poncho belts. Smooth and sleek black linen tuxedo trousers were paired.

A variety of native fish given to the city by the state fish hatchery have been placed in pools in Charlevoix's parks so that visitors to the city may observe them.

There are those, however, who would destroy or wound the fish as happened this week when someone tried to catch one of the larger trout in the downtown pond and, though unsuccessful, left the fish with a large hook in its mouth.

This sort of vandalism is nothing new for last summer the water was drained from the pond and the fish left to die.

Humane Groups Discuss Plan For Combining

Representatives of both the Charlevoix and Emmet county Humane Societies met Monday at the Dr. Christian Jensen Animal Hospital at Petoskey for a joint meeting with Leslie C. Loomis of Crawfordville, Ind., field director of the American Humane Association.

Mr. Loomis projected plans and activity possibilities which might combine the two county societies into one cooperative unit.

The group studied a set of blue prints for an approved structure that would meet their needs and be expandable whenever the need for increased space was needed. It was said that a shelter owned and operated jointly by the two counties would offer more adaptable facilities and a larger organizational group for activities for raising funds for operation and service.

The proposal will be presented to both county groups at society meetings in the near future for discussion before an answer will be given the AHA, which would assist the two counties in re-organizing as one group, if they should so decide.

Mrs. Wesley L'Huillier, president of the Charlevoix county society, Mr. L'Huillier, Lawrence Supernaw, Frank Oleksy and Kit Fox represented the Charlevoix county group at the joint meeting.

The activities committee of the Charlevoix county society has announced plans for an extensive program to raise funds beginning with the Sportsman's Show sponsored by the Charlevoix Rod and Gun club early next month. Blue prints for the proposed shelter as well as information about the society will be displayed in a special booth at the show.

Persons interested in aiding the society in their efforts to raise funds for an emergency shelter should plan to visit the booth or call on Mrs. L'Huillier at her home. At the present time all animals are being housed in private quarters at the home of the president.

The Charlevoix city council at a special meeting Monday night, approved the purchase of a new fire truck and accepted a bid submitted by the Howe Fire Apparatus Co. of Anderson, Ind., for a truck that will be delivered later this summer.

The Howe company's bid, one of six submitted for consideration, was for $11,500.

The truck will have a 200 horsepower GMC engine and will be equipped with a 500 gallon water tank with a 750 gallon per minute waterous two-stage pump, new hoses and nozzles.

It will also be equipped with power steering, a beacon ray flasher on top, a 12 volt system instead of the usual six volt.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

DO YOU know the proper way to curtsy? Neither do we but we're going to find out before this weekend before past local queens as well as present ruling royalty from around the north gather to pay tribute to the queen of them all, Gail Krahmke, Charlevoix Venetian Night Queen as well as National Cherry Queen.

That's just one of the many activities that will be a part of the Venetian night activities. The Plymouth Kiltie band will present three concerts while here. Bagpipes are most fascinating and those kiltie outfits . . . oooooohhhh . . . They're wonderful we're told and we can believe it after hearing all the pieces they travel to. And if you like them tell Brown Motors about it for they're the ones who've made the arrangements to bring them here.

AND THE hula dancer . . . Mrs. Birgitta Patt . . . That we're looking forward to (as who isn't). She told us that she became interested in the hula, during World War II when she saw it done by authentic dancers. Determined to learn it, she finally had her chance and from what we hear she's really mastered a most difficult dance. Incidentally, the movement of the hands . . . repeat, hands . . . tell the story so when you're seeing it for the first time remember that . . .

AND THE other favorites on the program . . . the Marine band, Camp Charlevoix chorus, the dancers and all the others . . . we're sure you're going to enjoy it while you're waiting for the big event of the evening . . . Ladies and gentlemen, the one and only Venetian Boat Parade . . . On Round Lake and while the boats are parading about the lake the whole scene will be illuminated by fireworks . . . like Christmas, straw hats, and a few other things, fireworks are something we never see of and we're sure you'll find them quite interesting. So remember Saturday and Sunday . . . And keep your fingers crossed that this weather holds . . .

WE DON'T know if you're like us but every time we look at the lake we see something new and different . . . We have in mind at the moment Round Lake . . . a small lake as lakes go but so interesting . . . It has more stories around it than most lakes many times larger . . . We ran across another one the other day for the first time . . . We happened to be down at John Cross' new market when the tug came in . . . the fish were unloaded, the nets scalded and soon everyone was busy winding nets on the reels to drive out the squeak of the reels, the shadows cast by the late afternoon sun and the reels took on their own . . . all very new and different . . . And reminiscent of the days when the lake was lined with such scenes as the fleet of tug, numbering well into the 20's hauled in tons of fish and dried thousands of nets . . . More memories of another era in our illustrious history . . .

LAST WEEK we mentioned the early history of the Inn hotel and the tragedy which accompanied its construction . . . Bob Miles called to tell us he had a picture of the hotel after it had been blown in and when we saw it was a wreck we aren't kidding . . . Hope we can learn more about it and use it in a story in the near future . . . Unless you see it you can't appreciate the damage . . . It's a wonder anyone got out alive . . .

WHILE WE were talking Bob came up with several other stories of interest about the town's early days . . . The house he now owns on Park ave. was once owned by a local hardware dealer by the name of Blanchard . . . one of the early families in the community . . . One day the doorbell rang and a lady whom they knew slightly asked if she might see their downstairs bathroom . . . a most unusual request but they decided to humor her and guided her to the big old-fashioned bathroom . . . Much to their surprise she said "Yes, that's it. I see it's still in use." She went on to explain that as a girl she had been employed by the Blanchards when they had had the first bathtub in town installed in their home . . . She'd always wondered about it and when the Mileses moved into the house she got up courage to ask to see it . . . And tho' it's a grotesque old tub, Bob's never had the courage to have it replaced . . .

HE WAS telling us, too, that the house on the corner of Park ave. and State st. now owned by the Dr. W. W. Mitchell is supposed to be the oldest house in town still standing . . . And he also told me the reason why Ralph "Washie" Washburn won't have the stump outside his house removed . . . Seems there's a lot of sentiment from days gone by attached to it . . . And as long as we're talking about Park ave., how about the third story cupola that's been removed from the house at 103 Park now owned by Dr. F. F. Hoffman . . . What it was used for no one seems to know but it was finished and furnished and yet was only a small room on the third floor . . . someone ventured a guess that it was a lookout for marauders, etc., but we hardly think so . . . The house, incidentally, was built by another old-time family, the Fox family, who also operated a store here . . . Can't tell you what but remember seeing their ads in the old newspapers that have come our way . . .

IF YOU want to see another bit of early Charlevoix-ania, take a look-see at the huge picture in the Weatherstone Inn . . . A picture of sailing vessels in the harbor here . . . probably taken before the turn of the century . . . You'll have to see it to really appreciate not only the picture but the setting that has been made for it . . . It's worth a trip there just to see that . . .

MRS. H. E. JACOBS just called to tell us that she also has a large framed picture of the Inn cave-in . . . Didn't think there were any around for, as we said, we'd never heard of it before . . .

BILL RATIGAN'S Dockside Press has created a lot of interest around the north . . . He's had more visitors from more places . . . And when you see the place you can understand why . . . He has more, stuff, for lack of a better word, per square foot than any place we've ever seen . . . And all of it interesting . . . Every time you visit the place you'll find something new . . . Bill's supposed to be working on another book but we don't know when he gets time unless it's early in the morning for his visitor's book has just seeds of names since the first time we saw it . . .

IF YOU feel you're in need of a bit of luck, consult Mrs. Harold Bedford . . . Her grand-daughter, Cynthia Curtis, informed us recently that her grandmother has an "eye" for "not only four but five, six and seven leaf clovers. Quite a knack when you consider that we can look all day in a clover field and never spot a one. And if you've been wanting to do something for the new Hospital Guild, Mrs. Alan Macdonell has just seeds of mending at her house to be done for the present hospital . . . If you want to do some, give her a ring and she'll tell you when you can come to work . . . If you've only an hour it will help, so how about coming around soon and donating a few hours . . . It's lots of fun with lots of good company while you're doing it . . .

SAW A Conservation Department release the other day that mentioned the increase of white-tailed squirrels in the southern part of the state . . . Where have those guys been? . . . We've had a lot of them around here for the past year and no one's been especially alarmed about them . . .

IF YOU thought you were seeing flying saucers one day last week . . . it wasn't, if that makes sense . . . The "thing" was a huge balloon which was launched at Sault Ste. Marie for the purpose of measuring cosmic rays . . . radio-controlled so that scientists could raise or lower the balloon . . . the gondola even had special "passengers" aboard . . . mice and fruit flies . . . don't ask us why but for some experimental purposes . . . The course of the wanderer was followed by planes and telescopes before it was brought down the next day between Duluth and Bismark, N. D. . . . The balloon went up to an altitude of 90,000 ft. and what's worrying us is how the mice were kept warm . . . (they were kept alive in a special oxygen-fed gondola but no mention was made of central

A RESIDENT of this community for 73 years, Ernest Peaslee made a trip recently to his former home at Benton Harbor and there lies a story which made the newspapers throughout the country. Seems that he returned to visit the graves of ten brothers and sisters, eight of whom died in the spinal meningitis epidemic which hit the area after the Civil War . . . At that time there were 11 children in the Peaslee family . . . eight of the children died in a few weeks and two others died in less than two years . . . only an older sister who was visiting in Maine when the epidemic struck survived . . . Mr. Peaslee was born after all ten had been buried . . . A Benton Harbor woman, visiting here, related the story which was heard by Mrs. Edgar Smith who repeated the story to Mr. Peaslee who recognized it as the story of his own family . . . As a result he made a visit to the unmarked graves in the Norton cemetery at Benton Harbor, recently, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Stover of Lake Orion . . .

INCREASING irritation among peach growers of the state is responsible for a campaign to encourage housewives to "put off until tomorrow what they could do today".

Peach people here have been stewing, sweating and swearing for several years about the break they get on National Peach Week. This year the promotion was scheduled for July 19-25 . . . weeks before a Michigan peach is picked. The early date is a distinct advantage to southern growers, whose orchards are ready for picking early in summer.

This season, for the first time, the Michigan Department of Agriculture took some definite steps to help the Michigan grower market his product.

"We have long been concerned over Peach Week publicity coming a month ahead of Michigan harvest," said G. S. McIntyre, director.

The department made available $2,500 in funds which could be matched by the peach growing industry and used to remind housewives that Michigan peaches would be ready about Labor Day. "Michigan grown peaches are worth waiting for," states McIntyre. "They are excellent in quality, and low in price. The crop this year is expected to reach 2 1/2 million bushels, somewhat smaller than other years."

Conferences to provide a better market for northern peaches were arranged. Representatives from independent and chain groceries, growers and packers met with ag department leaders to see what each could do to help out.

If Mrs. Housewife can't peaches later this year than others, there is a good chance she is doing so because several Michigan groups cooperated to help the Michigan peach grower.

WAS THE $150,000 Battle with the gypsy moth a success?

The first part of a state effort, were shocked to learn that the parasite, which destroyed nearly all green plants, had been controlled for the first time in a large west of Pennsylvania.

A central Michigan Plans were hastily prepared for a spraying project aimed at killing every moth in the state. It took four airplanes about a week to finish the attempt.

"As of today no live gypsy moth has been seen in Michigan since we sprayed," said C. A. Boyer, chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry.

A necessary part of the fight against this pest, Boyer explained, is a trapping program to test the efficiency of the spray. Traps have been located over a 1,600,000 acre area in a 25 mile radius of Lansing; 10 miles further in each direction along key highways.

They are baited with portions of the female moth which will attract males from a distance of one half mile. "We feel our traps are 100% fool proof but we can't say for sure for another 50 trapping days that our spray has killed all the moths," explained Boyer. "Even if none are trapped," he added, "a visual search will be continued for eggs that might have been laid by untrapped females."

FIRST "DRY RUN" tests of the new State Police emergency trailer were entirely successful according to Commissioner Joseph A. Childs.

The trailer was built by police personnel after a need for such a vehicle was experienced at the Flint and Port Huron disasters. Barring unexpected emergencies, plans call for the official use of the trailer at the International Air Show in Detroit, July 24-25. Principle use of the trailer is to serve as headquarters-control point for state police when they are called into an area. It provides communications between men in the field and with other areas. There are four radio transmitters and a specially designed telephone switchboard supplying five trunk and 12 extension lines. The telephone equipment, designed and built by Michigan Bell engineers, may be hooked up to regular commercial facilities or powered by local battery power.

When working under disaster or congested conditions, walkie-talkie units permit excellent communications with officers in the field.

A JAIL break attempt is responsible for a ruling that Wayne County guards will now wear clip-on bow ties.

Poor Storage Can Cause Loss Of Wheat Crop

Charlevoix county farmers will soon be harvesting their 1954 wheat crop. Several precautions are urged by Ed Rehman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent, in order that farmers will not lose any wheat by poor storage and insect trouble.

First Rehman reminds every wheat grower not to store any wheat that is above 14 per cent moisture. Just because the dew has dried off the wheat does not mean that the moisture content is 14 per cent or less.

Clean the grainery out completely of old grain and feed that may have accumulated. Apply a DDT or methoxychlor spray to the ceiling, walls and floors of the grainery at least two weeks before the grain is to be stored. If possible, remove the grain before harvest it might pay to fumigate the old grain.

Another word of warning is never to put your grain on top of old grain as the insects, if they are present, will infest the new grain.

Additional recommendations and information on proper storage may be had from the County Extension Office at Boyne City.

Wheat Growers To Ballot On Quotas July 23

Farmers in Charlevoix County who grow wheat will vote for or against a marketing quota program for the 1955 crop. This referendum will be held at the Marion Township Hall on July 23, 1954 and will be from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

As required by law, the Secretary of Agriculture has proclaimed wheat quotas, subject to a power referendum. At least two-thirds of the eligible farmers who vote must approve quotas before they can be put into effect. Any and all farmers who will have an interest in a wheat acreage for 1955 of more than 15 acres are eligible to vote in the referendum.

If the vote is "Yes" — Marketing quotas will be in effect for all farms where the wheat acreage maturing for grain is more than 15 acres. Marketing penalties will apply to all "excess" wheat produced on individual farms.

Price support at the effective level will be available to all farmers who comply with their wheat acreage allotments.

If the vote is "No" — There will be no marketing quotas and no marketing penalties on "excess" wheat. Price support, under legislative provisions, will be 50 percent of parity.

Any producers who fail to comply with their wheat allotment will not be eligible for price support.

All known wheat growers in Charlevoix County will receive full information on the Wheat Quota Referendum in a leaflet mailed with their 1955 Wheat Allotment Notices.

Mexican Beetles Reported Infesting Many Crops Here

Mexican bean beetles are not "south of the border" — they're here, bean growers and gardeners are reminded by Ed Rehman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent.

The beetles are busy now laying eggs . . . and there is nothing to be gained by waiting to control the insects later, agrees Ray Jones, Michigan State College extension entomologist. The important thing is to move in with sprays before they lay too many eggs.

The spiny larvae are more difficult to control later because of their numbers, explains the bug specialist.

Malathion is a good insecticide to fight Mexican bean beetles on field beans . . . but it should not be used on snap beans if the harvest is closer than 10 days off, warns Jones. Use rotenone-pyrethrum mixture on snap beans.

It's important to get the spray on the underside of leaves, where the beetles hide. Use 3 pounds of 25 per cent wettable malathion powder to 100 gallons of water . . . that's 3 tablespoons per gallon. For the snap beans, use 3 pounds of 5 per cent rotenone powder per 100 gallons.

Malathion and rotenone can be dusted on also. Details on their use on other insects and mites are available from County Agricultural Agent Rehman, for Extension Bulletin 312 . . . "Insect and Disease Control on Vegetables and Truck Crops."

Open House At Lake City Ag Station Aug. 4

Farmers who missed the 25th anniversary open house last year at the Lake City Experiment Station . . . and visitors who were "rained out" on the tours . . . will have another chance on August 4.

Plans are shaping up fast for the Missaukee county event, points out Ed Rehman, Charlevoix county agricultural agent. There will be nine stops on morning tours, a noon program and two longer tours in the afternoon . . . one for potato and crops people, one for livestock.

Quackgrass, brush and weed control, the raising of beef cattle, turkeys and fish, profitable crop rotations and soil management, and the complete story on "spud" will be just a few attractions. A food preparation and nutrition demonstration is being planned for the women visitors.

M.S.C. Horticulturist Jack Rose urges gardeners to head off weeds by stirring the top inch of soil with a rake or hoe, after each rain.

Garbage-cooking has cut down hog V-E disease enough to prove it's worthwhile to have a law requiring it, M.S.C. veterinarians report.

Hens like to keep cool, too, in hot weather, M.S.C. poultrymen advise.

Say Pollorum Can Be Wiped Out By Testing Program

Delegates to the recent National Poultry Improvement Plan Conference were told that pollorum can be wiped out by their testing program, reports Dr. Howard C. Zindel, head of the Michigan State college poultry department.

Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Horse also told men from 47 states that two-thirds of the nation's chicks are produced now by NPIP members. He said that the poultry industry does not want price supports, that past experience with supports for their perishable products has not been satisfactory. The constructive approach, he noted, is through the National Poultry and Turkey Improvement Plans.

The undersecretary pointed out that poultrymen are interested in greater production of improved chicks, at the least cost, to increase the farmers profit and provide better products at reasonable costs to consumers. Research and education are sound investments, he stressed, and he pointed ed out that consumers now eat turkey all year long.

Reviewing work of the poultry industry-state-federal project, the national farm official pointed out that the program is voluntary, has its emphasis at the state level, and that breeders, hatcherymen and other leaders carry the major responsibility. He lauded poultrymen for increasing average egg production from 122 to 183 in 1953. He noted that broiler business has zoomed upwards for 16 years, with a 20 per cent expansion each year, and that chicken consumption per person per year has gone from 18 pounds in 1935-39 to 30 pounds. In 1947, it took 4.1 pounds of feed to produce a pound of gain and 89 days to grow a 3-pound broiler. Now it is 3.4 pounds of feed and 72 days.

It will pay wheat farmers, with the largest yield per acre since 1866 predicted, to contact county agricultural agents for some combining advice. There may be a harvesting school scheduled.

Farm costs are not going down much, warn M.S.C. farm economists.

Soils District To Join State And Grange In Contest

The Charlevoix Soil Conservation District has decided to go along with the State Association of Soil Districts and the Michigan State Grange in a soil and water conservation photo contest. Anyone in the Charlevoix District who is under 29 years of age as of March 1, 1954 and are Amateurs in photography may enter in this contest.

The contest will run all summer along with the deadline on October 1. Each entry shall consist of four mounted glossy prints with two of the prints showing a need for conservation practices and the other two showing conservation practices applied.

Anyone who is interested in this contest may obtain additional information from Ed Rehman, County agricultural agent.

A wise landscaper has a handy shade tree under which to do his summer planning, note Michigan State landscape architects.

Teen-Age Buffet for Four

A summer Saturday evening, a good movie, the "nicest boy in town," and their favorite double date—what more could a girl ask! Well, she can ask to do her share, say a supper for four on the veranda. If she's smart she plans a simple meal, low in cost and low in calories too—teen-age boys are almost as weight conscious as girls.

Lay in a supply of paper plates and cups—no time to waste in dishwashing. Barbecued frankfurters and potato chips are always popular and filling, too. But a smart girl is going to come up with something just a bit different—perhaps a frosty pitcher of Iced Tea Punch. This one adds lemon-flavored gelatin and orange juice to sparkling, refreshing tea in a combination as new as it is delicious.

Iced Tea Punch
2 cups boiling water
3 tablespoons tea leaves
3 cups reconstituted orange juice
Fresh mint leaves

Pour boiling water over tea leaves; steep 3 to 5 minutes. Strain. Pour hot tea over gelatin and stir until completely dissolved. Add orange juice. Pour over cracked ice and garnish with fresh mint leaves. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Mrs. L. E. Grate, who was named earlier to head a committee to plan the open house for the new hospital prior to the official opening, reported on the progress of her committee.

A committee composed of Mrs. E. D. Hawley, Mrs. C. B. Staltonstall and Mrs. C. M. Bice presented a constitution and by-laws for consideration. They were read by the Guild secretary, Mrs. Jaff Novotny, several amendments made and will be presented for adoption at a later meeting.

A large amount of mending to be done for the present hospital was also offered to the Guild by Miss Ann Baumgartner, hospital superintendent. A group gathered earlier at the home of Mrs. Macdonell to work on it. Workers are asked to meet today (Thursday) at the home of Mrs. Don Gilbert, 520 Newman st., to continue the project. Anyone who can give some time is urged to meet at the Gilbert home any time this afternoon. Further information about the work may be obtained by calling Mrs. Macdonell or Mrs. Gilbert.

for family life and their talents which have contributed much to the American way of life. Among the few contributions he listed were those to the clothing industry with its mass production techniques which makes Americans today the best dressed people in the world; the motion picture industry; the entertainment world which is filled with people of Jewish descent and the field of science which has added much. Among the latest contribution is the Salk anti-polio vaccine discovered and perfected by Jonas Salk.

Countries in Europe which have persecuted not only Jewish but other peoples such as Spain and Germany are today only second rate powers, he continued. Russia which is persecuting all peoples under its power may meet the same fate, America, on the other hand, is the hope of the world today because it has welcomed exiles.

M. A. Levinson of the program committee introduced the speaker.

Guild Style Show Luncheon Success

with an exquisite white shirt, accented with a spangled string tie and huge fish watch-faced cuff links.

What is so obviously called the tan-tanizing Tiana Pittelle Hobo dress was modeled complete with hobo stick and travel pouch. Unusually striking and original, net covered Shell Shocker shorts designed by Jane Ford, were combined with an aqua liner top.

One of the outstanding highlights of the show was Buttercup, the little yellow lamb, who succeeded only by a narrow wool margin in outshining the lamb printed shepherdess dress being modeled with its open-back laced bodice treatment.

Following the strawberry colored sweater-combined Scrabble dresses, the fabulously gay Hula line separates, and the black and white-ruffled partalions which were box topped by a white ruffled bibbed slipover, was shown an elegant collection of high styled originals for which Carriage Trade is famous. Gorgeous in styling, texture and design of fabric, they had in common with each other only the snug, snug bodies and the beautifully hoisted, which billowed over variable table pottis-kirts.

Tiana Pittelle's beautiful white creation, cut like a sari and shot with copper, her flamboyant hand painted Pinks dress and green checked Pineapple dress... and her Symphony in deep blue, the skirt patterned with sophistication. Her quilted pink and blue Parakeet dress, with the model carrying a pink flower and ribboned eage where sat a proud and snooty bird... naturally.

Some were combined with a like or contrasting scarfs, matching cashmere sweaters with delicate and artistically designed beautifull embroidery... some with colored gloves, extremely long ones or extremely short.

Dramatically, the Rainbow dress was one of the best loved. With its riot of seventeen colors of silk gauze... and the tip of its scarf caught at a point where the bare shouldered bodice ends. Elegantly, the Gold Rush dress with its yards and yards of silk chiffon skirt hand screened in gold and studded with pearls was a favorite. Also the Versailles-blue scalloped skirted brocade over ruffled blue tulle... with tiny pink and blue plumes tucked into the portrait neckline.

Oleg Cassini's torso dress with its flattering placement of emerald green and unusual neck and sleeve treatment, was fit for a queen.

For a princess... white nylon grandly embossed with tiny embroidered nosegays, and with it a royal pink parasol. And the pink and blue on white chiffon Peacock Fan dress... or the pale blue nylon tulle with matching stole... its full, full skirt dotted with tiny imported straw flowers. And a storybook favorite, bouffant white silk gauze with delicate pink satin padded rosebuds framing bare shoulders worn with shorty pink gloves. Another surprise highlight during the show was the appearance of the rational cherry queen, sparkling Gail Krahne, a perfect picture in Oleg Cassini's checked Red Cherry dress, with cherries dripping from one shoulder and the hemline finished off with inverted pleats.

There were many others... and if there was one that outshone any other for absolute elegance it would be Carriage Trade DeLuxe, shown at the climax of the show... another stunning Pittella design of rippling, full skirted white silk gauze, the hugging bodice applied in French white velvet. With it, a Viennese argora sweater also applied in velvet... and studded with pearls.

Local models who participated in this outstanding event of the season were Rosemary Cartright, Mrs. James Reese, Mrs. George Wolfe, Mrs. James Coleman, Mrs. Jack Goldman, Barbara Cross and Karen Smith. Mrs. Jerry Devore of Iridian River also modeled. The fashion show was directed by Mrs. Siswick Reilly, owner of Carriage Trade, Inc.

Each year at Cusino wildlife experiment station in the central upper peninsula, spotted fawns in the mile-square study pen must be captured, tagged and inspected. Deer can range freely in the pen, which provides several types of wild habitat, but they be checked carefully for population changes. The work is sily done in late May or early June. Two workers here note information about one of the spotted youngsters.

Farm Families Use F. H. A. Loans To Finance Projects

Farm families in Charlevoix and Emmet Counties have made good use of Farmers Home Administration credit and services this past year and have stepped up the efficiency of their farming operations, Carl H. Brown, the agency's county supervisor headquartered at Petoskey said this week.

Additional funds have been made available, he said, to lend through the next year to farmers to operate, buy, enlarge, or improve farms.

A large proportion of the money loaned in these counties during the past 12 months has been to veterans and other young farm families who are establishing better farm setups. Their greatest needs were for adequate credit and some help in developing sound systems of farming and adopting efficient farm management to farmers who were able to obtain the financing they needed to practice. No loans were obtained from other local lenders.

A total of $79,145 was loaned in the two counties for equipment, livestock, fertilizer, feed, and seed, that farm families needed to make better use of their land and labor resources.

Farm housing loans amounted to $5109 from funds appropriated by Congress.

The county office of the Farmers Home Administration serving Charlevoix and Emmet Counties is located in Room 5, 316½ E. Mitchell, Petoskey.

Ask Co-operation In Observing National Farm Safety Week

National Farm Safety Week next week, if conscientiously observed by all, will mean money in every farmer's pocket this year, claims Ed Rebnan, Charlevoix county agricultural agent. Farm accidents last year cost more than 17 million man-days of work time. Most of the accidents were preventable. The majority stemmed from carelessness.

Make safety check of your farm today, he advises. A little time and effort now will prevent that costly accident before it happens. Check the farm home for loose stairs, unsafe ladders and shaky chairs. See to it that matches, drugs and insecticides are out of the children's reach.

Be sure that ladders, stairs, and floors in the barn are sturdy and sound, adds David G. Steinicke, safety specialist at Michigan State college. Check all mechanical equipment. Be sure your electrical circuits are not overloaded, that your electrical devices bear the seal of the Underwriter's laboratory. That seal means they are properly designed to do their job safely.

Adopt safe practices for yourself and family. Never try to oil or repair machinery while it is running. Always pour gasoline and kerosene in the open. Keep youngsters away from the livestock. Remember, there is no such thing as a "gentle bull," says Steinicke.

Finally, make Farm Safety a year around pledge. Safety should be your motto 365 days of the year, agent Rebnan reminds.

Michigan Banks Offer Scholarships

Nearly 250 Michigan bank scholarships are available for young people who want to study in eight-week courses in agriculture and home economics at Michigan State college.

The banks provide these $100 scholarships to help young people do a better job on the farm and in the home and to be leaders in their communities, points out Short Course Director Ralph W. Tenny. Classes starting October 25 will cover agriculture or home economics for two-thirds of the time. The other third will be on rural leadership, family living, parliamentary procedure and public speaking.

Recreational programs also are provided the students, who will live in Short Course dormitories and eat at the Short Course cafeteria. Sports, lectures, parties and musical programs are included.

Youths interested in scholarships... should contact a vocational agriculture teacher, a home economics teacher, a county agricultural agent, a local banker or the Short Course Department, Michigan State college.

Secretary Benson To Be Speaker At A.B.A. Meet Aug. 5

Thousands of farm folks, representing a cross-section of Michigan agriculture, will take a "farming holiday" on Thursday, August 5, for a visit to Michigan State college. It will be a big day in other ways but the main attraction will be Secretary of Agriculture Ezra S. Benson.

Benson, making his first Michigan appearance since becoming secretary, will speak at the Michigan Artificial Breeders Cooperative, marking its 10th anniversary. Groups from every major farm organization and hundreds of individual farmers and their families will be on hand.

The speech is scheduled for 1 p.m. and groups gathering from other campus activities will include the fruit and vegetable men, who start their Orchard Day at 10 a.m. at the College Orchard, nearby on the south campus.

Research men will open the "tools" on science aiding the farm industry, with everything from dwarf trees and strawberry breeding to chemical weed control and irrigation. Vegetable growers will see variety trials with tomatoes, melons and squash, lettuce bolting, hybrid onions and hormone treatments on cucumbers.

The MABC open house, on Forest Road, will include bull barn and laboratory tours and a trip to the nearby School of Veterinary Medicine project seeking answers to problems of cows that have breeding troubles.

Tours for both the MABC Anniversary and Orchard Day groups will continue after Benson's speech at 1 p.m. at the MABC headquarters, or in the College Auditorium in case of rain. The Michigan Dairy Queen, Mary Lou Deal of Three Rivers, also will be on the program.

White gnats are making pests of themselves again, doing damage to lawns and newly-set-out strawberries.

Michigan State college entomologists recommend treating the lawn or strawberry bed with five pounds of 5 per cent chlordane dust per 1,000 square feet. By killing the gnats with chlordane, you will also get rid of moles by removing their favorite food supply. The chemical also gets rid of ants. The chemical should be washed into the soil with the garden hose.

Country Life Group To Hold Conference At MSC Sept. 14-16

Once a year the American Country Life Association brings together delegates from all walks of rural life for its annual conference.

The group, formed in Michigan, will return to its founding place Sept. 14-16 for the annual convention at Michigan State college.

State A.B.A. Adds Milk Shorthorns To Bull Herd

Michigan Artificial Breeders announces that Milking Shorthorn breeding service is now available to MABC, local ABA's who wish to use it.

Three bulls are available now and fourth will be added soon, says A. C. Baltzer, Extension Dairyman, M.S.C., who has assisted the Milking Shorthorn breeders to develop their program.

Michigan Artificial Breeders is assisting the Milking Shorthorn breeders of Michigan to establish the program. The local ABA's of M.A.B.C. are now supplied with this service providing dairywomen wishing to use it apply to Raymond L. Fisher, inspector in this area according to Elias Somerville, Secretary of the American-Charlevoix ABA. A minimum of at least 50 cows are required to make the service available says Mr. Fisher. East Jordan or Ken Watson, Central Lake.

Americans eat 15 quarts of ice cream per person a year... and now M.S.C. dairy processing specialists are developing a low calorie ice cream.

Salad Menu For Summer Luncheon

For a decorative and delicious summer luncheon, serve seafood salad in a tomato aspic ring. Assorted crackers and mugs of cold beer are a good choice for accompaniments.

Summertime entertaining calls for special planning. Ideally, your menu should lend itself to advance preparation so that you can be cool and relaxed when guests arrive. The illustrated salad fills this requisite, for it can be prepared during the cool morning hours—or the day ahead. For the tomato aspic, follow any standard recipe and chill the mixture in an 8-inch ring mold. Here's the recipe for the seafood center:

SEAFOOD SALAD (Makes 8 servings)

1 7-ounce can tuna

1 6½ ounce can crabmeat
1 6½ ounce can shrimp
2 tablespoons French dressing
1 cup diced celery
½ cup diced cucumber
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup mayonnaise
Salt, pepper, paprika to taste

Flake tuna and crab meat. Remove black vein from shrimp. Combine seafood and French dressing. Marinate 15 minutes. Add remaining ingredients. Toss lightly. Serve in center of unmolded tomato aspic ring. Garnish with lettuce and whole black olives.

Mince Meat Sauce on Ice Cream Means Cool Delight

Now that mince meat comes in convenient form for year-round use, there are many tempting summer desserts calling for this one-time winter standby.

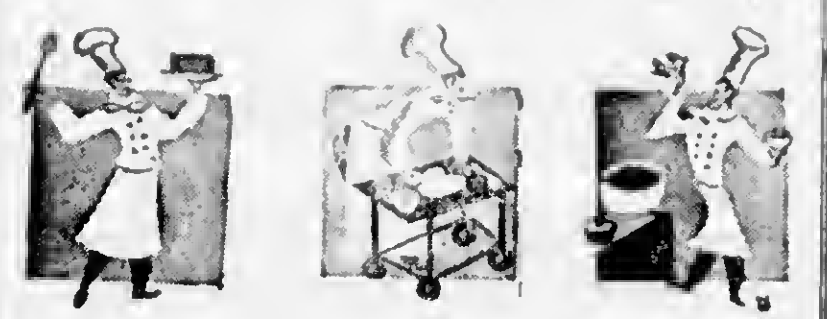

One of the best of these summer treats is a sauce made from a 9-ounce package of condensed mince meat—a spicy, made-in-a-jiffy sauce to serve with ice cream or sliced cake, cottage or vanilla pudding.

If you want a specially substantial dessert, but one that takes little time to prepare, place a slice of ice cream between two slices of loaf cake—both bought ready-made—and spoon the rich mince meat sauce over the luscious sandwiches. This combination forms.

Mince Meat Sauce
1 9-ounce package condensed mince meat
1½ cups water
3 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
6 tablespoons orange juice
Break mince meat into pieces. Add water and sugar. Place over heat and stir until all lumps are thoroughly broken up. Bring to brisk boil; continue boiling 2 minutes or so. Add orange rind and orange juice. Makes about 2½ cups.

No 2 DON'T PASS ON A CURVE

Passing on a curve is like walking into a dark theater on a bright day — you can't see what's ahead of you. And you can't see what's about to come around that curve. "Blind" curves on state highways and on some county highways have life saving yellow lines. Less important ones may not. More gradual curves make passing dangerous with both cars at high speed.

Once you get on the wrong side of the pavement you're in trouble if a car comes around the curve toward you. Both dodging and braking are harder because centrifugal force is pulling your car either left or right. The possibilities of collisions, head-on, side-swipe, rear-end, or losing control are very great.

Olach-Nothhelfer Vows Exchanged Saturday In Detroit Church Ceremony

St. Catherine's Chapel of SS. Peter and Paul church in Detroit was the scene of the wedding Saturday morning of Mrs. Hubert Olach of Detroit and Dr. Ralph Nothhelfer of Ferndale.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Young of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nothhelfer of Ferndale are the parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Fr. John Ryan officiated at the Nuptial Mass before an altar decorated with bouquets of white summer flowers and lighted tapers in the presence of their immediate families and a few friends.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, chose a waltz-length gown of white lace over pale blue taffeta for her wedding. It was fashioned with a full skirt and strapless bodice worn with a matching lace jacket that was buttoned to the waist with a self-covered buttons and held a Peter Pan collar and long sleeves which came to points over the wrists. A close-fitting half-hat of lace and taffeta secured her shoulder length veil. She carried a white prayer book, a gift of her mother, which was topped with a white orchid and pink rosebuds. She also carried an heirloom Irish lace and linen handkerchief, a gift of the bridegroom's mother.

Genevieve Polinski of Highland Park as maid of honor and Mrs. Earl Kroll of Ironton as bridesmaid wore identical ballerina length gowns of light blue nylon organdy fashioned with round necklines and full skirts flared with white, small white dots and white mitts. They carried Colonial bouquets of white carnations and blue iris.

Thomas Nothhelfer of Flint assisted his brother as best man and ushers were Dr. Louis De-Pre of Detroit and Charles Von-ble of Ferndale.

Mrs. Young selected a powder blue lace dress with rhinestone trim on the bodice and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Nothhelfer, mother of the bridegroom, wore a rose pink lace dress and white accessories. Both mothers wore white orchid corsages.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast for the wedding party and 45 guests was held at the Stockholm. A pale blue wedding cake centered the bride's table.

After a month's motor trip through the north, the couple will return to Detroit and after Sept. 1 will be at home at 425 Hillview Lane, Rochester, Michigan.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Young, who are spending the summer at Iron River, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kroll and family of Ironton, Mrs. George Bergmann of Charlevoix, Dr. and Mrs. Sidney Lytle, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fink and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nothhelfer of Flint and Joseph Nothhelfer and Mary Nothhelfer of Saginaw.

To know what to wear in hatless Charlevoix... and to be correctly dressed on every vacation occasion, including the coming Venetian Festival weekend... is one of the distinctions of every well dressed native and (resort-er).

To the gal who seems puzzled, there comes a fashion release direct from a well-known designer, stating that most vacationing women instinctively recognize the value of our thinking-of-it casuals... which include the wonderful mix-master separates!

"With great ease," she says, "you can dress divinely for terrace cocktails... or stroll in slim pants down the boulevard, knowing full well that you look your best, if you plan your vacation wardrobe wisely." So, here are some fashion facts that will see you through the season in style.

FIRST of all, you'll be needing an all weather coat... one to take you from home to resort either by car, train, plane or boat. SECONDLY, a classic dress... the shirt type for city and travel; a scoop necked and sleeveless sheath dress, with a 'cover-up' for daytimes, and worn bare shouldered for dressy evenings.

And then, a simple cotton... be-striped, be-checked, be-flowered, be-dotted or plain that will take you absolutely everywhere. Slim pants and jackets, shirts and shorts and bathing suits are for-sure for Charlevoix, whether you're relaxing on the beach, on board, or in your own backyard.

News Round-up At Camp Charlevoix

The third week of camp started off on Monday with several of the overnight trips scheduled to leave, and boys were excited as they looked forward to sleeping out under the stars and cooking their own meals. We feel that this is a very important part of camping, as it teaches a boy to take care of himself in sometimes adverse conditions.

Cabins 9 and 10 started off our trip season by going to Mt. McSaubu by horseback. The boys and men making this trip were: Tom Himscher, Chuckie Himsch, John Lambrecht, John Rion, Marston Price, Fred McQuire, Floyd Gaunt, Don Kelly, their Counselor, Bud Morse's boys were Jeffrey Mack, Bob Mehring, Jimmy Hand, Rick Gerold, Chuck Worth, Jimmy Boyle, and Dallas Darr. The cowboys on this trip were Jake Whitecrow and Jim Mueller.

Jim McDonnell and Dan Hanson took their two groups on a picnic to Mt. McSaubu, taking with them these boys: Tommy Drumm, Leeds Davis, Michael Browning, Bobby Devine, Roger Lundgren, Roy Gettle, Toby Van Zile, Bob Miller, David Vass, John Druppny, Richard Oliver, Bill Kirtz, Bill McMullin, and Tommy Wright. In the evening, two cabin groups went into town to the movies. Bill Wilkinson and Tom Verbeulan took these boys, Richard Cox, John Schmidt, Matt Budar, James Vardon, Ken Hamlin, David Smallwood, Larry Garrett, Teddy Roe, Bob Helwig, Arde Haiduck, John McKeering, Harold Emmons, Ben Douglas, Fred Billings.

On Tuesday, cabins number 1 and 6 went down to Eastport for an overnight trip. These boys were taken by their two counselors, Jack Huldin and John Hartzell, the boys being Larry Drumm, Dick Daley, Zeke Gardner, Tommy Zigler, Jim Alford, Ted Jordan, Mike Frederick, Jim Mogle, Jon Howard, Jamie Mueller, Stewart Crampton, Jim Baird, David Himsch, Bob Odle.

Susan Lake, right near us here, was the destination of cabin 4 and 5 for their first overnight trip of the season. Owen Robbins and Jerry Wallevand are the counselors of these two cabins, and their boys are: Joe Whinery, Steve McCleave, Chris Morgan, John Hogan, Ricky Croy, Larry Eiferle, Charles Stoddard, Dick Gibboney, Jim Plummer, Jim Boyche, John Brooks, Andy Carick, Carl Schwenzfeier, Bob Andrae. In the evening, an all-camp treasure hunt was held.

Thursday saw cabins 16 and 17 on a horseback trip to Mt. McSaubu. The trip was escorted to the camping area by Slim Corbett and Chuck Kearney, two of our cowboys. The boys making the trip were: Bill Prosser, Jack Tranter, Jim Rion, Jim Smith, Bruce Ingbauer, Hickman Price, Hanny Carpenter, Alan Gornick, Jan Gibboney, Dirk Scholten, Bob Seeman, Bill Nicoll, Gary Murlin, and Michael Harrah. The two saddle sore counselors were Jack Martin and Jack Prosser.

Thursday was also a movie night to town and the boys from cabins 8, 11 and 13 really enjoyed themselves. Dave Grey's boys making the trip were Skipper

Frantz, Larry Cummings, Mike Finnerty, Bob Hicks, Jim Hartman, John Love, and Durfee Day. Joe Chapel, Mark Wenner, John Rose, Dick Seeman, John O'mara, Terry Stuhler, and John Wildanger were taken to town by Wally Jeffries. Gordie Hyde took John Balch, Peck Kunkel, Tom Frech, John Parr, Verne Sussman, Dick Wilson, and Dick Munnick.

Eastport, on the shores of Lake Michigan, was again enjoyed by the campers on Friday when cabins 7 and 12 went on their first overnight trip of the year. Joe Mapes, Jib Bailey, Tom Barrett, George Davis, Jim Davison, Bob Ballenger, and Dave Matthews were taken by Dick Roth. Don Huldin took Dave Wilson, Bob Wood, Bill McClave, Devy Barnes, Peter Nathan, Gibby Rose, and Roger Smith.

Cabin 21, led by Jerry Planutis, went on a conducted tour of the U. S. Coast Guard Station in town. The boys making the trip were Mac Gibboney, Kent Gibbs, Andy Menzies, Jack Stevens, Tex Huntington, Monte McFadden, and Jim Faulkner.

On Saturday night in the lodge the counselors presented a variety show and fashion show which the boys enjoyed very much. The fashion show was a subject of conversation with the boys for quite awhile after the end of the all-camp evening.

Sunday morning our regular chapel service was held with Dan Hanson being the speaker. His talk was most inspiring and several of the parents told us how much they enjoyed it. The services was held in the outdoor chapel, which has been enlarged and is very spacious under the tall pine trees. On Sunday afternoon, there were green and grey ball games in all sections. It was a fine afternoon, during which a sailing race was also held. Bob Massman, of Youngstown, Ohio, was the winning skipper.

Jerry Planutis, Michigan State fullback, and counselor to the oldest boys in camp, was the speaker at the Intermediate-Senior Vespers. He spoke on "What Religion Means to Me". It was a fine talk and an inspiration to the boys here. The Juniors had their first vespers in their own Paul Banyon Council Ring. John Hartzell sang several songs to the boys and they really enjoyed his work. John is a regular Burl Ives, and he has been a great source of enjoyment this summer singing to cabin groups each night before taps.

Thus ended the third week of this the 1954 camping season, and needless to say that excitement is running high with activities and special events coming thick and fast.

When We Fail to Understand

One day some years ago while fishing on the clear, cool, emerald depths of a pine-lined Northern Michigan lake, I made an interesting discovery. Until that morning I didn't understand why I was catching so many more bluegills than perch. These waters were heavily stocked with both. Then I chanced upon a spot where I could watch my hook, far beneath the boat. The red worm waved a feeble "come on" to a small multitude of fishes, and out from amidst water weeds and lily stalks they came. Impetuous, impatient bluegills hastened, hesitated, and then seized the hook. Perch would wonder a bit, stand off with an air of mystery, as if to reconsider the enigma of a worm dropping through the water, then a sudden dart of the lake bottom, and he was gone. While the perch pondered, the bluegills bit. That was the reason my reel was filling with bluegills!

Who said, "He who hesitates is lost"? We could use a little more hesitation in our world — before war is declared, before harsh words are spoken, before falling in love "at first sight." He who hesitates is not always lost, but often spares himself some humiliating second thoughts, many regrets, nasty quarrels, or being hooked. As some bluegills discovered that day, hesitating is often better than plunging!

Particularly when it comes to our understanding of God, jumping to conclusions is often perilous. There ought to be a bit of hesitancy — a reverent, awesome hesitancy — about assigning motives to God. A baby of six months died of meningitis in Chicago some time ago. The grieving parents, failing to understand why it happened, seized upon their teen-age daughter's explanation that God took the baby because the family had offended Him. When I asked the parents whether they would kill a neighbor's child to get revenge upon their neighbors or to teach them a lesson, they replied, "Of course not!" "Don't you think God is at least as good as you are?" was the next question. They were sure God was far better than they. They saw the dim light of faith dawned in their eyes as they saw that they had been wrong to bite on the barbed idea the sorrow is always a result of our sinfulness, and all bereavement is deserved punishment from an angered God, or a crushing lesson sent to us from a celestial Teacher.

The further we go into great religion and the more we know about God and God's world, the deeper grows the mystery of life. It's the cucky little landlubber who never wets his feet in the surf that knows all about the sea. But the weathered old sailor loves the sea with an awesome reverence, aware that there are depths he will never visit.

Would you respect a God whom you could perfectly understand? He would be less than this paper printed with these words. You don't know everything about this page. With a ruler you can discover its size. With calipers you might determine its thickness. Does the paper consist of rag content or wood pulp? Wood pulp, or what? Then what sort of wood? Maple, spruce, southern pine? What kind of wood? What kind of wood? From what forest? Did the wood pulp come? Can you trace the mechanical process, the sulphate process, and the soda process used in converting pulp to paper? Who worked the machines that handled this sheet? Can you trace the way it went from forest to manufacturer to wholesaler to retailer to the press and to you? And what is the molecular and atomic structure of this paper? How many atoms are there in these few square inches of reading matter? According to Sir Oliver Lodge, two hundred and fifty million atoms in a row would measure one inch. One hundred thousand electrons in a row would equal the diameter of one atom. Counting three per second, twenty-four hours per day, it would take you thousands of years to count the atomic particles in this page. You will never, in all your life, fully understand this sheet of paper. Nevertheless, while we cannot fully understand paper, we use it and in multifarious ways get good from it.

God is such a mystery, but infinitely greater. When we fail to understand God it is because He is too big, too great to be understood.

"God is love," says the New Testament. Fit all your interpretations of life into that. It is no unhesitating, impetuous conclusion which, when swallowed, is found to have a barb in it. Rather it is derived from the probing and pondering of good and wise men through the ages. That New Testament definition, "God is love," was not meant as a bait to be swallowed. It is a spacious room to be lived in, a restful place to put our heartaches, our questionings and even our whimsical wonderings. There they can repose or play without getting hurt.

Red Cross, during the last fiscal year, aided on an average of one person every five minutes among those suffering disaster injury or loss.

Petoskey Players Present Comedy "The Lobbies"

"The Lobbies", which opened Wednesday at the Petoskey Playhouse, corner of Bay and Howard streets in Petoskey, is the Michigan premier of this original play. If you don't believe in gremlins, you will after you see this production.

This is the story of a man whom you might think a little insane, and his two friends who see into the future. Having "Swamis" for friends isn't too unusual except that these two are invisible. They foretell murder, robbery and other items and events that add excitement and unbelievable movement to this rickety comedy.

Ross Stokes, one of the original members of the Petoskey Little Theatre, portrays Mr. Mergenthauser, the gentleman who believes he has these "Lobbies."

Bill Galarno, remembered as Shelby in "Laura", is the newspaper man, "Hawley", and Jean Artisan ("Laura") plays "Betty". Others in the cast are Patricia Davies, Bill Alexander, Bob Gray, Bill Weiss, Joan Thiel, and V. Glen Washburn.

Producer-director, Bentley Lenhoff has out done himself this time. "See How They Run" was tame, quiet, and slow moving compared to the "The Lobbies", and most of the charm of the show is dependent upon Technical Director, V. Glen Washburn, who for years has been a professional magician, and whose past experience in this field causes the articles to move about and fly through the air (with the help of the Lobbies, of course).

Kiltie Band On Venetian Program

Indian Pageant To Be Presented At Harbor Springs

Harbor Springs — Early history of the Ottawa Indians as they settled in the Little Traverse bay region around Harbor Springs will be depicted in a series of four colorful episodes at this year's annual Ottawa Indian Pageant this Friday and Saturday.

Scenario for the pageant, written by Russel Van Avery, pageant director, was taken from Chief Andrew Blackbird's "History of the Ottawas." Blackbird was the first Postmaster authorized by the federal government and his former home and post office has been converted into an Indian Museum by the Michigan Indian Foundation, Inc. It is located opposite Harbor Springs City Hall.

Swirl of bagpipes and rattle of drums will liver the Saturday and Sunday Venetian activities when the famous Plymouth Motor Corporation Kiltie Band of more than 30 members, including dance entertainers, will appear here. Their lively music and colorful appearance will be a feature attraction of the two day program.

Two special features have been added to this year's pageant. First, musical background for the presentation will be furnished by a community chorus of thirty voices, singing songs from the operetta, "Rose Marie." The chorus is directed by Joseph Jezisek, Harbor Springs High School music instructor.

Second, episodes will be livened by authentic Indian dances staged by a troupe of Hopi Indians from Arizona, who will be presented in six different tribal rites, clad in colorful costumes. Midway in the program, the interesting Naming Ceremonies will take place, when a group of distinguished visitors will be officially adopted into the Ottawa tribe as honorary chiefs.

At 7:30 p.m., on Friday evening,

Large Crowd Enjoys Venetian Festivities

"One of Charlevoix's most successful Venetian Night programs" is the consensus of opinion regarding the 1954 big summer weekend last Saturday and Sunday.

The boat parade on Sunday evening, one of the best in recent years, attracted 24 attractively decorated crafts of all sizes.

City Council Discusses New Diesel Engine

The Charlevoix city council, at its regular meeting Monday night, discussed the possible purchase of a 1,000 kw diesel engine generator and requested quotations on such an engine which would be used to supplement the existing power equipment now owned by the city.

Present equipment at the power plant generates 2,200 kw. This will be upped to 3,200 kw. when the two 500 kw engines purchased last spring are placed in operation shortly. The proposed new diesel would allow for future industrial expansion in the community.

Fire protection for Hayes and Eveline townships was also discussed and the final deadline for such protection extended to Aug. 9.

The council also went on record as favoring the return of the Michigan Amateur Golf tournament to the Belvedere golf course and offered to participate in the expenses up to $600.00.

It was also decided to deputize park operators at the Lake Michigan and East Parks as special police with badges and caps so they may assist in law enforcement.

A petition to change the name of River street to Pine River Lane presented by Earl A. Young and other property owners on the street was approved. Henceforth the street located along the north bank of the Pine river will be known and registered as Pine River Lane.

A petition presented by Mrs. Lance Neff requesting that the alley between Upright and Lincoln avenues be closed was referred to committee.

Quotations for liability insurance which the council proposes to purchase for the entire city were received from the Wolverine Insurance Co. represented by Charles Hamlin and the Michigan Mutual Liability Co. After some discussion the issue was referred to committee.

A resolution expressing the gratitude of the city to the Chrysler Corporation, Brown Motors of Potoskey and Charlevoix and Floyd Brown for sending the Plymouth Kiltie band here for the Venetian Night weekend was adopted and copies forwarded to the above named. The resolution stated in part that the Venetian Night program this year was especially outstanding because of the presence of the Kiltie band. Bills totaling $22,011.42 were approved and ordered paid.

The first prize of $100.00 was awarded to the cleverly decorated and well-lighted entry by Richard Stalonsall and Jack Dollenmeier depicting the nursery rhyme scene, the cow jumped over the moon while the cat played the fiddle; second prize of $75.00 went to Woodbury Ransom's swans and Bruce Withers' carousel won the $50.00 third prize. In addition to the prizes each boat entered received $10.00.

The parade was headed by boats owned by Mrs. L. S. Bisbee which towed the south line and Henry Mies, whose cruiser towed the north line.

Fireworks over the lake during the parade and music aboard the parade boats added much to the colorful scene which was witnessed by an estimated 30,000 spectators who lined the shores and terraces of Round Lake. Weather for the weekend was ideal with clear skies and balmy temperatures.

Judges for the boat parade were Aurey Strolpaul of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association, Mrs. Doris Huckle of East Jordan and Douglas Cook of Battle Creek.

Ikens, who has held the office for 22 years and who is not a candidate for re-election. (Continued on Supplement Page)

ODDS 'N ENDS

By Fran Martin

ANOTHER Venetian Night has come and gone... It brought to Charlevoix scads of visitors who gave Charlevoix its second big, big weekend of the season... For our money it was a success... We liked the idea of having two days with entertainment on Saturday as well as Sunday... And that Killie Band... well, it goes without saying that they stole the hearts of everyone who heard or saw them... The biggest "thank you" ever in Big Brownie (Floyd Brown to you), Mrs. Frank Courter, Brown Motors and anyone else who was instrumental in bringing the group to northern Michigan... One thing that impressed us was the fact that they took time to play a concert at the hospital for those people who couldn't get out to see them... Pretty thoughtful, but then they're a pretty nice group, we think you'll agree...

A "THANK YOU", too, to Mayor Cobo and Mrs. Cobo who took time out from their vacation to attend the Queen's luncheon and to officiate at the Presentation of Queens...

And while we're acknowledging people how about all the boat owners who entered their boats in the parade and all the other people who in some way or other chipped in to make the whole thing a success... the entertainers, those who entered the water festival, just everyone who helped... And even the poor guys who had to clean up the parks and the streets afterwards...

ONE OF THE nice things about living in Charlevoix, we've always said, is the nice people you meet... Among the most recent we'd like to add to our list are the Duffy Doughertys of East Lansing... We'd met Mr. D when he was here for Carey day, but we renewed the acquaintance Saturday night through our own Ray Kipke and met the other half of the family, Frances Dougherty... a most charming and gracious gal... And then there are the two little Doughertys, Danny who's everything and more that a youngster about six should be and little Dree who at 5½ months could capture anyone's heart for she's a doll and just about the happiest character we've ever seen... Along with Mrs. D's brother and sister-in-law, the Hugo Staccatos of Oakland, Calif., and their children, Leo and Eve, the Doughertys have been spending a few days at the Gittleman cottage on Park ave... The fellows have been getting in some fishing, including a trip down the Jordan and the rest of the family is just soaking up some sunshine... and enjoying the beautiful summer weather... Duffy was a bit worried about the waist line but everyone assured him that come Sept. 1, when he's called practice for State, he'll soon lose it... And what does he say about his team this year? Just that he's going to have a good team... We may not win them all but we're going to have a good team... Oh yes, and for you TV fans, the first game of the season will be televised... Think he said it was with Iowa... We think that Duffy knows that the good wishes of the entire community are with him when he starts his first year as head coach at State... we hope he and his family will continue to come back to Charlevoix and make it their second home...

FROM Norway this week a card from Mrs. Trina Nelson and daughter, Joan, who left late in June to spend the summer there... From what Mrs. N. wrote, they're more than enjoying family and friends... Joan's going on a trip through the Scandinavian countries but Mrs. Nelson is staying in Norway to enjoy every minute of the trip with relatives and friends... They'll return late in the summer after their first trip "home" in more than 20 years...

HAVE YOU seen the new city maps and guides for day tours in the Charlevoix area, the board of commerce has put out... They're really nice... and they're cleverly done too... so people shouldn't have any trouble finding their way around the city...

EVERYBODY laughed when he said "Hold everything and I'll get my bow and arrow", but their laughter turned to amazement when Dick VanRaaphorst, using his little bow and arrow, shot the snapping turtle which had taken over the family driveway, right through its neck... Seems Mrs. Van came home the other afternoon to find the big turtle enjoying the shade right at the front step... efforts to remove him from the premises weren't successful so Dick, now known as Robin to his family and friends, took the situation in hand... and after only three weeks of training with Del Terrill's "gang"

NOW IT can be told... Ralph Hamilton, as chairman of the Queen's committee arranging all the events in Queen Gail's honor sent out scads of invitations to queens and officials and everyone... And he also sent copies of everything to Queen Gail so she'd know what was being arranged... which was mighty thoughtful of the guy... Except that he'd forgotten to send an invitation to all the events to the Queen herself... That was soon remedied, however, as you all know and gracious Queen Gail was very much present... And when you saw her it wasn't hard to see why she has been honored this year as Michigan Winter sports queen and National Cherry queen... She has poise and personality and as Mayor Cobo said at the coronation... "he's been told by everyone 'And she's a nice girl too'... which adds up to one thing... We're glad she's our queen and we're grateful for what she has done for Charlevoix... Again we say, we're mighty lucky to have someone like Gail represent the fine youth of our community..."

News Round-up At Camp Charlevoix

Here it is the day after Venetian Night and the day after a terrific weekend at camp. With many visitors here attending our Annual Carnival Saturday afternoon, our church service Sunday morning, the practice rodeo on Sunday afternoon, and then the entire camp going in to Venetian night at Charlevoix to hear our forty voice choir sing, needless to say that the extra hour sleep this morning was most welcome by both campers and staff.

The fourth week started off with the annual camp pictures being taken. Paul Gach arrived from Grosse Pointe, several campers in tow, and spent the day taking activity and group pictures. Cabin 11 and 15, Willie Jeffries and Tom Varbelian in charge, plus two of our cowboys went on an overnight horse trip. The boys were Joe Chappel, Mark Wenner, John Rose, Dick Seeman, Pat O'Mara, Jerry Stuhler, John Wildanger, Ted Roe, Bobby Helwig, Andy Haiduck, John Keering, Harold Emmons, Ben Douglas, and Fred Billings.

On Tuesday morning, the first of two trips to Mackinac Island left early so as to get the nine o'clock boat over to the island.

This is the trip that is given to the first fifty boys enrolled each year. A great day was spent on the island, with Mr. and Mrs. Hickman Price being our official hosts. Mrs. Price is one of the commissioners of the island, and as the two Price boys are in camp this summer, Mr. and Mrs. Price were very gracious in letting us eat our lunch at their home. It was a treat the boys will never forget. The men on the trip were Ken Smith, Morrie Pelt, Jack Huldin, and Dick Roth. The boys making this first of two such trips this year were: Jonathan Schmidt, Mike Harrah, David Smallwood, Stewart Crampton, Bob Miller, Jib Bailey, Gary Murfin, Jamie Mueller, Jimmy Hartman, Jon O'Mara, Jim Vardon, John Bashor, Larry Elferle, Jimmy Davison, Dallas Dort, Bob Ballenger, Duff Day, Bill McMullen, Jim Dodge, Bob Seeman, Matt Buder, and Alan Gornick.

Cabin 19, and 20 went on a sailing trip to Morning Glory Bay. John Ingold and Don Palmer took the following boys on this trip: David Keller, Danny Ross, John Jacobs, Tom Manley, Randy Carlson, Clarence Busick, Charles Rust, Jerry Feinstone, Phil Hol-

Cabin 21, with Jerry Planutis, took in a movie in Charlevoix. These boys were: Mac Gibboney, Kent Gibbs, Andy Menzies, Jack Stevens, Tex Huntington, Monte McFadden, and Jim Faulkner.

Wednesday afternoon there were quite a few overnight trips planned and Cabin 8 left first going to Mt. McSaubia by truck. These boys were: Skipper Frantz, Larry Cummings, Mike Finerty, Bob Hicks, Jim Hartman, John Love, and Durfee Day, with the counsellor Dave Gray. Cabins 2 and 3 in the Junior Section went down to Eastport by truck and reported having a great time. The boys were: Tom Drummy, Leeds Davis, Mike Browning, Bobby Devine, Roger Lundgren, Roy Gettle, Toby Van Zile, Bob Miller, David Vass, John Drummy, Richard Oliver, Billy Kirtz, Bill McMullen, and Tommy Wright. The men on this trip were: Jim Macdonnell and Dan Hason.

Wednesday evening the Scavenger Hunt was held, and Gordie

Hyde and his committee did a fine job in having separate hunts for each of the three sections. Such hard-to-get articles proved no hindrance to the campers, number of top boards in the dock, names of seven counsellors using shaving brushes, one of Jake Whitecrow's shoe strings, fish longer than four inches, one Peckoskey stool, ten horse hairs from the tail of a horse, number of notes in "On the Road to Mandalay", and one Brooklyn Dodgers pennant (this was found to be in camp).

On Friday night, each cabin prepared for their Carnival booth. You can imagine the hub-bub here with 21 cabins all making signs, and gathering material for their carnival booth.

Saturday dawned beautiful and bright and parents began to arrive early. Three o'clock Saturday afternoon amid much ceremony, the carnival got under way. It was a very fine carnival. Cabin 16, Jack Martin's boys won the prize for the most original booth, while cabin 7, Dick Roth's boys, took in the most number of tickets. Parents and friends really enjoyed the carnival, as did the boys and the staff.

Sunday morning, the chapel service was held in the outdoor chapel, with many parents here as our guests. Dick Roth was the speaker. Sunday afternoon a practice rodeo was held, clowns and all. Jake Whitecrow, Tom Corbett, Chuck Kearney and Jim Mueller did a fine job, and the parents present enjoyed the boys' riding. Some of the boys in the rodeo were: Larry Garrett, Tex Huntington, Mac Gibboney, Kent Gibbs, Doug Graham, Robbie Massman, Jim Duffield, Dick Leavitt, Tom Manley, Stewart Crampton, Dave Keller, Jim Cotton, Roy Gettle, Mike Browning, and Jim Rion.

Sunday evening the entire camp was taken into the town of Charlevoix to see Venetian Night. We would like to suggest that parents make note of these dates, Friday, August 20th, rodeo and Final Council Fire, and boys leave camp on Saturday, August 21st.

"Specs" Johnson, who thinks it's a real treat to spend an hour or so browsing in a bookshop found his idea of heaven up in Centerville last week.

"Just inside the door," Specs says, "there's a tray of bright blue buttons. If you want to look around without having someone suggest you buy the latest best-selling novel, or maybe a history of Africa, you pin a button on your coat lapel."

"You can poke around all you like. Then when you've found the book you want, take off the button, and someone's right there to take care of you."

From where I sit, everybody likes to make his own choice. It doesn't matter whether it's books, or preferences in clothing or makes of cars. And it's no surprise that folks have personal preferences in beverages, too. So if your neighbor orders a glass of beer while you're having coffee, remember he's entitled to his choice, too.

Six feet from the flames

At 6:50 o'clock on a below-zero Sunday morning, a lone signal light glowed on the Bad Axe telephone switchboard. It was the United Missionary Church's line. Operator Maxine McLeod plugged in, thought she heard a sizzling, crackling sound . . . like FIRE! Immediately she rang that number.

Mrs. Marcus Krake, the minister's wife, came from the rear of the parsonage, which adjoined the church, to answer the telephone. She was horrified to see the church basement ablaze . . . six feet away!

The call had come just in time. Both church and parsonage were on the same telephone line. Fire eating into the wiring in the church caused the operator's switchboard light to come on. Right after Mrs. Krake gave the address to the operator, the line went dead.

Miss McLeod rang the alarm siren. As volunteer firemen all over town called in, she told them where the fire was. Thanks to the alert operator, firemen were able to save the minister's home and nearby houses.

Morse-Sullivan Marriage Vows Are Spoken At St. Mary's Church Here

St. Mary's church was the scene Saturday of the wedding of Mary Morse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marcus Morse of Lansing and Charlevoix, and Daniel William Sullivan, son of Mrs. V. Smith Sullivan of Detroit and the late Charles Collins Sullivan.

The Rev. E. F. Denay officiated at the ceremony and the nuptial Mass at high noon before an altar decorated with bouquets of white gladioli and lighted tapers. White gladioli and mums on white satin bows marked the pews for the ceremony.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a white Chantilly lace gown with a basque bodice and long sleeves. The low square neckline was filled with illusion appliqued with the Chantilly pattern. The bouffant skirt stood out over layers of illusion net. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gladioli.

Mary Helen Verolest of Detroit as maid of honor and the bride's only attendant wore a powder blue Italian silk ballet frock, matching headdress and carried a bouquet of Shasta daisies and blue delphinium.

Charles Collins Sullivan Jr. of Detroit was his brother's best man. William Morse of Ann Arbor, brother of the bride, and John Williamson of Detroit were ushers.

Mrs. Morse chose a sea foam

Both Worlds At A Time

Slowly sculling along in the soft shadows of the lily pads, his plump belly tickled by waving green candelabra plants, the hungry black bass stalks his dinner. A caddis fly will do, but a fleeing minnow or a fat frog would please him better. Almost any creature small enough to be snapped up by his ready jaws and not looking suspiciously man-made will likely get his immediate attention. A swirl, a seizure, a quick impolite gulp and the bass is ready for his next meal. It is all very efficient and with a minimum of effort and effort that the bass dives. He is at home and I suppose ought to be allowed to follow his own manners regardless of what outsiders might say. In fact, he is too much at home. The water is his only abode. No other place will suit his needs. He is adapted for living in water, and only in water. Only occasionally will he make a brief impulsive flight into the atmosphere, as when he lunges for a drowning fly or surges upward to snatch a leaping frog. The bass is a victim of over-specialization. He can live in but one world. Drawn from his watery abode by a crafty fisherman, the large-mouth bass quickly suffocates in the atmosphere. The frog, on the other hand, lives in two worlds — the blue-green wetness of lake, pond or stream, and the light airy atmosphere of earth. Sitting on a lily pad with his powerful hind legs tucked under him, looking like a miniature grotesque grandpa from some other world, the frog is an atmosphere-breathing creature. He raises and depresses the floor of his mouth, sucking into his nostrils and then closing his nostrils, forcing the air into his lungs. Held under the water for long, the frog would drown. Yet how at home he is, submerged, kicking his jerky way among the lily pads, the pickeral weeds and candelabra plants. It was in this liquid cradle that the frog was born, hatched from an egg, laved by the gently rocking waters. To the water he frequently returns to moisten his skin, else he dries out and dies. Whether sitting on a lily pad or plunging into the lake's cool shadowy depths, the frog is perfectly at home. He can live in two worlds and like it.

We are by nature amphibious creatures, living in two worlds at a time. If we try to dwell in the realm of the spiritual alone, we perish. Man cannot live by bread alone, but neither can he subsist on nothing but prayer. Our bodies demand food, a fuel without which the fires of life burn low, die and leave but ashes of our former selves. Our tolerance of high and low temperatures is slight. We require clothes and heating equipment to keep us warm enough, and fans and fever reducers to keep us cool enough. Much of our normal daily activity is composed of work to earn food, shelter and the other necessities of life that "hold body and soul together."

But if we attempt to live in the realm of the physical alone, we shall drown in materialism. We must breathe beauty, truth, goodness and love. Everyone trusts in Someone or in something. Everyone worships — if not God, then money, fame or applause. And worship is an act of the spirit, no matter its object. We are incurably spiritual.

Much of our moodiness can be traced to our neglect to living up to our amphibious nature. We live as if our bodies needed no care, getting insufficient rest, eating too much or too little, stoking our blood streams with slow poisons, or developing no program for adequate exercise. In numerous ways we ignore our physical nature and then worry over ill health.

Or we disregard our spiritual character. Trying to live in one world at a time we nurture our bodies and slight our spirits. And when a crisis comes that calls for courage, or poise, or confidence, we wonder why we don't have what the emergency demands. We are like a "fish out of water!"

One answer to the problem of living in a bifurcated world — partly physical and partially spiritual — is to join the two worlds in our living. Of the waving corn on a hill in Georgia, the Southern poet, Sidney Lanier, wrote:

"As poets should,
Thou hast built up thy hardi-hood
With universal food,
Drawn in select proportion fair
From honest mold and vagabond air;
Yes, into cool solacing green hast spun
White radiance hot from out the sun.
So thou dost mutually leaven Strength of earth with grace of heaven;
So thou dost marry new and old
Into a one of higher mold."

The good person has that characteristic of the corn stalk in the field. He mixes earth with heaven. The shortness of life becomes touched with immortality. The temporal and physical are spiritualized and given lasting value by being used for spiritual purposes. Such a person can hardly be plagued by a gnawing homesickness of the soul. He won't be uncomfortable at worship because spiritual interests are foreign to him, nor upset at his work because so much of life must be spent bread-winning. He is always at home. He has learned to merge heaven with earth and to live in both worlds at a time!

Road Commission To Buy Two-Way Radios

The Charlevoix county road commission will go on the air this fall with its own radio station following a decision by the Commission to purchase 250-watt base station equipment which includes 10 60-watt units, T. B. Reynolds, road commission engineer-superintendent, has announced.

The equipment will be used to keep the base office in Boyne City in close touch with its road commission installations about the county and will facilitate more efficient and economical operation of the road commission, Mr. Reynolds said in making the announcement.

Beaver Island Homecoming Is This Weekend

St. James, Beaver Island — It will be a great day for the Irish, come Sunday, when sons and daughters of America's Emerald Isle, Beaver Island, their friends and families wend their way homeward for the annual Beaver Island homecoming celebration.

More than 500 former residents and friends of the island from Michigan, Illinois and elsewhere in the midwest are expected to return to the island for the celebration, according to Jewell F. Gillispie, president of the Beaver Island Civic Association.

The weekend event will reunite relatives and friends of many years standing who have one mutual interest, Beaver Island. Saturday night will be given over to fun-making and unions. On Sunday morning the visitors will attend Mass at Holy Cross church before gathering for the annual August dinner at the parish hall. A colorful parade with floats, music by a local band, speed boat races and many family reunions have been planned for the entertainment of the visitors.

An institution of the Emerald Isle for more than half a century, the homecoming festival is designed to reunite former residents and friends of Beaver Island and visitors have been known to come from as far as Maine and Missouri for the event.

Mr. Gillispie, in announcing the homecoming, promises that this year's will be the biggest and best ever and that visitors will be treated to a most memorable occasion.

Visitors may reach the island by ferry boat, the North Shore, or by air from Charlevoix.

Congregational Church To Hold Special Services

Two unusual worship services have been planned for Charlevoix's Congregational church. In an ongoing, meeting made from the pulpit on last Sunday morning, the Rev. Harold Kohn, minister of the church, stated that on Aug. 8 at the 11 o'clock worship service the congregation would be host to approximately 150 boys and staff members of Camp Charlevoix. A caravan of cars will bring the boys to the church, and they will sit in a body at the service. The morning sermon will be "Some Hairbreadth Escapes."

At the morning worship service on Aug. 15, Dr. Louis L. Mann, famed beloved Rabbi of Chicago's Sinai Temple, will be the guest speaker. Dr. Mann's appearance in the pulpit of the Congregational church is almost an annual event, this year's engagement being his eleventh. The entire community looks forward to his coming.

Services Are Held For Percy Marsa, 87

Funeral services for Percy Marsa, 87, pioneer resident of this community who died July 28, were held at the Pontius Chapel Saturday with the Rev. W. N. Carr officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

The radio tower will be constructed on the Wildwood Harbor road a mile north of Boyne City with the base station located in the county road commission office in Boyne City. The ten 60-watt units will be installed at strategic points around the county including Beaver Island which will permit direct contact with the island and eliminate expensive and time-consuming telephone connections with the island. The equipment will include a two-way short-wave 250-watt central transmitter and receiver with each unit also equipped to send as well as receive messages.

In the 40 counties in the state which have already installed similar systems it has been proven that the commissions can give better service to the community by using the radio systems, Mr. Reynolds said.

The equipment will be purchased from Motorola Communications and Electronics Inc. whose bid for $9,439.79 was the only one submitted. The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. entered a bid for lease of a similar system but the commission decided against leasing such an installation and accepted the Motorola bid. The equipment has been ordered and is now being built for installation this fall.

Don Leonard Choice Of Republicans For Fall Governor's Race

With 23 of Charlevoix county's 25 precincts reporting at noon Wednesday, Glenn E. Rose, local contractor and former member of the Charlevoix police force, led his closest opponent by 212 votes for the Republican nomination for sheriff.

Glenroy G. Iken, son of the incumbent sheriff, Floyd W. Iken, was second with 422 votes with two Boyne City precincts still to be heard from; Lester P. Umlor of Hayes township, "dark horse" in the contest who led the field of seven Republican candidates until the early hours Wednesday, was in third place with 356 votes; Russell C. Harper of Boyne City, who was expected to poll a large majority of the remaining votes, had 287; Peter A. Kanoff, 171; Peter J. Winnick, 123; Frank W. Smith, 117. Gerald Norman Johnson, also of Hayes township, only Democratic candidate for the office tallied 160 votes in 19 of 25 precincts.

In the second race of major interest in the community, Clarence B. Meggison, friend of the court in the 13th Judicial district for the past 14 years, won the Republican nomination for state representative from the Charlevoix district by a large majority. In the four-county area where 54 of 64 precincts had been reported, Meggison polled 2,472 votes with Leonard L. Case of Berzie, his closest opponent coming up with 998. The third candidate, Forrest L. Brown, had 747.

Mr. Meggison is the candidate for election to the office now held by Louis Anderson of Northport. Donald Habermehl of Alpena had 5,321 votes. In Charlevoix county, Andrews had 794 with Habermehl coming through with 669.

Donald S. Leonard won the Republican nomination for governor in the state, following the trend set in the county where he had 516 votes in 20 of the county's 25 precincts. Eugene C. Keyes had 401; D. Hale Brake 369 and Owen J. Cleary, 327. Other Republican candidates and their vote in 20 precincts follow: lieutenant governor, Clarence Reid, 1253; U.S. Senator, Homer Ferguson, 1402; representative in Congress, 11th district, Victory A. Knox, 1291.

County officers who were unopposed for Republican nomination were: prosecuting attorney, C. Meredith Bice; clerk, Fenton R. Buolw; treasurer, Lillis M. Flanders; register of deeds, Grover C. Gonet; coroners, L. E. Grate and James D. Stackus; surveyor, Mary C. Feindt.

On the Democratic ballot in the county with 18 of 25 precincts in, G. Mennan Williams polled 195 votes for nomination for governor; George S. Fitzgerald, 99 and Philip Hart, 94 for lieutenant governor; Patrick V. McNamara, 118, and the late Blair Moody, 43, U.S. Senator; Harold Beaton, 133, representative in Congress, 11th district; Richard L. Kendziorski, 135, state senator 29th district; G. ODDS 'N' ENDS

WHEN MAYOR Dean Davenport presented our own Venetian Queen Gail Krahne, who was also National Cherry Queen, with gifts from local residents at a recent banquet given in her honor, he remarked to her that he thought it was customary for the reigning queen to bake a cherry pie for the mayor of the community which she represents (kind of a broad hint, we'd say) but Queen Gail took him at his word . . . And was his face almost as red as the cherries when she turned up bright and early the next morning with a piping hot cherry pie right out of her own oven . . . Who says she can't bake a cherry pie . . . like in the song . . . And Mayor D. will tell you how good it was . . . you notice he didn't share . . .

And speaking of Queen Gail, did you notice the grand picture story of her in the Sunday issue of a Grand Rapids newspaper . . . But then, we knew all the time how smart and cute and versatile she is . . . Didn't we?

WE'VE BEEN hearing some good fish stories recently . . . but we have to admit they're true ones . . . Dr. C. O. Whitten, who would never stretch a story much less a fish, was telling us about the huge northern pike he caught in Lake Genesereth on Beaver Island . . . So big in fact that he and Mrs. W. beached it instead of landing it in the boat . . . Seems he had a light line on his pole when he got the bite . . . Rather than lose the line and the fish too they rowed ashore and beached it . . . It was 36 inches long but they couldn't find any scales so they could weigh it . . . And our old friend Sol Marcus came up with five bass in Lake Charlevoix weighing 16 1/2 pounds . . . He even had his picture taken with them, so we had to believe him too . . . So there's proof that some people catch fish.

WE SAW what we thought was real timely cartoon in the Sunday section of our paper . . . It was a farmer invading the living room of a city dweller and dumping from a bag a collection of empty bottles, old papers and cartons and other debris from a picnic . . . As he left the 'stuff' he remarked 'I'm returning a few things you left on my farm the other day' . . . To us it wasn't too funny because it's too true . . . and timely . . . Just last week we heard several complaints about people who held picnics on public beaches and left all sorts of things broken bottles which are very dangerous, food which soon spoiled in the hot sun plus papers, cartons and what have you . . . Some people even invaded the property of cottagers above the beach and left their garbage, because that's all it was . . . You wouldn't like refuse dumped on your own front lawn, so why do you do it to other people . . . We'll never keep this Charlevoix beautiful doing things like that . . . So let's not have it happen again anywhere . . .

DID YOU notice the lovely picture of Charlevoix's municipal beach in an article entitled "A Trip Around Lake Michigan" in the latest issue of "Better Homes and Gardens" . . . The article told of the beautiful spots along the lake and listed the local beach as an example of the beaches available to tourists while on a vacation trip around Lake Michigan . . . We won't be able to keep that reputation long if you keep littering the beaches with trash . . .

IN THE early history of Charlevoix is a name that appeared often . . . that of Mason . . . The Silas Mason family was among the earliest settlers . . . In the family were 13 children, according to Morris Ackert whose mother was a Mason . . . The last of that family died recently . . . She was Mrs. Lottie Markham, who was the last of the family of 13 . . . She died in Batavia, N. Y., at the age of 94 years where she had lived with a daughter for the past five years . . . We will always remember her as she worked in the dry goods department of the old Mason store located at one time where Schroeder and Hovey Drug now holds forth and at the site of the old Min-Eva, now a part of East Park at the corner of Bridge and Clinton sts . . . She could always select the pretty patterns and colors when we were little . . . And we know that many others will remember her the same way . . . a gracious lady who, was always so pleasant . . .

WE HAVEN'T been up to see it but Mrs. Henry Jacobs called us the other day to tell us that her century plant is in bloom . . . I saw one of the blossoms once a long time ago and they're lovely . . . So if you happen past her place stop and take a look . . . we mean to . . .

WE DON'T know whether it's a good idea or not but one week soon . . . as soon as you furnish the material, we're going to air your complaints . . . There are plenty of them so next week . . . if you'll just relay them to me . . . we'll be happy to give you a chance to tell the world about it . . . in print . . . All you have to do is submit your personal gripe to us in writing and signed by you, and we'll toss it in the pot with the others . . . We won't use your name and we'll be the only one who knows it . . . so how about it . . . you've been asking for such a chance, we're giving it to you . . . One more thing . . . we won't promise a solution to everyone . . . we're just going to tell the world about 'em . . . Don't say we didn't ask you . . .

BY THE time you read this the primary election will be over and your favorite candidate for any and all offices will either have won or lost . . . (now that's a world shattering statement) . . . If you took time to go to the polls to vote, you have our permission to sound off on the election . . . Otherwise, register now to vote

WHAT Would be your reaction if you were aboard a boat and saw your car slowly roll into Round Lake . . . The Harry Lessers had a chance last week to find out what they'd do and it added up to almost nothing for Mr. L. was aboard his boat and well out into the lake and Mrs. L. who had parked the car near their boathouse on the north side of Round Lake, was about to board the Harry Lessers' boat nearby . . . Bud Webster who runs the Meis boat, which hadn't pulled away from the dock yet, was closest to the scene and did the only thing possible . . . jumped in, clothes and all, with a rope and tied it to the bumper and managed to halt the rolling vehicle just as it rolled to the edge of the steep 'drop-off' not far from shore . . . An SOS to Don Meggison retrieved the car from a watery grave . . . a bit dampish but in one piece . . . Gee, just think, if they hadn't seen it happen and Bud hadn't literally rescued it, the car might have ended up on the bottom of Round Lake (which we've been told by experts is mighty deep) and no one ever would have known what happened and the poor police would have had an unsolved case on their hands . . .

SAILING, sailing, over the bounding main . . . We've decided that that's the life for us . . . For the first time in our life we went sailing Saturday aboard "My Dream" as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Quarstrom . . . And such fun as we, about 15 of us had . . . We went out into Lake Michigan, picked up some wind, hoisted the canvas (don't we sound like a sailor) and set off on a northerly course before a fair wind . . . We got up to nine miles an hour before the wind and probably would have made more if a couple of the gals hadn't been drooping their feet over the side . . . It was wonderful . . . no one got seasick and on the way home we enjoyed supper aboard the boat . . . And such perfect hosts as Mr. and Mrs. Q. you'll never find . . . Yup, we've decided that it's definitely the life for us . . . Trouble is . . . everyone else decided the same thing and with so many experts on sailing around Mr. Q. and his man Friday (better known as George Plumm) just couldn't have a chance at the helm . . .

AS YOU know, Buttercup, the lamb with the golden fleece, and his mistress, Mrs. W. T. Butters, represented Charlevoix at the recent state convention of the American Legion . . . And from what Mrs. B. tells us (Buttercup just ain't talkin' 'cept for an occasional ba-a-a), he made quite a hit . . . No matter where they went a bond would strike up "Mary Had a Little Lamb," cameras would come out and everyone wanted to know the secret of the yellow fleece which Mrs. B. assured them came from Charlevoix's sunshine . . . a true member of the Board of Commerce . . .

AMONG THE places they visited were St. John's Orphanage and Mary Free Bed, a home for crippled children . . . At the orphanage the youngsters, who get a chance to go swimming once a week at a special pool, gave up the trip so they could see Buttercup and at Mary Free Bed . . . there just aren't words to describe the reaction of those kids . . . all confined to their beds, wheelchairs or crutches . . . One little guy who was almost completely paralyzed just wouldn't believe the lamb was real . . . Mrs. B. held the lamb up so he could pet it . . . Even after that he looked at her with eyes as big as saucers and in a solemn voice said that Buttercup wasn't real . . . She then held his little hand over the lamb's heart which was just pounding from all the excitement and then asked if he believed it . . . He again said "No" . . . This time she asked him what he thought it was if it wasn't a lamb and he came back with this answer . . . "A little boy with a yellow coat" . . .

THE CITY'S buying a new fire truck and we're all for getting something new and different in the way of fire engines . . . say a pretty white or something in a pastel shade . . . How about it? . . . And then we can deck the fire chief out in something chic . . . well, it's an idea . . .

IF YOU'RE interested in old pictures of Charlevoix, John Cross has a beautiful big one in his new fish market on Belvedere ave . . . It's one he told us that had held a place of honor in the old Fountain City house on River st. for many years . . . It was taken ages ago when the lighthouse was located on the north pier and there was no small white steel blinker light . . . He also felt heir to a clock that was used in the lobby of the hotel which does everything but tell your fortune . . . it tells you

Pvt. Stanley J. Whitley, who entered the service last month, now has the following address: US 55470111 Co. D 48th Arm. Inf. Bn Fifth Armored Division, Camp Chaffee, Ark.

Bruce Barber A2-c accompanied by Mrs. Barber and their twin sons, Donald and Ronald, left Thursday for San Antonio, Tex., after spending three weeks with their respective parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Barber and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Murray. Mr. Barber is stationed at Randolph Air Force Base near San Antonio.

Keith A. Mort AB who enlisted in the U. S. Air Force last month is now stationed in the east and has the following address: AF 1646378 Flt. 3523 3654BMTS Sampson AFB, Geneva, N. Y.

The addresses of the two other local boys who enlisted at the same time, Wayne Drost and Charles Hilton, are not available at this time.

Al-e Duncan Macdonell has arrived from San Angelo, Tex., to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alon Macdonell.

not only the time but the day, month and year . . . Oh it's wonderful and old and we'd never seen one like it before . . . And there's a third thing in the collection . . . the most complicated cash drawer . . . but John doesn't dare use it 'cause not even he knows the combination to it and we'll defy you to figure it out . . .

CHARLEVOIX'S got a new interest in the Mackinac bridge . . . now that our own diver, Normie Ketchman, is working on the job . . . we don't know what he does but it's something fabulous in the way of diving . . . (which to our way of thinking is for the fish) . . . but it's certainly going to be interesting to hear from Normie what it's all about . . . his job and the construction of the bridge too . . .

FIRE Departments are always receiving odd requests but the Charlevoix fire department last week received one of the oddest on record . . . a request to remove a skunk (fully equipped with atomizer) from a window well at the Alan Stewart home at 410 Michigan ave. . . Fire Chief Martin Elzinga, accompanied by Police Chief Clarence Helse (for protection, no doubt) answered the call and after looking the situation over, told the family he would return later and remove the unwelcome visitor . . . He did . . . with the aid of something he refused to identify . . . He dropped some cotton saturated with the 'magic product', waited a few minutes for Mister Skunk to become groggy and then gently lifted the culprit out of the well by the tail . . . (Note: In case you ever want to pick up a skunk, roast him via the tail and he will not spray you . . . according to Mr. E.) . . . Anyway, after removing the skunk from the well, Mart threw him in Lake Michigan to bring him out of the stupor . . . After shaking his head he swam ashore and waddled away . . . a wetter but wiser skunk . . .

WHEN A man catches a fish, it's really not headline news unless it turns out to be a whale in Susan Lake or something equally as fantastic . . . BUT when a fish catches a boat . . . well . . . that really is news and that's what happened last week to the schooner, "My Dream", owned by the I. T. Quarstroms . . . The fish, in the case, was a lamprey eel but it stopped the boat cold . . . Seems they had been sailing up in Lake Charlevoix . . . when they started for home they turned on the auxiliary motor to bring the boat back to Round Lake . . .

But things happened . . . the motor got hot and started to smoke . . . a state of emergency was declared and all hands turned to in search of the trouble . . . Which was discovered by George Plumm, skipper of the boat . . . who found that the lamprey had attached itself to the boat (things must be getting bad in Lake Charlevoix) right over the water intake which cut off the water supply which ordinarily cools the motor . . . With some effort the eel was removed intact and is now being preserved for posterity in a bottle of alcohol . . . which led Mr. Q. to remark that the "Dream" was the only boat in the Great Lakes which could offer alcohol with accompanying "snakes" . . . as well as being the only boat attacked by a 'fish' . . .

Compost for gardens can be made from any vegetable matter, notes Edward D. Longnecker, M. S. C. soil scientist. Grass clippings, tree leaves and garden refuse make artificial manure for next season.

What Are Cute Little 'Lobbies'?

If you see any little lobbies running around loose . . . they're lost. And if you will admit you're seeing little lobbies, it's no disgrace, really . . . because that's proof enough that you are of the "pure in heart!"

If you didn't see a performance of the tremendously successful comedy "The Lobbies", held over a second week by popular demand at the Petoskey Summer Playhouse . . . it's your own fault. And if you were one who went, but didn't see a single lobby . . . that's your own fault too, I guess, for they say that only the pure in heart who do unselfish deeds can actually see them . . .

"The Lobbies" was an hilarious comedy that smashed right along from a boisterous beginning to an equally boisterous murder-solved villain-caught, wrongs-righted and lover-clinched ending.

Each actor handled his own role with professional skill and ability. Most important role was that of Mr. Mergenthwerker . . . or Throckelberger . . . or Merken-throckle . . . played by Ross Stoakes. He "lithped" and twitter fingered consistently through three acts, almost always on stage with his own two invisible and mischievous lobbies, Henry and Japheth, authentic forecasters of a riot of events that kept the audience giggling, chuckling and roaring for an hour and a half of real fun.

Sob sister Maguire, played by Patricia Davies, was hardboiled, poker faced and funny . . . especially, when scared stiff during the scuffle between villain and hero she found herself impulsively wound up in a pose with her austere publisher-boss that would defy Charlotte Greenwood . . . remember?

The surly boss, Foster, was convincingly played by Bob Gray . . . as was the wild-eyed staff photographer Wilden, whose villainous role was well meant by Bill Alexander.

Joan Thiel made an excellent gum chawking bar maid, who was completely disgusted with the nickle-crazy and loosely woven drunk, expertly character acted by V. Glen Washburn. The romantic team for the play was pretty Barbara Hutton as Betty and Bill Galarno as the handsome young city editor hero . . . who saw the lobbies himself for a brief time when he unselfishly confessed to a murder he did not commit to save the reputation of his fiancée's politician papa. Acts one and three took place in the editorial office of a metropolitan newspaper, on the eve of city elections. The second act was at May's Bar, neighborhood beer pub. The props were just unusual enough to give a professional flair to the stage settings and were swished off and on between the acts by members of the cast who sang and frolicked to the tin-pan music of the bar room upright.

Everyone agreed that it was a happy evening well spent in the realm of goofy imagination . . . and many in the departing audience could be seen ushering little lobbies from the theater.

The lobby I held in tow, predicts a brilliant season for the Petoskey Playhouse, directed by Bentley Lenhoff. If you went last week, you'll be planning to go again this week to see their production of James Thurber and Elliot Nugent's modern comedy "The Male Animal."

Girlie gigs

Graciously poised on the northern shoulder of beautiful busy Round Lake . . . and imposed amidst flickering freckles of shadows cast from towering white cork pines . . . are two of the newest and most beautifully modern homes in Charlevoix, recently completed for the Eugene Westons and the Alfred Strauses of Cincinnati, who summer residence here.

Both custom built homes are extremely individual in their casual and sophisticated design, which fell magnificently into place from the drawing board of their architectural designer and builder, George E. Smith, Jr.

The beautifully planned color accents of both give an over-all feeling of spaciousness . . . from the charcoal grey of Weston's . . . to the soft-toned indescribable driftwood hue of the Strauses.

Entering thru the smart mandarin-red, four foot wide doorway at the Weston's, I was completely awed by the simple and elegant drama of an immense living room which extends lakeside through a complete wall of glass and screened partitions, onto a tree-top porch, balcony. Clear blues and deep greens, chartrreuse and beige were chosen to accent the background walls surfaced with edge-grained fir plywood paneling, and a beamed semi-studio ceiling.

To the right is a paneled storage and service bar through to the mandarine red-colored kitchen . . . and to the left, at the head of a unique circular stairway which is dramatized again by a solid panel of windows to the lower level, is the master bedroom . . . striking in its simplicity with ebony modern-designed furniture on white plastic flooring . . . accented with golden draperies, dense green spreads . . . and turquoise.

Sprawled along the lower lake level is the orange and lavender Harlequin designed guest bedroom . . . and the charcoal and white boy's dormitory with ripe orange carpet treatment. They open onto a balcony covered patio. The utility rooms and servants quarters are also in this section.

The same aura of simple sophistication prevails at the "Straus Haus" . . . a little more casually. The relaxed design and decoration of the unusually shaped octagonal living room area is stunning in a blend of natural blond wood and black wrought iron furnishings, upholstered in Delphinium blues and beige and accented with shiny copper fixtures . . . stark white and sunshiny yellows.

Conversation center for this room is in front of a natural grey-stone fireplace, mantled by one of the original local narrow gauge railroad ties . . . around a cocktail table topped with an oval slab of unpolished Italian marble. An octagonally cut beige carpeting is laid on the hand-patterned black slate floor.

The angulated galley porch, designed for the view and furnished in black wrought iron . . . with tangerine and ivory . . . opens off the living quarters and the master bedroom . . . where soft-paneled walls, woody printed drapery hangings and padded headboards, combine chartrreuse . . . deep green and white.

Both the kitchen, which opens attractively thru the copper and candle appointed service bar . . . and the master bath . . . are paneled with warm wood and yellow. The maid's room and utility room are sections off the kitchen.

You follow up a rope-woven stairway from the living room to the beam ceilinged guest bedroom . . . boy's room and bath. The guest room features colorings of

POLAROID LAND* CAMERA

It's a thrill to see your pictures a minute after you snap them. You'll make better pictures, too — for when you see the results on the spot it's easy to improve lighting, composition and pose. Prints are big, beautiful and lasting. Anyone can take them . . . the camera and film do all the work. This is truly modern photography.

Petoskey Players Present Comedy, 'The Male Animal'

The Petoskey Playhouse have started serious sessions Wednesday in throwing plates, cups, saucers, and assorted shins — this as a part of the performances of "The Male Animal," the comedy production being presented by the Playhouse. In this play which runs through Sunday, Patricia Davies is called upon to toss considerable crockery in one scene, as the exasperated wife of a university professor, and this is one of the more delicate parts of the play that must be carefully played.

In "The Male Animal" with Miss Davies will be the Playhouse's managing director, Bentley Lenhoff.

In a way this comedy is a dramatic development of the series of drawings by James Thurber on "The War between the Sexes" which for years have appeared in the New Yorker Magazine. Thurber having written the comedy in collaboration with his old friend and Ohio State University classmate, Elliott Nugent. It also has a timely reference to the question of freedom of expression in our universities, since the plot is concerned not only with the professor's decision to fight to hold on to his wife, but also to fight for the right to read so-called radical writings to his classes.

News Round-up At Camp Charlevoix

As this the sixth week of camp rolls upon us, the older boys are all excited about the dance with Camp Chippewa Trail this Wednesday night here at our camp. These older boys are also going over to Beaver Island for a three day trip. But more about that next week.

When the Droughts Come

The heart-like tracks are more plentiful by the brook, row that summer's heat is at its highest. Among the rocks and roots, the ferns and grasses that bind the brook's banks to keep them from unravelling, we find an intermingling of prints big and small. In the winter some are there. In spring and fall they are plentiful. But upon a summer's morning the brookside near certain favorite deer haunts is carpeted with a dense all-over pattern of white-tail tracks.

In the deep dark of the night, while the forest leaves whisper in their sleep, mysteriously does creep from cedar thickets, with dappled fawns mincing along behind, and drink long and deeply of the frosty, tasty brook waters. They drink from a deep inner longing to quench the fiery thirst of millions of deer tissues that urgently call for moisture. For most of the year deer have no such thirst and drink but occasionally. The succulent herbaceous plants and the moist weeds and grasses upon which they forage in the spring provide needed moisture. Fall rains and long-lasting dews wetting the whitetails' favorite foods make much drinking unnecessary in the autumn. Less water is lost from the deer through perspiration and evaporation in the cold of winter, and some moisture is ingested when particles of snow are eaten along with winter foods. But the whitetails' summer foods are often as dry as shredded wheat biscuit, and the loss of moisture in their bodies is appalling. When summer droughts come, deer drink the most. They must, or perish. When life is driest, we need to use the simple wisdom of the deer. We are often tempted to do otherwise. When testings come, disappointments assail us, or a withering crisis, like a summer's sizzling sun, glares down upon us, we withdraw the farthest from life's refreshing streams. We worry more, we fret more. We retreat from people and mope in self-pity. The measures we take, far from bracing and renewing our strength, exhaust and weaken us.

When the droughts come and we are dried out and athirst, we might best, like the deer, steal away to sources of refreshment. Worship will help, because it fixes our minds upon enduring values, the imperishables, the eternal things and the Eternal One. Besides these our low moods seem almost insignificant.

Fellowship with good people will help, too. As the meeting of two brooks will make a stream larger than either of them, the confluence of two good minds will make for a strength greater than one can have alone. Help someone else. It is easier to carry two pieces of heavy luggage, one in each hand, than it is to carry only one big piece. Two pieces balance each other. One makes you lopsided, and tires you rapidly. So another burden, added to your own, will rest you, refresh you. Try it and see.

When the droughts come, instead of exhausting yourself with fretfulness and worry, seek streams of strength and renewal.

swam, and had a great time. The boys on this trip were: Tex Huntington, Mac Gibbons, Kent Gibbs, Monte McFadden, Jack Stevens, Andy Menzies, Jim Faulkner. Cabin 12 and 14 went into town to the movies. The counselors are Don Huldin and David Wilson. The boys were Bill Wilkison, Bobby Wood, Bill McClave, Devv Barnes, Peter Nathan, Gibby Rose, Roger Smith, Dick Cox, Jon Schmidt, Matt Buder, Jim Vardon, Ken Marmlin, David Smallwood, and Jeff Adams.

On Tuesday Cabin 7 and 10 received their watermelons, which were the Special Prizes from the carnival last week. The counselors of these cabins are Dick Roth and Jack Martin.

Each year, for one week, the MUGWUMP goes into play. This is a wooden bird which is hidden in the woods, and the side running it through the camp without the bird being taken from them, gets a point toward Green-Grey competition. The Greens started out with it, and it has been seen battle ever since. Every boy in camp gets into the action, and excitement is running high, as each day the side having it must attempt a run, and there is much intrigue, many meetings, and much fun connected with the "MUGWUMP". Please remember this word, as your sons will be telling you all about it when they get home.

On Thursday cabin 11 and 13 took a hike, by foot, to Bay Shore. Wally Jefferys and Gordon Hyde led their boys on this expedition, and the boys taking this long walk were, Joe Chappel, Mark Wenner, John Rose, Dick Seeman, Pat O'Mara, Terry Stihler, Denny Bergo, John Bahl, Paul Kunkel, Tom Frech, John Parr, Vern Sussman, Dick Wilson, Dick Minnock, and Tom Knobloch.

On Friday we sent two softball teams and two swimming teams over to Camp Santa Maria near Gaylord, and each camp won two events, Charlevoix winning the Intermediate Softball game and the Senior Swimming meet. Among the boys who starred for Charlevoix were Kent Gibbs, Monte McFadden, Jack Scott, Dave Keller, Clarence Busick, and Doug Graham.

Saturday night we held our first meeting in the new recreational building which is now completed. It was a time of much rejoicing as it is so very convenient to have a building devoted to dramatics, ping-pong tables, piano, and benches to take care of everyone in this spacious building. After much discussion, it has been decided to call the building

In Buick today you find the fresh modern beauty that will pattern the styling of other cars yet to come. That's a major reason for Buick's soaring success this year. But note the low delivered price shown here—that's the clincher. No other car at so low a price gives you this advanced styling—plus Buick's great room, comfort, ride and V8 power.

2-door, 6-passenger SPECIAL Sedan, Model 400, 1100 cc. V8 engine, optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice. Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as heater & defogger . . . only $21.70.

2. You get the car that's a sure high resale value

Of this you can be sure: the new Buick you buy today will look modern next year, too—because that broad panoramic windshield will be appearing on other cars as a 1955 feature. So with the new Buick you buy now, you'll stay right up in the style parade for years to come—and command a higher resale price when you trade it in.

3. You get a bigger allowance

So with this tremendous sales volume, we can offer you a higher trade-in allowance when you buy a new Buick. Come in, see and drive Buick the beautiful buy. Then see for yourself how our volume business means a far bigger allowance for you.

Bacon - Oaks Marriage Vows Are Spoken In Double Ring Ceremony

The marriage of Ethleen A. Bacon and Laverne L. Oaks was solemnized Saturday afternoon at the North Bay Evangelical United Brethren church at Hortons Bay.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bacon, former Bay township residents now residing in Green Bay, Wis. The parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Leo Oaks of Petoskey.

The Rev. Russell King of Petoskey officiated at the double ring service before an altar decorated with baskets of pastel gladioli and sweetpeas.

Eunice Oaks of Petoskey sang "O Perfect Love" accompanied by Mrs. K. C. Festerling who also played the wedding marches.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white taffeta with an overskirt of net styled with a fitted bodice. V-neckline and bracelet length sleeves. A band of lilies of the valley secured her fingertip veil and she carried a white Bible topped with an arrangement of rubrum lilies and white daisies.

Lois Garver as her cousin's maid of honor wore a gown of pink taffeta identical to the bride's, a pink head band with daisies in her hair and carried a bouquet of deep pink roses.

Sara Bacon of Green Bay, Wis., sister of the bride, as bridesmaid wore a gown of green taffeta similar to the honor attendant's, a matching white headband and carried a bouquet of deep pink roses.

William Gunden of Elkhardt, Ind., was best man and ushers were Roger and Robert Bacon, brothers of the bride, of Green Bay.

Mrs. Bacon selected a navy taffeta dress and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Oaks, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy crepe dress and matching accessories. Each wore a corsage of American Beauty roses.

After a week's wedding trip to the upper peninsula, Wisconsin and Minnesota, the couple will reside at East Lansing where the bridegroom is a student at Michigan State college. For traveling the bride wore a light blue linen suit and white accessories.

PREMIER PIERRE Mendes-France received two votes of confidence this week from the French National Assembly when they voted to approve his sweeping economic plans and granted him a postponement of debate on Tunisia and Morocco.

REPUBLICAN leaders have given up all hopes of adjourning Congress by Saturday. They set next week as a new target date.

Rain Slows Play In Area Softball Meet At Petoskey

Rain which soaked the District softball tournament field at Petoskey Monday slowed down play in the annual meet until last night (Wednesday) when the play-off games were to be resumed.

Charlevoix's Carson-Bowman team, the only local team still in the running was scheduled to meet Andrew Kane of Petoskey at 6:30. The winner will advance to the quarter-finals this week-end.

The Carson-Bowman nine advanced to last night's game after defeating Afton Silvertop in a game which saw the local team come from behind to win 7-6.

Poehman of Petoskey eliminated Mott's 7-6 and Choboygan Ormsby clipped Zephyr 10-5 in the early rounds of the tournament that started Saturday.

The district winner will advance to the Class B regional tournament at Ludington and the runner-up to the Class C meet at Rosecommon.

Two Men Drown After Walloon Lake Accident

Dr. Harris V. Lilja, 44, of the Burns Clinic in Petoskey and Dr. Donald C. Beaver, 56, of Detroit, were drowned late Tuesday following a boating accident near Walloon Lake, Sheriff Floyd Ikens reported Wednesday.

The accident occurred about 10 a.m. when their 16 ft. Christ-Craft cruiser in which the two men, their wives and Dr. and Mrs. A. F. Litzberger of Boyne City were riding struck a submerged object, damaging the propeller and shaft, causing the boat to take on water.

Mrs. Lilja reportedly swam to shore for assistance and returned with a nearby cottage to find the boat sinking and the passengers on the choppy sea. The women and Dr. Litzberger were assisted to shore 500 yards away. Dr. Lilja and Dr. Beaver disappeared in the rough water.

The body of Dr. Beaver was recovered at 9 a.m. Wednesday by Coastguardsmen from the Charlevoix Lifeboat Station and sheriff's officers who assisted in the search. Dragging operations for Dr. Lilja's body were called off shortly before noon Wednesday because of the rough sea.

The sinking boat was found and hauled for recovering later.

Donkey Softball Game Scheduled Here For Sunday

Something new in softball will be in store for the residents of Charlevoix Sunday night when Zach Wynn's Bangs Zephyrs meet the V.F.W. Veterans in a donkey softball game at the south side softball diamond at 8:30 p.m.

An outstanding line-up of players brought to Charlevoix through the efforts of Burger Beer and Zach White will appear against the local V.F.W. team which will have an equally impressive line-up which may be seen on page nine. Both teams are undefeated this season and the game promises to be of championship calibre.

Tickets for the game, which is sponsored by the local V. F. W. post are now on sale and are going fast. Bill Supernaw, ticket chairman said Wednesday.

Tickets may be purchased from post members or at the gate on game night, Sunday, Aug. 15. Game time will be 8:30 p.m.

Hospital Guild Makes Plans For Open House

The Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Hospital met Tuesday evening in the high school band room for its regular meeting.

Plans for the open house following the dedication of the new Charlevoix hospital were discussed and Mrs. L. E. Grate asked for volunteers from the Guild to assist at that time. The Guild will conduct guided tours following the ceremony and serve refreshments.

The purchase of new mirrors for the rooms in the new hospital was also discussed along with the proposed purchase of several pieces of small furniture for the children's ward.

A gift of $10 was presented to the Guild by Henry Mels who received the sum for entering his boat in the recent Venetian Night program.

A treasurer's report showed the Guild had raised $638.75 to be used for the purchase of mirrors and other necessary items for the new hospital.

This program, given to the students without charge, is an integral part of the local school instrumental program. Individual problems are ironed out, something impossible during the school year, due to the size of the groups in the music program.

Committee Named To Study Proposal For A City Band Shell

The construction of a band shell, which has been under consideration for many years received its first concrete support Monday night when Mayor Dean Davenport brought the issue before the city council at its regular meeting, suggested that its construction become a community project and named a committee to investigate plans and means of financing such a structure.

The proposed band shell would have shower and restroom facilities for visiting yachtsmen.

C. A. Odmark, local band director, was named to head a committee to present plans and suggest ways of financing the project. Other committee members named by Mayor Davenport were aldermen Charles Beilinger and Ray L. Kipke, Robert Miles, city superintendent Roy R. Robinson and William Van Raaphorst.

Guy C. Conkle Re-Elected As GOP Chairman

Guy C. Conkle of Boyne City was re-elected chairman of the Charlevoix county Republican committee for 1954-55. It was announced Wednesday following a meeting of nominated county officers at the court house here Tuesday night.

Mrs. Hal Hill of Boyne City was re-elected secretary of the group and Fenton R. Bulow was named to succeed Frank Bird.

Vice-chairman for the county organization are: Mr. Bird, H. E. Padlock, William VanRaaphorst and Mrs. L. E. Grate of Charlevoix; Arthur K. Rouse and James D. Stackus of Boyne City and Harvey R. Milsten, Mr. Howard Porter and Chris Taylor of East Jordan.

The newly-elected officers will assume their duties at the county convention at the high school cafeteria in Boyne City tonight (Thursday). An estimated 100 delegates named in the recent election are expected to attend the county convention at which delegates to the state convention in Grand Rapids Aug. 21 will be elected and other business discussed.

The county convention is called for 6 p.m. tonight.

Mrs. Yemmans, 72 Dies Following A Long Illness

Mrs. Prudence E. Yemmans, 72, lifelong resident of this community, died Monday at her Charlevoix township home. She had been in ill health for more than two years.

Funeral services were held at the Pontius Chapel Wednesday with the Rev. W. N. Carr officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Born in Hayes township Feb. 4, 1880, the former Prudence Eliza Arnold was married to Walter Yemmans Jan. 12, 1904. He preceded her in death Oct. 17, 1939. She was a member of the Rebeccah lodge and at one time had been a member of the Baptist church. She had been in failing health since suffering a fractured hip in December 1951.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Arold (Ellen) Copeland with whom she resided and Mrs. Ronald (Ruth) Swanson of Charlevoix; a son, Otto W. of Clawson; six grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; two brothers, George Arnold of Charlevoix and Albert Arnold of East Gloucester, Mass. and a sister, Mrs. Norma Elwell, also of East Gloucester.

Draft Board To Call Two Men For August Physical

Two Charlevoix county draft registrants, John F. LaForest of Boyne City and Richard J. Weber of Boyne Falls, have been ordered to report at the city hall here at 8:30 a.m. Monday, Aug. 16, for transportation to the Detroit induction center for pre-induction physical examinations.

No county men will be called for induction in August. September two men will be called to fill the month's draft quota and an additional two men will be called for pre-induction physical examinations.

Mayor Davenport also named committees to study trailer park needs and the changing of the city ordinance to include construction of motels. Named to study trailer park needs were aldermen Kipke, Ralph S. Hamilton and James Hiller, Dallas Henry, Hal Forberg and Kenneth Staley. Aldermen Hamilton, Kipke and Bellinger, Mr. Robinson, Norman D. Anon, and Drew Young were named to study the changing of the zoning ordinance to include motels.

This council also adopted a resolution to request permission from the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission to purchase a new 1600 h.p. 1000 kw engine for using the new Michigan Statute which permits fourth class cities to buy such equipment under a conditional sales contract.

The agreement for fire protection for the west section of Hayes township presented by the township was accepted and became effective at once. The agreement provides fire protection by the Charlevoix fire department to the residents in the west section of the town and near the city at the cost of one mill per year on the assessed valuation of the property.

The residents of Eveline township, however, found themselves without fire protection from the local fire department when a proposal presented by the Sequoia Club and four other property owners was rejected.

The fire protection issue has been under discussion for several months.

After a committee named earlier reported on the cost of liability for the city, it was decided that further study was advisable and the issue was returned to committee.

The request of the Charlevoix hospital for the installation of three lights on existing poles at the cost of $100.00 each on the south side of the newly-constructed hospital was discussed and rejected. Continued on page 5

By Fran Martin

OUR 'Odds n' ends' got a little out of hand last week and we took quite a razzing from the office staff. To those of you who think it's wasted space, it won't happen again (right away, that is) and to those who liked the idea... we just can't come up with that much every week... and anyway, you'd soon tire of it. (And to Harold Totten in the backshop... you'll just have to fill the page up with something else this week.)

IF EVERYTHING goes well, the Courier's going to have a special souvenir edition for the dedication of the new Charlevoix hospital. It's hard to believe that the great day is so near... Aug. 22... when everyone will be able to see the efforts of several years hard work and a full year of construction... We're taking bets right now that no one's going to fuss when they're hospitalized in the new building which to our way of thinking is simply out of this world... So plain now to see for yourself... Attend the dedication and the open house to follow.

IF YOU like a good laugh... and who doesn't... don't forget the donkey softball game Sunday night... We saw our first donkey basketball game last winter and had sore jaws from laughing for weeks... They tell us that this is even funnier... Hope someone will remember to reserve a front row seat for us...

AND speaking of Sunday... how many of you know what anniversary will be observed come August 15... In case you don't it's the ninth anniversary of V-J Day... So much has happened in the past nine years but it still seems but a short time ago that World War II came to its unanticipated end... How short-lived were our hopes for world at peace...

IN A recent column we paid tribute to a lot of people in the community who were instrumental in giving Charlevoix its best Venetian Night program and parade in recent years... We didn't mean to slight anyone when it came to handing out bouquets but it seems we missed a couple... Our apologies...

The one brought to our attention was the job our local police did in handling the crowds and traffic... Like so many things about our town, we kinda take our police for granted and just expect them to do a good job... To our knowledge there's never been a complaint about the way they handle their jobs over the Venetian weekend... or any other busy weekend for that matter... They evidently have a system and everything goes like clockwork... as expected, so that's how come we didn't mention 'em...

AND IF you've ever seen East Park and a good part of Bridge street during the early hours following the Venetian Night parade, you'd realize we by-passed another pretty important department... the street department... We might add that the park and street looks a bit like it does after our first snow-storm... only it's paper and trash, a million or so pieces of it... Unless you're around early the next morning you never get to see it for Leo Allard has his boys out at an early hour and by mid-morning the park and streets are as clean as ever... And that's saying a lot for many visitors comment on our clean streets and parks...

IN FACT, we think the whole city crew does a good job 365 days of the year... that's why we miss 'em in our comments... Like everyone else we take their efficiency for granted... But let 'em slip up on just one thing and everyone's wrath comes tumbling down on their heads... Ask 'em... they'll verify that statement.

IN A RECENT letter from Will E. Hampton, the former editor of the Courier told us a little more about our fair city's early days that we never knew... While he did not come here to take over as editor of the paper until 1890, he writes that his first visit here was on July 4, 1876 for the centennial which was attended by folks who came from Little Traverse (Harbor Springs), Petoskey and other towns... According to Mr. H., the boats then had to dock at a long pier extending into Lake Michigan on the north side of the river. The centennial program was held on what is now Park ave. on a wooded hill on the south side of that street where the Lewis residence later was built. There were no houses or streets west and only three buildings on the south side of Park ave. counting from State st. But the town was then, as it always has been, a spot of beauty nature has not exceeded elsewhere in Michigan...

on the early history of the town too... She remembers many early buildings and people and we're looking forward to spending some time with her... Mr. Hampton has often threatened to write an early history of this area... Sure wish he'd do it for too many stories of the early days here are being lost... And who's better qualified to tell the story than a former editor of the Courier who grew up in Harbor Springs.

WITH THE passing of Colin McKenzie this week, Charlevoix has lost one of its most beloved residents... A favorite with everyone... and there wasn't anyone he didn't know... he was often compared with the late Wil Rogers... and if you knew him at all it was easy to see why... He had views on everything and you could always depend on him to voice it a bit more cleverly than anyone else... Someone suggested once that we do a feature story on him but how could one put on paper the things that endeared him to everyone who knew him... Everyone will mourn his passing and be grateful that they were privileged to have known him... There are too few of his kind of people left in this world...

IF YOU'VE a yen for some good bass fishing, make a trip to Hog Island... Bud Kohler, up from Detroit on vacation, spent a couple days over there aboard my friend, Jake White's tug and sure did alright in the fishing department...

ment... It sounds like great fun... And he shared his catch with us so we're sure he and his party came home with their limit.

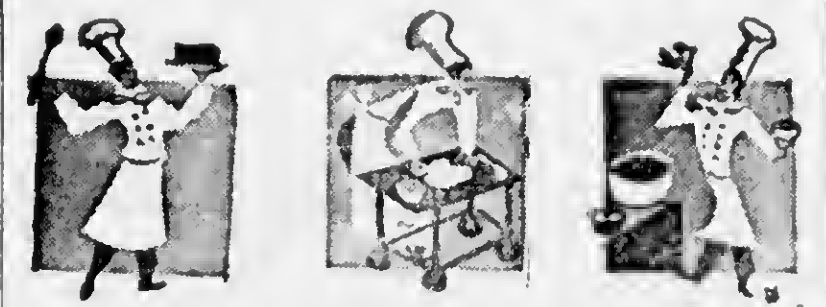

THE Courier staff had quite a treat last week when John Rosquist brought us some of his wonderful, wonderful sweet cherries... the ones you eat by the dozen and wish for more they're so big and fat and juicy and sweet... We got to talking with him and for the first time realized that cherry growing was big business even in our county.

We wanted to tell you just how big it is but since the season's over for this year, have tucked the info he gave us away to be used in a story come next June.

'Night Must Fall' Being Given By Petoskey Players

Petoskey — "Night Must Fall", the exciting psychological melodrama which has had repeated lasting success on the London and New York stages opened the second half of the Petoskey Playhouse's first season last night.

Famous author-actor Emyln Williams has woven a chilling murder mystery around a dashing self-centered young assassin and a wealthy English country woman. The gradual way in which this middle-aged woman lavishes her affections on this selfish psychopath as he pursues first her maid and later her niece leads the play to an unexpected and gripping climax.

Bill Galarno follows his successful performance in "The Male Animal" with the difficult and challenging role of Danny. Patricia Davies is seen as the fussy fifty-five year old Mrs. Bramson and Jean Artesani portrays her niece, Olivia. They are joined on stage by Bob Gray, Joan Thiel, Bill Alexander and other members of the theatre's resident professional company. The production is under the direction of Bentley Lenhoff, Producer-director of the Petoskey Playhouse.

"Night Must Fall" will play through Sunday, August 15. Evening performances begin at 8:30 p.m. and tickets may be reserved at the theatre box office or by phoning DI 7-4292.

Words to "Yankee Doodle" are believed to have been written by Dr. Schuckburg in 1755.

Highlight of the fund-raising campaign will be a Humane Society picnic to be presented later this summer at East Jordan, Boyne City and Charlevoix. A square dance in Boyne City will also be sponsored to raise funds for the Society.

With the opening of the school year, a slogan contest will also be sponsored by the county group. A Junior membership drive with dues set at 10 cents will also be held.

Mrs. L'Hullier is asking the support of the community in the Society-sponsored activities so that the county may have better humane service.

Cite Powder-Post Beetle For Damage To Houses In State

Powder-post beetles are giving trouble to Michigan householders again.

Dozens of telephone calls and letters with requests for help are received at Michigan State College's entomology department each week. Many think they have termite trouble.

M.S.C. entomologists say the trouble has increased during the past few years along with new house building. The pests are found of sapwood.

How do you know when you have a powder-post beetle infestation? You can see holes that have been bored by adult beetles in emerging from the wood, or you may see just jewelry borings that have been pushed up through the small holes.

If everything's quiet and you have sharp ears, you can hear a rasping or ticking sound... indicating that the larvae of the beetles are tunneling through the wood.

If you have a light beetle infestation, you can control the pests by saturating the wood with oil solutions of DDT or pentachlorophenol or with a mixture of turpentine in ordinary kerosene.

Repeated spraying with DDT will get the heavier infestations, according to the entomologists.

Your county agricultural agent has additional information on the subject. Or you can get a single copy of Leaflet 358, "Powder Post Beetles In Buildings," from the Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

Exchange Holds Annual Meet At Community Hall

Ellsworth — Members of Ellsworth Farmers exchange held their thirty-sixth annual meeting last week Wednesday evening at Ellsworth Community hall.

Anthony M. Kuiper and Merion Sitzema were re-elected as directors and Edward Wilke was elected to succeed William J. Goeman, who did not care to serve again.

Sales of $257,000 for the year ending June 30 were reported by Darwin Orcutt, manager. This is slightly lower than the previous year and was due mostly to the low potato price. Net gains for the year were slightly higher than the previous year, however.

Robert Lincoln, Emmet county agricultural agent, Walter G. Kirkpatrick, Antrim county agricultural agent, and Daniel Stuart of Michigan State college, East Lansing, were speakers for the evening. Music for the occasion was furnished by Edna Kooyer and Lorraine Ruis, who sang two duets, and Clarence Drain on the guitar.

Former Pastor to Speak

Rev. Henry Rikkens, former pastor of the local Christian Reformed church, but now of Benton, Ark., will be the speaker at the services Sunday, Aug. 15.

Karsten's Are Honored

The life of the Hobo can be fun. That is, if it's done like the Couple's Club of the Ellsworth Christian Reformed church plan it. A Hobo-Beach Party at Barnes Park in Eastport, last Thursday night honored Mr. and Mrs. W. Karsten, former principal of Ebenezer school, who leaves soon for his new teaching position in Holland.

Games and singing provided entertainment but the lunch deal provided some fun too. The committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Klooster, Mr. and Mrs. John Klooster, Mr. and Mrs. Gerit Jake Drenth and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jake Drenth really planned well. They had prepared bags of fuel and scattered them over the picnic grounds, to be searched for, by groups of couples of two couples each. After gathering the fuel and building individual fires, each group cooked their own hot dogs, included in the lunch which was in hobo packs (full sacks tied on long sticks) handed out by the committee who made coffee for all the guests on the hobo bonfire they had built. Sounds like fun, eh?

Beaver Island Homecoming Event Proves To Be Most Successful

St. James — With the blessing of the boats in the harbor at St. James the annual Beaver Island homecoming, the island's biggest celebration, reached a climax Sunday afternoon.

As the Rev. Joseph Herp O.F.M., pastor of Holy Cross church, intoned a blessing on the boats and their crews, the gaily decorated craft paraded around a route marked by buoys. At the close of the parade, the motorship North Shore, which serves as a ferry boat between the island and the mainland at Charlevoix, moved its way to the dock followed by the smaller boats.

The program opened with the raising of the flag by Lawrence Malloy, St. James township supervisor and the singing of the Star Spangled Banner by Mrs. Paul Heflin of Chicago.

Earlier in the day, a parade of floats marched through the business district and returned to the schoolhouse. A band composed of Julia and Tommy Allen, Mary Catherine Hanley, Billy Vail, David and Davidene Wilson furnished music for the parade, which was led by youngsters on decorated bicycles. Prizes for the best decorated vehicles were awarded to Mary Gallagher, Leon LaFreniere and Karen Ryan.

Elston Pischner was master of ceremonies for the parade and presided at the reviewing stand which was mounted midway along the parade route.

The winning float was a replica of the island's new Medical center.

Other outstanding floats entered in the parade included one entered by Holy Cross church depicting a shrine set in the pines with Audrey Gatliff as the Blessed Virgin, commemorating the Marian year; an Indian group with an Indian family about a birch bark tepee; a float entered by the King Strang hotel depicting historic scenes from the life of King Strang, who once ruled the island kingdom and an REA float of a small house, entered by Jewell Gillespie and decorated by his own niece, Helen and Mary Osborne. Before the house on the float were Mr. Gillespie playing his guitar accompanied by the island's fiddler, Pat Bonner.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"Nothing to Sneeze At"

This year our town decided to do something about its hay-fever sufferers. Hap Thomas is our health officer, so he was made rugged "Inspector."

"Can't see why anybody should be bothered by a few weeds," he snorted. "I say it's all in their minds." But Hap went on out to do his job.

Then, yesterday, I met Hap—looking kind of sheepish. His eyes were red and as he took out a big handkerchief, he sneezed. "Know somebody who isn't allergic, who'd like a job?" asks Hap.

From where I sit, I can sympathize with Hap. It's no joke. But as Hap admitted later, he was dead wrong in scoffing at the idea of hay fever. Making light of other people's ideas and opinions is a familiar trouble with a lot of folks. Whether it's hay fever, football or a choice of, say, buttermilk or beer as a throat- quencher, I'm just naturally "allergic" to anybody who "knows-it-all!"

George Spaydes

Spending Time At Ironton Cottage

George E. Spayde, former resident who retired recently after 30 years with the New York Central Railway Co. in Muncie, Ind., and his wife, the former Virginia Hemingway, are spending some time at their summer cottage near Ironton and visiting the former's sister, Mrs. Mary Howe, and his brother, Bill Spayde.

A native of West Branch, Mr. Spayde came to Charlevoix at the age of six years. During World War I, he served in the U. S. Army and following his discharge in 1919 went to Muncie, Ind., where in 1924 he started his career with the New York Central, which ended with his retirement last month.

He first trucked Freight, later worked as a baggageman and eventually moved to the ticket office where he served as "second track" man, working from 2 to 10 p.m. daily.

In a Muncie Star news-story about his retirement, it stated that Mr. Spayde daily answered questions carefully, no matter how trivial, and was always found to be courteous, and soft spoken while serving at his familiar ticket window in the Muncie station. Muncie is a city with a population of more than 55,000.

Now that he can call his time his own, he and Mrs. Spayde are relaxing at their Lake Charlevoix cottage and later plan to dispose of their Muncie property and return to their native Michigan to make their home in Lansing.

Cite Causes Of Egg Blood Spots

Poultrymen who are having blood spot troubles on their eggs may be feeding their hens too little vitamin A.

Michigan State college poultry specialists indicate that during the summer, the hens need a mash that is well fortified with this vitamin. Green feed is high in vitamin A but it makes the egg yolk dark.

Another reason for the blood spots may be feeding too much corn during the summer. Research results haven't proved this, however.

News Round-up At Camp Charlevoix

The sixth week of the camp season opened with a bang and the true meaning of camping and camp life was about to be opened to our boys. Camping out under the stars and moon is something everyone hopes for. Of course some of the evenings may be a little wet too, but the campouts are the things the boys will remember in the fall and winter.

Our three oldest groups of boys in cabins 19, 20, 21 left on Monday for Beaver Island. The trip over to the island was made on the mail boat and the boys camped out on the island shores. The trip was a great success with only three of the entire group getting seasick on the lake.

Also on Monday cabin 14, led by Bill Wilkinson and Jake Whitecrow, made a trip to Bayshore on horseback. The saddle sore boys making the trip were Dick Cox, Jonathan Schmidt, Matt Buder, Jimmy Vardon, Ken Hamlin, David Smallwood, and Jeff Adams.

With the oldest boys in camp off on trips the intermediates and Juniors had a great chance to run the mugwump. Of course the opportunity did not go unchallenged and one of the best runs of the season was accomplished by the Greys.

Tuesday saw another group of boys leaving for Wilderness State Park and camping at Waughasance Point on the Straits of Mackinac. This group was one of the largest leaving the camp at one time and included cabins 7, 8, 11, 12 and 13 with their counselors. By the time this group left the camp began to look deserted.

When the boys returned there were many reports of deer in that section of the Point.

Not to be outdone by all the boys leaving camp, Cabin 18, on Tuesday evening, journeyed into Charlevoix for a movie. Jim Cotton, Dave Hummel, Jim Duffield, Phil Fouke, Robbie Massman, Jack Scott and Mike McGill were the boys making the trip.

Wednesday morning just before lunch, the boys that made the trip to Beaver Island were returning and the tune of "O, We're From Charlevoix" was heard quite a ways from camp. The boys returned weary but happy and of course in need of a good shower.

Cabin 6 and 10 left shortly after lunch on their two-day trip down to Eastport and the shores of Lake Michigan.

Not only the older boys in camp were enjoying these campouts. On Wednesday afternoon Cabin 1, 2 and 3, the youngest boys in camp, made a two day trip down to Whiting State Park. The high point of the trip for the boys was the trip across the south arm of Lake Charlevoix on the Ferry.

It was only a short ride but it could have been a hundred miles for the way they enjoyed it.

By Wednesday evening there were approximately one hundred and four boys and counselors out on trips. They were spread out for a radius of fifty miles, over the northwest section of the Lower Peninsula, from camp.

Wednesday evening saw the last running of the Mugwump and for the total competition the Greys came out ahead of the Greens by one point with a total of four successful runnings to three.

Thursday afternoon Cabins 4, 5 and 6 made an overnight trip to Harwood Lake and then to Eastport. Thursday afternoon and evening most of the campers that were on trips the first of the season were coming back and the strains of "O, We're from Charlevoix" were still ringing in everyone's ears at nightfall.

Friday afternoon Camp Al-Gon-Quin, one of our neighboring camps, came over and were our guests at some fine inter-camp competition. The boys competed in Rifle, Archery, Tennis, Swimming, Baseball and Softball.

Our Rifle, Archery and Baseball teams beat Al-Gon-Quin and we were beaten by their Tennis, Swimming and Softball teams. Two of our outstanding men in Archery were two intermediate boys, Joe Chapell and Devy Barnes. In Rifle, Phil Holliday and Tex Huntington both posted scores of 97 out of a possible 100.

This shows a sign of good marksmanship and a lot of practice. It was the eighth year our rifle teams were undefeated.

Friday evening Cabins 15, 16 and 17 made an overnight trip to Graves Crossing and returned the next afternoon. Cabin 21, after recuperating from their trip at the first of the week, made the trip into town Friday evening for a movie.

It was a strange day in camp Saturday as there were no trips leaving and everyone was back. No one was left out in the cold after the big week went by. On Saturday evening we had a campfire for the entire camp with a big blazing log fire with Jake Whitecrow, our Indian, telling stories of his tribe in the Paw Paw country. Later in the evening there were songs by the cowboys, Dick Hesses and Tom Corbett. There was also group singing led by our songmaster and all the boys joined in Indian wrestling was also held and it was Green and Grey competition with the Greens winning one point for their side.

On Sunday morning, the entire camp, was taken into the service at the Congregational church in Charlevoix. Rev. Harold E. Kohn gave a most inspiring talk to the boys, and our camp quartette, Jim Macdonnell, Dan Hansen, Don Kelly, and Don Palmer sang "Hise Up O Men of God".

In the afternoon the annual Mile Swim was held. Sixty-one boys entered and forty finished. Jack Scott made the winning time, followed by Dick Leavett, and Kent Gibbs. Some of the others who accomplished the feat were: John Parr, Jon Schmidt, Gary Murfin, Robby Helwig, Jim Baird, Jamie Mueller, Stewart Cramp-ton, Andy Carrick, Randy Carlson, and John Bahl.

Sunday evening the vesper services were held, John Hartzell talking to the Juniors down in the Paul Bunyan ring. The rest of the camp held their service in the Bigwam, the new recreation building. The songs were led by Bud Morris, with Don Palmer telling the group about his summer experiences in Scotland, last year. Ken Smith also told the story of "The Little Thimble", a true experience of Ken's during the last war.

This, the seventh week of camp, is the start of the long trips. As this is being written, the sailing trip is out, with twenty boys and three counselors on the trip. Great plans are being made for the closing events of the camp season, and we hope that all of the parents will be here for the Rodeo and the Council Fire. They are both worth seeing, and a fitting close to a great season.

William Ratigan's 'Soo Canal' Into Second Edition

William Ratigan's historical novel, 'Soo Canal', the romantic story of the building of the great canal on earth, has gone into its second edition. Peter de Visser of the William E. Eerdsman Publishing Co. of Grand Rapids, publishers of the book, has announced.

The book, written in Charlevoix by Mr. Ratigan, who has resided here since 1947, was first published in mid-June.

The definitive book about the construction of the Soo canal 100 years ago has been well accepted, Mr. Visser said in making the announcement regarding the second edition.

A comment by Michigan's Junior Senator, Charles E. Potter, best tells the story of its reception, especially in the Midwest, where so many are dependent on the great Soo locks. In a personal letter to the author, Senator Potter said:

To the Voters of Charlevoix County

I wish to express my thanks for the fine support I received in the Aug. 3 primary.

Says Freezing Is Successful Way To Keep Cream

A series of checks done in the Foods Service Laboratory at Michigan State college have shown that whipped cream can be frozen.

Dr. Pearl Aldrich, in charge of the Foods Service Laboratory, explains that sweetened or unsweetened, whipped or unwhipped, leftover 40 per cent cream can be frozen and stored for future use as a topping for salads and desserts.

Drainage from frozen whipped cream is very slight and there seems to be no quality deterioration, says Dr. Aldrich. Frozen unwhipped cream should be completely defrosted (but still cold) for whipping.

Credit Group To Hold Annual Meet

Joseph Martineck of Charlevoix, one of the directors of the Gaylord Production Credit Association, will attend the 20th Anniversary and Complete Member Ownership celebration to be held by all the Production Credit associations of Michigan at Kellogg Center in East Lansing on Aug. 19 and 20.

"We expect to have 500 farmers and their wives at this celebration which marks a milestone in the history of these farmer owned credit organizations," said Mr. Martineck. Highlighting the program will be a banquet on the night of Aug. 19 when Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Robert B. Toole, Governor of the Farm Credit Board, Washington will address the group. Others on the evening program will be D. B. "Woody" Varner, Director of Cooperative Extension work, Michigan State college, Clark Brody, Lansing, member of the Farm Credit Board, and Andres Lampen, President of the Production Credit Corporation of St. Paul.

The daytime conferences will be devoted to discussions by specialists from the local and national level on the subjects of taxes, interest rates, dividends and way of making farm credit more flexible and more in tune with the ever changing needs of agriculture brought about by mechanization, fertilizer, controls and economic conditions.

According to Mr. A. J. Townsend, who has been Secretary-Treasurer of the Gaylord association for 20 years, the farmers of Michigan have borrowed over 130 million dollars through the 11 Production Credit associations in Michigan over that period. Over the same period the membership in all the Michigan associations has grown from 100 to more than 10,000. At the same time, through the purchases of capital stock by the farmers, and by carefully building reserves, the Michigan Associations have paid back to the Federal Government nearly 2 million dollars which was originally appropriated to organize the Production Credit system in Michigan.

The office will be closed on these two days in order that the personnel may attend this celebration along with the five directors.

Meeting Being Held At Greensky Indian Mission

Charlevoix county's oldest church, the Greensky Indian Mission located four miles north of Charlevoix on US 31, will be the site of a series of Indian camp meetings this week. It has been announced.

When possible the meetings are held in a grove of maple trees near the century-old log building which is now a mission of the Methodist church.

Services are held daily at 10 a.m. and 2 and 7:30 p.m. under the direction of the Rev. Lewis Church, Indian evangelist of Hopkins and the Rev. Warren Pamp, an Indian missionary of Battle Creek. A number of guest speakers will also appear during the week-long camp meeting which opened earlier this week and will close Sunday, Aug. 15.

Bishop Raymond Wade of Bay View, opened the series on Sunday afternoon.

The Rev. Lloyd M. Schlopp, pastor of the mission, has extended an invitation to the public to attend the meetings.

'London Crusade' Movie Will Be Shown On Monday

"London Crusade," an hour-long documentary of the three-month campaign held by Evangelist Billy Graham, will be shown here Monday, Aug. 16 at the Charlevoix high school auditorium at 8:00 p.m.

Filmed entirely in England, "London Crusade" is Britain's two-story of the three-month Billy Graham campaign narrated by the Bishop of Exeter, one of the most respected leaders of the Anglican Church. The saga is a complete, gripping portrayal of the events as they transpired.

Beginning with scenes of the Graham's arrival at Waterloo Station, the film moves on to the opening night at Harringway Area. It then covers the entire series of city-making services, concluding with the great White City and Wembley Stadium meetings. There a total of 200,000 gathered for the closing rallies of the Crusade.

The doors to the high school auditorium will be opened at 7:30 with the service beginning at 8:00 p.m. All seats are on a "first-come basis," with no admission charge.

Guest Director Is Announced For Petoskey Players

The Petoskey Playhouse announced today that Dr. James W. Brock, Director of Dramatics at Albion college, will be guest director for the theatre's forthcoming production of "Bell, Book and Candle". Dr. Brock's consistently outstanding work on small stages with limited facilities has earned him national recognition in both the professional and educational theatre. Recently he was selected Executive Secretary of Theta Alpha Phi, National Dramatics Honorary Fraternity.

Last season Dr. Brock was guest director at Bunde Summer Theatre, Bunde, Minn. His recent work at Albion college has included such outstanding plays as Shakespeare's "Othello", a production of "The Merchant of Venice" by Ferne Molnar, "Bell, Book and Candle", John Galsworthy's "The Forsytes", and "The Importance of Being Earnest". Dr. Brock's greatest comedy success, will have a week of extensive rehearsal under Dr. Brock's direction in preparation for the production's opening performance on Wednesday, August 18.

Central Michigan To Begin Field Service Classes

The Division of Field Services of Central Michigan college at Mt. Pleasant will begin its 1954 fall semester classes for this area at the Charlevoix high school, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 1. Charles A. Robinson, Charlevoix county superintendent of schools has announced.

All persons interested in earning credit through the extension classes should attend the first meeting when the final decision will be made regarding the classes to be offered. Tentatively, English 101, 102 and Geography 201, each giving three hours credit, is scheduled to be taught. However, plans may be altered if the change is desired by a sufficient number of prospective students. Mr. Robinson said in making the announcement.

of Philosophy degree at Yale University. Dr. Mann became lecturer in Comparative Ethics at Yale and now serves as Professor of Oriental Languages at the University of Chicago, in addition to his duties of Rabbi of Sinai Temple. Among his degrees, he is Doctor of Philosophy, this noted minister holds the A.B.M., A. B.H.L., D.D., S.T.D., and Litt. D. degrees. Some years ago the French Government made him a member of the French Academy, a very rare honor. Dr. Mann is president of the scholastic honorary society, Phi Beta Kappa, in the Chicago area.

Dr. Mann's writings are too extensive to mention, but among them might be cited the New Thorndike Dictionary of which he was a collaborator, the Dictionary of American Biography and the World's Best Sermons on Peace to which he contributed. He is Editor of the Department of Ethics of the New Universal Jewish Encyclopedia and the author of "In Quest of the Bluebird."

Charlevoix will welcome Dr. Louis Mann's eleventh appearance in the First Congregational church Pulpit next Sunday morning.

Fire Completely Destroys Small Building On Farm

Fire from an undetermined cause completely destroyed a small barn on the farm owned by Herbert Marme on the old Norwood road in Charlevoix township.

No estimate was made of the damage by the Charlevoix fire department which answered the call but was unable to save the small frame structure from the fire, which was fanned by high northwest winds. A small amount of hay was also lost.

Early Saturday morning the department was again called out this time to extinguish a blaze in a sidewalk grill in front of the Central Drug Store.

Legion Auxiliary Makes Plans For Christmas Gifts

The American Legion Auxiliary voted $5.00 to the emergency polo fund drive at its regular meeting at the Legion hall Monday evening.

Plans were also made for sending Christmas gifts to the Veterans Administration hospital at Battle Creek. The group's quota this year has been set at 20 with each valued from $1.00 to $3.00. The group will accept gifts to be sent and will purchase others.

Under the program sponsored by the Legion Auxiliary in the state, gifts are sent to the gift shop at Battle Creek. Veterans hospitalized there can then select gifts for their families at Christmas time. Gift wrappings and cards are also provided without cost.

Anyone wishing to contribute a gift may do so by giving it to an Auxiliary member or calling Mrs. Leo Allard, president of the local group.

Bake Sales To Aid Emergency March Of Dimes

Let's face it... the National Foundation of the Cripple Paralysis needs additional funds to carry on its fight against polio. For this reason the National Foundation is now staging an Emergency March of Dimes.

The polio vaccine trials and the greatly expanded gamma globulin operation, the first the nation's new hope and the latter the only proven weapon against polio, have nearly depleted the coffers of the National Foundation. Neither program can be abandoned. In addition there are new cases to be cared for and old ones that still need assistance.

In Charlevoix county alone four patients who suffered attacks of polio before 1954 are still hospitalized, three at Munson hospital in Traverse City and one at Mary Free Bed in Grand Rapids. Two are undergoing surgical treatment and the others are receiving special treatments. Added to this are the costs of new crutches, wheel chairs, braces and examinations.

In April the county received a grant of $2,300 from the National Foundation to supplement funds raised in the January March of Dimes. At the present time a request for another grant for $3,100 to take care of current bills has been made.

He offered the use of the former Washington school on the north side for that purpose. Memorial Room Is Given Hospital By Dan Levy's Friends

Another room this week was added to the growing list of memorial rooms in the new Charlevoix hospital.

A private room has been selected as a memorial to Dan Levy by his many friends.

Impressive Ceremony Will Be Followed By Guided Building Tour

The formal dedication ceremony for the new $606,000 Charlevoix Hospital will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday.

The ceremony will be held outside the main entrance of the new hospital overlooking Lake Michigan west of the city on the site of the former trailer park.

Senator Charles E. Potter who was to have delivered the dedicatory address has notified the Charlevoix Hospital board of trustees that he will be unable to attend the dedication ceremony as he has been appointed to a foreign affairs committee which is scheduled to leave this weekend for a European conference.

At press time Wednesday it was not known who would deliver the address. However, the program will go on as scheduled.

Following the ceremony, an open house with guided tours will be held from 3 to 8 p.m. so that all interested persons may tour the new building. It will be the only time the hospital will be open for public inspection.

The presentation and raising of a new flag by the Charlevoix V.F.W. post No. 1153 and the Leslie T. Shapton American Legion post No. 226 as the Charlevoix City Band under the direction of C. A. Odmark, plays the National Anthem, will open the impressive program.

The Rev. Fr. Raymond F. Greise S.J. will deliver the invocation.

Saturday has been proclaimed Caroline Geiken Day in Boyne City.

On that day, a drive to raise funds to perpetuate the memory of Miss Geiken, who served the community as school nurse for more than 25 years, will be started.

Funds obtained in the one-day drive being conducted on her birthday anniversary will be used to establish a Children's fund or a small clinic, or both if possible, to make x-ray and laboratory facilities for emergency use available to the people of Boyne City.

Service was the ideal around which her life was centered. The theme will be carried out in the proposed memorial which will serve the children of her beloved community.

ODDS 'N' ENDS

By Fran Martin

IT WAS ironic last week to find on the front page of the Petoskey News Review a story from the Coast Guard district office urging a safety campaign among boaters and next to it an account of the tragic accident that snuffed out the lives of two widely-known doctors. It's an expensive lesson and we hope that it will be heeded. . . for had the pleasure boat been equipped with any kind of life preservers the outing would not have ended in tragedy. . . Like people who drive cars, some boaters think that an accident can never happen to them. . . But it can. . . so before you go out in a boat. . . even if it's only a row-boat in the middle of Round Lake make sure there're a few safety measures aboard. . . It isn't worth it. . . taking the chance.

HOW DID you like the donkey softball game Sunday night. . . It offered plenty of laughs for everyone but we'd sure hate to have to make a living that way. . . like the poor donkeys do. . . Wonder how the players feel after the ordeal. . . We'll bet it's the hardest work some of 'em have done all summer. . . We'll also wager they're eating off the mantle. . . But it was a good game anyway but since we couldn't keep up with the score keeper (but that's nothing, neither could the players). . . we're not sure who won. . . unless it was the donkeys.

IF THERE'S one thing that's deadlier than yesterday's news it's posters from the last election. . . If those unsuccessful candidates who lost in the primary can't find time to take them down. . . perhaps they can make a deal with those who will be on the ballot in November to take the old ones down when the new ones are being tacked up. . . Anything to get 'em down.

NO TOO long ago we made an offer in this column. . . to accept any and all complaints and air them at no cost to the complainer. . . And do you want to know something? . . . We didn't receive one solitary complaint. . . either there weren't any or you didn't want them broadcast. . . So from now on don't say you didn't have a chance. . . As of Sept. 1 the offer will be withdrawn.

WITH THE cool breezes blowing last week and the broadcast and telecast of the All-Star-Detroit Lions football game on the air, you sure got the feeling of autumn. . . Another 10 days and our own players will be working out every night. . . And soon the summer will be gone. . . school will be open. . . the rat race will begin in earnest. . . Tell us, where did the summer go?

IMAGINE spending a year at the University of Vienna. . . imagine the thrill of hearing the news that you've been accepted as an exchange student at the famed university. . . imagine, if you can, planning for the trip within the month, the excitement of packing (even if you're only allowed two traveling bags) the thrill of touring a major part of Europe with 25 other students. . . It leaves us breathless just writing about it, so you can imagine what it's doing to Barbie Bice, who will sail Sept. 8 for the year abroad. . . On the same ship will be two other practically-Charlevoix residents 'cause they've grown up here, Kathy Fitzsimons and Sissie Olmstead. . . The three of them are so full of plans that they've hardly touched terra firma in days. . . So watch out, Europe, here they come. . . And three cuter, nicer more typical American ambassadors of goodwill you couldn't find anywhere. . . We hope the trip will be everything you dream it will be.

IF YOU'VE been wondering what to do with those novels and other books you picked up during the summer when you leave for home. . . The Charlevoix hospital Women's Guild would be happy to have them. . . As one of its projects the Guild is planning a library cart and is looking for books to supply it with. . . So, if you'd like to make a contribution, just give it to a Guild member. . . Or we'd be glad to accept it and see that it reaches the proper destination.

THIS IS A big week for Charlevoix and the area served by the new Charlevoix hospital. . . we wonder if you realize just how big.

A beautiful new hospital, so badly needed, will be opened this week for your inspection and about Sept. 1 for your use. . . We have tried to tell in words and pictures what it's all about but it's been difficult. . . So we can say but one thing. . . won't you please go and see it for yourself. . . 'Cause you won't believe it 'til you see it anyway. . . Personally we think Charlevoix's pretty lucky to have it. . . We hope that differences will be set aside and that everyone will join in celebrating our big day the dedication of the new building. . . it's the last word in hospitals and it's ours. . . let us be grateful for our blessings.

LET US be grateful to all those who made it possible. . . those who contributed, those whose efforts brought a federal grant to our aid, those who have helped in so many ways to make it the biggest and best hospital ever. . . in our own town.

During the times we've been at the hospital we've noticed one thing among the contractors and workmen. . . each has a great pride in his own particular job. . . with people like that you can bet they've put their best into the building. . . not only their best work but a bit of themselves. . . It's things like that we hope you'll think about when you see it for the first time. . . We couldn't start to name the people who have done their bit in some way, either large or small. . . it's this spirit that has made it a true community project. . . We hope you realize how lucky you are to be living in a community with such a fine spirit.

BUT IT is with a feeling of sadness on the part of many people that the old hospital is being abandoned. . . To those of us who have worked there, been patients there, made friends there, lived through happy occasions and sad ones, met challenges and known disappointments there, it will be like losing an old and true friend. . . We feel almost guilty in leaving so good a friend. . . But that time has come so we will all turn the memories, whatever they may be, into a file marked "Not to be forgotten". . . And sometime, when we're in a reminiscing mood, we'll recall, with more than a touch of nostalgia, those days together.

FOR MORE than 35 years a certain J. C. Marshall has been trying to land the big ones. . . A rabid fisherman, he's tried all the proper lines, baits and what have you so what happens? . . . Monday afternoon his 11-year old

Coleman-Rice Marriage Vows Are Spoken At Christ Episcopal Church

Sara Ellen Coleman, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Supernaw, became the bride of Stuart Terry Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rice of Wilmette, Ill., in a double ring service solemnized at Christ Episcopal church Saturday afternoon.

The Rev. Richard James Lintner read the service in the presence of 175 guests before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli. White satin bows marked the pews.

Mrs. E. D. Hawley sang "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Duane Thomson of East Jordan.

Given in marriage by her father,

Stewart E. Coleman, the bride selected a gown of white Chantilly lace fashioned with a basque bodice, sweetheart neckline, long tapering sleeves and a skirt of white tulle ruffles over satin. Seed pearls outlined the band which secured her fingertip veil and she wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Her bridal bouquet was of red and white roses.

Joan Hess as maid of honor wore a waltz length gown of pink silk shantung styled with a portrait neckline and full skirt and a pink picture hat. She carried a bouquet of salmon pink, rosebuds and white gladioli.

Richard Morgenstern of Grand Rapids assisted the bridegroom as best man and ushers were Ben Wells of Saginaw, Ted Asch of Midland, Arthur Rice of Wilmette, brother of the bridegroom and William McCarty of Saginaw.

Mrs. Supernaw wore an em-bossed gray gown, white accessories and a corsage of salmon pink gladioli for her granddaughter's wedding. Mrs. Rice, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy sheer dress trimmed with white, matching accessories and a corsage of yellow gladioli.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. The bride's table was centered with a tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Garden flowers decorated the tables and the room. Mrs. Lester Smith, aunt of the bride, and Donna Ball presided at the refreshment table assisted by Theresa Zeiler of Detroit and Mary Janice Supernaw, cousin of the bride. Mrs. Andrew Essenberg Jr. was in charge of the guest book.

After a two weeks honeymoon at Higgins Lake the couple will reside in Mt. Pleasant. For traveling the bride chose a pink linen dress with matching blue duster and white accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the Charlevoix high school, attended Central Michigan College in Mt. Pleasant and is now teaching at Midland. She was affiliated with the Zeta Tau Alpha sorority.

Mr. Rice, a graduate of New Trier high school in Winnetka, Ill., is a student at Central Michigan college where he is a member of Chi Phi Beta fraternity.

Wedding guests were present from Brooklyn, N. Y., Wilmette, Ill., Miami, Fla., Sturgeon Bay, Wis., Saginaw, Mt. Pleasant, Grand Rapids, Midland, Grand Haven, Detroit, Orangeville and Holt.

On Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Rice entertained at a rehearsal dinner at the Grey Gables Inn.

Hospital Guild To Hold Open House Sunday

One of the newest organizations associated with the Charlevoix hospital, the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Hospital, will be on hand Sunday to assist with the open house immediately following the dedication ceremony.

The need of such an organization has long been known but it was not until June that the Guild was organized.

Its chief purpose is to raise funds to purchase equipment and other items for the Charlevoix hospital as well as assist in any other way possible in serving the hospital.

Membership is open to everyone in the area served by the hospital. At present there are more than 50 registered members and many more who have assisted with the various fund-raising projects sponsored by the group.

Since its organization less than three months ago the Guild has raised more than $600.00 to be used to purchase mirrors and thermos pitchers and trays for the new hospital. Many hours of sewing and mending have also been donated by the members.

A library cart, special holiday favors, filling of planters in the new hospital and books and magazines for patients and visitors are a few of the projects planned for the near future.

As the hospital's needs are made known, it will be the aim of the Guild to do their best to fulfill them.

Officers of the Guild are: chairman, Mrs. Alan Macdonell; chairman-elect, Mrs. William Parsons; secretary, Mrs. Jeff Novotny; treasurer, Frances Martin; directors, Mrs. Kit Carson, Mrs. Amandus Evers and Mrs. Homer Nasson.
